(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me [illegible]. Imaginative [illegible]. My head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Nambness in the fingers set in and the doctor said [illegible] paralysis. I took all kinds of [illegible] tried many first-class [illegible] as I should but [illegible] three months, went to Mt. Clemens [illegible] baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable

Par Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1906, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 60,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, gold float being found upon the ground and good samples are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property was by geologic law a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

WHAT RUSSIA WILL PAY CHINA

The Sum of $75,000,000 for Interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway.

ULTIMATE POSSESSION

This Question is One That Will Have to be Settled Sooner or Later.

Portsmouth, N. H., September 5.—The formal recognition of Japan's possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway below Kuanchangtse, the junction of the branch to Kirin, involves a payment by Russia to China of a sum estimated at $75,000,000. This is the Chinese interest in the road, and for it China must be remunerated.

The question of the ultimate possession of the road is a matter to be settled between Japan and China. Japan can keep the road or surrender it to China, demanding in return the money paid by Russia to China. If she selects the latter course Japan will therefore obtain an indirect spoil of war from Russia, in addition to reimbursement for the cost of maintaining the Russian prisoners of war, for which Japna will present an itemized bill. Japan is known to have given her word to China not to, but if China prefers the money to the railroad, Japan could not be accused of bad faith. Inasmuch as Japan was desirous, even before the war, of extending the then projected Korean Railroad (which was already in operation) so as to eventually connect with the Eastern Chinese and Shan-Hai-Kwang roads, and in the negotiations which preceded hostilities asked this claim, it is considered likely that she would prefer the road to the money.

In addition to turning over the money obtained from Russia, China, if she took the railroad, would therefore have to reimburse Japan for the expense incurred by her in restoring the road, rebuilding the bridges and changing the gauge. Whether it remains in the hands of Japan, or ultimately becomes a part of the system of Chinese Imperial railroads, a traffic arrangement must be made with the part still in possession of the old Chinese-Eastern Company, the stock of which is held by the Russo-Chinese bank. This adjustment will be arranged later.

Both Russia and Japan, if the latter retains the road, are to be allowed to have "railroad guards" for the protection of the railroad property, and in case of disorder calculated to threaten her interest, are mutually to be permitted to send troops, but the number [illegible] no case to exceed fifteen [illegible] and they are to be recalled as soon as their mission is accomplished. This likewise is also an important provision, and with the east and west Chinese-Eastern line, and the southern line as far as Kuanchengtse, still in Russian possession, would, in case of a future issue, give her control of the largest part of Manchuria—the whole vast territory from the fertile valley of the Sugari, called the granary of the province, northward.

Another important provision is that Japan's succession to the Port Arthur and Liao Tung leases, which Russia surrendered, is conditional upon China's assent. The armistice was not arranged today. The War Departments at St. Petersburg and Tokio are consulting Linevitch and Oyama, respectively, and it is not improbable that the armistice will be concluded directly by the generals on the field of battle.

INSURANCE INVESTIGATION

Officers of All Big Companies Have Been Subpoenaed

New York, September 2.—The Legislative investigation committee has subpoenaed all the officers of all the big life insurance companies. They are summoned to appear at the opening session on Wednesday next. The companies whose officials have been called are: Equitable, New York Life, Mutual Life, Metropolitan and Mutual Reserve.

Among the well known men for whom subpoenas have been issued are: John A. McCall, George W. Perkins, Darwin P. Kingsley, Thomas A. Buckner, Richard A. McCandy, John R. Hegeman, Haley Fiske, Frederick A. Burnham.

Senator Depew has not been served with a subpoena. James Hazen Hyde is in Newport, but it is said he will return and testify.

WITTE'S MESSAGE

Posted Throughout the Length and Breadth of St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, September 2.—M. Witte's triumphant, yet fawning message to the Czar, that "Japan has accepted your demands," that "thanks to your wisdom and firmness," peace has been re-established, and that "Russia as hitherto will remain forever a great power in the Far East," has been posted today in public places. This action has dissipated the rumors that General Linevitch would begin an attack upon the Japanese forces before an armistice is signed.

Prince Golitzin asserts that the army in Manchuria received the news of peace with shouts of gladness, which fact has afflicted the Czar. The satisfaction throughout the country at the ending of the war is growing.

CHICAGO CRIME C RNIVAL

"Special Bureau" to Stop Murders Proves Useless

Chicago, September 2. — Seventy murders since January 1; 21 murders in July; 41 murders in August; hold-ups, assaults and burglaries too numerous to classify. This is the appalling record at Chicago for this year, and the police are seemingly helpless.

The elaborately planned "special bureaus" and "flying squadrons" and numerous orders to the department by Chief of Police Collins, seem to have had no suppressive effect whatever, but on the contrary crimes of violence have become more frequent and vicious and human life cheaper than ever.

HALIFAX FORTIFICATIONS

Doubtful Whether Canada Will Take Them Over To-morrow

Ottawa, September 2.—Doubt is expressed as to whether the Government will be able to take over the Halifax fortifications, as the British Government appear to have made no arrangements for the departure of the Royal Garrison Regiment. Until the British regulars move out the Canadian troops cannot take possession. Lieut. Eaton and a party of some 300 men will leave Toronto today, to augment the strength of the Royal Canadian Regiment at Halifax.

CRUISER QUELLING RIOTS

Armed Force Landed at Amoy for the Purpose of Restoring Order.

Hong Kong, September 2. — The British cruiser Iphigenia has been hurried to Amoy, where rioting was in progress and business suspended. An armed force was landed from the vessel to restore order. Four persons were killed and a number wounded in the rioting. It is expected that the British cruisers, Bonaventura and Cadmus, will remain at that port to protect Europeans.

C. P. R. Train Service

The train service by the Canadian Pacific Railway to and from Toronto, during the Exhibition, will be as follows: Going to Toronto, 5.12 a.m., special August 29th to September 12th, except Sunday, 5.42 a.m., and the local at 8 o'clock. Returning, August 29th to September 9th, Sunday excepted, the local train will leave Toronto at 6 o'clock, instead of 5 o'clock, 10 p.m. train and the special at 10.20 p.m.

Hay Unloaded Quickly

About five o'clock Saturday evening two farmers, driving a large load of hay along Charlotte street, had their goods unloaded in record time: It was unloaded from the rack quicker than ten men with pitchforks could have done it if trying to catch a train on circus day. The driver of the waggon, hearing a street car coming behind him, pulled the outfit to one side of the [illegible] to allow the car to pass him, but, unfortunately, his judgment of a street car's breadth of overhang was defective. The car, going at the usual rate of speed, caught the rack, and in ten seconds Charlotte street, near Doctor Reoinson's livery barn, was two feet or more deep in horse fodder. Neither of the men on [illegible] of the load were injured seriously, having jumped as the rack began to do acrobatic stunts.

Good Fish Story

Mr. E. H. Taylor First Choice Fish Story Contest

We give below a bona fide letter received yesterday from a gentleman whose veracity is beyond suspicion, and which was awarded entitled him to a good position in the annual race by amateur fishermen for the diamond belt and illuminated certificate given to whom tells the best fish story of the year.

Birdsall, Ont., August 30, 1905.

Editor Morning Times:

I arrived here by the steamer "Rainbow," having had a delightful trip down the Otonabee River and through the beautiful Rice Lake.

Of course, I went to church on the following Sunday as all "good" fishermen do (or ought to do), and yesterday I went fishing and had a most extraordinary experience when capturing an enormous muskallonge, which, I believe, will prove interesting to your numerous readers.

I left Burnet's sawmill at [illegible] in a small canoe, and, being alone, had to paddle and therefore, in trolling, had to hold the line by my teeth.

When I had got down the Trent River about half a mile I got a terrible "strike," and soon saw that I had hooked an enormous "lunge." The sudden jerk on the line tore out three of my front teeth and loosened one in the back part of my mouth, and it also fell out later, so I dropped my paddle in the canoe and caught the line with both hands. After a most fearful struggle I succeeded in getting the monster alongside the canoe, and finally pulled him in. When I reached Hastings, on a store scales, he tipped the beam at 26 3-4 pounds. But the strangest part of my story is yet to come. In fishing again in the afternoon I caught a bass that weighed 4 1-2 pounds and, in the evening, when this bass was being cleaned and prepared for our supper, my four teeth were found inside of him! Evidently attracted by their glistening, white appearance, this bass had swallowed three of them as they fell into the river during my encounter with that "lunge" or he got all of them from the bottom of the river. No matter how he got them, he most assuredly did secure them! and this can be proved if necessary!

I intend to advise the "Jim Lewis Fishing and Sporting Club," of Peterkey, Mich., of which I am "chaplain," to come to the Trent River and Rice Lake to fish next summer, for I understand that occasionally an "Albino" bass is caught here also.

With best wishes, believe me, faithfully yours,

EDWARD M. TAYLOR.

Local Hotelmen Subscribe Towards Dairymen's Convention

On Saturday a Times representative called upon most of the hotels in the city to enlist their active support towards raising a fund that will probably ensure Peterboro getting the important meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention next January. Although he had not time as yet to call on all the hotel proprietors, and found some out when calling, he procured signatures to enough money to comply with the suggestion recently made, that if the hotels put up $100 to $125, Peterboro would likely get the convention. Most of [illegible] recognizing the importance of getting this influential body of men, embracing some 800 delegates, were more than willing to subscribe when asked, in sums ranging from $5 to $20 each.

The Times, realizing the benefit the meeting would be, not only to the hotels but to the city in general, instructed their representative to work his persuasive powers to the limit; this, however, was unnecessary, the hotel men subscribing readily, only one positive refusal being given. At the same time, he got the hotelmen called on to sign a list, guaranteeing the number of guests each hotel was capable of providing for, with the sum, per diem, to be charged when the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., comes here. This will do away with all fears of over charges, as were made at the Grand Lodge's former meeting in another town.

There still remains two more hotelmen to see in this matter, and in Wednesday's issue The Times will publish a list of the hotels subscribing towards the Dairymen's convention, with total amount subscribed. This list must be completed and handed in to the Peterboro delegates to the convention in Toronto, before tomorrow, when the question will be decided by the convention sitting there, whether Peterboro gets the convention or not. A telegram was sent Saturday night to Mr. Gillespie, in Toronto, saying that the hotels had already subscribed over $100, with more to hear from.

The Combine Talks

On Friday a citizen, happening to stand near a local representative of the Beer Combine, in a Hunter street hotel, overheard the genial agent do some tall talking about what would probably happen to our local brewery. He became eloquent when predicting the inevitable fate of the Calcutt Brewery if it continued its present attitude towards the would-be monopoly, even venturing to prophesy that "the Otonabee River would soon wash the ruins of the local beer factory." If the gentleman from [illegible] Peterboro concern, which supplies the trade at usual prices, despite the combine's cut rate figures, is either forced into the monopoly, or driven from business, the ghost of Methusalah will hand him the championship for long life.

Local Incidents

BY THE TIMES MAN ON THE STREET.

—Here's to Labor Day!

—The Galway Township Fall Fair will be held at Kinmount on September 14 and 15.

—St. John's Sunday school reopened yesterday afternoon after the summer holidays. There was a good attendance.

—The Nicholls Hospital nursing staff, to the number of twelve, Friday night enjoyed a delightful drive to Chemong, where they were charmingly entertained at Mr. T. A. S. Hay's cottage.

—The Government dredge Trent, which has been engaged amputating the "Devil's Elbow" upon the Indian River, has concluded its work there, and will be brought to Hiawatha today, where further dredging will be done.

—Rev. J. C. Potter occupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's church at both services yesterday, for the first time since his vacation. Mr. Clarence G. Bull, of Toronto, sang at both services, and Mr. W. Metcalfe assisted in the evening.

—The only items of public interest in the way of amusement for today are the Quaker Football Team's excursion per steamer Water Lily to Gore's Landing, and the Peterboro vs. Heaverton lacrosse match at Riverside Park this afternoon.

—The Campbellford Despatch of last week gives a very kindly reference to Mr. P. Corkery, an old Peterboro boy, who was many years with Messrs. H. LeBrun and Co. The Despatch says Pete is doing a fine business in that village, in his recently purchased dry goods store.

Peterboro Old Boy Here

Mr. R. J. Shanahan, an old Peterboro boy, who left here 26 years ago and is now living at Bay City, Mich., spent Sunday in the city. Mr. Shanahan, who was once in the employ of Messrs. Dennes and Sperry, now carries on a large wheat purchasing business at Bay City, buying it in car load lots from the Boston market. He will be in the city for a few days.

Death in Nicholl's Hospital

Ocelia Lynds, aged 13 years, died in Nicholls Hospital Saturday morning from an attack of heart disease. The girl was brought out from England by the Barnardo Home authorities three years ago, and had been living in Cookstown. She was ill six weeks. The remains will be interred in Little Lake cemetery today.

Cereal Enlargement Begun

The American Cereal Company began work Saturday on their extensive addition to the present plant. Mr. W. Langford has the contract which amounts to some $35,000. The present portion which is situated at the south end of the mill, will be extended out to Hunter street. This part of the structure is now only four storeys high, but it will be raised another storey to conform with the extension which will be built out to Hunter street and will be five storeys in height and made of brick.

Beeteson Is Safe

In addition to ample proofs, published in former issues of The Times, of Mr. Beeteson's safety, Silas W. Carpenter, Chief of Detectives, Montreal, has written to Mr. J. Booth, 62 Chamberlain street, assuring him that Beeteson sailed per S. S. Montezuma. He attributes the fact of Beeteson's trunk being found floating in the river to some dishonest party, aboard the same ship, having rifled its contents and then thrown it overboard.

North Enders Kick

Residents in the neighborhood of Smith's and Water streets report that the sidewalk at 77 Smith street, between Water street and the bridge, is entirely covered by rocks, boulders and clay taken from an excavation made from a lot recently sold to Mr. McNamara. One resident complained that on account of the obstructions on the sidewalks, delivery waggons have to use his private driveway to accommodate certain customers. This should be looked into by the proper civic officials, instead of interfering with traffic and pedestrians.

Ambulance Not Required

About 5.30 Saturday evening, Mr. A. Comstock's establishment, on George street, got a "hurry up" call for their ambulance to go to Water street, between Antrim and Dublin streets. Messrs. Comstock had the ambulance out and at the designated point, with their customary speed, but for no purpose. It seems that two young men had a horse that, becoming frightened at something, run away, upsetting the occupants of the buggy. When the ambulance arrived at the scene of their upset, neither of the men required its services, the call having been made by an excited bystander. The top of the buggy was smashed [illegible] and looked better for his rest.

Mr. Snowden Home

Mr. William Snowden, the genial proprietor of the Charlotte street caravansary, returned Saturday from Preston Springs, where he has been spending some time recovering from a nervous affection induced by fish stories. During his absence Mr. Snowden spent a day or two with an old Peterboro boy, Mr. Tom Boddy, recently uptown ticket agent for the C. P. R. Mr. Snowden, for his health's sake, undertook to do a little open air work on Mr. Boddy's fruit farm, picking berries: By the time he had picked one million and eleven boxes, Mr. Snowden got Tom's team and, with a logging chain, got his back pulled out straight. Mr. Boddy, his many friends will be pleased to learn, is doing well, and farms some hundred and six acres of fruit land. Next summer he proposes starting a cucumber farm in partnership with a well known manufacturer of a colic remedy.

The Happy Home.

Happiness must be founded on health. Where there is ill-health there will surely be unhappiness. The happiness of many a home has received its downfall at the table, spread with rich and dainty foods. The first symptoms of disease of the stomach are ignored as being disagreeable but not dangerous. Presently dyspepsia or some other form of disease fastens on the stomach.

At any stage Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. But the cure is quicker if the "Discovery" is used in the earlier stages of disease. If you have any symptoms of diseased stomach use "Golden Medical Discovery" and be cured.

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with fainting in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I could begin to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since. Feel better than I have for several years."

Hospital Change

Dr. McNulty Now Medical Supt. of St. Joseph's Hospital

Dr. Frank P. McNulty, who has just been appointed medical superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital, left Saturday evening on a visit to Toronto, Buffalo, and other cities with a view to acquiring some practical pointers and ideas which will be embodied in the alterations which will shortly be made to the institution here.

This fine hospital, although of modern construction and with most of the most recent ideas embodied in its plan and equipment, will have some important changes made in the operating theatre.

Mother St. Michael (who is a sister of Mr. Michael O'Brien, Separate school inspector) is now in charge of the institution. She succeeds Mother Agatha, who has retired owing to ill health. The newly appointed Mother Superior was for years at the head of St. Mary's convent, and is well qualified to undertake the duties of her new position.

BATTERED BY WAVES ROBBED BY THIEVES

Well-Known Toronto Men Went Through Fearful Experience on the Lake Shore West of That City---Rescuer Swam Out With Life Line.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Tumbled and tossed and battered for an hour and a half by a fierce easterly sea, and robbed of every cent and their watches by thieves along the shore—this was the experience of Norman Jackes, H. W. Walker, Colin M. V. Hamilton, and Rae M. Hamilton in Saturday's easterly gale. Incidentally they had the narrowest possible squeak for their lives, and what is more, are willing to admit that they were all in when help came.

A STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.

The four men left Toronto about 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in a centerboard cabin sloop, bound for Oakville. It was blowing thirty miles an hour behind them and they scooted up the lake at a hot clip. In the shelter of the island shore it was bully fun shipping over the small seas, but once they left the shelter of the shore and got the full sweep of the great cotton togs that swept up from Cape Vincent ahead of that driving gale, the fun changed rapidly to a struggle for life. The billows tossed the yacht to and fro. Every time one of the big fellows from astern would catch her she would rise up, and when the giant breeze bellied out the mainsail she would surge ahead like a torpedo. Then she would drop back into the trough and wallow threateningly.

Just opposite Etobicoke Creek the yacht went up on the crest of a big one, plunged ahead, dropped into the trough, and wallowed into the wave broadside. She went over like a flash. Two of the men were thrown away from the hull, but managed to swim back, and then came the desperate struggle to hang on until she drifted ashore. Every wave swept over the hull, but the four clung on in grim despair.

The end came—the end of the sailing. The big one, plunged ahead, dropped into the trough, and wallowed into the wave broadside. She went over like a flash. Two of the men were thrown away from the hull, but managed to swim back, and then came the desperate struggle to hang on until she drifted ashore. Every wave swept over the hull, but the four clung on in grim despair.

A boat manned by two Follett Bros. again and threshed him back and forth, but he stuck to his self-imposed task and struggled out to where he could catch a rope thrown from the wrecked yacht.

IN A BAD SPOT.

The overturned boat drifted two miles up the shore, and an hour and a half later was so close that the rescuers on the shore were able to make an effort to reach her. This was just off the Rifle Ranges. The shore there has an eighteen foot embankment. The seas were breaking half way up the bank, and throwing the spray over into the fields. It was as dangerous a piece of shore as there is between here and the Credit. How to get at them was a mystery. The yacht was on the rocks, and every billow was battering the helpless four as they clung to their hull. The seas were so strong that they swept the cabin top off her and broke her spars.

SWAM WITH LIFE LINE.

Ralph Hawkes, well-known Y.M.C.A. instructor and athlete, solved the situation by volunteering to take out a rope. He stripped himself, tied a rope around his middle, and descending the bank plunged into the turmoil of waters. Broad is a good swimmer and in perfect condition and it stood him in good stead in the battle. The breakers broke over his head time and time again, and he threshed him back and forth, but he stuck to his self-imposed task and struggled out to where he could catch a rope thrown from the wrecked yacht.

He tied the two ends together and the men on the bank, now almost 40 strong, hauled the rescuer ashore and then dragged the four men off with ropes.

"When they were drawn up the bank they were blue with cold and so overcome with cold and exhaustion that two of them dropped unconscious," said Mr. Bennett today. "We gave them whiskey, and then, wrapping them up in blankets, took them to Shean's farmhouse, where they were revived.

THIEVES AT WORK.

The boat is a wreck and the men lost all their clothing and about a hundred dollars and their watches. They got up at six o'clock Sunday morning to search the beach for the clothes, but thieves had been there before them and had turned the pockets inside out.

The yacht Maybelle was wrecked also. She got in stays in the breakers as the rescuers left the Credit and went over, breaking her foremast and horn. Then she plunged into the piers and stove her side in. Her crew of six were rescued with difficulty. One man, who came ashore on a flour plank, was picked up senseless. His head was beneath the water, and the rescuers had to pump water out of him before he could be brought to his senses again.

SAYS JAPAN FEARS CHINA

JAPANESE EDITOR THROWS NEW LIGHT ON MONGOLS

Wants China Held Back, Fearing that With Modern Warfare She Would Crush Japan

Portsmouth, September 5.—"There is no country in the world which Japan fears as much as China."

This is the remarkable statement made today by two Japanese newspaper men—Editor Kinza Nakamura, of the Asahi, Japan's leading daily, and Commercial Weekly, who have been guests in these deputations, and a man whose paper has commanded him to withhold his name in connection with any statements he may make to the American press. Mr. Nakamura continued:

"Japan could easily take for herself any Chinese territory that she might desire, but it is her policy so far as possible to let China alone. Obeying following the advice of Napoleon I. There is grave danger that China will learn modern warfare. The safety of the world demands that she be kept in ignorance as long as possible. Once imbued with the fighting spirit of Japan, which is not impossible, for Chinamen are no cowards, and instructed in latter day methods of making war, the very existence of China would constitute a real menace.

"This yellow peril talk is all nonsense. Do not think for a moment that Japan will ever teach China how to fight. What assurance have we to believe that she would make common cause with us against all the powers? Even if we desired them to do so, why is it not just as possible that, not forgetful of old enmities, that the Chinese military would overrun Japan first of all, crushing our people by the weight of numbers?

"The people are so afraid that the white race might at some time or other meet the yellow race in a war for supremacy of the world do not know the situation. Japan and China have nothing in common. It is true that in this war Japan has been fighting for China as well as for herself, but after peace has been concluded the interests of Japan and China will clash. Our retention of Port Arthur will reopen the old wounds of the Chinese-Japanese war. True, China will be given her lost Province of Manchuria and will come into the possession of a valuable railway, but that man is foolish who believes that by this she will be satisfied. China is ungrateful. American experience proves that. It was the United States who saved China from ruin after the march of the allied forces to Pekin in the summer of 1900, but China has attempted to boycott American goods because of lack of intelligence of an immigration officer. Japan is likely to fare no better.

"China has already learned too much. She will learn no more, if Japan can prevent it. As we have said before, Japan plans for the establishment of a policy closely resembling that of the United States in the Philippines. She will prevent, if she can, the dismemberment of China and will protect Corea. She will not attempt the restriction of trade. Every legitimate method of increasing her commercial prosperity will be adopted, but she will not try to close Chinese ports. She is not looking for trouble with the nations of the West. She wishes to live in peace with all the world and will do so if other nations will permit her."

FEARS OF REVOLT OF THE JAPANESE

NEWS FROM SEAT OF WAR

General Linevitch Reports Several Skirmishes—Cables Said to be Cut Between Japan and Outside Points

New York, Sept. 6.—A London cable to the Herald says that it is reported in Tientsin that the discontent in Japan over the concessions granted to Russia in the proposed peace treaty is so deep that it is feared that a revolution will break out throughout the empire. This movement, it is declared, has manifested itself in Tokio. All cables are cut.

Portsmouth, N.H., Sept. 5. — The treaty of peace between Russia and Japan will be signed this afternoon at three o'clock.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—General Linevitch reports further encounters with the Japanese in Korea. In a despatch to Emperor Nicholas, dated September 4, he says that the Russians in northern Korea, September 1, repulsed a series of lively attacks by six battalions of Japanese with twelve guns. The Japanese simultaneously commenced an offensive engagement against the Russian troops in the neighborhood of Kinkergoui, in Petchoongonlien Pass.

Lidziadudze, Manchuria, Sept. 6.—The Japanese are continuing preparations for a battle. This is the cause of astonishment, coming at the moment when the peace treaty is on the eve of being signed at Portsmouth. The Russian advance posts report that the Japanese troops are very much dissatisfied with the peace agreement.

Three thousand Japanese, who on August 27, descended on Port Dekastries, opposite the Island of Sakhalin, and sixty miles northwest of the Sakhalin town of Alexandrovsk, set fire to a grass-covered steppe. The conflagration took on serious proportions.

STAND BY OUR OWN CITY FAIR

PETERBORO'S INDUSTRIAL FAIR FOR 1905—"IT'S ALL RIGHT."

Live Interest Throughout the County —New Entertaining and Instructive Features—Catchy Programme for Evening Exhibitions.

The farmer differs in no respect from the rest of mankind. His conservatism is his glory. He earns his dollar not only in the sweat of his face, but in the perspiration of his whole body. Therefore, before he parts with his shekels he "must be shown"—he must see good returning for his money. The more delicately this showing can be done, the more certain the results. "Sounding brass and tinkling cymbals," cut no ice. Give him good, honest grounds, however, for thinking that his own local fair is the best on earth, and he'll fight for it and spend his shekels liberally. The strong way he has of sizing up things leads one to be anxious to know the farmer's opinion in the midst of crises as well as in the management of a fair.

Judging from the encouraging reports brought in from the country by three of our fair directors it is fair to predict that President Hughes Charles will have the largest crowd around him this month when he presses the button on the 26th, that the fair grounds ever held. These three particular directors, Messrs. Geo. A. Fitzgerald, H. C. Winch and D. Moloney, have been energetically advertising our fair among the farmers during the past few weeks. The trio are known to be popular among the women of the country, and in their ardent enthusiasm have succeeded in enlisting their interest in the fair to a greater degree than in former years.

Among the newest features slated for our city fair this year is a very attractive programme for two evening entertainments. The specialities are such as must prove excellent drawing cards. Then there is the unique attraction of the military tournament and musical ride by the Royal Canadian Dragoons — an event which can only be seen at our fair, outside of Toronto. The horse attractions in the ring will be an unusually pleasing exhibition, the special committee under this head being the well-known sports, Messrs. R. J. Munro, Alex. Elliott and J. M. Brooks.

Be sure and stand by our own city fair!

OUST THE DEMON

A Tussle With Coffee

There is something fairly demoniacal in the way coffee sometimes wreaks its fiendish malice on those who use it.

A lady writing from Calif. says: "My husband and I, both lovers of coffee, suffered for some time from a very annoying form of nervousness, accompanied by most frightful headaches. In my own case there was eventually developed some sort of affection of the nerves leading from the spine to the head.

"I was unable to hold my head up straight, the tension of the nerves drew it to one side, causing me the most intense pain. We got no relief from medicine, and were puzzled as to what caused the trouble, till a friend suggested that possibly the coffee we drank had something to do with it, and advised that we quit it and try Postum Coffee.

"We followed his advice, and from the day that we began to use Postum we both began to improve, and in a very short time both of us were entirely relieved. The nerves became steady, once more the headaches ceased, the muscles in the back of my neck relaxed, my head straightened up and the dreadful pain that had so punished me while I used the old kind of coffee vanished.

"We have never resumed the use of the old coffee, but relish our Postum every day as well as we did the former beverage. And we are delighted to find that we can give it freely to our children also, something we never dared to do with the old kind of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum Coffee contains absolutely no drugs of any kind, but relieves the coffee drinker from the old drug poison.

There's a reason.

Peterboro's Division Court

In the Annual Report of Inspector of Division Courts of Ontario for the year 1904, it notes that in one division of the County of Peterboro, which includes this city, Ashburnham, Smith, Douro, Enniamore and parts of other townships, there were during last year 368 suits entered, exclusive of transcripts and judgment summonses, for $11,417.26. Total amount of suitors' money paid into court, $4,468.07, the same sum being paid out of court. There were 100 suits entered for claims not exceeding $10. Clerks' returns of emoluments for this division of the county, $740. Bailiffs' emoluments $585.09.

Coal in Ennismore

Mr. W. Crough Has a Farm on Which Soft Coal is Found

If the reported find of bituminous (soft) coal in Ennismore township turns out to be authentic, Peterboro will possess a boom that will advance her many stages among the sisterhood of cities. Mr. J. H. Crowley, a former Peterboro resident, whose recent mineral discoveries in New Ontario, have occasioned such widespread comment, is at present a guest at the National Hotel. He in conjunction with a well known business man have lyled a mineral claim, with the government for coal, the former claims to have discovered on the farm of Mr. Wm. Crough, Ennismore.

Upon the farm is situated a large hill, in which has been discovered the existence of coal in, at the least, a very considerable quantity by Mr. Crowley. Two other gentlemen, it is rumored, have secured an option on the property at a valuation of $25,000.

Mr. Crowley, however, has it appears, the priority in having lyled his claim previously.

The coal specimens, are of first-class bituminous variety. A Sault Ste. Marie assayist to whom specimens have been submitted, states that the claim also contains anthracite though in what quantity is not known. The coal burns freely, and the find will undoubtedly result in startling developments.

This find is most remarkable in that, hitherto, it has been supposed by mineralogists, that coal is impossible in this section of country.

A September Bride

Yesterday a very pretty wedding, performed by Rev. Father Galvin in St. Peter's Cathedral, was that of Miss Polly Sullivan, daughter of Mr. John Sullivan, Park street, whose husband is Mr. G. A. Dorie of Campbellford.

The bride, was attired in brown taffeta silk with all-over lace and hat to match, and was attended by her sister Miss Anna, also gowned in brown taffeta silk and black picture hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Sullivan, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain and to the bridesmaid a gold chain and cross.

Many guests from Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto and the United States were present at the ceremony. The presents, testifying to the esteem in which both bride and groom are held, were numerous and costly.

The happy couple left for a wedding tour which will include Rochester, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, On their return they will take up residence in the city.

ATHLETIC WORLD

The lacrosse match on Labor Day drew the largest attendance yet seen on Riverside Park; the grandstand being packed and hundreds lining the dividing fence. Mr. F. C. Waghorn, Toronto, was referee for the day, and filled his position satisfactorily to all. During the early stages of the game Beaverton played a pretty game, their team play and passing being excellent, but in the last half showed too plainly that they were not playing to win, or even a merely defence game, but simply against time to prevent the home team from possibly winning their throws being in many cases, seemingly to distant parts of the field without reference to the game.

In the second quarter the visitors had the game completely in their own hands, winning by a pretty succession of team plays on goal in about two minutes.

In the third quarter, the home team pushed Beaverton's goal hard from start to finish, the ball hardly leaving the Beaverton defence position for two minutes. Meagher had one chance to distinguish himself in this quarter, and saved the goal by a fine play. During this quarter, Reilley of the visiting team, when making a hard run with the ball, just in front of the grand stand fell heavily and was unable to resume for some time. McCabe made several throws at Beaverton's goal but seemed to throw too high. McGrath's running seemed to puzzle the Beaverton men, none of them being able to reach him when he got the ball in his stick. Peterboro's second game was won by a false throw of Beaverton's goal keeper, who put the ball through for the home teams. After the three-quarter time was called there was a general move by the spectators towards Beaverton's goals, they evidently knowing the ball would be kept in that part of the field, and their action was justified. In the last quarter Beaverton simply bunched all their strength to save their goals, no play being made towards the home team's end. The fighting round Beaverton's goal was fast and furious, each side recognizing that Peterboro was playing for the championship, and Beaverton against time. The result, Peterboro 3, Beaverton 1, left them tied on the series which will be played off. Had there been half an hour's more play Peterboro could have done what they wanted, as the Beaverton men were all out.

LACROSSE.

Secretary Best received a 'phone message from President Allen, of the C.L.A., who said that the final game between Peterboro and Beaverton would probably be played in Lindsay on Friday afternoon. Either Waghorn or Gillespie will referee.

MILLIONS TO STRIKE STOP ALL INDUSTRIES

Movement to be Launched in Russia on Day of Elections

ALL WORKMEN ARE URGED TO BUY WEAPONS

Social Democrats Plan to Stop All Industries—And Issue a New Declaration of War on the Czar—A Most Unique Manifesto

New York, September 6. — The New York section of the Social Democratic party today received a manifesto issued by the Central committee of the Social Democratic Labor party of Russia, that it is making preparations for the greatest strike known on earth. More than 20,000,000 working people are to be involved. The strike is to go into effect in the general election in Russia when the representatives for the National Assembly will be chosen.

The proposed Douma is denounced by the working people as the merest caricature of a national assembly.

The party manifesto is addressed "to all those who are robbed of their rights," and it proposes a general strike all over the country at the time of the elections and the choice of representatives by the great numbers whom the Czar's edict disfranchises. It is proposed that the strikers go to the capital and confront the delegates of privileged classes.

THE MANIFESTO.

The manifesto says in part:

"You all remember, citizens, the Czar's promise of February 18. After stubbornly refusing for years to listen to the appeals for a change in political conditions, then declared his intention to call upon men trusted by people.

"The moment is approaching for the fulfillment of that promise for this new favor bestowed by the Czar upon the people. It will be glorified in various terms by the hirelings whose duty is to deceive the people. The Ministers have finished their work, have examined and deliberated over Minister Bulgin's projects, and soon this plan of a state council sanctioned by the Czar's signature will become a law. And this new law will be nothing more or less than a deadly insult to the people.

"Year after year have the workingmen of all nationalities which inhabit the Russian Empire struggled against the hated autocracy. Year after year have they demanded freedom, demanded that the people should control the state; workingmen's blood has flowed in torrents for this end; and now when the Czar's Government has at last felt compelled to call together representatives of the nation it has denied the working class any right to choose their own spokesmen.

"In a word, this Gosudarstvenain Douma will be a misrepresentative body. Such assembly will allow all the prevailing atrocities to continue. Only a representative assembly chosen by universal, equal direct and secret suffrage will be able to reach those wrongs and bring in a new order. That is why millions of the toiling masses have been excluded from the franchise, in order that real liberty may not be inaugurated.

A SOLID PROTEST.

"First of all, you should reply all over the land with a general and solid protest against the denial of the people's rights. Answer the Czar with a general strike.

"Let not a chimney smoke, let not a factory run, let not a store be kept open, let not an office conduct its business while the elections proceed. Cabs, trolleys, railroads, steamers—let them all stand still.

"Drop your work. Do not make any special demand of your employers. Tell them that this time you are on strike against the Czar's Government.

"Then you should arrange your meetings and demonstrations, at which time put forth your fundamental demand—the calling of a universal constituent assembly.

"In these meetings take care that the people themselves, without the interference of Government, choose their delegates to go to the capital.

"Prepare for that strike and at the same time prepare to repulse the onslaughts of the police. Arm yourself at whatever cost. Do not wait for anybody to help you; club together your pennies to buy weapons. Form companies of self-defense in every factory, and when the conflict comes let not the people run away; let these companies head them in beating off the police ruffians. If any are arrested rescue them by force. Talk with the soldiers and explain to them the object of the people's fight. Induce them to join hands with you. Call upon them to give their arms to the people.

"On to the battle, comrades.

"Hurrah for the political strike.

"Hurrah for the universal constituent assembly.

"Hurrah for equality.

"Down with autocracy.

"Down with Buligin's Douma."

Dairymen Will Come

Peterboro to Have E. O. D. Asen. Convention Next January

As noted in Monday's issue of this paper, owing to the fact that the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association would on Monday or Tuesday decide where their next convention, in January would be held, The Times sent a representative out among the local hotelmen. The reason for this action was that Belleville and Napanee had offered large inducements to secure the presence of this large number of influential men in the way of cash for their entertainment. Our city has guaranteed $150 and the county of Peterboro council $100 towards getting the convention.

Our energetic local delegates to the Dairyman's Association now sitting in Toronto, last week said if the Peterboro hotelmen would guarantee $100 to $125 towards entertaining the dairymen should they meet here, Peterboro would get the convention. A meeting of the local hotelmen was called for, and advertized to take place a week ago Monday; this meeting however fell through, not enough of the hotelmen attending to form a quorum.

The Times, recognizing the importance to our city and county of getting these 500 or 600 dairymen here, on Saturday, sent a representative around the hotels to try and get subscriptions for sufficient funds to secure the meeting. The hotelmen, with good patriotic regard for Peterboro's interests, and with sound business instinct, signed the subscription book for over $100. Word was at once telegraphed to the Peterboro delegates in Toronto on Saturday night, and yesterday morning the pleasing intelligence was wired to Peterboro that Messrs. Gillespie and Fitzgerald had definitely secured the convention for Peterboro. Great praise is due our local delegates for their strenuous and successful efforts in getting this meeting.

Those subscribing towards the fund which is largely responsible for obtaining this important convention were the following: The Oriental, Palace Restaurant, Munro House, Alex. Elliott, City Hotel, Snowden House, White House, Calcutt Brewing and Malting Co., Cavanagh House, American Hotel, Montreal House, Hogan House, G. Lipsett's Hotel, Crown Hotel, Windsor Hotel, Commercial House, C.P.R. Hotel, The Queen's Hotel. The Times' man called several times at the Southern Hotel, Mr. Dunn's place, and was unfortunate enough to find him out each time, however it is altogether probable that Mr. Dunn will do his share towards this commendable cause.

To Make Pure

Biscuit, cake, rolls, muffins, dumplings, etc., a pure leavening agent is indispensable.

While the Royal Baking Powder is reported absolutely pure and healthful, the official reports show most other baking powders, as well as the cream of tartar of the market depended upon by many housekeepers for raising biscuit and cake, to contain either alum, ammonia or sulphuric acid.

The Government Analyst of Ontario says:

"As a result of my investigation, I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, and is of greatest strength."

M. O'Brien Found

Man Escaped From St. Joseph's Located at Hiawatha

On Sunday last Michael O'Brien wandered away from St. Joseph's hospital and was last seen making his way towards his home in Indian River. O'Brien was stricken about a month ago with paralysis of the brain and was taken to the hospital, where he has been confined since.

Having shown some signs of improvement lately O'Brien was allowed to take exercise in the Hospital grounds. He suddenly disappeared and made for the river.

Despite all efforts made by his brother, assisted by P. C. Adams, at whose camp down the river he called his travels, O'Brien was only yesterday traced to Hiawatha and taken back to the hospital. He is feeling as well as could be expected and does not appear to be any the worse for his tramp.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

Government ownership and administration of the telephone has been urged as a remedy for certain imaginary grievances against the telephone service in Canada, which have been the stock-in-trade of certain professional agitators for some time.

European countries where the telephone is operated as a Government monopoly have been pointed to as examples which should be followed by the Dominion Government. We have already reviewed at length the results in Great Britain of triple administration by Government, Municipalities and Company. We shall now review the conditions which prevail in several countries of Europe under exclusive Government control.

In France the Government owns and operates both local exchanges and long distance lines. The method adopted by the Government to obtain funds for Telephone development will be considered peculiar by most people in this country and would not meet with the approval of many Canadian municipalities.

The funds required by the Government to buy out the Company which originally exploited the business were borrowed from the Savings Bank Department. These moneys do not appear in the State's balance sheet for the telephone service and no interest or sinking fund is provided for, nor is deduction made for rent of offices and other expenses inevitable to very commercial enterprise. In addition to this the subscriber has to buy his own Telephone of a pattern approved by the Government and has to pay for a portion of the line and the cost of installation.

For extending the service into various provincial towns the method of financing was still more unique. The municipality advanced to the State the sums required for all the new installations and also for working and maintaining them, the loan to be repaid to the Municipality without interest by instalments taken from the receipts. The State did not bind itself with regard to the dates at which this peculiar repayment should take place. In this manner the general taxpayer has to bear the cost of the telephone service whether he is a subscriber or not.

The rates charged to subscribers for exchange service are: Paris, $80.00 per annum; Lyons, $60.00, and in the smaller towns, $40.00 and $30.00. There is no difference in the charges between office and residence service.

In our next Talk we shall review the general results in France of Government administration of this service.

MORE POPULAR THAN EVER

The mosquito never was very popular, but it is less esteemed now than ever. Sir Patrick Manson, the great English expert on parasites, says that "next to whiskey, mosquitoes are the greatest curse to mankind." He is the medical adviser of the British Colonial department, and has spent years in the tropics investigating the diseases prevalent there. He says that only by preventing the bite of the mosquito and other such insects can freedom from these diseases be assured. He first discovered that the mosquitoes spread the germs of malaria. Naturally, Sir Patrick is interested in the yellow fever outbreak at New Orleans. On this he speaks strongly, saying: There is another factor in the fight against yellow fever that calls for serious action. I know how prone business men are to conceal the fact that fever exists in their community. It means a quarantine and loss in interference with their commercial affairs, and the loss is bound to be large in a financial way. Dr. Guiteras says the people of New Orleans did not make known the prevalence of the disease at first, and thus in a measure allowed it to spread. This is to my mind criminal. If there is not, there should be, a law making it a criminal offence to a high degree to fail to report immediately the existence of a case of yellow fever. The slightest attempt at concealment by a physician should be followed by summary punishment. So in stamping out this disease, remember these precepts: No concealment of new cases and keep out and fight the mosquitoes.

Kill all the mosquitoes you can. Know if they don't happen to be malaria or fever bearers they are bad.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or, if the homesteader desires, by mail, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority to some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2] [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 40 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads or entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

THE CZAR STILL FACES A NEW FOE

Peace News Coldly Received in Russia and Reform Agitation Grows

PEASANT MOVEMENT IS ON

Tens of Thousands Are Said to Be Armed and Ready for Activity in the Autumn

St. Petersburg, September 4.—Dissatisfaction is the dominant note in Russian comment on the terms of peace arranged at Portsmouth. Those who do not criticise are indifferent. Expressions of relief are heard that there will be no further bloodshed, but the "inglorious peace" is a disappointment to a majority. A revival of internal troubles has come with the announcement of the relief of the government from pressure in the far East. At a meeting of 300 members of the intellectual classes of St. Petersburg at Terijoki, near here, one of the speakers described the peasant agitation in the provinces of Saratoff and Samara, saying that there were tens of thousands of men supplied with arms and that an enormous peasant movement was being organized for the autumn. A force of Cossacks and infantry has been sent to Terijoki.

It has been decided to form territorial zones for Jews and lists are now being drawn up of new townships and villages where they will be permitted to live.

GENERAL STRIKE AT LIBAU.

A general strike was brought about at Libau by the recent order for the mobilization of troops. Factories were closed, port loading was discontinued, and the street railroads stopped operations. Steam railroad communication was interrupted and no new papers were issued. The arrival of reservists from the neighboring country districts added to the confusion as well as to the possibilities of disorder. The situation there was tense, and many soldiers patrolled the streets. The announcement of peace had a quieting effect, but this is believed to be only temporary.

The reception of the news in St. Petersburg shows plainly that the war has been foreign to the masses, who in no sense have been in sympathy with its objects. The intelligent classes have never shown any capacity for appreciating the plans or ideas of the government and seem to have lost sight of the vital interests of the state because of the revelations of official corruption discovered in connection with the Yalu enterprises, and as a result of the unpreparedness and incapacity of the army and navy to cope with the problem and also because they have been fully occupied at home with the struggle to obtain a representative government.

Dispatches from Odessa, Saratoff and Nijni Novgorod say the news of the ending of the war was received with enthusiasm, particularly by the commercial classes. The feeling is based on a hope for improvement in internal affairs and a revival of business.

PROTESTS FROM THE PRESS.

The Novoe Vreyma today, deploring the conclusion of peace, says: "God grant that the blow has not fallen on Russia at the moment when Japan was ready to make every concession to terminate the ruinous war and when the Russian army had become stronger than ever before."

M. Souvorin, editor of the Novoe Vreyma, says he regrets that General Linevitch, who telegraphed recently to St. Petersburg and Portsmouth imploring Emperor Nicholas and M. Witte not to conclude peace, did not lead his army against the Japanese to support the plenipotentiaries instead of allowing them to conquer the Island of Sakhalin. M. Souvorin considers the concessions made by Japan to be of little importance, and says they do not weaken her position, and adds:

"If the national assembly does not succeed better in renovating the country than the army has in defending it Russia will be lost."

The Russ described the conclusion of peace as being "of supreme benefit to the foe."

The Pan-Slavic Svet says: All the Japanese concessions pale before the news that Japan has acquired the better part of the Island of Sakhalin."

The regular Listok welcomes peace as enabling Russia to exert heart and soul into interior reorganization.

HAD CHOICE OF DEATHS

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Neil Anderson, a motor inspector for the Illinois Steel Company, chose death by electrocution in preference to a more horrible fate in one of the company's metal pits Saturday at the South Chicago works.

Anderson was doing repair work on the arm of a crane directly above one of the hot metal pits. A slight movement of the arm caused him to lose his balance. The only support within reach was an uninsulated live wire, which connected the crane with power. The doomed man gave one glance at the white hot metal below and caught the wire as he was falling.

He was almost instantly killed, and the body hung over the wire until the current could be shut off.

Montgomery Mountain Mining Company

BULLFROG

promise to be one of the greatest producers yet discovered in the TONOPAH, GOLDFIELD BULLFROG DISTRICT.

This district records the greatest discovery of Gold that has ever been made in the history of mining

This Company is a legitimate Mining enterprise, managed by honest, capable mining men.

The property is on the Montgomery Mountain, adjoining the MONTGOMERY SHOSHONE mine, which has only been operated ten weeks and which is now

Shipping Ore that runs TWENTY-THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS to the Ton.

The Capital of the Company is $1,250,000, divided into 1,250,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 each fully paid and non-assessable, 300,000 shares of which are in the Treasury.

The Officers and Directors are
President and Treasurer, D. H. PERRY, Salt Lake City, formerly President of the Salt Lake Stock and Mining Exchange.
Vice-President, Hon. JOHN SPARKS, Governor of Nevada.
The Company refers by permission to McCormick & Co., Bankers, Salt Lake City; John S. Cook & Co., Goldfield, Nevada; Ormsby County Bank Carson City, Goldfield & Tonopah, Nevada.

We believe this property and its stock will have an advance that will be as sensational as was the Original Tonopah immediately after its development.

D. D. PEERY COMPANY, Brokers, Goldfield, Nevada

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable
Par Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West, it is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, [illegible] float being found upon the ground and [illegible] stringers, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $13 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

Messrs. Mitchell and McGrath, the local carpentering contractors have just about completed their job on Mr. B. Condon's fine brick veneered house near the Douro church. This firm have completed a most satisfactory job, so much so that they have now secured the contract of erecting another large house in the same neighborhood. Peterboro men do good work and generally secure what is going when their work is seen.

On Labor Day he went to Manvers armed with rod, line, bait and a large basket for the anticipated catch. After several hours industrious fishing he returned home. Mr. Kelly explains the lack of trout on his arrival by saying a carter had been sent for the game.

Returned to Her First Love

On Saturday a reconciliation was effected in the Port Hope Police court between a runaway spouse and her really truly husband. Mrs. Davidson of Garden Hill, a couple of weeks ago became smitten by the charms of her husband's hired man and did the elopement act with him. The deserted hubby, not relishing the breach of promise made by his bride during the marriage service, laid an information against her, alleging that she had used threatening language towards him. However the dove of peace flew through a grim window of the court, and soothed by the benign message it conveyed the couple were reconciled, and the action dropped. The hired man fortunately has not shown up since, so Mr. and Mrs. Davidson returned home together.

A Stern Rebuke

Lindsay Post, referring to the recent tragedy in Dummer, says:

"An unarmed boy was cruelly killed by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of a young man who says he fired three shots, but only as a lark. It is far from a lark for the distracted parents. The man who fired the shots was a South African volunteer and knows fully well the danger of firing a modern rifle in any thickly settled country, much less straight at the window of a house.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. It is no doubt true young Gow never thought of killing any person when he fired the shot, but it does not alter the sad facts that one of the shots fired by Gow took a young life, wounded a young girl and plunged a family into unutterable grief.

Is nothing to be said or done to give an a warning against wise, in this matter, as long as criminal lack is condoned? Is it going to be said of Ontario that a law-abiding citizen, yes even a child, can be shot besides its bed in the night without fear of punishment? If so, it is time we quit talking about mob rule in certain parts of the United States.

Nearing Completion

Charlotte Street Sunday School Improvements Nearly Finished

The Charlotte street church Sunday school which has been having extensive improvements made in its interior is rapidly approaching completion. Rutherford Bros. the contractors have pushed their work rapidly, the carpentering work being now almost completed. The improvements, as noted in a former issue, include raising the roof several feet, and a large gallery entirely round the interior. The gallery is now in place, and is separated by lath and plaster walls into 12 different rooms for the various classes and other purposes.

This improvement about doubles the capacity of the building and affords much superior opportunities for arrangement of classes. This great addition to floor space alone will almost double the accommodation of the Sunday school, and will enable the various teachers, still, to a great extent, under direct supervision of the superintendent from his elevated platform on the south side, to impel greater attention to their good work from the pupils.

Memorial Tablet in St. Marks

Sunday was a red letter day in the history of St. Mark's church, Otonabee. The occasion was the unveiling of a handsome Mural tablet to Rev. Mark Burnham, B.A., one of the main founders of this church. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt officiated. Professor Davies, officiated at the organ, and Miss Helen Davies, A.T.C.M., very kindly contributed to the musical part of the service. After the "Nunc Dimittis" Rev. Mr. Langfeldt unveiled and dedicated the tablet, which has the following inscription;

"To the beloved memory of the Rev. Mark Burnham, B.A., and his pious efforts to which this church owes its existence. Died May 17, 1877. The memory of the just is blessed. Erected by his son George Burnham, B.A."

Bring Back the Vest

Two little girls reported to the chief that while they were delivering a man's suit of clothes yesterday evening, a vest dropped out of the parcel on George street. A man was seen to pick the vest up, and as the police have a good description of him it would be well for him to return it at once.

Who is John Finnigan?

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 4/05.
To Chief of Police,

John Finnigan died suddenly on Thursday. If possible wire me particulars regarding relatives.
J. M. Embery,
Undertaker.

The city directory contains no such name as Finnigan, the nearest approach to it being Flannigan.

200 Leave for North West

The harvesters' excursion, Monday, to the North-West took some 200 of Peterboro's sturdy citizens. The special train was nearly an hour leaving about 10.45.

For the Peterboro contingent three coaches and a freight car were on the siding over night. Early in the morning the harvesters began to arrive with their baggage. For more than an hour before the train was due the scores of trunks and bundles had been checked and packed into the freight car according to their destination, and the passengers had all found places in the cars.

Heavy Traffic on Labor Day

The Grand Trunk officials report a heavy increase of traffic on Labor Day, from all stations in the line. The trains from our local stations were crowded by people, mostly going to the Toronto Fair. The International Limited, due to leave Montreal at 9 a.m., was sent out in two sections on Saturday, and several of their trains left Labor Day in two and three sections. They also had three special trains on Sunday for the Knights Templar, who were en route to Saratoga, and two special trains for the of toga, and two special trains for the official party of the Grand Army, from Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Large Attendance at Institute

Yesterday morning was a record breaker as far as first attendance after the long vacation, at the Collegiate Institute. There were 231 pupils to face the instructors, and such a showing demonstrated clearly the inadequate capacity of the present building. The attendance is considered particularly satisfactory in view of the recent raising of the entrance standards. The standard of last year of 33 1-3 per cent. on each paper and 50 per cent. on the total, has been altered this year to 40 per cent. on each paper, and 50 per cent. on the total.

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of physicians but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. George Sogden, of 641 Bonda Street, Saginaw (South), Michigan. "I had given up all hope of ever getting better. Thought I would write to you. When I received your letter telling me what to do I commenced to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and follow your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all also five vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Am now regular, after having missed for years, and suffered with pains in the head and back. I was so nervous, could not eat or sleep. Now I can thank you for my recovery."

Don't hesitate to write to Dr. R.V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N.Y., if you want good medical advice from a fully qualified physician as to your personal good health. Such letters are always answered free of charge and confidentially.

A medicine which has outsold all others for women in the past third of a century and being recommended by all those who have used it, is a good remedy to try to. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is purely vegetable and does not contain a particle of alcohol to destroy the blood corpuscles and weaken the system. Do not permit the dealer to insult your intelligence by suggesting some other compound which he recommends as "just as good," because he makes it himself.

A Port Hope Fire

Jas. Haws Livery Barn Burnt and Whole Town Threatened

Port Hope, Sept. 5.—About half-past eleven o'clock last night the business section of the town narrowly escaped a serious conflagration. The large 'bus and livery stables of James Haw, situated in the very heart of the town, in the rear of the Hotel St. Lawrence, were discovered to be on fire, and, being of frame construction, it was but a few moments before the buildings were a mass of flames. The firemen were prompt on hand, and succeeded in confining the fire chiefly to the livery buildings, where it started, but the heat was so intense that several adjoining buildings caught fire, the Y.M.C.A. building being damaged to the extent of a few hundred dollars only. The barns are a total loss but most of the carriages and harness were saved, and no horses were lost. With a high wind nothing could have saved the adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TREATY OF PORTSMOUTH IS FORMALLY SIGNED

Historic Event Was Followed by Fraternization of the Hitherto Hostile Envoys and the Russians Attended a Religious Service of Thanksgiving.

Portsmouth, N.H., Sept. 5.—Peace came to Russia and Japan yesterday as simply, as quietly, as unostentatiously as great things do come when the edge has been taken off by foreknowledge, and all that remains is a formal act to round out what has been done previously. Four dignified gentlemen, each anxious to perform the final perfunctory duty that would relieve him from the arduous labors performed in this quaint old community, signed his name to four pieces of parchment, drank some champagne, exchanged compliments that were well meant for the moment, but might not bear the analysis of absolute sincerity, and listened, while they drank, to the booming of big guns that were supplied to sound the news around the world. It was all very cut and dried, this signing of the peace treaty that brought to an end the greatest conflict of modern times, and those who participated in it were apparently glad when it was through and done with. It lacked 13 minutes of four o'clock yesterday afternoon when the Treaty of Portsmouth was officially concluded through the action of the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan in attaching their signatures and their personal seals to the agreement that had required just four weeks to complete. A clerk of the State Department at Washington rushed out from the red brick building where the ceremony had taken place, and announced the news to the group of waiting newspaper correspondents; an enlisted man of the American navy waved a red flag to the saluting battery fifty yards away; a gun crashed out, the bells of the churches of Portsmouth pealed, and in quicker time than it takes to tell of it, the news that the bloody far eastern conflict was over was spread broadcast throughout the civilized world.

HOW TREATY WAS SIGNED.

The envoys reached the building in their automobiles, and each greeted his former adversary with courtesy. When told that everything was ready for the act of signing, M. Witte, Baron Rosen, Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira went at once to the big chamber where the conferences have been conducted. In the center of the room was a long, mahogany table. Those who had been invited to witness the ceremony were already there. The envoys moved to the table, and Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira on the other.

SIGNED FOUR TIMES.

The copies of the treaty were in the hands of the respective secretaries, who laid them in front of the envoys. There were four of these copies—two each in English and French. The French drafts were laid before M. Witte and those in English before Baron Komura. Each signed simultaneously. M. Witte used a gold pen, which he afterwards presented to Dr. E. J. Dillon, the St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph. Baron Komura used a steel pen, made in Japan. When M. Witte had signed, he passed the blotting parchment over to Baron Rosen. Baron Komura passed his over to Mr. Takahira. Then the French drafts were handed across the table to Baron Komura, and the English drafts were laid before M. Witte. Each envoy signed his name four times, and each affixed his private seal. M. Witte's seal, a formidable looking affair, was handed to him by Secretary Plancon.

OLD FRIENDSHIPS AND NEW.

Everybody in the room breathed a sigh of relief when the last scratch of the pen was made. There was silence for a second or two. It was Baron Rosen who broke it. Rising in his place, and leaning across the table toward Mr. Takahira, he said in English: "I shake hands with an old friend, and now with a new one."

Baron Rosen and Mr. Takahira had known each other well when the former was Russian Minister at Tokio. Their warm clasp and the Russian's cordial words broke the ice.

In a minute there was a general exchange of congratulations. M. Witte and Baron Komura did not forget to follow the example of Baron Rosen and Mr. Takahira. Then Baron Rosen read a little speech in English for M. Witte and himself, and Baron Komura responded.

WALTER SCOTT'S NEW CABINET

Friends of ex-Premier Haultain are Bitterly Disappointed

ELECTIONS IN NOVEMBER

It is Certain That the Elections Will Be Bitterly Fought

Regina, Sask., Sept. 7.—The Provincial Cabinet will be as follows:

Premier and Commissioner of Public Works—Hon. Walter Scott.

Commissioner of Education—Hon. J. A. Calder.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

Attorney-General—Hon. George E. McCraney.

As was anticipated, Premier Haultain, of the former Territorial Government, was entirely ignored by Lieutenant-Governor Forget, and Mr. Walter Scott, M.P., was called yesterday to Government House and entrusted with the duty of forming a Government for the new province. The new Premier was in consultation with party friends nearly all day, and late last night the selections he had made were announced as above.

In general the men chosen are well and favorably known, and aside from their party stripe the nominations are fairly satisfactory. Mr. McCraney, the new Attorney-General, was formerly an Ontario man, and practised as a barrister in Milton and in Toronto. His father, the late Daniel McCraney, sat for East Kent in the Ontario Legislature, and his uncle, William McCraney, was a member of the Dominion House. He first for Halton and later for a British Columbia seat. The new Attorney-General is able and energetic, and popular in Liberal circles.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Commissioner of Agriculture, is the president of the Territorial Grain Growers' Association, and enjoys an excellent reputation, not alone as a scientific farmer, but personally as well.

The elections will likely take place in November.

There is a strong feeling here and in other parts of the Province that Premier Haultain has been treated shamefully. The feeling is that the Governor has bowed too readily to the machine at Ottawa; the choice of Hon. Mr. Scott has already brought the friends of the late Premier to boiling point. It is certain that the elections will be bitterly fought, and Mr. Scott will be indeed fortunate if he can stem the tide which at present is set against him.

TARIFF INQUIRY OPENS TO-DAY

HARVESTERS ARE ARRIVING

Premier Laurier Will Probably Spend To-day in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Mr. Howard Elliott, President of the Northern Pacific Railroad, was in Winnipeg yesterday. He left last night for Fort Frances, where he will look into the water-power situation. A possible outcome of the Fort Frances visit may be an extension of Northern Pacific to that town.

The commissioners of the tariff will hold meetings here beginning to-morrow, Thursday.

The Transportation Commission will also hold sittings at Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nelson.

Two thousand harvesters came from the east yesterday, and were all despatched west during the day. Up to date 12,000 men have been distributed to the farming regions. The remaining excursionists will number 3,000.

Premier Laurier is expected to leave Regina for the east to-day, and will probably spend Thursday in Winnipeg before departing for Ottawa. The Canadian Club will entertain Sir Gilbert Parker on Friday.

Pte. Youbill returned from Ottawa last evening, bringing with him the Governor-General's medal, which he won at the recent rifle matches there.

Dragoons Coming

Detachment of R. C. D. to Visit Ottawa and Peterboro

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Widgery and 20 men and horses of the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Stanley Barracks, in command of Lieut. Douglas Young, will leave for Ottawa next Sunday to give their musical ride performance at the Exhibition there. During the last week in September the Dragoons will go to Peterboro to entertain the visitors to the local Fair there.

The musical ride to be given at these places will be similar to that of the Dragoons before the assembled thousands at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Dairymen's Convention

Peterboro Delegates Work Well and Intelligently to Secure Meeting

Now that the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association convention is secured for this city, it is but just to our local delegates to the Toronto convention to note the strenuous efforts and intelligent canvassing they put forth to ensure the many hundred dairymen choosing Peterboro for their meeting.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association Executive in Toronto, Tuesday. Members from all parts of Eastern Ontario were present to help choose the place of meeting for the annual convention. The meeting held in the Rossin House did not take long to make the decision when delegates from Peterboro had put their case before the committee. Peterboro was represented by Messrs. McIntyre and Crowe, city, Westcott, Moloney, Ed. Elliott, clerk, and Warden Tuck, of the county; Geo. Gilleese and Geo. Fitzgerald for the cheese board. The following gentlemen addressed the meeting:—Messrs. Crowe, Elliott, Gilleese and Fitzgerald. They duly put forth the advantages of Peterboro and the inducements offered the association. The addresses combined with the unanimity of Peterboro's delegates, the generous offers made by both city and county, together with the guarantee secured by The Times among the local hotel men amounting to over $100 made Peterboro the Overwhelming choice. As noted in yesterday's Times the convention will meet in this city on Jan. 10th, 11th, and 12th of next year.

It is now up to the citizens of Peterboro to show their appreciation of the honor conferred on our city through the efforts of our delegates and others by standing shoulder to shoulder in a general determination to give our visitors the time of their life. The delegates from Peterboro, besides offering a good time to the convention, guaranteed to sell 400 membership tickets in the county.

No Quorum

Board of Health Had Not Enough Members to do Business

As noted in The Times of a week ago, the Board of Health met to discuss important sanitary matters, and in particular the sewerage from Barnardo Home. The former meeting adjourned to meet on Tuesday but no quorum was to be had only three members being present, viz., Mr. R. Neil, Mr. Ayres and Dr. Burnham. Although not enough were present to constitute a legal quorum the Barnardo sewer question, with Dr. Bell's report on it were discussed informally. It was decided to call the city council's attention once more to the motion of the Board passed on Sept. 9th, 1904, recommending the sewer that will relieve the Barnardo Home nuisance, as the council must, in justice to the surrounding neighborhood, and in all sanitary precautions take some action on the matter. Dr. Burnham spoke strongly on the matter of depositing filth in the bay at Townsend street; it is possible the police will interfere in this matter.

A letter was received from Dr. Hodgetts, provincial health officer, in reference to the board's complaint against the Lakefield House and Stony Lake cottagers dumping their sewers into the lake and river. The provincial official said that he had notified the parties that the practice was illegal and asked the Peterboro board to keep watch and if it was not stopped the provincial authorities would take action.

As there was no other important business the board adjourned for one week.

ATTACKED BY RATS

Ottawa Child Named Culbert Badly Bitten

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Attacked by rats, a three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Culbert, was badly bitten about the face and disfigured. The mother, who is staying with Mr. Culbert, sen., on Mackay street, went up town, leaving the little one asleep in an upstairs room, while another child was being attended to downstairs by the grandmother. A young woman who happened to call in was attracted by the cries of the little girl, and, going upstairs, was horrified to find the child's face bitten in several places and covered with blood, while the rat which had been seen in the house was just making its disappearance.

A FATAL RUNAWAY

Wesley Bowman of Owen Sound the Victim

Owen Sound, Sept. 7.—Wesley, the 17-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Bowman, was fatally injured in a runaway accident yesterday. In company with his sister he was driving a fiery young horse which got beyond control, and the two occupants of the buggy were thrown out. Miss Bowman was practically uninjured, but the young man was dragged between the wheels and his skull was fractured. Notwithstanding an operation which was performed at the General and Marine Hospital here he passed away at 9 o'clock last evening.

Russia to Make More Trouble

New York, September 7.—Rev. P. K. Yoon, who went to Portsmouth to observe the proceedings of the peace conference for Corea, referring to the outcome of the conference, is quoted as saying that his people sympathized with Japan, and believed that in ten years Russia would again make trouble. Japan he thought, let Russia off too easily.

THE LIVES THE WAR HAS COST

Casualties in the Two Armies Will Reach Over Half Million

THE RESULT OF BATTLES

Jap's Losses Total 167,402 and Russia's 388,480—The Ships that Were Lost.

Tokyo, September 6.—In connection with the recent expeditions the estimates of Japanese and Russian losses during the war just compiled here are interesting in the extreme. But the task of compilation has not been easy. With regard to casualties on the Japanese side tolerably accurate statistics were published throughout 1904, although even in that period there were quite a number of skirmishes which remained without exact returns. But from the beginning of the current year the Japanese would seem to have concluded that in these matters secrecy is the wiser policy. Possibly in view of the fact that the Russians observed reticence the Japanese decided not to be needlessly frank. At all events they have never made any official statement of the total casualties during the siege of Port Arthur or in the great battle of Mukden. In these cases, therefore, recourse must be had to private intelligence, supplemented by a somewhat laborious calculation of ratios between the aggregate losses and losses in commissioned rank.

One very salient landmark offers itself. Last May a religious celebration was held in Tokyo in memory of the officers and men who had perished in battle or died of wounds between February 8, 1904, and January 31, 1905, exclusive of the battle of Heikoukai. The peculiarly solemn character of those rites which are bound up with everything that the Japanese hold most sacred, precludes the possibility of any omission from the national death roll. Prayers were offered up for 28,999 military men and 1,457 naval men of all ranks; and it can be taken as certain that these figures represented the total of both services up to the fall of Port Arthur. Assuming, as experience indicates, that four men are wounded for every one killed, and assuming further, that 10 per cent. of the wounded die, we at once get an aggregate of about 105,000 casualties in all ranks of the Japanese army from the beginning of the war until January 31, 1905. If to this we add 8,000 for Heikoutai, 52,500 for Mukden and 500 on account of skirmishes up to the end of July, we obtain a grand aggregate of 166,000 in round numbers, representing casualties, killed and wounded, during the period from February, 1904, to June, 1905, inclusive. This tallies almost exactly with the total obtained by setting down the figures unofficially reported after the ending of each fight.

But when the Russian figures are considered it is difficult, if not impossible at times, to obtain details. In a large number of instances there is no guide except the dead bodies abandoned on the field, and these must always have been considerably below the actual total of killed, while official returns, seldom published, were generally proved to err greatly on the side of understatement. Therefore the figures set down in the Russian column must be considered merely in the minimum.

Following are the best obtainable statistics of casualties, the Japanese being given first, the Russians second:

Yalu—Japanese, 1,039; Russian, 2,398.

Nanshan—Japanese, 4,207; Russian, 3,370.

Telissu—Japanese, 1,103; Russian, 9,270.

Tashwiling—Japanese, 171; Russian, 450.

Kaiping—Japanese, 153; Russian, 250.

Motienling—Japanese, 299; Russian, 1,000.

Kinotzo—Japanese, 423; Russian, 1,000.

Taohsiho—Japanese, 1,077; Russian, 2,000.

Tomuching—Japanese, 860; Russian, 2,000.

Yushulingtsz and Yangtszling—Japanese, 946; Russian, 2,000.

Liaoyang—Japanese, 17,613; Russian, 25,000.

Shaho—Japanese, 15,879; Russian, 69,201.

Forty-six skirmishes—Japanese 7,000; Russian, 7,000.

Skirmishes after Shaho—Japanese, 200; Russian, 395.

Niuchwang—Japanese, 250; Russian, 500.

Heikoutai—Japanese, 8,000; Russian, 10,000.

Mukden—Japanese, 52,500; Russian, 132,300.

Fakumun—Japanese, 50; Russian, 340.

Kaiyuan—Japanese, 75; Russian, 800.

Yingcheing—Japanese, 70; Russian, 600.

Weiyuantaumun—Japanese, 215; Russian, 240.

Port Arthur—Japanese, 50,000; Russian, 240.

Naval casualties—Japanese, 3,670; Russian, 6,000.

This makes a total of 166,758 for the Japanese and 329,779 for the Russians. Of prisoners reports show Japanese taken and 67,701 as the number of Russian prisoners.

This brings the grand total on the Japanese side up to 167,402; on the Russian side up to 388,480.

Turning to the question of material of war the story of the Russian naval squadron is told as follows:

Armored cruisers, 5; displacement, 38,979.

Seagoing coast defense ironclads, 1; displacement, 4,126.

Cruisers, 6; displacement, 25,341.

Other kinds, including converted cruisers, 11; displacement, 25,225.

Destroyers, 19; displacement, 5,766.

The brief result is very striking. Out of a total of 83 ships, with a displacement of 410,224 tons, sent by Russia into the belligerent arena, only 10, with a displacement of 83,636 tons, remain in her fighting line.

In a similar compilation the results so far as the Japanese navy is concerned, stand as follows:

Battleships, 2; displacement, 27,—.

Armored cruisers—

Seagoing coast defence cruisers—

Cruisers, 4; displacement, 15,—.

Other kind, 4; displacement, 1,702.

Destroyers, 2; displacement, 738.

Summing up the entire naval situation in detail it appears that the Japanese force of 76 vessels with a displacement of 274,194 tons has sunk or captured 64 ships with a total displacement of 289,778 tons. It is true that this includes the ships which the long-range guns at Port Arthur helped to disable, but it was owing to the exertions of the Japanese fleet that these ships were driven into Port Arthur and held prisoners there.

Another important point is that whereas the Japanese have lost 12 ships with a total displacement of 46,025 tons, they have captured and added to their navy seven vessels representing 44,480 tons. Nor is this all. Already at Port Arthur the battleship Peresviet, 12,674 tons, and the armored cruiser Bayan, 7,800 tons, have been raised, and at Chemulpo the protected cruiser Varing, 6,500 tons. Other ships will also be raised, but even with the addition of these three the Japanese navy emerges with a displacement of 25,435 tons greater than it had when the war commenced, whereas the Russian navy has been practically annihilated.

In addition it should be remembered that there have been added to the Japanese mercantile marine 49 vessels with an aggregate displacement of over 110,000 tons. It may be observed that in no case has a non-combatant vessel been sunk by the Japanese navy.

Police Association

Police of Whole Dominion Form Strong Organization

As noted in yesterday's Times, Chief G. I. Rossel, of the local force is now in Toronto to meet the chiefs of police of the various cities throughout the Dominion. Some 44 chiefs of police from the cities of Canada were present, and met at the City Hall, when a thoroughly organized association of chiefs of police was formed. Chief Grasett of the Toronto force, from his local standing and in compliment to the locality where the meeting was held, was unanimously elected chairman.

A warm welcome was extended to the visiting officers of the law by Mayor Urquart, who gave them the freedom of the city.

Among those present were: Lieut.-Col. Sherwood, Ottawa; Charles Sleeman, Brantford; C. O'Neil, Berlin; J. A. Buckley, Chatham, N.B.; G. I. Rossel, Peterboro; W. J. Dodds, Port William; A. Smith, Hamilton; O. Campeau, Montreal; L. E. De la Ronde, Ottawa; H. A. Babbitt, Picton and D. Roberfel, Sorel, Que.

The following resolution, by Messrs Dodds and Campeau, were unanimously passed: "That it is the opinion of this convention, it is desirable to proceed immediately with the organization of an association, having for its object the promotion of closer official and social relations among the police of the Dominion, and of such measures as will best tend to the suppression of crime and the general improvement of the police service of Canada."

Luncheon was partaken of at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

During the afternoon a committee composed of Chiefs Buckley, Sherwood, Campeau, Smith and Dodds, drew up the constitution and by-laws of the association.

Harmonious Meeting

Star of the East Mine Shareholders Meet

Yesterday afternoon some 40 to 50 shareholders in the Star of the East Mining Co. held their annual meeting in the Sons of England hall, with President M. Smith presiding.

After the usual routine business of such meetings was performed, an election was held for directors for the ensuing year. The result of the vote was that the new board is composed of the following shareholders, Thos. Houlett, G. F. Smith, Harry Long, all of Pittsburg, Pa.; C. M. Cozad, J. R. Steele, Oil City, Pa.; J. K. Dale, Franklin, Pa.; John Fritz, East Aurora, N.Y.; C. J. Cowain, J. W. Boyce, Peterboro.

The financial report of the directors was shown, and whilst from various causes, satisfactorily explained, there seemed to be a deficit of some $2,028, the prospects for the future are very bright. The ore is there, the financial backing is there, and the right men to carry the mine to a successful financial issue are on the board. A resolution giving powers to the incoming board of directors was passed, so that, in all probability, work will be pushed ahead now.

Among those present were:—President Smith, Vice-President Richard Hall, Secretary-Treasurer A. O. Kidd, George F. Smith, M. Lahey, Pittsburg, D. F. Fritz, Harvey Fritz, C. M. Cozad, John W. Sager, Oil City; S. Sager, city; J. K. Dale, Franklin, Pa.; W. J. Delmage, Camden East; George Payne, John Lahey, Lakefield, and a number of others.

A meeting of the new directorate was held last night in the Snowden House to elect officers for the coming year, a list of which will appear in to-morrow's issue.

DISGUISED ARMENIANS START REIGN OF TERROR

Persian Consul Declined to Interfere—Troubles in Kishineff Continue and Roughs are Sacking the Shops and Shooting Down the Inmates—Whole Caucasus Region Terrorized.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Private advices from Baku, Caucasia, 16 day say that the attack Tovar district of that city is still burning, and also the works at Balakhan, Biabieai, Nermanna and Sabunto. The loss amounts to millions of roubles. Baku is smoking with dense clouds of smoke and the flashes of burning buildings illuminated the city all night long.

It is alleged that the disorders were started by Armenians who disguised as soldiers, fired on Russians and Tartars.

The Persian Consul was asked to act as a pacificator, but he replied that conciliation was impossible with the Armenians who had killed 200 Persian subjects.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—Private advices from Kishineff say that street fighting continues there. Roughs are sacking the Jewish shops, killing or wounding many of the inmates. It is said that over a score of soldiers have been killed. The Jewish self-defence committee is active in organizing resistance to the troops.

Tiflis, Sept. 7.—The whole southeast of the Caucasus is terrorized by Tartar refugees, who are pouring in from the Baku, Elisabetpol and Shusha districts. Details from Shusha show that a series of engagements were fought there between Tartars and Armenians behind regular positions. The combatants strove to reach other quarters in order to sack, burn and kill. A considerable part of the town was soon in flames. An official estimate places the number of houses burned at over 200. The Government sent its subordinates to the opposing factions in an endeavor to stop the fighting. These were greeted with shouts, and the Tartars and Armenians attacked again with renewed fury. An official account says that 200 were killed and wounded, but private advices show that the casualties were much higher. There was great bloodshed.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—There was only desultory fighting in Baku up to last evening, but the disturbances of yesterday were marked by immense property losses, which fall with crushing weight on the Russian oil industry centered there. The combatants resorted to the torch, and hundreds of tanks of oil and naphtha, and several important refineries are now in flames. Oilmen believe the loss will run into millions of dollars in Baku alone. The fire, which began in the refineries of the Moscow-Caspian Society, spread to 300 tanks, and to one tank in the "Blacktown" quarter containing 5,000,000 pounds of oil.

THE TURF—BASEBALL—LACROSSE—FOOTBALL

LACROSSE.

The team committee of the Peterboro Lacrosse Club met Tuesday night to select the team for the game with Beaverton at Lindsay on Friday. The following players were selected: O'Brien, Dillon, Morgan, Mein, Meagher, Donovan, Ford, McGrath, McCabe, Judd, Cavanah, Glover, Crowley, Best and Stroud. There was a good turnout for the practice last night at Riverside Park.

• • • •

The tie between Beaverton and Peterboro will be played off in Lindsay to-morrow afternoon. The local management Tuesday night called up Peter McMillan, of Beaverton by 'phone and suggested that the game be played on Saturday instead of on Friday. This would enable Peterboro to run an excursion and also make it easier to get their men off. Beaverton would not hear of the proposition and so the boys will journey to Lindsay on Friday.

• • • •

The Lacrosse Club have arranged for an excursion to Lindsay on Friday for the Peterboro-Beaverton game.

• • • •

BASEBALL.

The Port Hope Guide referring to Saturday's game says:

"The unexpected happened all right on Saturday and the fact was once more demonstrated that baseball is a very uncertain game. The locals journeyed to Peterboro to play their league game and felt sure of an easy victory, but it was not to be, and when the game ended the score stood 14—13 in favor of Peterboro. There was trouble from the start. Peter Duncan, of Cobourg, who was selected to referee did not show up, and after much inducement Jack Rosevear boarded the cannon ball express. This, however, only carried him to Millbrook, and he was obliged to drive from there to Peterboro arriving at his destination about 3.30 o'clock. The weather was very threatening all day and the game had just nicely started when Jupiter Pluvius poured forth. And with the heavy rain and the river to the west which gathered in every foul, the sphere had no chance to get dry.

"But the fifth was where things went all to the bad. The rain came down in torrents and Surphlis could do nothing with the ball. It was impossible to grip it and consequently it could not be curved. He was obliged to pitch straight, speedy ball and Peterboro batters took advantage of this unfortunate circumstance. They simply met the ball, and this, with the speed of Henry's delivery, was sufficient to carry it to the four corners. Kingsland took a wallop at it and when the third man was called out, Peterboro had scored 9 runs and were in the lead by 11—7.

"It was a hard game to lose, but now that we are out of the running it is hardly worth while to make excuses. The Port Hope team was strong enough to shut Peterboro out and had the weather kept fine they would have done so. Some will say that the wet weather was as fair for one team as the other and that argument certainly looks reasonable, but on Saturday such was not the case. Every ball player will admit that a speedy straight ball is much easier to drive than a slow one and this is where Quinlan had the advantage over Surphlis. On a dry day with any support at all, Henry can shut Peterboro out, and the northern boys were very fortunate on Saturday in having a wet day. This statement may seem a little loud to some, but the Port Hope management will take exactly the same team which was defeated on Saturday in Peterboro, and play any team in the Midland League on neutral grounds for $100 or more.

"That the locals should have won on Saturday is admitted by the majority of the Peterboro people. They have been up against hard luck nearly all season and Saturday was no exception. However, to decide the superiority of the teams in the Midland League it might be well for the champions, either Bowmanville, Cobourg, or Peterboro, to accept this challenge and thus settle all differences of opinion.

Undertakers Meet

Mr. D. Bellegham Attends Meeting of Canada's Embalmers

Mr. Daniel Bellegham, of this city, is attending the 22nd annual convention of the Canadian Embalmers' Association, in the theatre of the Biological building of Toronto University. The lectures, with practical demonstrations, by Prof. Charles A. Genung, Waterloo, N.Y., were the best features of yesterday's proceedings, and will be continued to-morrow. There were 125 members present, and about 200 are expected before the close of the convention. Ald. Graham representing the Mayor, made an address of welcome, which was replied to by Mr. A. R. Goltart, Chatham, President of the Association.

The report of the Executive Council was read by the secretary. Mr. Richard Tees, Montreal, and that of the Treasurer, which was very creditable, was read and finally adopted at the evening meeting. The report on the address of the President, Mr. J. C. Van Camp, Toronto, was laid over to be dealt with.

Carrier Pigeons Training

Mr. W. H. Snowden yesterday started his flock of carrier pigeons in to training. The best ones were picked out and will be given flights of increasing distance, beginning with a mile and a half to two miles from the home cot and gradually enlarging their length of flight to any distance to 20 miles. Mr. Snowden has some 35 thoroughbred birds now on hand, but they will be reduced as time goes by, and experiment develops the best for the work designed.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak—Not Natural—But Its Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ontario. She says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight hacking cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE RREFERENTIAL TARIFF QUESTION

Against opposition in some quarters, [illegible] proposal to establish preferential trade arrangements between the different parts of the Empire, continues to be discussed, and to find adherents among men whose position or experience entitles their opinion to be received with respect. Mr. Seddon, the Premier of New Zealand, is, perhaps, the most pronounced among Colonial statesmen in favor of such a policy. He has declared that the Government of that Colony is ready to enter into such an arrangement, either as a general policy between the Mother Country and all the dependencies of the Empire, or with any separate Colony that may be willing to enter into an agreement with New Zealand. Mr. Deakin, the Premier of the Australian Commonwealth, has since his accession to that position, repeated his adhesion to such a policy, confirming the view which he expressed when in Opposition. The President of the Chamber of Commerce in Sydney, has recently stated that a preferential policy would confer great benefits on the trade of the Commonwealth and that he believed it was bound to be adopted before long by every part of the Empire. From South African statesmen have come similar expressions of opinion and in fact outside of the United Kingdom itself it is difficult to find any great popular opposition to the adoption of a policy of general preferential trade.

It is, we think, unfortunate that in the United Kingdom the matter has to so great an extent become a political, or rather, a party question. It is impossible to refuse to see that it is so and that in consequence the policy cannot now be separated from issues with which it has nothing to do. The dubbing of the policy of preferential trade as a return to protection has undoubtedly prejudiced the proposal in the view of many persons, while the cry that the food of the people will be taxed under such a scheme has turned many votes among the electors, as may have been seen in many of the by-elections during the two years that have elapsed since Mr. Chamberlain unfolded his proposal in his speech at Birmingham in May, 1903.

That a course of popular education, more or less prolonged, will be required before the policy can be understood by the mass of the electors in the United Kingdom, and be considered by them free from all the fallacies and misstatements that have been gathered around it, seems to be inevitable. This may involve considerable delay; cause defeat of Mr. Chamberlain and his supporters, and, as far as the Mother Country is concerned, prevent any action in the proposed direction. It seems to us, however, that this fact does not necessarily imply that nothing can or will be done to inaugurate preferential trade between some of the members of Greater Britain. There is no question, for example, that Canada would reap advantage from such an arrangement with Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the West Indies, and other colonies. Such a course would at the same time be an object lesson to the people of Great Britain. That the issue has been confused is apparent from the fact that while the imposition of a registration duty of one shilling per quarter on imported wheat, was not objected to when proposed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, there was a cry of protection raised against such a proposal when it was suggested that it might be retained on foreign wheat, but remitted on grain from the Colonies. Yet, while such an arrangement would have stimulated further efforts by the Colonial grower, the ultimate result would have been that Colonial wheat would oust the foreign grown grain and the one shilling impost disappear from the revenue collections. But the dust raised by the cry of "taxing the people's food" obscured the popular vision.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Japan has 27,138 public schools, in which 5,084,099 children (about one-ninth of Japan's entire population) are taught by 108,360 teachers, says the Japanese official "White Book." This is 93.23 per cent. of all children of school age in the Empire. In 1872 the school enrollment was 26 per cent., in 1883 it was 51 per cent. and in 1893 59 per cent. The chief growth has been since the Chino-Japanese war, 1894-1895, about 33 per cent. in only ten years.

Gow's Trial

Local Lawyers Left for Norwood for Preliminary Hearing

Several important personages in the preliminary hearing of Charles Gow's case in which he will be charged with manslaughter, this morning, left for Norwood yesterday evening. The party included Messrs. Geo. Edmison who will preside, R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney for the prosecution, W. F. Johnston who will take stenographic reports verbatim of the proceedings, and the prisoner under guard.

There will be 16 witnesses, including Robert D. Hill, sr., William D. Hill ing Robert D. Hill, sr., William H. Hill, Robert D. Hill, jr., William Dewart, James Dewart, Edward Dewart, Stewart Murphy, George Gallagher, Dr. Douglas, W. C. Heathcote, Mrs. Robt. D. Hill, Sr., Archie Moore, Mabel Hill, Hattie Hill and Clara Dewart to be heard. Every effort will be made to get all the evidence in to-day, but it is improbable that this will be accomplished.

The residents of Dummer, where the feeling against the Hill family is said to be strong, will most likely be out en masse for the hearing and fill the temporary court room. At nine o'clock the trial will be opened in the town hall, but as division court will be held in the afternoon the police court may have to adjourn to another building.

The following is the charge;

That Charles Gow, at the township of Dummer, in the County of Peterboro, on Thursday, Aug. 24th, did unlawfully kill and slay one Thomas E. Hill, and did thereby then commit manslaughter contrary to the provisions of the criminal code.

A Port Hope Fire

Jas. Haws Livery Barn Burnt and Whole Town Threatened

Port Hope, Sept. 5.—About half-past eleven o'clock last night the business section of the town narrowly escaped a serious conflagration. The large 'bus and livery stables of James Haw, situated in the very heart of the town, in the rear of the Hotel St. Lawrence, were discovered to be on fire, and, being of frame construction, it was but a few moments before the buildings were a mass of flames. The firemen were promptly on hand, and succeeded in confining the fire chiefly to the livery buildings, where it started, but the heat was so intense that several adjoining buildings caught fire, the Y.M.C.A. building being damaged to the extent of a few hundred dollars only. The barns are a total loss but most of the carriages and harness were saved, and no horses were lost. With a high wind nothing could have saved the adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. An fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2] [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable

Par Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

SAYS JAPAN FEARS CHINA

JAPANESE EDITOR THROWS NEW LIGHT ON MONGOLS

Wants China Held Back, Fearing that With Modern Warfare She Would Crush Japan

Portsmouth, September 5—"There is no country in the world which Japan fears so much as China."

This is the remarkable statement made today by two Japanese newspaper men—Editor Kaju Nakamura, of the New York Japanese-American Commercial Weekly, who has been quoted in these dispatches, and a man whose paper has commanded him to withhold his name in connection with any statements he may make to the American press. Mr. Nakamura continued:

"Japan could easily take for herself any Chinese territory that she might desire, but it is her policy so far as possible to let China alone thus following the advice of Napoleon I. There is grave danger that China will learn modern warfare. The safety of the world demands that she be kept in ignorance as long as possible. Once imbued with the fighting spirit of Japan, which is not impossible, for Chinamen are no cowards, and instructed in latter day methods of making war, the very existence of China would constitute a real menace.

"This yellow peril talk is all nonsense. Do not think for a moment that Japan will ever teach China how to fight. What assurance have we to believe that she would make common cause with us against all the powers? Even if we desired them to do so, why is it not just as possible that, not forgetful of old enmities, that the Chinese military would overrun Japan first of all, crushing our people by the weight of numbers?

"The people are so afraid that the white race might at some time or other meet the yellow race in a war for supremacy of the world do not know the situation. Japan and China have nothing in common. It is true that in this war Japan has been fighting for China as well as for herself, but after peace has been concluded the interests of Japan and China will clash. Our retention of Port Arthur will reopen the old wounds of the Chinese-Japanese war. True, China will be given her lost Province of Manchuria and will come into the possession of a valuable railway, but that man is foolish who believes that by this she will be satisfied. China is ungrateful. American experience proves that. It was the United States who saved China from ruin after the march of the allied forces to Pekin in the summer of 1900, but China has attempted to boycott American goods because of lack of intelligence of an immigration officer. Japan is likely to fare no better.

"China has already learned too much. She will learn no more, if Japan can prevent it. As we have said before, Japan plans for the establishment of a policy closely resembling the American Monroe doctrine. She will prevent, if she can, the alienation of any of China, and will protect Corea. She will not attempt the restriction of trade. Every legitimate method of increasing her commercial prosperity will be adopted, but she will not try to close Chinese ports. She is not looking for trouble with the nations of the West. She wishes to live in peace with all the world and will do so if other nations will permit her."

Real Estate Investment

A WORD TO CANADIANS

Invest Your Money Under the Flowing Folds of the British Flag

Canada to-day offers magnificent opportunities to the wide-awake investor, who need not look to the ends of the earth for a safe and profitable real estate investment. Right in our fair Dominion under the broad protection of the Union Jack, with no chance of having your investment disturbed and jeopardized by internal strife or revolution, money can be made and we can make it for you. We are dealing with Real Estate in PORT ARTHUR, a town which spells progress and golden opportunity to any Canadian investor who wants to see his money grow. No need to spend your time pulling up stumps, cultivating your land, staying round a foreign clime with a possible chance of achieving success in years to come. We are dealing in land free from hills and hollows, and all other obstructions. Ours is level land, most favorably located for residential purposes, and success begins with you the moment you invest in the purchase of lots in the

CARRICK ADDITION OF PORT ARTHUR

We can do the same with you as was done with a similar Real Estate Investment in Port Arthur only two short years ago. An addition, known as Highland Park, consisting of some 400 lots, was disposed of to investors in various sized lots, which in many cases have since been sold at an advance in price of from

100 PER CENT TO 200 PER CENT ON THE PURCHASE MONEY PAID

Your investment in the CARRICK ADDITION probably means a similar opportunity. Your purchase of Real Estate grows in value as the progressive town of Port Arthur advances.

PORT ARTHUR

- Has doubled its population during the past four years
- Possesses two great railways—the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern
- Is to welcome the Grand Trunk Pacific into its midst
- Is the coming wholesale manufacturing and distributing center of the great Northwest
- Is at the head of Canadian inland navigation, and possesses unexcelled shipping facilities
- Owns and operates more municipal franchises than any city in America
- Will possess an abundant supply of electrical energy when the unused power of Kakabeka Falls is brought into play

When, in addition to the above, we mention that a contract has been let for the erection of extensive Coal Docks, which we further state that many other important enterprises are engaging the attention of many busy minds, one may begin to gather some idea as to the importance of Port Arthur, and what all this means to the investor. Every new enterprise means the introduction of fresh capital, and this in turn spells the employment of master minds, the skilled mechanic and the laborer, and all this leads up to the purchase of residential property. This is what we are offering you to-day.

THE CARRICK ADDITION OF PORT ARTHUR IS AN IDEAL RESIDENTIAL SECTION

being situated only two blocks distant from some of its finest residences, and within walkable distance from the heart of the town.

WE OFFER LOTS VARYING IN PRICE FROM $55.00 TO $75.00 EACH

And we make the terms of payment practically to suit the purchaser—$15.00 down and $5.00 per month thereafter.

All lots possess a frontage of 33 feet, and they range in depth from 105 to 122 feet.

Further particulars, plans, maps, and all other desired information can readily be obtained by addressing a communication to either of the addresses given below.

Lest there should be any lingering doubt in anyone's mind as to the future of Port Arthur Real Estate, read what two or three prominent Port Arthur citizens state concerning same:

Col. S. W. Ray, of the Banking House of Ray, Street & Co., says: "No doubt values of real estate will increase. Prices are ridiculously low as compared with other places of inferior position and prospects. They should be at least 50 per cent. higher than they are."

(Probably Col. Ray is as well known in banking, financial and business circles as any other man in Canada, and he is known to be somewhat cautious and conservative in his opinions, hence the added value of the above declaration.)

George Clavet, President of the Board of Trade, states: "A steady growth of the town is unavoidable, and values in Real Estate are bound to increase."

W. F. Langworthy, Crown Attorney, says: "For a man with little money to invest, no place in Canada offers better advantages than Port Arthur. In my opinion, real estate is bound to rapidly increase in value, and the increase in value that has taken place within the last few years is only the commencement."

ALL APPLICATIONS FOR LOTS WILL BE TREATED IN THE ORDER IN WHICH THEY ARE RECEIVED

Diseases of Women

OFTEN DUE TO

Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys Are Weak It is Impossible for Any Women to be Happy or Healthy.

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the Town of Portland. Read her experience;

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; to-day I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn. [illegible] and Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Critchley spoke in very warm terms of this mine, saying that the present samples of ore being taken out are as rich as any in the world, and that the compressed air drill now being put up will make the Big Dipper a winner.

Deserves Attention

Public Spirited Action of Our Local Hotelmen

It is too common a thing of late years for certain people to decry all men who engage in the hotel business, certain citizens being apt to have their calmer judgment overruled by clap-trap cries of tremendous profits squeezed out of poor fallen humanity, but, with narrow forgetfulness, not only of the frequent calls being made on the bank accounts of men who have paid heavily to the municipality for their privileges, but of the indirect benefits they confer on residents of the city by directly benefitting farmers and other visitors within our borders. Every fault, or imagined fault, to be discovered in the hotelmen and their business is grossly exaggerated. People often complain of inadequate accommodation [illegible] certain hotels. Apart from the accommodation required by law, the hotel keeper provides sheds, water, a barber and other conveniences which we think are very often taken advantage of without proper remuneration. How often do we see persons taking advantage of the shed room of the hotel, the water provided for his horse and even to boot for his own comfort without leaving one cent for remuneration. All these things cost the hotel keeper money. They are provided for the convenience of the public, then why should they not be paid for? The expense to the individual would not be heavy, but in the aggregate it would mean considerable to the hotel men.

They are entitled to it and it would relieve them of the imputation that these are simply devices to induce people to spend money over the bar. Many of their patrons would prefer to pay, and the majority of people are reasonable enough to see that these things cost the hotel keeper money, and it is but natural that if he cannot make them self sustaining he must make up the difference in some other way, and that way is generally through the bar. It is here temperance people can work. Pay for what you get and relieve the bar of some of its earning necessities.

When we consider the incessant demands on the hotel mens' pockets for every civic, sporting, or other funds, it is only just to give a little sober reflection on the action of our local hotel men in putting up more than $100 towards getting the Firemens' Convention here next January. True, these strangers will directly benefit the hotels, but will not the whole city, including the merchants, profit by getting some 600 intelligent, well-to-do men for three days? And have not the hotel men already paid large sums for their licenses to the city? Such actions as Saturday's subscriptions to the dairy mens' fund should teach our local ultra-fanatical opponents of the hotel business that they have some good points anyway.

NO DIFFERENCE

Old People Just as Happy as Young.

Age cannot wither nor custom stale the infinite variety of life.

When the right food makes one new each day there seems as much [illegible] when young, but bounding health is the requisite and the right food produces that.

A happy woman of 77 tells her experience:

"For three years," she says, "I was greatly troubled with a nervous affection of the stomach, which at last brought me to such a condition that I could neither eat nor sleep with any sort of comfort. I grew very despondent and felt that my hold on life was very uncertain. It was difficult for me to find food that I could digest. My doctor kept me on a diet of rice for a long time, but it did not seem to give me any strength.

"I am glad that at last I decided to try Grape-Nuts food, for it has done a wonderful work for me. Before I had used up the first package I began to take a new interest in life, and I rapidly increased in health and strength. My stomach has regained its normal tone and in the two years that Grape-Nuts has been my only food, I have not had a sick day. I am 77 years old and Grape-Nuts has restored to me the pleasure of living. I am sorry I did not begin sooner to use it. I cannot praise it too highly." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

A 10 days' trial is sufficient.

Married in St. Andrews

Miss Edna B. Knapp is the Bride of T. H. Sills of C. G. E. Co

A pretty wedding was celebrated in St. Andrew's church on Tuesday, when Miss Edna Blanche Knapp, daughter of Mr. Arnold W. Knapp, city, was married to Mr. T. H. Sills of the Canadian General Electric Company.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church. The bride, tastefully attired in a neat fitting traveling gown, was assisted by Miss Helen E. Davidson of Norwood, while the bridegroom was supported by Mr. Ernest G. Poole. Mr. and Mrs. Sills left on a short wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara and other points. On their return they will take up their residence in the city.

Mr. Longe Gift to Emily Church

A pleasing feature in the anniversary services held in St. James church in Emily last Sunday, was the dedication of two silver offertory plates, the gift of Mr. Harry Long, of Peterboro. Five years ago when the church was opened, during the incumbency of the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Mr. Long presented the congregation with a beautiful alms basin of beaten brass, and the congregation feel very grateful to him for his kindness. It is gratifying to report that St. James' church is now free of debt, the amount of Sunday's offertory exceeding the remaining debt by nine dollars.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

It is just a common cold, people say, there's no danger in that. Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

At the first symptoms the careful person will heed the warning by taking a mild laxative; some vegetable pill that will not disturb the system or cause griping. About the best is "Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets." If the cold, starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alterative extract, which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

Dr. Pierce's 1000-page illustrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. For 50 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. 1008 pages. It was formerly sold for $1.50 per copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Good Story

The Times Will on Saturday Issue Daily Parts of a Complete Novel

The Times, with its usual desire to meet public demands will on Saturday print the first chapter of a new and interesting novel by Mrs. Alexander, entitled "A Tangled Web." The authoress of this widely read and greatly appreciated novel, Mrs. Alexander, is too well known to our literary readers to require any criticism on our part. We might say to those lovers of her clever works that "A Tangled Web" surpasses any of her previous works and is well worthy the careful reading of any lover of good fiction.

The Times will, as above noted give the initial chapters of this novel on Saturday, and thereafter will print [illegible] lover of good fiction to cut out and preserve each section of the story until completed, by pasting it in a scrap book. We might mention that in our choice of a serial story for these columns, The Times has consulted several of Peterboro's most noted literateurs and taken their opinions as to what author or work would meet with most general appreciation by our readers, with the result that almost a unanimous consensus of opinion proved Mrs. Alexander as the favorite writer; we have thus taken her most recent work to present to our patrons. The novel will appear in daily sections until complete. When we will issue another good novel by a favorite author.

Any suggestions or comments from our readers will be welcomed and given close attention.

LOTTERY RAID CAPTIVES ARE HEAVILY FINED

Fines Aggregating Over $1,700 Imposed on Keepers of Fort Erie Lottery, of Which William Hunt Must Pay $1,000.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 7.—A lottery in the following of its monthly drawing, was raided at Port Erie. Detective Greer, of Toronto, led the raid. The officers captured all the principals of the lottery company, a number of agents from various places in New York State, Pennsylvania and Canada, two or three barrels full of lottery tickets, two wheels and a lot of other paraphernalia.

The prisoners were put in the village lock-up, breaking the record for its population at any stated time. The tickets and other lottery appliances were held as evidence.

HOW THE RAID WAS MADE.

For a year or so it has been known to lottery players that a concern called the Louisiana Lottery had its drawings at Fort Erie. Rumors of this have from time to time been wafted to the ears of the Canadian authorities, but either because they could not locate the place where drawings were held, or because the time was not ripe, the raid was delayed until yesterday.

It was evident when it was made, however that the raiders had pretty good information about what they would find. This was the September drawing. The police knew to a dot what time it would be held.

About 9 o'clock Detective Greer, Chief Mains, of the Niagara Falls, Ont., police, Chief Keyes, of the Fort Erie force, and several other officers surrounded what is known as the Erie House, a residence that looks something like a country gentleman's home, covered the doors and windows, so none could get out, and then broke into the place.

DRAWING WAS IN PROGRESS.

They found a drawing in progress. Agents from all over were on hand to watch it. Two boys were drawing the lucky numbers, that won't be lucky this time, because of the law's interference. Detective Greer informed the men they were under arrest, and one of the other officers locked the door from the inside. It stayed locked until the prisoners were secured and the evidence was bundled up in readiness to be carted away.

LEADERS ALL IN THE TOILS.

The principal prisoners are, William Hunt, conductor of the Anglo-American Hotel, and one of the best known men in Port Erie. He is said to be the chief factotum of the lottery game. The others are: William Harris, chief assistant; John Wright, said to be another assistant, Wright's twelve-year-old son, and another lad, named Lightheart, who is about 10 years old. These boys were on hand, it is charged, to turn the wheels and draw the numbers that took prizes in the lottery. Most of the other men were strangers in Port Erie. They gave names which, in some cases, are guessed to be fictitious.

LOTTERY MEN HEAVILY FINED.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 8. — The lottery raid case came to a summary close yesterday morning, when the defendants appeared before Police Magistrate Col. Cruickshank at 10 o'clock, when the charge was read that they were all charged with running and abetting a lottery concern contrary to the laws of Canada. Mr. Wm. German, K.C., M.P., for Welland, who represented all the defendants, arraigned each defendant separately, and forthwith pleaded guilty for each one.

Col. Cruickshank inflicted the following fines; William Hunt, manager, $1,000; Joseph Morris, his assistant, $500; Charles E. Harris and John Wright, assistants, $100 each; Henry Heinze, a frequenter, five dollars and costs; Wm. White, spectator, discharged.

The two boys, Lightheart and Harris, who were employed turning the wheel, were discharged on suspended sentence, with a fatherly lecture by the Magistrate, which no doubt will have the effect to keep them out of such concerns during their lifetime. All the paraphernalia seized will be held by the Crown. The Magistrate gave the defendants a severe lecture for carrying on such a despicable business. All the fines were promptly paid into court and defendants released.

INVEST IN LAND

Port Arthur's Real Estate Will Rapidly Increase in Value

No form of investment for capital offers as secure a guarantee of safety, nor does money grow in value more rapidly than in land in or about a fast growing city. Our readers are all probably aware that Port Arthur, with its steadily increasing shipping facilities, being one of the most important ports on the Great Lakes, is attracting attention not only in our own country, but from capitalists in the United States. No city in Canada but Port Arthur has in the last years doubled its population, and as expansion grows the demand for land and building lots in this great railroad and industrial centre advances by leaps and bounds. Two years ago, Highland Park, Port Arthur, was divided into building lots and sold to the incoming citizens. These lots have in this short time raised from 100 per cent. to 200 per cent. in value above the price paid. Messrs. Parker & Co., 21 and 23 Colborne street, Toronto, are now offering for sale lots in the "Carrick addition" of Port Arthur, having a frontage of 33 feet with a depth of from 105 to 122 feet, for $55 to $75 each, with very easy terms of payment.

The "Carrick addition" is within two blocks of some of Port Arthur's finest residences, and within easy walking distance of the heart of the city. As Port Arthur has a wonderful future before it, as the great Western country becomes more thickly populated and vast quantities of grain and other produce passes through its elevators and docks, land there must advance rapidly in value. For particulars, see Messrs Parker & Company's advertisement in another portion of this issue, or communicate with them direct.

BACK FROM THE POLAR REGIONS

Two of the American Zeigler Expedition Pass Through Montreal on way Home

HAD TO ABANDON ATTEMPT

Ship Destroyed and They Built House —Bad Weather Made it Impossible to Reach Pole

Montreal, September 8. — Two of the men who accompanied the American Ziegler Polaris Expedition have been stopping at the Queen's Hotel. They were Dr. J. C. Vaughan, of Newark, N.J., and H. H. Newcomb, of Milford, Mass. Before they left for their homes they told a rather interesting story of some of their happenings since they had left the civilized part of this continent. The party, as it was originally constituted, was under the leadership of Mr. A. Fiala and left Vardo, July 10, 1903. The expedition was relieved by the Terra Nova, the first of last month.

Dr. Vaughan said that, although the Pole had not been discovered, the party had brought back much data that would be of immense value to the scientific world. The party explored and surveyed the archipelago from Crown Prince Rudolphs Land to Cape Flora. Four new channels as well as three new islands were discovered, and all this will help to make a decided change in the map of the Polar regions.

The two gentlemen related their experiences in the winter camp, which was located near a point which they had christened Cape Abruzzi, in honor of the great Italian explorer. At this place the stern of their boat, the America, was torn away and they decided to build a house ashore large enough to shelter the whole party.

The whole winter at this camp, 1903-1904, was spent in preparation for the sledge journey northward. It was intended to get away in the month of February, but the weather interfered and the start was not to be made even in the month of March. Mr. Fiala then took a volunteer party to Cape Flora, in order to await the relief ship.

The remainder were left at the camp at Cape Abruzzi to stay through the winter in order that a further attempt to get north might be made in the next year.

A watch was kept for five months, but it soon became evident that a second winter would have to be spent in the camp. Luckily, a discovery of coal was made in a mountain close by, and a winter's supply of fuel was obtained.

Mr. Fiala returned to the main party and on the journey back two of the men fell into a crevasse 65 feet deep, and were only rescued after much difficulty.

At the camp matters had gone very well, but things were much saddened by the death of Sigurd Bjhere, the fireman of the America.

The bad weather last year delayed the departure for the north. The ice was worse than before, and it was soon seen that to proceed further north under the prevailing conditions would be impossible, and it was decided to abandon the project. Regarding the return, Mr. Vaughan spoke as follows:

"The conditions in our southward march were worse than in our advance, but a fortunate drop in the temperature allowed us to cross the network of open lanes, and with the wind in our faces, and a temperature of 45 below zero, we neared Rudolph Island, and reached Abruzzi April 1, a saddened company, realizing that this was our third and last defeat.

"It was arranged that the rest of the party should spend the spring and summer of 1905 in the field, sledging supplies south to Camp Ziegler, so that they could be easily accessible should they have to spend a third winter in the Arctic. On July 1 a small party was despatched to Cape Dillon to keep a lookout for the relief ship, and secure a supply of walrus in case of its non-arrival.

"On Sunday, July 30, the party returned with the joyful news that the relief ship had arrived off Cape Dillon, and the world knows the rest."

SAYS THERE WILL BE NO UPRISING

If Japanese Have Any Complaint They Can Impeach the Government

THE COST OF THE WAR

Altogether the Expenditure Amounted to a Sum of About $600,000,000

Peston, September 8.—Baron Komura, in an interview here today said:

"It is always the same with every treaty of peace. Either the army or the people are not quite satisfied with the terms. There has been no exception, I think, in the world's history, but the dissatisfaction existing in Japan will not lead to any serious uprising. All this talk of a possible revolution only goes to show how little your people know of Japan. If its people have any complaint they are at liberty to impeach the Government. No such thing as an insurrection has been even dreamed of in Japan. If the Government is wrong it can be attacked in the newspapers and Parliament. I suppose that as soon as we get home there will be a meeting of Parliament to discuss the general business of the Government.

"During the war with Russia, Japan has raised $250,000,000 as a temporary war loan. The country is still in a prosperous condition and trade is brisk. There are seven hundred thousand soldiers in the field, yet agriculture and all the forces of commerce have not suffered.

"In undertaking the war no territory aggrandizement was contemplated at any time. We were forced to take arms against Russia to defend the nation against the aggressions of Russia, to defend our national existence and preserve our commerce. That was the object of the war, and the object is secured by the treaty of Portsmouth.

"We borrowed more than $300,000,000 in the markets of the world so that altogether our war expenditure was about $600,000,000. But I think at least fifty per cent., or perhaps sixty per cent. of that amount, did not leave our country, but went to stimulate the industries of Japan in the purchase of necessary supplies in the Japanese markets. Besides, we have about $90,000,000 in cash in London and New York which has not been drawn upon. Our war expenditures hav sheen more than justified by the outcome."

JAP ARMY MAY DEPOSE MIKADO

Because of Surrender of Indemnity

THE MILITARY RULES

Correspondent Predicts a Popular Revolt

New York, September 8. — A sudden, clear light is thrown on the present extraordinary situation in Japan by a staff correspondent of The World, who personally knows the views of the foremost men of that country and who sailed from Japan just before the peace envoys met at Portsmouth.

"The Mutsuhito dynasty is in peril," the correspondent says. "When I left Japan the army and the populace generally were passionately clamoring for a great money indemnity as the first element in the terms of peace.

"It is impossible to express the intensity of feeling behind the demand. It was hysterical. In the army peace without a huge money indemnity was unthinkable.

"A popular revolution, backed by the army, is the most likely thing in the situation. The Japanese army is supreme in the empire. Military power has reduced the civil power to comparative impotence. The Mikado has become a mere go-between, with the arrogant military aristocracy on one side and the fearful and demoralized civilian class on the other.

"Everything and everybody in Japan is subordinate to the army. Just before I left Japan it was common talk that if the Emperor and his civil advisers should yield to foreign pressure and humiliate Japan by a diplomatic surrender to Russia there would be a popular uprising, supported by a revolt in the army, and that the Emperor would be deposed."

VICE ROYALTY HERE

Governor-General to Open Dairymen's Convention

That the coming convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association is not only in the hands of intelligent hustlers, but will prove a grand success is proven by the fact, that arrangements now pending, will result favorably, for having the Governor-General open the convention to be held here next January in person.

The secretary of the association has been in communication with the Governor-General, and the latter, in response to a request to open the convention, has consented to do so should his Parliamentary duties permit.

6,000 programs are now being prepared for distribution throughout the province, and the secretary, Mr. R. G. Murphy, of Brockville, will in a few days secure local advertisements for insertion in the programs.

NOT MUCH BETTER

American Cereal Co., Get Little Cut in Freight Rates

On Tuesday the Railway Commission in Ottawa considered, among other requests for rearrangement of freight rates, that of the American Cereal Co. The Board was unable to accede to the request of the American Cereal Company for the establishment of a basis of freight rates on lake grain originating in Chicago, Milwaukee, and Duluth, Fort William and Port Arthur by way of Georgian Bay to be milled at the company's mills at Peterboro, and then shipped via the ports of Montreal, Portland, Boston, or west of St. John that should not exceed the grain rate from Lower Lake ports to the Atlantic seaboard. The Cereal Company will, however, get the advantage of the reduction in rail way freights from their mills to the seaboard, that the board has granted at the request of the Dominion Millers' Association.

The American Cereal Company complained that it has to meet the competition of mills situated at the seaboard, and that the latter get their grain from the upper lakes at from four to six cents per 100 lbs, whilst it costs the Peterboro concern 12 1-2c to get their milled product to the ocean ports.

Among the new set of western groupings and percentages of the Chicago-New York rates, are the following:

East of Toronto, to Port Hope and Peterboro, inclusive, thence west along the G.T.R. to Lindsay, through Manila and Blackwater Jct. to Scarboro and Whitby and stations within that group; also north of Waterloo, Guelph, Georgetown, and Brampton, including the line of the C.P.R., Brampton to Elora; also north of Port Hope to Peterboro and intermediate stations, 75 per cent.

East of Port Hope and Peterboro to Kingston and Sharbot Lake, inclusive, and intermediate territory, and Madoc, branch, west of Kleinburg to Grand Valley and Shelburne, both inclusive, also intermediate points north of Inglewood and Cataract; north of Inglewood to Alliston and Allandale; north of King to Barrie; north of Stouffville to Jackson's Point; north of Blackwater Jct. to Lorneville Jct., and west of Lindsay to Lorneville Jct.; north of Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, and Bobcaygeon; north of Peterboro to Lakefield, 78 per cent.

FLY FOR SAFETY

Local Gamblers Leave Their Coin and Implements

In keeping with the great industrial and other strides, Peterboro is now making, some of the objectionable features of larger cities are creeping in. Some local small boys have discovered the delights and the great risks of that seductive game, so popular among newsboys and other small fry of the great cities, entitled "shooting craps," and are now playing it in quiet alleys and sheds. Yesterday afternoon in a stable to the rear of George street, some five small boys, surrounded by admiring pals, were industriously throwing the dice and shouting forth the cabalistic words, "Come seven, come seven." A clerk in one of the stores happening to see the proceedings, with a view to "getting a rise" out of the youthful votaries of the fickle goddess Fortuna, in an assumed excited voice called to the players, "Look out kids, there are two coppers sneaking down the alley after you." In less time than a shakey in Britain could await low his morning eye-opener, eleven small boys were busy climbing the surrounding walls, and some of them burrowing into the hay stored in a near-by loft to hide from the eagle eyes of avenging guardians of the peace. The check found two dice and four very rusty cents left behind in the boys' wild flight for safety.

Lower Taxes

Central Milling Co. Will Ask a Fixed Assessment of $10,000

When the City Council next meets for business the Central Milling Co. will ask that their assessment be fixed at $10,000. This was done in the case of the Peterboro Cereal Co., and no objection has been raised by the ratepayers. They will also ask for refund on the taxes recently paid which were based on an assessment of $14,200.

Some time ago a deputation from the company waited on the Manufacturers committee to secure a fixed assessment of $10,000 and the members seemed quite agreed that they were entitled to what they were asking.

MOB DESTROYS CHURCHES OF CHRISTIANS IN TOKIO

Fury of Japanese Over Peace Terms Directed Against American and Other Foreigners--- E. H. Harrimam Threatened.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—A mob destroyed ten Christian churches and one mission school house last night. The people were not injured.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—It continues quiet here, but trouble is feared tonight.

Tokio, Sept. 6.—Delayed in transmission.—E. H. Harriman, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has been threatened, and the Marquis Ito, President of the Privy Council, has been stoned by mobs. Neither of them were injured. Mr. Harriman incurred the mob's displeasure, probably because he happened to be an American, and made unpopular by President Roosevelt's efforts for peace.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—Serious rioting followed the attack to-day on the office of the Kokumin Shinbun, the Government organ. A mob attacked and burned the official residence of the Minister of Home Affairs, which stood between the Nobles Club and the Imperial Hotel and faced Hibya Park, which was the storm center throughout the day. Threatening demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the official homes of Premier Katsura and Baron Komura, the Foreign Minister, now in the United States, but the police succeeded in preventing injury to the occupants or damage to the houses.

The situation to-night is threatening. Turbulent crowds fill the streets, and it is feared much damage to property is possible, under cover of the darkness. All the police reserves are performing urgent duty and heavily guarding danger spots. The streets in the neighborhood of the Kokumin Shinbun are closed and two hundred police form a cordon around the office.

The destruction of the Home Minister's residence was intensely dramatic. Throughout the day a series of demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the building, and late in the afternoon the mob attacked the house, swept the police away, and battered down the gates. The police and servants resisted stoutly, but the mob surged forward and entered the house. One of the mob leaders, carrying an armful of burning straw, gained an entrance and the outbuildings were soon in flames.

The men in charge at the Methodist Museum of the Methodist Book Room said to-day that the only Methodist church in Tokio with Canadians in charge was the Central Tabernacle. Rev. N. N. Coates and C. J. L. Bates, from Quebec, being the missionaries. There are also native Methodist churches in Azabu and Tsukiji, parts of Tokio. All the denominations in Canada have churches and missionaries in Tokio.

GAYNOR-GREENE CASE IN COURT

Counsel for Prisoners Has Attacked the Legality of the Commitment

WANTS ACCUSED LIBERATED

Judge Says He Will Not Allow Technicality to Interfere With Duties Under Treaty

Montreal, September 8. — The argument on the habeas corpus proceedings for the liberation of Gaynor and Greene began yesterday before Mr. Justice Ouimet, who is accompanied on the bench by Messrs. Justices Hall and Trenholme.

Mr. Alex. Taschereau, K.C., of Quebec, with Mr. T. Chase Casgrain, K.C., of Montreal, appear for the prisoners, while the United States Government is represented by Messrs. Donald Macmaster, K.C., G. G. Stuart, K.C., of Quebec, and Claude Hickson, with Mr. Marion Erwin, assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of Georgia, while Mr. Eugene Lafontaine K.C., is watching the case on behalf of the Crown.

The two prisoners were brought to court by Governor Vallee. Capt. Greene has grown thiner and somewhat whiter since he last appeared, but Col. Gaynor does not appear at all changed.

Mr. Taschereau opened his argument by stating that he had nine propositions to submit to the court.

"In any case, you admit the legality of the commitment," remarked Mr. Justice Ouimet.

"On the contrary," replied Mr. Taschereau, "we contest the legality of the commitment, on the ground that it is in general terms, whereas the case is brought under a special statute and the commitment should be special."

He continued the argument along that line for the remainder of the session, with frequent interruptions by the presiding Justice, who often consulted his colleagues. Mr. Taschereau argued that the commissioner in extradition should not have committed the two men to gaol for extradition, as he did, but simply remanded them to gaol to be there detained until the executive power of the country should either order their handing over to the United States or their liberation.

Mr. Justice Ouimet remarked that he could not allow any technicality to interfere in the accomplishment of the duties of one of the parties to an extradition treaty towards the other unless it were shown that the prisoners suffered prejudice.

Mr. Taschereau continued his argument to show that his clients had indeed suffered prejudice. He was still speaking when the court adjourned for luncheon.

Dr. Saunders on the Crops

Ottawa, September 8.—Dr. Wm. Saunders, director of Experimental Farms, has sent the following telegram from Lethbridge, N.W.T., to Mr. George F. O'Halloran, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa:

"Have seen crops from Calgary to Macleod and from Lethbridge to Carlston. Winter wheat very largely grown. In some localities crops heavy in others dry weather has reduced the yield. Quality of grain very good."

RAILWAYS IN JAPAN

Representative of Imperial Government Railways is Visiting Here

TO INTRODUCE NEW IDEAS

For Improvement of Japanese System in Anticipation of Increased Traffic

Montreal, September 8.—Mr. Yoshio Kinoshita, who was a representative of the Imperial Government railways of Japan at the International Railway Congress at Washington, has arrived in Montreal. Mr. Kinoshita occupied the position of general passenger agent of the Imperial Railways before coming to America. He is now making a tour of the United States and Canada, for the purpose of making a study of our railway systems with a view of introducing new ideas on Japanese Government roads, and he also intends travelling in England for the purpose of getting some knowledge of railway systems in that country.

Japan, as a young nation, wishes to adopt the most approved methods in very commercial and business enterprise, remarked Mr. Kinoshita, and he thinks what he learns from older countries will prove useful information for the operation of railways in Japan.

Mr. Kinoshita says they are extending their lines rapidly, and he thinks since peace has been declared, and their country has become known to the whole world, that the passenger traffic will greatly increase. He does not think the Government will ever introduce the standard gauge, as on account of the hilly nature of the country, the narrow gauge allowed sharper curves and greater gradients.

RUSSIA SHACKLES THE CZAR

Cannot Give Concessions to Foreigners Without Russia's Consent

London, September 8. — A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that one result of the visit of the Shah of Persia to St. Petersburg, is a Russo-Persian comercial treaty, under the terms of which the Shah is prevented from giving concessions to foreigners without the Russians' consent.

TO DISCUSS UNDERSTANDING

New German Minister to Tangier to Visit Paris

Berlin, September 8.—Chancellor Prince von Buelow had a long interview with M. Bihourd, the French Ambassador, yesterday. Dr. Rosen, German Minister Designate to Tangier, will go to Paris and discuss the Franco-German understanding as to Morocco with the French Ministers, with the minimum of publicity, before the international conference upon Moroccan affairs is held.

EARL MINTO'S DEPARTURE

Will Start for India With His Family October 20

London, September 8.—The Earl of Minto, who succeeds Lord Curzon as Viceroy of India, and his family, will start for India on October 20, and will arrive at Bombay three or four days before the Prince and Princess of Wales, who will sail a day sooner from England, but will delay their voyage to witness the evolutions of the British Mediterranean fleet off Gibraltar.

HEAVY FIRE LOSSES

Big Increase for August as Compared With Same Period for 1904

New York, September 8.—The fire losses of the United States and Canada for August, as compiled by the Journal of Commerce, aggregate $11,435,600, as compared with $9,718,700 for the same month last year, and $10,878,000 during August, 1903. The total for the first eight months of the current year is $117,730,750. There were 211 fires during August, where the loss reached $10,000 or more. A noticeable feature of the fire waste of the past month was the numerous fires due to lightning and in some instances these caused heavy losses.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

France has been described as an ideal field for the telephone, and with unlimited financial resources, a free hand in administration, and rates as stated in our last Talk, the service should be an ideal one. Let us review the practical results.

It is stated on undoubted authority that the Telephone Department is constantly striving to prevent an increase of subscribers, which would demand increased capital, and also to avoid a more general use of the service, which would require more assistants and increased facilities.

The service is exceedingly slow, so much so that business is generally greatly retarded thereby. When the administration is remonstrated with for delays, the reply is that the staff is much too small, and there is no remedy. An individual is powerless; he may not show his impatience over the wire without running the risk of future and greater delays, and possibly a summons before the Local Court for discourtesy to a functionary in his official capacity a point on which French law is very strict.

It is stated that in a place near Paris conversation by telephone became absolutely impossible through interference from a trolly wire. The Government would not apply the very simple remedy of making the lines metallic until the subscribers advanced the funds necessary for the work. Numerous similar instances could be cited showing the disadvantages to the public of Government administration of the telephone service in France. So exasperated have the telephone users become that they have formed an Association for united protest, but so far with little effect.

It is sometimes stated that long distance rates are low in France, but it is overlooked that the Government has a system of "urgent call" rates, three times the ordinary rate and of necessity, the great bulk of the business goes through at the higher charge. Lines are limited and few people who have business which requires to be done by telephone can wait till others are served. Those who want the lower rate must wait until no one else wants the line.

France, the ideal field of the telephone, is not only poorly served and charged high rates under Government control, but development is practically prohibited.

Canada has little to learn regarding telephone service from the system of Government operation in France.

Pale and Anxious

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored and the blood fairly tingles with new-found life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, 40 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute. ... often came a bad attack of rheumatism which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be gratified, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

TARIFF REVISION

The Boston Herald is seriously disturbed over the outlook of United States commercial relations with Canada. It points out that with the sole exception of England, Canada imports more American manufactures than any two other countries combined, and Canada could make many of these wares itself or buy them in Europe. "This," says the Herald, "is where we are vulnerable."

Our contemporary views with alarm a possible three column Canadian tariff, maximum and minimum, as well as a preference for Britain and certain of the colonies, assuming that the maximum would be applied to American goods, in favor of European or of home industry. "It is quite probable," the Herald argues, "that this discrimination would cause us greater commercial loss than would come to our industries through an application of the German maximum tariff; for the reason that, to quite an extent, the agricultural products and meat supplies which would displace ours in the German market would be diverted from markets where they are now finding customers, and if barred from the German market our products would by change fill the vacancy thus created. But with our Canadian trade the conditions would be widely different. The cotton goods, carriages, boots and shoes, steel and iron wares, electric apparatus, etc., for which we did not find a market in Canada, could not be sent elsewhere for sale. The result with us would be just so much less production, with all that such a cessation of work implies. It is therefore sufficiently obvious that the manufacturing East, no less than the agricultural West, has reason to urge prompt action by Congress in the line of tariff revision."

Such pleadings, however, will be vain at Washington. The policy of protection is in the control of the dominant party in the States, and will not be altered to secure an enlarged market in this country. The recent action in increasing the duty on pulp wood is an indication of what Canada need expect from tariff revision.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. TWO BOMBS WERE THROWN

Attempts Made to Blow Up Police Office in Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 7.—A bomb was exploded early to-day outside the head police office. Nobody was hurt, and three persons concerned in the explosion escaped in the darkness. All the windows of the police office and all those of the adjoining buildings were smashed. The bomb was filled with small pieces of iron. A car driver who passed the police office a few minutes before the explosion noticed three men, two of them standing at adjoining street corners, and the third watching the office. The police concluded that these men were the perpetrators of the outrage.

Sioux City Man Makes High Tennis Stroke and Collapses

Sioux City, Ia., September 8.—When Robert Tackaberry, in a tennis game this afternoon, collapsed in a comical fashion after a phenomenally high reach for a ball, the spectators, including his wife, laughed heartily, thinking he was making sport of the players. A few minutes later one of them went to him. He was dead. He had apparently wrenched himself in reaching for the ball. He was the son of William Tackaberry, a wealthy wholesale merchant.

YELLOW FEVER SUSPECTS

Seven People Detained for Observation at New York

New York, September 8.—Seven persons, of whom two were second cabin passengers, and five members of the crew of the steamer Advance, which arrived today from Colon, were removed to Hoffman Island for observation. Their temperature was suspiciously high and several of them had been under treatment on the passage.

A Sensational Tragedy

St. Petersburg, September 8.—A sensation has been caused at Moscow by the suicide of Madame Witte's nephew, M. Khotinsky, who shot a girl through the heart and then turned the revolver on himself, inflicting a wound from which he died after he had been taken to a hospital. Khotinsky was a volunteer in a dragoon regiment. Four of his brothers died under somewhat tragic circumstances.

Noted Correspondent and Traveller

Few newspapers in the United States are able to command the services of as brilliant a corps of correspondents as that of The Chicago Record-Herald. Its choice of a Washington correspondent is indicative of The Record-Herald's policy of obtaining the best there is to be had. Walter Wellman, the well-known author on political subjects and one of the ablest writers of the day, acts in that capacity.

Mr. Wellman was born in Mentor, Ohio, Nov. 3, 1858. At the age of 14 he began his newspaper experience, establishing at that age a weekly paper in the little town of Sutton, Neb. In 1878 he returned to Ohio, and a year later established the Cincinnati Evening Post. In 1884 he became the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald, and in 1892 he visited Central America and the West Indies and located the landing place of Columbus on Watling's (San Salvador) Island, and marked the spot with a huge stone monument. Mr. Wellman's dashes for the north pole are well known. In 1894 he made the first of his two arctic voyages of exploration, reaching the latitude of 81 degrees northeast of Spitzbergen. In 1898 he returned to the north, penetrated to Franz Josef Land, returning again to this country in 1899. On each trip he met with wonderful success in the discovery of new islands and lands, and brought back with him scientific data and information of great value to the American Geographical Society.

Mr. Wellman has been a voluminous writer for scientific magazines and popular periodicals. On returning from his arctic trips he renewed his connection with The Record-Herald, and is now the Washington correspondent of that paper. His incisive discussion of contemporary affairs has given him a high place in the regard of statesmen and scientists of the day.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purpose, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader resides elsewhere he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have beside 20 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

Par Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1906, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

While surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ledges which gave promise obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

WALTER SCOTT'S NEW CABINET

ELECTIONS IN NOVEMBER

It is Certain That the Elections Will Be Bitterly Fought

Regina, Sask., Sept. 7.—The Provincial Cabinet will be as follows:

Commissioner of Education—Hon. J. A. Calder.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

Attorney-General—Hon. George E. McCraney.

As was anticipated, Premier Haultain, of the former Territorial Government, was entirely ignored by Lieutenant-Governor Forget, and Mr. Walter Scott, M.P., was called yesterday to Government House and entrusted with the duty of forming a Government for the new province. The new Premier was in consultation with party friends nearly all day, and late last night the selections he had made were announced as above.

In general the men chosen are well and favorably known, and aside from their party stripe the nominations are fairly satisfactory. Mr. McCraney, the new Attorney-General, was formerly an Ontario man, and practised as a barrister in Milton and in Toronto. His father, the late Daniel McCraney, sat for East Kent in the Ontario Legislature, and his uncle, William McCraney, was a member of the Dominion House, first for Halton and later for a British Columbia seat. The new Attorney-General is able and energetic, and popular in Liberal circles.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Commissioner of Agriculture, is the president of the Territorial Grain Growers' Association, and enjoys an excellent reputation, not alone as a scientific farmer, but personally as well.

The elections will likely take place in November.

There is a strong feeling here and in other parts of the Province that Premier Haultain has been treated shamefully. The feeling is that the Governor has bowed too readily to the machine at Ottawa; the choice of Hon. Mr. Scott has already brought the friends of the late Premier to boiling point. It is certain that the elections will be bitterly fought, and Mr. Scott will be indeed fortunate if he can stem the tide which at present is set against him.

Dragoons Coming

Detachment of R. C. D. to Visit Ottawa and Peterboro

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Widgery and 20 men and horses of the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Stanley Barracks, in command of Lieut. Douglas Young, will leave for Ottawa next Sunday to give their musical ride performance at the Exhibition there. During the last week in September the Dragoons will go to Peterboro to entertain the visitors to the local Fair there.

The musical ride to be given at these places will be similar to that of the Dragoons before the assembled thousands at the Canadian National Exhibition.

ATTACKED BY RATS

Ottawa Child Named Culbert Badly Bitten

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Attacked by rats, a three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Culbert, was badly bitten about the face and disfigured. The mother, who is staying with Mr. Culbert, sen., on Mackay street, went up town, leaving the little one asleep in an upstairs room, while another child was being attended to downstairs by the grandmother. A young woman who happened to call in was attracted by the cries of the little girl, and, going upstairs, was horrified to find the child's face bitten in several places and covered with blood, while the rat which had been seen in the house was just making its disappearance.

A FATAL RUNAWAY

Wesley Bowman of Owen Sound the Victim

Owen Sound, Sept. 7.—Wesley, the 17-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Bowman, was fatally injured in a runaway accident yesterday. In company with his sister he was driving a fiery young horse which got beyond control, and the two occupants of the buggy were thrown out. Miss Bowman was practically uninjured, but the young man was dragged between the wheels and his skull was fractured. Notwithstanding an operation which was performed at the General and Marine Hospital here he passed away at 9 o'clock last evening.

Russia to Make More Trouble

New York, September 7.—Rev. Dr. K. Yoon, who went to Portsmouth to observe the proceedings of the peace conference for Corea, referring to the outcome of the conference, is quoted as saying that his people sympathized with Japan, and believed that in ten years Russia would again make trouble. Japan he thought, let Russia off too easily.

PORT ARTHUR.

Real Estate Investment

A WORD TO CANADIANS

Invest Your Money Under the Flowing Folds of the British Flag

Canada to-day offers magnificent opportunities to the wide-awake investor, who need not look to the ends of the earth for a safe and profitable real estate investment. Right in our fair Dominion under the proud protection of the Union Jack, with no chance of having your investment disturbed and jeopardized by internal strife or revolution, money can be made and we can make it for you. We are dealing with Real Estate in PORT ARTHUR, a town which spells progress and golden opportunity to any Canadian investor who wants to see his money grow. No need to spend your time pulling up stumps, cultivating your land, staking round a foreign clime with a possible chance of achieving success in years to come. We are dealing in land free from hills and hollows, and all other obstructions. Ours is level land, most favorably located for residential purposes, and success within your reach. Invest in the purchase of lots in the

CARRICK ADDITION OF PORT ARTHUR

We can do the same with you as was done with a similar Real Estate Investment in Port Arthur only two short years ago. An addition, known as Highland Park, consisting of some 400 lots, was disposed of to investors in various sized lots, which in many cases have since been sold at an advance in price of from

100 PER CENT TO 200 PER CENT ON THE PURCHASE MONEY PAID

Your investment in the CARRICK ADDITION probably means a similar opportunity. Your purchase of Real Estate grows in value as the progressive town of Port Arthur advances.

PORT ARTHUR

- Has doubled its population during the past four years
- Possesses two great railway systems—the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern
- Is to witness the Grand Trunk Pacific into its midst
- Is the coming wholesale manufacturing and distributing center of the great Northwest
- Is at the head of Canadian inland navigation, and possesses unrestricted shipping facilities
- Owns and operates more municipal franchises than any city in America
- Will possess an abundant supply of electrical energy when the natural power of Kakabeka Falls is brought into play

When, in addition to the above, we mention that a contract has been let for the erection of extensive Coal Docks, when we further state that many other important enterprises are engaging the attention of many busy minds, one may begin to gather some idea as to the importance of Port Arthur, and what all this means to the investor. Every new enterprise means the introduction of fresh capital, and this in turn spells the employment of master minds, the skilled mechanic and the laborer, and all this leads up to the purchase of residential property. This is what we are offering you to-day.

Being situated only two blocks distant from some of its finest residences, and within walkable distance from the heart of the town.

WE OFFER LOTS VARYING IN PRICE FROM $55.00 TO $75.00 EACH

And we make the terms of payment practically to suit the purchaser—$15.00 down and $5.00 per month thereafter.

All lots possess a frontage of 33 feet, and they range in depth from 105 to 122 feet.

Lest there should be any lingering doubt in anyone's mind as to the future of Port Arthur Real Estate, read what two or three prominent Port Arthur citizens state concerning same:

Col. S. W. Ray, of the Banking House of Ray, Street & Co., says: "No doubt values of real estate will increase. Prices are ridiculously low as compared with other places of inferior position and prospects. They should be at least 50 per cent. higher than they are."

(Probably Col. Ray is as well known in banking, financial and business circles as any other man in Canada, and he is known to be somewhat cautious and conservative in his opinions, hence the added value of the above declaration.)

George Claver, President of the Board of Trade, states: "A steady growth of the town is unavoidable, and values in Real Estate are bound to increase."

W. F. Langworthy, Crown Attorney, says: "For a man with little money to invest, no place in Canada offers better advantages than Port Arthur. In my opinion, real estate is bound to rapidly increase in value, and the increase in value that has taken place within the last few years is only the commencement."

ALL APPLICATIONS FOR LOTS WILL BE TREATED IN THE ORDER IN WHICH THEY ARE RECEIVED

Dr. Hamilton Cures Rheumatism

Rheumatism begins and ends in the blood which at no time is ever free from poison. But if the kidneys are healthy, they will filter out the wastes and poisons.

In case of rheumatism, the kidneys are not doing their work. As a result poisons crystalize around the joints and cause pain almost akin to torture.

There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the kidneys are stimulated. First get them into working order. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills excel all other remedies; they heal and strengthen the kidneys as no other poisons depart from the blood and, all medicine can do. Once the kidneys are renewed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the trace of rheumatism disappears.

No Case is Too Chronic to Yield to the Marvellous Influence of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I spent nearly three years experimenting with rheumatic remedies," writes Geo. F. Sunburr, of Portland. "I had almost given up hope when I tried the Hamilton Pills. They completely cured me. No remedy could be better."

You will never regret using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a supply today from your druggist, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Mr. W. Snyder Dead

Old and Respected Pioneer Lumberman Passes Away

At midnight on Wednesday, one of Peterboro's most respected and widely known citizens, the pioneer lumberman of this district, Mr. William Snyder, passed away at his residence, 51 McDonnel street, at the ripe old age of 90.

Mr. Snyder who has been one of the most active citizens in this part of the country, for the past two years has been in a very frail state of health, and was too ill to leave his residence. The immediate cause of his lamented death was in part due to the shock he sustained a few weeks ago, when he accidentally fell, breaking his right hip. Mr. Snyder was born at Dickenson's Landing, near Cornwall, his parents being of good old U.E. Loyalist stock.

He was married at Morrisburg, Ont., to Miss Catharine Hilliard, daughter of the late Captain Charles Hilliard, of the Fifth Foot, a brave and active soldier. Mrs. Snyder died on July 29th, 1881. Mr. Snyder was in business in Montreal for some time, and while there was a sergeant in the Lafontaine Company, which took an active part in the rebellion of 1837-38. He came to Peterboro in the year 1818, and first embarked in the dry goods business on Hunter street. Later he removed to George street, and occupied the first brick store built in Peterboro, near where the Peterboro Hardware Company's premises are now located. He eventually embarked in the lumber business, and in 1855 built and operated the saw mill which stood where the present waterworks pumping station is situated. He some years after brought the former mill at Auburn and ran it, the mill being afterwards known as the Hilliard mill. Mr. Snyder's last operations were at Atherly, near Orillia, where he ran a saw mill for some years. During the last twenty years he led a quiet, retired life, living with his daughter, Miss S. H. Snyder.

In politics Mr. Snyder was a lifelong and energetic member of the Conservative party, and in religion a worshipper at St. John's church.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, from the deceased's late residence, 51 McDonnel street, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. J. C. Davidson will conduct the services.

MARRIED IN LONDON

Rev. H. B. Ketchen, the Popular Minister Married

The many friends of Rev. H. B. Ketchen, whose recent illness caused considerable regret throughout the city, will be pleased to hear not only of his recovery, but that he has joined the great army of benedicts. The happy event took place yesterday afternoon, in St. Andrew's church, London, when Miss Maude McAlpine McMahon, daughter of Mr. Adam T. McMahon, 600 Colborne street, became the bride of Rev. Hilligh Beverely Ketchen, pastor of the McNabb street Presbyterian church, Hamilton.

The church was tastefully and appropriately decorated with floral designs in white asters, gladoi and palms. The ceremony, which was both a happy and pretty event, was performed by Rev. Dr. Ross, in the presence of some 70 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen left on the 5.35 M.C.R. train for Windsor and other western points and after their honeymoon Mrs. Ketchen will be at home at the McNabb street Manse, Hamilton.

The following Peterboro society people were included in the list of invited guests; Mr. and Mrs. Crate, Mr and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robertson, and Rev. Dr. Torrance.

Bail For Gow

Mr. Denniston Making a Hard Fight For Bail

Now that the preliminary hearing of Charles Gow's case has been held in Norwood, and Gow is once more confined in the county jail, his Honor Judge Weller is considering the application for bail made by Gow's counsel, Mr. R. M Denniston. It is likely Judge Weller will give his decision by Saturday, and the prevailing opinion about town is that bail will be accepted. An effort is also being made by Mr. Denniston to have Gow tried before the county judge.

It His Honor decides that he has the power to try the case, it is likely that the application will then be pressed to admit the prisoner to bail. If it is decided that Gow must receive his trial before a jury at the fall assizes, on Oct. 9th, Mr. Denniston will, in the meantime probably make a move before the High Court in Toronto to have Gow released on bail. It is understood the prisoner is desirous of being tried by the county judge.

An Editor Gets Wet

A few nights ago the editor of the Millbrook Reporter, was in this city calling upon friends, the hours sped by during the evening, the weather became threatening, and the man of literature was advised to stay all night and keep dry. With the indomitable pluck that characterizes newspaper men, the editor in brave defiance of the elements, drove away in his buggy with a friend towards midnight. The miles between Peterboro, Millbrook and home, were swiftly being annihilated when the rain began to fall. It fell harder, thicker and wetter, and the darkness became more tangible. About seven miles from the city, the editor and his friend, in the pelting rain, and enveloped in the darkness, lost their way. After a futile attempt to get homewards, the two gentlemen, in despair tied their horse to a fence found by groping in the dark and waited in the rain until the sun, having finished his business towards the antipodes, rose above the eastern horizon. Then two very damp gentlemen drove to Millbrook.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

"I enjoyed good health until about two years ago when I noticed my back began to ache frequently, it became sore and lame, and headache soon added to my misery, also found that my general health diminished. I became thin and weak and nervous, having severe pains at regular intervals," writes Mrs. Augustus Emory, Treasurer New Century Club, 34 Dean Street (Roxbury), Boston, Mass. She continues: "My work which before had seemed an easy task soon seemed like a heavy burden. I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which several of my friends praised so highly. I felt relief within a week, my appetite came back, the pains gradually decreased and I enjoyed sound sleep. Within fourteen weeks I had completely recovered my health. I seemed built up anew, my pulse, which had been weak became normal, and I increased my weight 20 pounds. I gladly endorse your medicine."

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health, by curing the local womanly diseases which are generally responsible for the failure of the general health. A woman's entire being is centered in her womanly nature. When the delicate womanly organism is attacked by disease; when there is irregularity or a disagreeable drain; when inflammation burns and ulcers gnaw the general health will reflect the progress of disease, in increasing weakness, nervousness, backache, headache, loss of appetite and sleeplessness.

So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Miss E. G. Bradburn Married to Mr. Fred Hall

Quite a romance was consummated in Toronto on Wednesday, when, in the Bloor street Presbyterian church, by Rev. W. G. Wallace, Miss Florence Gertrude Bradburn, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradburn, of 17 Union St., was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. F. J. A. Hall, a son of Sheriff Hall, and secretary of Peterboro Industrial Exhibition.

The marriage was arranged quietly between the high contracting parties who only notified the bride's parents after the knot was tied. Mrs. Hall with Dr. and Mrs. Wood left on Monday to visit friends in Toronto, Mr. Hall accompanying them.

57th Band in Toronto

Visitors to the Toronto Fair yesterday afternoon had the pleasure of hearing some good music, as twenty-five members of the 57th Regiment Band left in the morning by C.P.R. for that city. The railroad had a special car, No. 795, in readiness for the Peterboro musicians. The car was a beautiful structure, elegantly upholstered and decorated. The band rendered a very fine program and were cheered to the echo. Many complimentary remarks were heard on all sides, a prominent musician from Buffalo, N.Y., who is visiting the Fair, said the 57th is one of the finest regimental bands he ever heard.

CHIEF RUTHERFORD ON THE NEW FIRE ENGINE

Report Made by Civic Officials on Their Trip to Brantford and London re New Fire Engine, Giving a Fair Statement of Each Company's Make.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held last night, with Ald. Johnston in the chair; those present were, Aldermen Hall, Tovey, McIntyre and Crowe. The first business transaction was a report made by Ald. Johnston who visited Brantford and London to inspect the steam engines made in those cities, which reads as follows:

To the members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee;

Gentlemen,—The committee appointed to visit the different fire engines manufacturers report as follows;—

We visited Brantford on Aug. 29th and London on Aug. 30th, and were afforded every opportunity by both companies of inspecting and examining their engines under construction, and all information on the different points of the engine were freely given and we are satisfied that both the London and Brantford companies are manufacturing engines of a high grade.

The Waterous Company of Brantford have a boiler that in our opinion has no superior, while the Canadian Fire Engine Company of London have pumps and cylinders of more modern type and quite offset any advantage the Waterous Company have in the construction of boiler and on the whole we consider the London engine at least compares favorably with the Waterous when the different points in the whole construction are considered.

As the specifications accompanying the tenders, according to Mr. Gibbs, are quite the same, we recommend a test of the engines at Peterboro, and advise that the two companies be asked to send their engine here for that purpose.

Respectfully submitted,
W. J. JOHNSTON.
Chairman.

A report made by Mr. T. Rutherford, chief of the local fire brigade, was then read, the chairman explaining it was sent without his suggestion. The chief's report is as follows:

To chairman Fire, Water and Light Committee;

Sir,—I would like to express my opinion, re fire engines, giving my impressions of the recent trip, with yourself and Ald. Hicks to the cities of Brantford and London.

While not pretending to be an expert in the manufacture of steam fire engines, I claim to have a considerable knowledge, gained by 26 years of experience, and study of different tests throughout the country, of the practical working, and relative merits of the different makes of engines.

I have no doubt that each of the products of the two manufacturers visited have their distinct advantages. The Waterous engine, has to my mind, the best steam boiler of any manufacturers of similar goods in America, being greatly improved by its cylinders and pumps which are of the most modern type, and compare more than favorably with any engine on the world's markets.

There is a great deal to be said in favor of the engine made by the Canadian Company of London, Ont. Whilst their boiler is of different construction, and steams in a different way, and is made throughout of the best material and workmanship. Regarding their cylinders and pump, I consider them the best I have yet seen. The whole structure is compact and light for the work they claim it will perform.

Now, Mr. Chairman, as you are well aware, the real test of an engine is how it lifts its water and performs the work demanded while lifting fully 25 feet. As the proposed engine is being brought to meet any form of contingency that may arise, and to satisfy the demands of the Underwriters' Association, its more probable use will be in the vicinity of the rivers and creeks than from any hydrant service. It will require a suction of fully 25 feet.

The Canadian Company of London, offer to put up their engine in open competition against all comers, paying all their own expenses whilst so doing.

Now, I consider that this is the fairest and most satisfactory and practical test, and there is no reason to believe that other companies, should fear or refuse to comply with saudry conditions and tests. I would also like to call your attention to our other wants. Your experience during this recent trip has assuredly shown you how far our local fire equipments are behind the age, and particularly so in our fire hall. I do not want to be considered as crying "wolf," as in the old fable, before the public, but I would ask the public to place our fire department on the same basis as our other local improvements. I fully believe when our freeholders fully understand our present position, and how handicapped the brigade is, they will, in their own self-protection, and in the interests of our city they will supply our needs with a free hands. I am, sir,

Yours truly,
T. RUTHERFORD.

Some comment was made on Chief Rutherford's report, it being generally considered that the report was more a request for a general improvement than for a new engine. Several aldermen who have recently been away in different cities noted the superiority of the fire apparatus of other cities over that in service here. A long discussion was held over the question of going to the people for money to be expended on fire purposes. Ald. Tovey said he did not believe in going before the people for every five cent's worth, that should be bought; it would be cheaper in the long run to get $25,000 at once. It was generally admitted that any town of 5,000 had a better fire hall than Peterboro. Ald. Crowe opposed the suggested way of getting money for fire purposes.

Some discussion was held relative to having the competing companies send their engines here on exhibition for trial as to superiority, which it was considered would have a tendency towards arousing popular interest in fire matters.

The committee recommended the adoption of Ald. Johnston's report.

G.T.P. TERMINUS CHOSEN

Railway Agrees to Establish It at Kaien Island—Will Be a Great City

Victoria, Sept. 8.—The Provincial Government has entered into an arrangement with the Grand Trunk Pacific to establish its terminus at Kaien Island, on the track of 10,000 acres which the officials purchased some time ago. This was done on August 3, and the company agreed, subject to the approval of the Governor-General-in-Council, to construct thereon, of a substantial and permanent character, wharves, docks, stations, yards, round-houses, and other facilities, on or before June 30, 1906, and thereafter actively prosecute to completion. Should the company fail to carry out the provisions of the agreement, the Government has the right to cancel it and to resume possession of the land. As the result of its investigations, the company found there would be some difficulty in securing an eligible site for its terminus on this coast. Port Simpson was considered, but it was found that the land there was nearly all held by speculators, who demanded high prices for their property. A similar state of things was found to exist at Kitsmaat, another possible location. A great city is looked for to rise around the terminus.

SULTAN YIELDS

Has Given Complete Satisfaction For the Arrest of Boulzian

Paris, Sept. 8.—A despatch to the Foreign Office from M. St. Rene Taillandier, Minister to Morocco, announces that the Moroccan Government has yielded to the French demands and given complete satisfaction in the matter of the arrest of the Algerian-French citizen, Boulzian.

The Foreign Office was highly gratified this morning to receive the despatch from the French Minister at Fes announcing that the Sultan had yielded all points demanded in the French ultimatum. The despatch says that Sept. 4, the day preceding the expiration of the ultimatum, the Grand Visier, accompanied by a retinue, went to the French legation, where he was received by the minister and his staff, and the leading European officials. The Grand Visier then publicly presented a formal apology for the arrest of the French Algerian citizen, Boulzian, and handed the Minister the amount of the indemnity demanded for the imprisoned man, and also presented letters from the Moroccan Ministry of Foreign Affairs announcing that the Cadi responsible for Boulzian's arrest had been removed.

INCIDENT IS CLOSED.

The French Minister answered accepting the excuses and reparation given, and thereupon the preparations for the departure of the legation preliminary to the enforcement of France's demands were suspended. The Foreign Office here says the reparation is complete on all points, and that the incident is closed, thus terminating the anticipated resort to coercion through the military and naval branches of the service.

Lord Beresford Takes Sensation

Malta, September 9.—Lord Charles Beresford, commanding the British Mediterranean fleet, has created a sensation in the fleet by ordering the prosecution of an engineer commander because the machinery of his vessel had hot bearings. This is a new offence in naval court martials.

TRADE IN CHINESE EMPIRE

British Interests Will not Suffer Through Russia's Downfall

Montreal, September 9.—Speaking of affairs in China, Mr. Powell Grant, who is in Montreal at present, said that there was no indication of any great reform movement and the presence of missionaries was looked upon as inviting trouble. Mr. Grant is an insurance man with residence in Canton, which now claims to have a population of over a million people. The Chinese, he said, were rapidly taking to insurance methods. The fire gave an opportunity for collecting all debts. Japan's position as a great power is used by the Japanese insurance agents amongst their Chinese customers. Mr. Grant does not think, however, that British commercial interests or political prestige will suffer in the least because of Russia's downfall. It may be a little tough, he added, for some people to recognize the little Jap as being on a like social footing, but they will have to grin and bear it all the same.

THE HALIFAX GARRISON

Imperial Troops May Not Leave Before October Next

Ottawa, September 9.—Last June the Canadian authorities cabled the British Government that they would not be prepared to take over the Halifax garrison by July 1, and suggesting September 15 as the more convenient date.

The weeks went by, and no reply was received to the Militia Department's suggestion. Neither was anything done to expedite the movements of the Imperial troops from Halifax. A second cablegram was sent from Canada, suggesting a further postponement until October 15, as the Imperial troops were still in possession at Halifax.

Yesterday the reply came to the first message, stating that September 15 would be satisfactory. There is no doubt, however, that it will be October 1 before Canada is in possession of Halifax.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Work on Western Section Proceeding Fast

Montreal, September 9.—Although it is expected that about 375 miles of road on the Grand Trunk Pacific will be under course of construction this year, Mr. E. W. Morse, vice-president and general manager, stated that no rails would be laid until next spring. Construction work on the line west of Winnipeg, from Portage la Prairie to Touchwood Hills, is proceedings at a rapid rate, but Mr. Morse has nothing to say in regard to construction matters on that section of the road. Plans and specifications for more line than will have been let out to contractors by the end of this month are being prepared by the company's engineers, but it is too soon to say anything definite regarding other contracts than that to be let after the opening of tenders on September 15. [illegible] will be laid from the Superior branch, running some 240 miles north from Fort William to a junction with the Transcontinental.

HALIFAX FORTIFICATIONS

Ottawa, Ont., September 9.—There is nothing now standing in the way of a formal transfer of the fortifications at Halifax from the Imperial to Canadian authorities. The long expected advice were received on Friday in the shape of a cable from the Imperial Government stating that the Army Council recommends that the War Department should transfer to the Canadian Government, free of charge all the fortifications in Nova Scotia which the Dominion is prepared to take over for Dominion purposes. Only those not used for Dominion purposes will revert to the Imperial Government.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH

Mother and Children Could Not Escape the Flames

Quebec, September 9.—Mrs. Phileas Ruel and her two children were burned to death at an early hour yesterday morning in their beds, at their home in St. Justine, county of Dorchester. Mrs. Ruel was awakened by the smell of smoke and at once awakened her husband. He rushed down stairs to ascertain the cause, and as soon as he opened the kitchen door the flames broke out with such violence through the opening that he was compelled to rush out of the house for safety.

ONTARIO'S WEALTH

A Rare Opportunity for Investment in Rich Canadian Mines

Whilst far away hills look green, and far off gold and silver mines allure thousands of Canadian dollars, too often never to return, there is now offered to Canadian investors a golden opportunity for placing either small or large sums in an Ontario mine that holds out splendid chances for success. The Coleman Cobalt Mining Co., of which Messrs. Martin & Co., 34 Victoria street, Toronto, are agents, have 80 acres of mineral lands entirely surrounded by mining properties in New Ontario, that are now producing ores worth from $1,800 to $2,000 per ton, and the ore bearing veins run through their property.

The greatest surety that this company can offer of their reliability, good faith and business like propensities is in the personel of their directorate, all being gentlemen of highest standing in Toronto: The directorate is composed of, Mr. R. L. McCormack Conger Coal Co.; Mr. A. R. Moore, Imperial Loan Co.; Mr. R. M. Copeland, Copeland Chatterson & Co.; Mr. Robt. Falconer, Richardson House; Mr. H. B. Wills, Martin & Co. Everything points to the property being developed cheaply, as both wood, water, and transportation facilities are of the best and the silver and other ores are there. Shares, conveying no personal liability, will be offered for a limited time at $1 each. For particulars see ads.

PETERBORO OUT

BEAVERTON WINS AT LINDSAY YESTERDAY

The Locals Lose in One of the Most Strenous Games of the Season

Lindsay, Sept. 8.—Accompanied by about three hundred friends and supporters the Peterboro Lacrosse team went to Lindsay yesterday to combat with Beaverton. Those two teams had paved the way to the final in the contests for championship honors in the Junior O.L.A. series. In Beaverton the local team won 5 to 3. In the return game in Peterboro the home team made it 3 to 1, making it 6 to 6 on the round. So much interest was taken in the final game, it was decided to run a special train to Lindsay to witness the outcome. At 1:30 the sports of the town assembled at the G.T.R. station, and the scene of battle was soon reached. Beaverton was confident, so was Peterboro.

Everyone was sure of a good game as Referee Eddie Baker was on hand, and anyone that knows Eddie were sure that no favorites were played.

The teams lined up as follows;

Beaverton		Peterboro
	Goal.
Barber		O'Brien
	Point.
A. Regan		Dillon
	C. Point
C. Regan		Hunt
	1st Defence.
Mountriel		Morgan
	2nd Defence.
Ruchard		Meagher
	3rd Defence
Smith		Mein
	Center
Jacobie		Donovan
	1st Home.
Cameron		Ford
	2nd Home.
H. Cave		Judd
	3rd Home.
E. Cave		Cavanagh
	Outside Home.
McDonough		McCabe
	Inside Home
McGinnis		Glover

The game started off with a rush. Cavanagh took the ball but on an unfortunate slip the Beaverton men got it and scored in one minute, score 1 to 0.

This seemed to waken the Peterboro team up, and Morgan, McCabe and Judd worked a combination and Cavanagh scored in 11 minutes. Score 1 to 1.

In the second quarter, Judd was the star, he passed down finely to Cavanagh who mixed. At this point of the game Mein got in some fine work and repeatedly saved the goal, and in a swift pass the redoubtably "Rolly" scored in 12 1-2 minutes Beaverton 1, Peterboro 2.

The third quarter opened with Donovan drawing the ball, and after innumerable passes Glover again scored in three minutes.

Donovan again got the draw. Ford was working like a beaver. McCabe and Judd did some good work around midfield. Finally, Reilly got the ball, but his pass was caught by McCabe, who passed to Judd, who passed to Beal, who by a magnificent overhand shot scored in 21.2 minutes. 2Score Beaverton 1, Peterboro 3.

From that until the 1st quarter the game was always in favor of Peterboro. With the score 5 to 3, and only 20 minutes to play, the Peterboro team seemed to go to pieces, and Beaverton scored three goals in succession.

In the last 10 minutes the Peterboro team worked hard, but the Beavertons lads blocked their goal, and when the whistle blew the score read Beaverton 6, Peterboro 5.

SHAH'S RECEPTION IN ST. PETERSBURG

Shows Russia's Desire For Adventures in Other Parts of Asia

ALLIANCE WITH GERMANY

This Is Expected to Come Now France Has Thrown In Lot With England

St. Petersburg, September 9. — The reception accorded by the government to the Shah of Persia indicates that Russia, through driven out of Manchuria, has not abandoned its desire for adventures in other parts of Asia. That it seeks compensation along the Persian Gulf in Asia Minor for its recent losses is the settled belief of many well informed persons. A diplomat who for the last decade has exercised an influence over Russia's foreign policy, said today, "The 29th of August marks not only the Russo-Japanese peace, but the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which practically rescinds the Franco-Russian alliance and prepares the way for a Russo-German alliance. The Anglo-Japanese treaty embraces all Asia, the Far East, India, Persia and Turkey in Asia. This agreement, with the Anglo-French entente creates a dreibund against Russia.

"Now Russia must proceed to resume its historic policy in middle Asia, and Asia Minor, where Germany's interests are growing. An understanding with Germany is indispensable, especially after France has joined forces with England. The Shah is our staunchest friend. Millions of Persians reside in Russia, and our commercial relations with Russia are growing. We are completing the Erivan-Teheran and Teheran Askabad railways into Persia, which will afford direct communication between the Caucasus, our Middle-Asia possessions, and the Shah's capital."

The street cars have carried a tremendously heavy passenger traffic so, despite the lateness of the season, new and equally good pictures will be put on every evening the weather permits.

TOKIO POPULACE QUIET UNDER MILITARY RULE

Tokio, Sept. 8.—Strong influences are working toward calming popular excitement, and the feeling this evening. The opinion is expressed to-night that the worst violence has passed and that conditions will speedily mend.

Gen. Sakuma, who assumed charge of the capital to-day, under the authority of the emergency ordinance, has in his proclamation created a good impression, owing to the conciliatory tone in which it is expressed, and its note of firmness in declaring that the soldiery will resort to extreme measures if forced to do so. He has refrained from making a heavy display of military force in the city, having only detailed guards to preserve order, holding the main garrison of reserves at the barracks

CALLED OFF MEETING.

The municipality has also greatly relieved the situation by cancelling a mass meeting called at Hibaya park, which is the rallying ground for all elements of disorder. Political leaders are counselling the people to remain quiet, and are conferring with the Government, urging the speedy calling of a special session of the Diet. Many believe that the issuance of the summons for the special session of the Diet would fully restore tranquility among the public.

ROWDIES RAID CROWD.

The report that the trouble has spread at Chiba, forty miles distant from Tokio, has been partly confirmed. It seems certain that the police station was destroyed, but the destruction of the prefectural office and court house is not confirmed.

Japanese representatives of the Associated Press, who have been watching the rioting, report that the character of the crowds has changed material of late. They say that earlier in the trouble, thousands of responsible citizens joined in the rioting, but that now the crowd is largely formed of the disreputable classes, students and young rowdies. The day has been quiet in Tokio, and no trouble is expected to-night. A heavy rain began to fall at dusk, which drove the majority off the streets and indoors.

THREAT OF SUICIDE

Tokio, Sept. 9.—Last night's disorders were not participated in by more than ten cars and one railway station was destroyed. Forty persons were wounded during the clashes with the police, and many others were slightly wounded by stones in the crushes of the crowds. The disturbances in the Kanda district of the city proved not to be serious. The crowd first threatened to burn the Russian Cathedral, but a sergeant of the guard cleverly prevailed upon them to desist by telling the crowd if the cathedral were destroyed he and the guard would commit suicide. The crowd agreed not to touch the cathedral. There was considerable disorder and noise in the district, but there was no destruction of property, and no serious clashes between them and the police. Demonstrations against the metropolitan police head quarters continued until a late hour. Crowds swarmed around the jail and hooted and threatened.

Increasing restrictions have been placed on the press, giving authority for the suspension of papers guilty of increasing the excitement and other breaches of order. Under this ordinance the Government has suspended the publication of the Mayako, the Yurosu, and the Niroku.

The Tokio municipality has passed a resolution denouncing the terms and favoring the abandonment of the peace treaty.

The municipality had planned a mass meeting at Hibaya Park to-day, but on account of the danger of disorder voluntarily cancelled the meeting.

WARNING TO MOB.

Tokio Sept. 9.—Tokio was quiet yesterday. General Sakuma, commander of the Tokio garrison, has issued a proclamation warning the populace against disorders. An Imperial ordinance establishes martial law in Tokio. There was some disorder last night.

RIOTING AT CHIBA.

Tokio, Sept. 9.—It is reported that there is rioting at Chiba, a town with a population of 20,000, twenty miles east of Tokio. The prefectural building and the court house are reported to have been burned. The Government has suspended the further publication of the Niroku, a newspaper printed in Tokio.

A LIQUOR CASE

Local Hotelman Will Have to Explain Selling After Hours

Still another liquor case is to be tried. This time the case is, we understand neither due to the vigilance of the regular inspector nor to interference of the local police force. It seems that on Labor Day a local hotelman, not noticing the clock's hands had passed the mark where legal selling ends, allowed a local citizen to remain a few minutes beyond the time discretion should have prompted him to close.

A dispute arose on certain matters and the argument growing strong, the visitor to this hotel, on account of a remark made by the proprietor, swore out an information. The trial will probably take place Tuesday morning.

Port Hope Rector Resigns

Port Hope, Sept. 8.—Rev. W. A. Gustin has tendered his resignation as rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church. He was formerly curate of St. Thomas church, Belleville, and of St. Matthew's, Toronto. During Mr. Gustin's two and a half years in Port Hope, St. Mark's church has prospered both financially and spiritually.

Mr. Gustin has accepted the rectorship of St. Andrew's church, Peoria, Ill., and will leave for there at the end of the month.

Death From Bad Rails

Walkerville, Ont., Sept. 8.—The coroner's jury in the case of John Rigny, the Pere Marquette brakeman killed at Walkerville Junction last Sunday, found that his death was caused by the rails spreading because of the fish plates. The jury held the road responsible for the accident, believing that the equipment is not what it should be, and that the engines used are too heavy for the 56-pound rails in use. The company is relaying its main line with heavier rails.

Street Car Barn Enlargement

The Local Street Railway Company will shortly let contracts for an extension to their present car barns on King street. The extension will be erected at the north end of the present premises, and will be 40x60 feet, one storey high and of brick. The rolling stock of the company has during its year of successful operation increased so rapidly that the addition was needed in order to get all the cars and trailers in the barns.

No Successor to Mr. Spencer

Montreal, September 9.—It is understood that for the present the C. P. R. will not appoint another man to the position of general superintendent of transportation, recently vacated by Mr. C. W. Spencer, who resigned to accept the position of general manager of Mackenzie & Mann's eastern lines. This department will be in charge of Mr. D. McNicoll, vice-president of the company, until it is decided whether or not a new appointment will be made.

DOCTORS DISAGREE

Local Medicos Will Still do a Lodge and Society Practice

Another meeting of the Peterboro Medical Society was held in the Ontario Bank Chambers on Thursday night when the matter of discontinuing lodge, factory and contract work after January 1st, 1906, as was proposed some months ago, was thoroughly discussed.

Owing to a lack of unanimity among the local medicos it was decided to call off the proposed refusal to do such work, so matters will stand in statu quo.

There were about 15 of the doctors present with Dr. Caldwell, president of the society in the chair. The following official report of the gathering was handed out yesterday for publication.

The business on hand was to receive the reports of two committees appointed at former meetings.

One committee was not prepared to report last night.

The other committee, appointed to ascertain the opinion of each individual member of the profession with regard to the desirability of discontinuing society practice under contract, reported that there was no unanimity in the wish to make any change. They therefore recommended that no further steps be taken for the present with that end in view.

The report was adopted.

MR. LEONARD'S RAISE

Mr. J. W. Leonard Made Asst. General Manager C.P.R.

The many friends in Peterboro of Mr. J. W. Leonard, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be greatly pleased to hear that he has been promoted to the responsible position of Assistant General Manager of the road he has served so well and intelligently. Mr. Leonard whilst still a young man has earned his present important promotion through his broadminded grasp of every difficult situation in his business. There are few railroad men on this continent with a more thorough acquaintance with every detail of railroad work and management, or who can more quickly anticipate and control every contingency that may arise in the running of a vast industrial machine of traffic than Mr. Leonard. The Times extends its heartiest congratulations to the new Assistant manager, who will take charge of his new office in a few days.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken—Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Strength All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and brooding, hypo health is firmly established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mrs. Thos. Howell, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this;

"Household worries and cares had about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

JAPAARESE ARMY EFFICIENCY

Dr. Louis L. Seaman, a military sanitation expert, has been some months in Manchuria studying the Japanese methods of caring for sick and wounded soldiers. His opinion is that the army now facing Linevitch is the finest the world ever saw; its physical condition perfect, with every provision and every article of equipment which modern ingenuity has devised, and splendid cavalry. They have now, Dr. Seaman declares, 62,000 empty beds in the field and base hospitals from the firing line to Dalny, waiting for the wounded that were to have come out of the last battle. Twenty hospital ships lie in the port of Dalny to receive the wounded for the home hospitals. To load one of these ships in the Cuban war took the Americans three days. Dr. Seaman saw 260 wounded men put on board a Japanese hospital ship in thirty-five minutes. No western nation could equal that. They send medical men into war to take care of those who become sick or disabled. The Japanese make their physicians and surgeons prevent the soldiers from getting sick. The result has been that in this campaign they have had one man die from disease to two men killed in the regular performance of his duty. Using round numbers, those killed in battle on the Japanese side and those who died shortly afterward from wounds aggregate 50,000 up to date, while the total number of men who have died from diseases of every kind are only 25,000.

Dr. Seaman expresses strongly his belief that the peace just arranged will not be lasting. He thinks that in fifteen years Russia will have recuperated sufficiently for another struggle. In the meantime Japan must keep on preparing herself. All this could have been avoided, he says, if the war had been permitted to go on until the Russians had been driven away entirely from the Pacific Coast.

VALUE OF MEN

One potent factor that has received no attention that well might have been sufficient in itself to show Japan that it was the part of wisdom to make peace rather than keep on fighting for an indemnity that never might be obtained. That is, the economic value of the human lives that would have been lost in a continuation of the war. It is likely that the losses in the way of killed and severely wounded—that is, so crippled as to be henceforth nonproductive—would have been at least 150,000 men. In this country the average man, if capitalized according to his earning capacity, would be worth at least $10,000. He is worth that to himself, and probably much more to the community, both in what he spends and in what he produces—his production having a value considerably in excess of his wages. Wages are steadily rising in Japan, and it seems safe to say that the value of the average man in that country would be at least half of the American figure—$5,000 yen or $2,500. Hence the loss of 150,000 men would mean the loss of 1,500,000,000 yen or $750,000,000. This would have meant the taking of practically that sum out of the national assets. Such a loss in life and limb, taken together with the regular war expenses, would have meant a tremendous burden for the country. Japan's industrial future is of great importance and it will prove a wise step to have prevented the sacrifice of working forces of such value for its development.

BROUGHT WOUNDED MAN OVER TRAIL

MANY MILES WERE COVERED

Companion Was Helpless and Was Rushed From the North Woods

Victoria, B. C., September 8.—One of the most remarkable journeys on record for speed in the face of exceptional difficulties has just been completed by Constable Walter Turner, of the N. W. M. P., who made the trip to this city from the heart of the Teloua River district, 900 odd miles by trail, canoe and coasting steamer, in exactly eleven days. Constable Warner did the journey with the handicap of a badly wounded and utterly helpless companion, whom for two days he carried or dragged along through the woods on a rough sled. Andrew McKinnon was accidentally shot on the 18th August at South Bulkley telegraph camp, 60 miles from Aldermere and 120 from Hazleton. Warner brought the wounded man over the trail to Hazleton, thence by canoe to Port Essington, where he caught the steamer Princess Beatrice with his patient for Victoria. The injured man was four days on a stretcher covering 120 miles of trail, 180 miles in a canoe on the river, and 600 by sea, covering 900 miles from the scene of his accident to the hospital in 11 days.

LYNCHERS FRUSTRATED

Made Unsuccessful Attempt to Get Hold of Prisoner

Butte, Mont., September 8.—A mob of 100 men early yesterday made a determined but unsuccessful attempt to lynch James F. Barnes, who shot and killed Patrick Hanley as the result of a slight argument. The goal was taken by storm, the would-be lynchers commanded the broad stairway leading to the doors of the Court House, and with drawn pistols fired over the heads of the crowd and the police who attempted to enter. Inside a mob battered at the big steel doors, but without success. In the upper corridor were stationed a number of deputy sheriffs with rifles and revolvers and this tended to hold the angry crowd back. The mob finally sent for dynamite, but those despatched on the errand failed to return within an hour and the ringleaders abandoned the attempt, and were persuaded by the police to disperse.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendment thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to break 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 20 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 40 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Application for information will receive attention at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

G. E. WRIGHT.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had been a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable

Par Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications on the claims of the Glenara are of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

CHAPTER I.

A glowing September morning was pouring its golden light through the open window of a morning-room of study, in the eastern wing of a picturesque old house standing halfway up a hill-side in one of the Midland shires. A background of beech-trees framed in its mellow red-brick walls, and before it lay a wide, undulating plain, many colored, and bounded by distant dim blue hills.

A pleasanter room could scarce be found, though the furniture was old-fashioned, the curtains and carpet faded. The bay-window opened on a terrace, below which were pleasure-grounds, and in its recess stood a table, spread with dainty china and delicate silver—the remains of breakfast—and a vase of hot-house flowers, from a conservatory into which a glass door admitted.

The sole occupant was a gentleman, a slight, elegant-looking man of thirty or upward, with silky, wavy dark hair and small moustache, and an unmistakable air of distinction.

A pile of letters lay beside him, while he had pushed away his plate to make room for a book, which he was studying apparently with deep interest.

Presently he raised his eyes—"eyes of most unholy blue"—and looked upon the goodly landscape which lay before him. But his vision was evidently directed to some far distant object, and after a moment's thought he took up a pencil and began to scribble calculations on the back of a letter.

"Yes," he murmured, "if it can be carried out, I shall be a free man." Then opening the letter on which he had been scrawling, he turned over a page or two covered with small firm writing, and read slowly:

"I shall do nothing about a second trustee, until after your festivities," ran the paragraph he had selected. "Besides every one is away at this season. Need I say I have perfect confidence in you?"

He folded it up and put it under an elastic band, which held some other letters together, and tearing the envelope into minute fragments, threw them into the waste-paper basket beside him.

As he did so, a soft indistinct sound from an adjoining room—the door into which stood open—caught his ear. He paused and listened. The faint rustling drew nearer, and a pleasant voice began to sing in a low tone, as if the singer thought in song. The listener seemed to recognize the music or the voice. His face brightened; he half rose from his seat, but resumed it as if he wished to hear more. The next moment a lady appeared through the [illegible] and stopped opposite to him.

A young lady, tall and slight, though round and graceful; she was simply dressed in a maize-colored print and a pretty muslin and lace apron tied with brown ribbons, a sash of the same marked her shapely waist, and tan gauntlets hid her hands, one of which held a large garden-hat adorned with a couple of pale-pink chrysanthemums. The face it had shaded was fair and fresh, and lighted by a couple of large dark-gray eyes—eyes, lashes, eyebrows, all dark, compared to the light-brown hair that curled in a small fringe over her brow, and was gathered neatly back into a large knot.

She gazed for an instant in frank amazement at the gentleman, who rose to greet her—then a quick bright smile curved her red lipped kindly mouth, and made a little coquettish interrogative dimple in one cheek, as she cried:

"Why how—when did you come, squire? We all fancied you were in Scotland."

"Well, you see I am not," he returned, advancing toward her with an outstretched hand, in which she placed hers. "And what are you doing, I should like to know, invading my premises in this burglarious fashion?"

"You know very well I always come to the library for any books I want, and 'by your leave,' too. You're such an absentee you ought not to be surprised if thieves did break through and steal."

"No, I am not in the least surprised," with emphasis.

"Well I was, a little, when I found the library window open," resumed the young lady. "but I thought Mrs Storer was having a thorough cleaning, so I walked in, and imagining she was in this room I—"

"Unearthed the master! I shall accept your coming as a good omen." His handsome, though somewhat worn, face was aglow with pleasure as he spoke, but her eyes were attracted to the pile of letters and the open book, and she did not notice him.

"I arrived quite unexpectedly last night, to the great disgust of my few faithful retainers," he went on. "Do you know I have been planning great things?—things that will rejoice you, ma belle Leonore."

"Pray don't give me my long name," she exclaimed, with a pretty impatient pout. "It always reminds me of that horrid raven tapping at the chamber door. What are your great things?"

"Dorrington and Isabel are coming to stay with me, and the Harveys, Algy Balfour, Mrs. Rathven and a lot more, and I am going to give a big ball to the nobility, gentry, and even the cads of the surrounding country."

"No, really!" with evident delight, "you are quite charming for thinking of such a thing."

"I am glad your estimate of me coincides with that of society in general."

"How awfully conceited you are, squire, but I am glad Lady Dorrington is coming, and I shall be delighted to dance at your ball. Now I must go. How late you are! The breakfast things still on the table?" and glancing at the book as she walked to the window, "What are your studies? Chemistry? Why are you going to poison? I did not think you were scientific."

"Not am I. I am only a student of human nature. But don't you want a book? Let us find one, and I will carry it home for you."

"You are too obliging! I want a volume of Pope. I had a dispute last night with Mr. Winton about a passage in the 'Rape of the Lock,' and I want to prove myself right."

"Ah!" a long-drawn "ah." "Is he here? Well, find your book, and I will escort you back."

He gathered up his papers, thrust them into a bureau, which he locked and rang for his valet.

His visitor returned to the library, a large sombre apartment pervaded with a faint delightful odor of Russia leather, and from one of the well-filled shelves selected a book. Then putting on her hat, she passed through the glass door by which she had entered, and stood gazing at the wide landscape visible from the terrace.

"All this seems tame enough after continental scenery," said the squire, joining her.

"It has a great charm for me. There is a sense of life, and freedom, and cheerfulness in English landscape that you scarcely ever find elsewhere." She descended the steps to

Real Estate Investment

A WORD TO CANADIANS

Invest Your Money Under the Flowing Folds of the British Flag

Canada to-day offers magnificent opportunities to the wide-awake investor, who need not look to the ends of the earth for a safe and profitable real estate investment. Right in our Fair Dominion under the proud protection of the Union Jack, with no chance of having your investment disturbed and jeopardized by internal strife or revolution, money can be made and we can make it for you. We are dealing with Real Estate in PORT ARTHUR, a town which spells progress and golden opportunity to any Canadian investor who wants to see his money grow. No need to spend your time pulling up stumps, cultivating your land, staying round a foreign clime with a possible chance of achieving success in years to come. We are dealing in land free from hills and hollows, and all other obstructions. Ours is level land, most favorably located for residential purposes, and success beams with you the moment you invest in the purchase of lots in the

CARRICK ADDITION OF PORT ARTHUR

We can do the same with you as was done with a similar Real Estate Investment in Port Arthur only two short years ago. An addition, known as Highland Park, consisting of some 400 lots, was disposed of to investors in various sized lots, which in many cases have since been sold at an advance in price of from

100 PER CENT TO 200 PER CENT ON THE PURCHASE MONEY PAID

Your investment in the CARRICK ADDITION probably means a similar opportunity. Your purchase of Real Estate grows in value as the progressive town of Port Arthur advances.

PORT ARTHUR

—Has doubled its population during the past four years
—Possesses two great railway systems—the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern
—Is to welcome the Grand Trunk Pacific into its midst
—Is the coming wholesale manufacturing and distributing center of the great Northwest
—Is at the head of Canadian inland navigation, and possesses unexcelled shipping facilities
—Owns and operates more municipal franchises than any city in America
—Will possess an abundant supply of electrical energy when the second power of Kakabeka Falls is brought into play

When, in addition to the above, we mention that a contract has been let for the erection of extensive Coal Docks, when we further state that many other important enterprises are engaging the attention of many busy minds, one may begin to gather some idea as to the importance of Port Arthur, and what all this means to the investor. Every new enterprise means the introduction of fresh capital, and this in turn spells the employment of master minds, the skilled mechanic and the laborer, and all this leads up to the purchase of residential property. This is what we are offering you to-day.

Being situated only two blocks distant from some of its finest residences, and within walkable distance from the heart of the town.

WE OFFER LOTS VARYING IN PRICE FROM $55.00 TO $75.00 EACH

And we make the terms of payment practically to suit the purchaser—$15.00 down and $5.00 per month thereafter.

All lots possess a frontage of 33 feet, and they range in depth from 105 to 123 feet.

Further particulars, plans, maps, and all other desired information can readily be obtained by addressing a communication to either of the addresses given below.

Lest there should be any lingering doubt in anyone's mind as to the future of Port Arthur Real Estate, read what two or three prominent Port Arthur citizens state concerning same;

Col. S. W. Ray, of the Banking House of Ray, Street & Co., says: "No doubt values of real estate will increase. Prices are ridiculously low as compared with other places of inferior position and prospects. They should be at least 50 per cent. higher than they are."

(Probably Col. Ray is as well known in banking, financial and business circles as any other man in Canada, and he is known as somewhat cautious and conservative in his opinions, hence the added value of the above declaration.)

George Claver, President of the Board of Trade, states; "A steady growth of the town is unavoidable, and values in Real Estate are bound to increase."

W. F. Langworthy, Crown Attorney, says; "For a man with little money to invest, no place in Canada offers better advantages than Port Arthur. In my opinion, real estate is bound to rapidly increase in value, and the increase in value that has taken place within the last five years is only the commencement."

ALL APPLICATIONS FOR LOTS WILL BE TREATED IN THE ORDER IN WHICH THEY ARE RECEIVED

Entire System Toned by Pe-ru-na.

Miss Mary Bennett, 1619 Addison Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"A few months ago I contracted a cold by getting my feet wet, and although I used the usual remedies I could not shake it off.

"I finally took Peruna. In a week I was better. After several weeks I succeeded in ridding myself of any trace of a cold, and besides the medicine had toned up my system so that I felt splendid."—Mary Bennett.

Physicians Had Given Up the Case—Now Entirely Well.

Miss Gertrude Linford, Vice President Parkside Whist Club and teacher of Whist, 231 Niagara street, Buffalo, N.Y., writes:

"Peruna has effectually cured me after physicians had practically given up my case.

"For a long time I suffered with catarrh of the kidneys, had a weakness and pain in the back, lost flesh rapidly, my feet were swollen, my face was puffed under the eyes and I had a waxy sallowness of the skin.

"I took Peruna for some time and am entirely well. I cannot endorse Peruna too strongly."—Gertrude Linford.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, do not delay. Take Peruna at once. Delays are dangerous.

Miss Nalley's Story—Short, But Interesting to Every Woman.

Miss Addie Nalley, 137 D street, S. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"A cough, the grip, catarrh of the meanest kind—all sorts of remedies, home, patent and prescribed by doctors, and no relief,—that tells my story, a story of suffering and distress that lasted four years.

"Then—three bottles of Peruna—catarrh gone, appetite and strength returned—a happy woman, and none more grateful for the blessing of health—that is what Peruna has done for me."—Addie Nalley.

Champion Crop Story

"There is nothing like occasional moisture and plenty of hot weather to make crops grow," said an American tourist at the Snowden House last night. "Over in Kentucky, where I came from, I have known corn to grow six inches in a single night, after a rain storm." "That's nothing," said another guest, a Canadian, who was smoking his corn cob from his mouth. "Out in Bobcaygeon, where I have a farm, corn grows to beat the band. I remember once, when I was a boy, climbing up a stalk to see how the ear was progressing. I got up all right, but when I wanted to descend I found the stalk growing up faster than I could climb down. This is a fact; if you do not believe this story you may ask Billy Aitcheson or Tom Rutherford.

The Unkillable Small Boy

Yesterday afternoon about 6.30 as the Jackson Park car was nearing the corner of Simcoe and George street, on its way south, two small boys were clinging to the rear of an express cart. The driver ordered the boys off and augmented his command by the display of a formidable looking whip. The boys jumped just as the car passed them and one fell on the car fender. The boy was tossed quite five feet in the air, and fell again on the same perilous place. Before the car could be brought to a stand, still, the youngster had crawled off and, before his name could be ascertained, had left several blocks between him and possible further trouble.

Last Effort Was Fatal

Paterson, N. J., September 9.—After unsuccessfully attempting nearly every ordinary method of suicide, Peter Ardine killed himself early yesterday by standing on his head until a blood vessel burst, although at the time he was confined in a padded cell and a straight jacket. Ardine began last Monday when he jumped into the Passaic River. He was placed in gaol, where he successively tested the common methods of suicide all Monday night and Tuesday.

Dry Times at Buckhorn

Alderman Jas. J. Mahoney, and D. W. Swartz, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., passed through the city yesterday, en route home after a pleasant week spent with mine host Thos. Eastwood at Buckhorn. They brought home some fine muskinongs and bass. The only fault they had to find with Buckhorn was that the local option enforcement does not agree with an Irishman and a German.

A TANGLED WEB

Our Fine New Serial by Mrs. Alexander, Begins in This Issue

As promised our readers, the first chapter of "A Tangled Web," Mrs. Alexander's masterpiece of fiction, begins in this issue of The Times. It would be a work of supererogation for us to inform our readers that Mrs. Alexander's novels are considered to take a high place among the recent works of modern fiction, we might, however, note that "A Tangled Web" is adjudged to be by all odds her most interesting and strongest novel. This great and intensely interesting story will be published in parts daily in these columns, and it might be in place to advise that every day the part printed might be cut and, after pasting in a scrap book, preserved for future reading by your friends.

The Love of Eating.

IS THE AMERICAN BECOMING A GOURMAND?

In our largest centers of population, such as New York and Chicago, we daily see more attention given to the inner man. Cafes and lunch-rooms are filled with men and women who seem to give all their time and attention to thoughts of properly or improperly feeding their stomachs. "It is of course best to eat slowly, but not too much," says Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. In this 20th century people devote so much time to head work that their brain is fagged and there isn't sufficient blood left to properly take care of the other organs of the body. The stomach must be assisted in its hard work—the liver started into action—by the use of a good stomach tonic, which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients and without alcohol. After years of experience in an active practice, Dr. Pierce discovered a remedy that suited these conditions in a blood-maker and tissue builder. He called it Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—an alterative extract that assists in the digestion and assimilation of the food in the stomach—so that the blood gets what it needs for food and oxidation, the liver is at the same time started into activity and there is perfect elimination of waste matter. When the blood is pure and rich, all the organs work without effort, and the body is like a perfect machine.

HOSTILITIES MAY BREAK OUT IN MANCHURIA

Enemies of Japan are Pointing to the Disturbances at Tokio as Evidences of the Thin Veneer of Civilization--Much Praise for the Firm Hand of the Government.

London, September 11.—Fear is expressed in London lest the violent demonstrations in Tokio against the peace treaty may spread to Manchuria and infect the Japanese army with discontent, leading to excesses which conceivably might result in reopening hostilities against the Russian forces.

It would not be surprising if, under the leadership of a few disgruntled generals, the army decided to abandon the remarkable restraint and discipline which it has exhibited throughout the war.

The reports from Tokio have created a painful impression and deep disappointment among Japan's allies, the British. The knowledge that the British government counseled the Japanese Emperor to accept the terms of peace, against which the Japanese populace is now in partial rebellion, fills Englishmen with peculiarly deep sympathy for the plight of the government at Tokio.

They realize that the rioting and incendiarism must inevitably detract from Japan's newly won prestige among other nations, as its enemies will seize upon these displays of lawlessness, which show that the islanders have surrendered their self-control, as a basis for further preaching of the doctrine that Japanese civilization is only a veneer. The destruction of Christian church property by the mobs is regarded as the gravest manifestations of popular sentiment in Japan. It is interpreted as a protest against what the Japanese conceive to have been pressure exercised against their government by a combination of European and American diplomacy, to cheat them out of the fruits of victory.

There is general admiration in London at the firm hand with which the Japanese government is attempting to cope with the situation.

There is devoutly expressed that no amount of violence, and no volume of protests will induce the Emperor not to ratify the treaty of Portsmouth. Confidence is felt that the treaty will be promptly ratified.

DEMANDS CABINET RESIGNATION.

Tokio, September 11.—The Asahi asserts that the obstinacy of the Government is responsible for the attacks on the Christian churches, adding:

"Had the Government lent an ear to the popular voice and refrained from enraging the people by its obduracy, Tokio would have been spared the shame and humiliation of the mob rising resulting in the destruction of the mission property. Foreign susceptibility has thus been touched. We regret the occurrence greatly."

The Asahi blames the Home Minister and the Chief of Police, and declares they should not remain in office.

NELSON WINS

Battling Nelson Wins the Great Fight in 18th Round

The great fight for the lightweight championship was fought at Colma, near San Francisco, Cal., between Jimmy Britt of San Francisco, and Battling Nelson of Chicago, on Saturday afternoon, before an immense audience.

Battling Nelson weighed in at Harry Corbett's as provided for in the articles of agreement. His weight was 132 1-2 lbs., just half a pound under the stipulated figure. Britt was seven minutes late, but the forfeit, which might have been claimed, was waived by Nelson. Britt tipped the scale at exactly 134 pounds.

The crowds making the trip to Colma to see the contest, started out in the morning without any definite information as to who would be referee. For one hour Friday night it looked as if all was settled, the announcement being that Nelson had finally withdrawn his objections to Jeffries. There was a rush to place bets and Britt money forced the odds to 10 to 6. Nolan later declared positively he would not accept Jeffries.

Manager Coffroth acknowledged that the delay in naming the referee had materially affected the box office receipts, many persons having cancelled their orders for reserved seats.

A heavy fog drifted in from the ocean about 11 o'clock, and the skies were dull and leaden. The picture machines were placed about 40 feet from the west side of the ring, on a platform ten feet above the ground. Three machines were in operation in order to ensure a complete and continuous record.

Manager Coffroth estimated the attendance at 10,000. Graney was agreed on as referee.

The fight was a hot one, both men evidently expecting to win, and showed plainly the confidence each felt in himself.

Nelson won out in the eighteen round amid vociferous cheering by his backers.

POWDER MILLS BLOWN DOWN

Disaster at Connellsville, Pa., Where Explosion in Car of Powder Spreads to Mills

SHOCK FELT FOR MILES

A Second Explosion is Feared—Passenger Train Was Jarred

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Rand Powder Works near Uniontown, Pa., blew up about 9.15 o'clock this morning. Fifty men are employed at the works. At least 15 have been killed.

It is said the explosion started in a car of powder, and spread to all the buildings of the plant. One of the odd features of the affair is that a passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio, northbound, from Morgantown to Connellsville, was passing the scene at the time the explosion occurred. The train was jarred tremendously, and every window was broken. A number of the passengers were cut by the showers of glass which fell about them.

The concussion was like an earthquake to the country round about, and, in the surrounding towns, caused great excitement, which was augmented by the fact that communication on the trolley line was broken off several miles from here.

HUNDREDS TO RESCUE.

The rescue work is being carried on by hundreds of willing hands in hopes some will be taken from the ruins alive. Manager Rand was seriously hurt. The first thing he did after being removed was to insist on being carried to a telephone so that he could talk to his wife in Uniontown because he knew she would hear the roar of the explosion, and believed that nothing else than his voice would reassure her.

The cause of the explosion of the car of powder may never be known. All the men who were working about it are believed to have been blown to pieces. From this car, by reason, it is said, of flame and detonating, the explosion spread to the magazine, which carried with it about everything there was to the plant.

ANOTHER PERIL.

None of the ten buildings that made up the big powder works remains standing. The debris is now on fire, and two cars of dynamite that cannot be removed from the vicinity of the ruins are momentarily expected to go off. Thousands of people gathered to witness the explosion within half an hour after it happened. Uniontown sent hundreds of rigs, and the surrounding country turned out en masse. Now they are returning panic-stricken, fearful of another explosion from the dynamite cars, that may add further terror, and swell the death list to greater proportions.

SHOCK FELT FOR MILES.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 10.—The explosion at Fair Chance to-day caused a panic all over Fayette County. Buildings are reported to have toppled over from the shocks, dishes were thrown from cupboards, and windows were broken for miles around. In this city court was unceremoniously adjourned, the occupants of the courtrooms rushed from the building. The big skylight and many windows in the court were splintered.

MOB CAUSES TROUBLE

Race Feeling Aroused by a Brutal Attack Upon the Salvation Army in St. Louis

Montreal, Sept. 10.—As the result of a clash last night between a mob and a party of Salvation Army sympathizers at St. Louis, a northern suburb of this city, a number of people were more or less injured, and nine arrests were made by the police.

The Salvation Army has been holding meetings for some time in the locality, which is largely peopled by French-Canadian Roman Catholics, a number of whom resented the campaign of the Army, and attempted to break up the meetings.

The English-speaking residents organized an escort for the protection of the Salvationists, and there was a clash between the two bodies. When the escort was conducting the Salvationists from the hall it was attacked by the mob, who threw stones and other missiles, injuring a number of people. The escort then charged the mob, which quickly dispersed. The police appeared on the scene and made nine arrests of members of the mob.

The Salvationists were escorted to the city limits in safety. They express their determination to continue their campaign, and trouble is feared, as race feeling has been aroused by the incident.

THREE BURNED IN TENEMENT FIRE

Father Gives His Life in an Attempt to Save His Two Children

New York, Sept. 10.—While trying to save his two children, a son and a daughter, both under ten years of age, from a fire in a crowded tenement building in East 71st street yesterday, Antonio Colletto and both children were suffocated by smoke. There were twenty-four Italian families, numbering 120 persons, in the building, and all were asleep when the fire broke out. It started in the basement, and spreading to the hallway of the first floor, cut off all escape from the floors above. Michael Angelin, his wife, Mary, and daughter, Nora, were badly burned in a hurried flight from their rooms on the upper floor to the roof.

AERONAUTS MAY BE LOST

Left Paris on Thursday With Bad Start and Since Unheard of London, Sept. 10.—Jacques Faure, a well-known French aeronaut, accompanied by the Marquis de Villalonga, started in a balloon from the Crystal Palace, bound for Denmark, on Thursday evening.

Nothing has since been heard of them, and the greatest fears are now entertained that they have been lost in the North Sea.

Some difficulty was experienced in [illegible] was badly inflated, and Faure complained of the quality of the gas.

The balloon was able to lift the two occupants and five bags of sand, leaving but little to throw out in case of necessity.

FATAL BULLETS LOST ADDING TO MYSTERY

Coroner Dr. Gray Gives His Account of the Bullets Lost Whilst in His Possession, and Denies Responsibility.

It is now practically settled that by Coroner Dr. Gray, in whose care Chris. Gow charged with killing the boy, Hill, in Dummer, will have to stand trial by a jury of his peers instead of, as as desired by Mr. Denniston, his counsel, by the county judge without jury.

On Saturday morning Mr. Denniston pointed out to His Honor, Judge Weller, that under the Statutes of the Dominion Parliament the accused has a right to trial before the county judge without a jury if he desires it. There is, however, a statute of the Ontario Legislature which prohibits a county judge from trying any case of homicide, but it was argued on behalf of the prisoner that as the British North America Act places the criminal law and procedure thereunder within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government, that the Ontario Legislature had no authority to pass the act in question.

Judge Weller stated that there certainly was a conflict between the Statutes, but that he felt bound by the Ontario Act until it was pronounced ultra vires. He therefore declined to allow the prisoner to elect to be tried without a jury.

Counsel are now considering whether an application will be made by way of mandamus to compel the judge to take the prisoner's election or not.

Mr. Denniston also applied for bail for his client, but this was opposed by the County Crown Attorney acting for the Attorney-General, as the depositions were not before the judge, this matter was post-poned until to-morrow, when it is probable that bail in $5,000 will be granted.

THE LOST BULLETS.

A somewhat sensational element has been introduced to the chain of mysteries that have from the first enfolded this cause. The Times on Saturday received absolute information that the two bullets, one of which killed young Hill and another that injured his relation the same night have either been stolen from or lost by Coroner Dr. Gray, after receiving The Times representative is a most courteous manner, gave a detailed history of the affair and was most emphatic in his protestations of never having seen the bullets, since they lay on the table when the inquest was held. His version of the matter is that shortly before the jury came to a decision they called him in for a few minutes to obtain certain information and explanations about the shooting. During his absence, when the doctor was in the jury room, Mr. M. W. Matchett, who accompanied him in a clerical capacity, to the inquest, put the bullets away in the doctor's satchel, between the bottom of the bag and a folded newspaper. Dr. Gray explained the paper being in the satchel on account of a small slit that had been in its bottom for some time. The two gentlemen drove to Warsaw and had dinner there. Before dinner Dr. Gray gave his satchel to the hotel proprietor in the bar for safe keeping.

On their return to this city the doctor, having been told by Mr. Matchett, as intimated above, that the bullets were in the bag, naturally looked for them, but they were no where to be found. The doctor was assured by Mr. Matchett that the latter had placed them in the bag as stated. Dr. Gray at once went to the livery barn from whom he had procured the rig that drove in but the employees had seen nothing of the now precious balls. As the buggy was then out on a long drive with another customer, it could not be searched until its return. A vigilant search failed to discovered the bullets.

Dr Gray claims, in fact, he has also been told by the Toronto detective employed on the case, that the police should have taken charge of these balls, and also claims that the responsibility for their safety should have rested with the police.

Dr Gray says that the slit in his bag is small, but that the balls might have been forced through it. His papers in the case were in the same satchel but showed no signs of being tampered with or destroyed.

NEW STYLE PROPELLER

Expected to Make Three-Day Trans-Atlantic Trip Possible

London, September 11.—"To America and back in a week" will soon be a possibility, if the claims of Mr. R. B. Painton, an inventor, are made good in practice. Mr. Painton has designed a ship, or rather, he has applied a system of electrical propulsion of his invention to a ship, which he believes will cross the Atlantic in three days. A model is now being exhibited for the first time in England at Earl's court.

Stripped of technicalities, Mr. Painton's plan is to dispense with the propeller shaft—that source of so much trouble for ocean greyhounds—and to replace the single or double screws of the present type by sixteen screw propellers arranged along the sides and stern of the ship.

He expects by this method to get a speed of forty knots per hour. The highest speed yet attained by an ocean-going boat is 22.80 knots per hour.

The propellers will be operated by motors connected by wires with the generating dynamos. Each motor will be independent, so that the breakdown of one will in no way affect the operation of the other fifteen.

The generating engines of the turbine type will occupy less space than the present type of engine, and will require much less coal. A passenger liner can carry little more coal than suffices for the voyage from New York to Liverpool. Mr. Painton claims that his boat will be able to carry enough coal for a voyage from New York to Gibraltar and back, and will consequently have more room for cargo.

WILL MAKE ANOTHER MOVE

THE DECISION IN HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS NOW AWAITED

So Says Counsel for Gaynor and Greene, But Move Not Disclosed

Montreal, September 11. — The argument in the Gaynor-Greene case has been closed. The decision of Mr. Justice Ouimet is now awaited. Should the decision be adverse, the accused still have certiorari proceedings pending, and their counsel say that they still keep up the fight, though what the next move will be is not yet known.

Mr. Donald Macmaster, K.C., argued that the commitment was valid in every respect. He cited the case of a French notary whose committal was based on nineteen charges. On habeas corpus proceedings fifteen of the charges were removed from the commital, but the writ of habeas corpus was quashed.

Mr. G. G. Stuart, K.C., continued the argument, after which Mr. Tascherau replied, and the judge took the matter en delibere.

UNIONS PLEAD HARD

To Save the Life of a Murderer in a Strike

Kansas City, Mo., September 11—Unless there is an eleventh-hour interference on the part of Governor Folk, Edgar G. Bailey will be hanged here this morning. Bailey murdered Albert Ferguson, a non-union hack driver, in the hack drivers' strike here last year. The labor unions of Missouri are making a great effort to have the sentence commuted, but it is believed that Governor Folk will not interfere.

Bailey, James Dorsha, and William Moon were union hack drivers and during the drivers' strike in March, 1904, enticed Albert Ferguson, a non-union driver, to a lonely spot near Fifteenth and Central streets. There Bailey shot him down. Ferguson died next day. Gertrude Biggs was with him at the time of the shooting, and her evidence was one of the chief features in Bailey's conviction.

OVER ONE HUNDRED WIVES

IS SUPPOSED RECORD OF "ARCH BIGAMIST" WITZHOFF

Who is Now Sought Over Entire Civilized World by New York Police--Many Women Victimized by Century's Clever Swindler

New York, September 11.—While 100 wives are believed to be mourning his absence, and lamenting the loss of thousands of dollars trustfully given him on their wedding days, Dr. George A. Witzhoff, the "arch bigamist" of the century, is being sought through the civilized world.

Witzhoff has been positively identified as the husband of at least fifteen wives, while the number that have partially identified him is over twenty and it is believed that reports, which continue to pour in to Attorney Benjamin Franklin, No. 146 Nassau street, will swell the total to one hundred.

It is believed Witzhoff has fled to London, Paris or Berlin, as he speaks seven languages and lived in those cities before coming to America.

It is believed he operated in Berlin, and has gone back there in the hope that his ten years' absence has caused him to be forgotten. Circulars giving his description will be sent to all leading cities on the continent, together with copies of his photograph.

Experience of Dr. Witzhoff's marital exploits has revealed astounding conditions on the east side of New York. There is scarcely a block in the district below Houston street in which there are not two or more young women who have not been wives for a day or a week only to be deserted the moment the new husband got hold of their savings.

It is believed there are about 1,000 women in the city who have been thus victimized, one of the women having been deserted right at the door of the church five minutes after the ceremony.

WOLVES FIGHT WITH A BOY

Boy Puts Up a Brave Fight but Has to Seek Safety in the Lake

Golden Valley, Muskoka, September 11.—Norman Cameron, an 11-year-old boy, of Golden Valley Mills, while hunting in the woods near Stanley Lake was attacked by a big wolf. Cameron fired and hit the brute. It rose howling and thus attracted the attention of a number of the pack to which it belonged. The boy and dog began a scientific withdrawal, while the wolves came on viciously. Cameron fired frequently. Once he fell over a log and a wolf sprang at him, but after firing at it he reached the lake and got out on a log, where he kept up a fusilade till rescued by Mr. J. J. Aspden, of Toronto, who was fishing in the neighborhood.

RECORD LUNGE

Mrs. Callaghan, Rochester Lands a 36 Pound Lunge

The Stony Lake record, for this season at least, for maskinonge, was broken on Saturday by the capture without use of net or gaff, of a splendidly proportioned fish which turned the scales at 36 pounds. The fortunate captor of this almost unique fish was Mrs. Callaghan, of Rochester, N.Y., who with her husband, Mr. Frank C. Callaghan, are camping at the Victoria House, Stony Lake.

Mrs. Callaghan was trawling, in company with her husband, near a reef about midway between McCracken's Landing and Sheriff Hall's Island, when the maskinonge struck. The two had a hard battle with this daddy of Kawartha Lakes, and when taking the fish aboard, in its dying struggles, were drenched with water. The fish measured four feet eight inches in length, and was a beauty.

WHY THE SULTAN YIELDED TO FRANCE

Germany Refused to Be Drawn Into the Morocco Dispute

GENERAL OPTIMISM NOW

German and French Officials Think All Danger of Misunderstanding Has Passed

Paris, September 11.—If any danger of a serious misunderstanding between France and Germany ever existed, it has certainly passed over for all time. This pronouncement was made today by Dr. Rosen, the German Emperor's new Minister to Tangiers, who is deeply impressed with the general optimism that is now felt in regard to Moroccan affairs by both French and German officials.

The Sultan yielded yesterday to France completely, because he had received at last a blunt intimation from Germany that the Morocco matter is none of Germany's business, and that the Kaiser cannot allow himself to become embroiled in a dispute between the Sultan and France.

Although some such hint as this was expected it is taken to mean that Germany desires to play a role somewhat more frank than heretofore, at least until the present matter is settled. Dr Rosen has made an excellent impression here. Dr. Rosen and Premier Rouvier parted yesterday after their conference in the most cordial manner.

The Premier followed the German diplomat to the door and seized his hand repeatedly in full view of the idlers on the Seine embankment, who lifted their hats as Dr. Rosen drove away.

MR. ROGERS APPOINTED

Old Peterboro Boy Appointed Inspector of Prisons

The many friends in Peterboro, of Mr. Ed R. Rogers, will be pleased to learn of his appointment, by the Ontario Government, as Inspector of Prisons and Charities. The new inspector, who has a host of friends here and in Port Hope, where he like many other Peterboro boys, old and young, attended Trinity College school, is a brother of Mr. R. H. Rogers of the Trent Valley canal. Mr. Rogers left Peterboro some years ago for Toronto, where he entered the dry goods business. From Toronto he went to Uxbridge, and started a hardware business; this latter business he subsequently followed in Winnipeg and Calgary.

In 1900 he was appointed Clerk of the Supreme Coung of the North-west Territories, holding the position ten years. Seven years ago he opened a hardware business at Toronto Junction. He was chairman of the West York Board of License Commissioners.

The gathering was formally opened yesterday, and the proceedings will last for several days. A feature of the celebration this year will be the presentation of a check for $5,000 to Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate, as a gift to the pope. The amount was collected in 10-cent pieces from the 15,000 members of the order all over the United States.

A FORGED NOTE

Lakefield Banker Repudiates a Forged Note

Among the minor cases heard on Friday by Judge Weller at the Division Court was one somewhat out of the common. The suit was brought by trustees of the James Linton Co., Ltd., vs. bankers of Lakefield against Mr. D. W. Edwards of C. D. Crawford & Company a store, in reference to a note for $275, which Mr. Edwards declared to be a forgery.

Messrs. John Crane, manager of the Ontario Bank, and Davidson, who holds a similar position with the Traders Bank, Lakefield, were called as experts in handwriting, and declared that the signature was not that of Mr. Edwards. Mr. Linton was of the opinion that the signature was genuine. Mr. Edwards swore that the note was not signed by him, and judgment was given in his favor.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, K.C., solicitor for plaintiff; Messrs. R. M. Denniston and O. A. Langley, of Lakefield, for defence.

The late Miss McDermott, who had reached the venerable age of 93 years passed away on Friday night at the Home of Providence. Miss McDermott had been in failing health for several years, but even at her ripe old age preserved the eye sight of youth.

She was a native of County Monaghan, Ireland, and came to Canada in 1842, and has since resided in Peterboro with the exception of a short time spent in Montreal and Kingston. Immediately after her arrival in Canada.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Read

Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Once more Justice did business at the same old spot, His Worship, Mr. Dumble having returned to the city, and the unusual calm in police circles was broken by the intrusion of three cases in the police court.

Still people will pay $2 for the privilege of riding on the side walks. A George street merchant was the high-priced rider.

The next case was that of Charles Parks, who, with fire in his eye, accused a man named Brown, of having assaulted him on the evening of Sept. 6th. Mr. Brown was defended by Mr. O'Connell. With the charge of assault was coupled another against the same defendant, by Parks, of having used grossly insulting language. Parks' history of the affair was that Brown met him on the street and inquired after some unknown woman, and in the evening came to his house and asked again for her, and accused him of keeping a house of ill-fame, and used considerable foul and abusive language.

Parks said he ordered Brown away from his house and left soon afterwards to go down to the police station to lay a complaint against him. He could hear Brown continuing to use his profane language on the street, and all unknowingly he overtook him at the corner of Brock and Water streets. Here more words ensued, and Brown struck him.

In summing up, Mr. O'Connell pleaded for leniency, reciting some of the misfortunes that the accused had to contend with, and stating that he was also under the influence of liquor on the evening of the unfortunate occurrence.

His Worship, in summing up intimated that the accused did not act in a manner to entitle him to carry the banner in a Band of Hope parade, and fined him on both charges, the total for his little indiscretions being $9.65 to be paid in 10 days.

Saturday afternoon, P.C. Miller gathered in Thos. Brogon, a young Englishman employed on a farm near Fraserville, in a very hilarious condition. By ten o'clock Saturday evening, Brogon had sobered up, and on being asked by a Times' representative what he was arrested for, replied, "Well really, you know, I am at a loss to understand." His memory of the afternoon's drama, in which he played so prominent a part, had faded from his memory completely. As he had quite recovered his wits and proper bearing by Sunday morning, the police allowed him to go home and advised him that the next Peterboro spree would cost him four.

CHILD MURDER IN NEW YORK

Mother Tells Pitiful Tale of Little One's Death

New York, Sept. 10.—Hidden in a dark corner in the lower hallway of the tenement No. 464 Eleventh Ave., there was discovered early yesterday morning the body of Gertrude Hyland, two years old. It was badly bruised and cut and autopsy developed the fact that hemorrage of the brain was the cause of death.

For hours the case baffled the best efforts of the detectives of the West Thirty-Seventh-street station, and men sent from headquarters. Late in the afternoon a janitress and two women identified the little victim as the daughter of Agnes Renoude, housekeeper of Gustav Dinser, who lives in the rear apartment on the fifth floor of the tenement, No. 431 West Forty-fifth street. Acting upon this information Dinser and Agnes Renoude were arrested, and the later confessed the details of the crime involving the death of the child and the hiding of the body.

"Dinser was drinking last night," she said. "He often beat me when he was drinking and at such times had an unreasonable hatred for my baby. He struck Gertrude several times, and finally started to throw her from the window into the stone flagged yard. I screamed, and besought him not to murder the baby promising to place her in other care in the morning.

"After midnight Dinser became abusive again. He struck me and woke Gertrude. Infuriated because the baby cried, he struck her a dreadful blow with his clenched fist, knocking her little head against the wall. Baby lay still. I was afraid. All I could do was hold baby and rock her. I thought she had swooned. An hour later I realized that she was dead. I was in an agony of fear. Dinser wanted to throw my little one out of the window so that it would be thought she had accidentally fallen out and and been killed. I pleaded with him not to do this, and agreed to dispose of the body secretly in the morning.

"Then Dinser went to sleep. I washed baby and dressed her in her best little coat and laid her on my bed. When it was daylight I wrapped her in a newspaper and awakened Dinser. He accompanied me through the streets. It was raining dreadfully and he held an umbrella down over us so as to shield my burden. I laid Gertrude on the floor and we hurried back to the rooms. We told the children Gertrude had been taken away by her grandfather."

When told the women had confessed all, Dinser sullenly admitted he had struck the child, but insisted that it was a blow with the back of his hand.

MANY SENT HIM TEN DOLLARS

Carleton Place, Sept. 10.—The following advertisement appeared in Toronto newspapers of Aug. 12:—

"Wanted—Ten men, English-speaking, at once, for British Columbia, to help fix electric machines; experience not necessary; must be reliable; six months' work, two dollars a day; transportation free. Edgar Lambton, engineer, Carleton Place."

Half-a-dozen men belonging to the neighborhood of Orangeville, Oshawa and London, Ont., are now here looking for Lambton, but no trace of him can be found.

Lambton, who, in the early part of August, travelled through this district, posing as a civil and electrical engineer, attached to the staff of the C.P.R., reached Carleton Place, Aug. 12. He engaged a room in one of the hotels, and waited there for replies to his ad. They came, many of them.

Applicants for the position received an answer by return mail that it would be necessary for them to forward him the sum of ten dollars as a guarantee of good faith on their part, upon receipt of which they would be furnished with free transportation over the C.P.R. to destination, the ten dollars to be refunded to them as soon as they started work. Lambton replied to the applicants on Canadian Pacific Railway note paper.

Some of the applicants not receiving within a reasonable time the transportation to the Pacific Coast, came to Carleton Place to ascertain the reason therefore.

Lambton is described as being about 27 years of age, height 5 feet 11 inches, weight 150 pounds. While in this vicinity he wore a navy blue suit and a white straw hat.

GOT CHOLERA STOPPED

If Monday is Reached Without Case All's Well

Hamburg, Sept. 10.—Dr. McLaughlin of the United States Marine Hospital Service says the preventive agencies here "have cholera by the throat," to use his expression, and that there is scarcely one chance in a thousand of an epidemic.

Three days have now passed without another case, and if Monday passes without one it may be assumed that the cholera here has ceased to be agendic.

Peterboro Press Praised

The Belleville Intelligencer, referring to the popularity condemned apathy shown shortly after the Dunmore tragedy was asserted says: A resident of Dunmore township, Peterboro county, where the recent shooting took place, taking about the case, said the agitation which had been stirred up was all owing to the newspapers. But for them, he said bitterly, the matter would have died out quietly. This he claims the press of Peterboro, and other towns immediately to the center and influence for right of the case. Newspaper men should feel encouraged.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands are Dying—Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells us follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was [illegible] spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

SOME STATISTICS OF THE WAR

The statisticians are now getting after the late war. The men who see Niagara Falls and simply take out a pad and begin to figure what weight of water is being wasted, and what the motive possibility of so many cubic feet of water dropping so many feet, are easy reading, but the cold figures of the Russo-Japanese unpleasantness.

It seems that in the war Russia lost 404,141 men and Japan 167,424. No such losses of life in battle have been recorded since the American War of Secession.

When we turn to the financial side it is found that the struggle cost Russia seven million dollars a week, or a total cost of $367,000,000, besides the loss of $150,000,000 of war vessels. They also lost Dalny, Port Arthur and the railways, which losses have not yet been put into figures. It will thus be seen that a terrible punishment in men and money has been inflicted upon Russia by her little antagonist, whom some people thought would simply be eaten up by so well-equipped and war-like a country as that which four European nations combined had all they could do to conquer fifty years ago, when she was not half as big or powerful.

The losses to Japan are not yet definitely known, but have been stated as about half those of Russia and are probably even less than that, as her cost of carrying on the war, with a base much nearer and the unimpeded water transportation would be very much under that of Russia, whose soldiers are paid more and cost more to keep, besides the enormous expense of carrying them and their supplies over thousands of miles of railway.

When we turn to the details of the naval losses we find that Russia had twelve battleships, thirteen cruisers and three coast defence ships sunk, some of which were afterwards raised by the battleships. Two battleships and two coast defence ships were captured and six escaped and were interned in neutral ports. In all, Russia had 208,-236 tons of her larger war shipping put out of business, besides her loss of gunboats, training ships, repair ships, etc. Her loss of big guns in this naval smash-up was 218.

Japan's sea losses consisted of two battleships, two coast defence ships four cruisers, and twelve torpedo boats and small craft, or twenty in all, amounting to 42,827 tons, and involving a loss of 80 big guns.

These figures will convey some idea of the completeness of the Japanese victory, and how overwhelmingly she overmatched her opponent.

A PLEA FOR SOBRIETY

The work of today demands men of clear brains for its performance. It matters not whether that work be in the office, the counting-room, the legislative hall, the store, the shop, the field, or the mine. The worker who each morning brings to his task a strong mind and a steady nerve will always find his services in demand, while the one who allows himself to become the victim of an unbridled appetite will soon discover that his place has been filled by one who can do the work better than he. Such an address as that made by President Roosevelt is always timely. While it is undoubtedly true that excesses in the use of liquor are not as common today as they were a quarter or a half century ago, there is still vast room for improvement, and every effort in that direction deserves the encouragement of all who seek the elevation and betterment of their fellow-men.

MIKADO MAY TOUR WORLD

INCLINED TO ACCEPT INVITATION OF KING EDWARD

Will be First Japanese Sovereign to Leave Island Empire and Visit Foreign Courts

London, September 8.—There is a well-founded rumor that the Mikado, with the establishment of peace, will do an outward of thing; in that he intends to visit the various courts of Europe. If the Mikado does go on the visit, it will be the first time that a ruler of Japan has ever left the Empire.

It is said that King Edward has sent to the Mikado a pressing invitation to come to London. When the invitation was presented to the Mikado, he is said to have been greatly impressed and it created his desire to travel.

Ottawa, Ont., September 8.—There is nothing now standing in the way of a formal transfer of the fortifications at Halifax from the Imperial to Canadian authorities. The long expected advices were received on Friday in the shape of a cable from the Imperial Government stating that the Army Council recommends that the War Department should transfer to the Canadian Government, free of charge, all the fortifications in Nova Scotia which the Dominion is prepared to take over for Dominion purposes. Only those not used for Dominion purposes will revert to the Imperial Government.

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendment thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 30 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly-arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

Before Treatment.

After Treatment.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I took Mercury, Iodide Potash, Sarsaparilla, Hood's, Ayer's and S.S.S., but they only seemed to aggravate the sores, and new ones commenced to head up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend you. Treatment with my knowledge. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish.—H. The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 60,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at all time at deeper work of the very best, bejewest, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

the graveled path beneath as she spoke, her companion following, and coming up beside her.

"You have preserved a large amount of patriotism in spite of your long sojourn abroad."

"I have; yet I love Germany, too. I was very happy there."

"Were you ever unhappy?" he asked, with a slightly contemptuous uplifting of his brows.

"Well, no, I do not think I ever was; I have been very, very sorry for the trouble of my friends, but not on my own account."

"Friends? Some unfortunate devils you refused, I suppose?"

"No, indeed, I never refused any one."

"I should have imagined you had shoals of bold barons and noble grafs at your feet."

She laughed merrily.

"You see I had not the reputation of being an heiress, and I was not so honored."

"What a curse hangs over the impecunious!" he returned bitterly.

"I don't feel accursed, though the grafs and barons did not propose to me. You must admit, too, that the greatest improvements, the most successful careers, have been achieved by men who had scarce a penny to begin with."

"Your only fault, Nora, is being too reasonable. It is a serious one, if you will permit a kinsman to speak plainly."

"A kinsman too remote for the right of fault-finding," she interrupted, with a saucy little nod.

"Ah! I have found you a very distant cousin indeed."

So talking, they walked across the pleasure-grounds, and through a gate which admitted them to a wide, park-like stretch of pasture, bordered at one side by a strip of woodland into which the path led. Soon the ground began to slope steeply down to a shallow valley, at the bottom of which ran a small rapid river, chafing and murmuring among big, black, wet stones, and leaping gayly over an abrupt rocky barrier, some few hundred yards above, where they struck upon the stream. A narrow ivy-grown bridge spanned the fall, turning toward which they came in sight of a low irregular house, or rather cottage, on the opposite side.

The ground immediately round it was level, and then fell suddenly to the river, while the light through the trees behind showed that it stood on the summit of the bank, a richly green, close-shaven lawn, with a few flower-beds near the house, a projecting window or two, a veranda with supports of unbarked wood, and a huge elm tree, surrounded by a seat, standing near the edge of the declivity, made a pleasant picture.

"How thoroughly English this looks," said the squire. "It is quite Arcadian; but you will be awfully bored after awhile, and the sight of your abode reminds me I have never asked for Mrs. L'Estrange."

"She is quite well, and will be very pleased to see you."

"And I shall be only too glad to trouble you with my presence; but not this morning. I have a pile of letters to answer, and an appalling amount of arrangements to make. In short, I ought not to have come so far afield with you."

"You are a voluntary truant," she returned, pausing on the bridge.

"That I acknowledge. Now I have seen you to the edge of your own territory, I will say good-bye. If I come and beg a cup of coffee about eight or nine this evening, I suppose I shall not be barred out?"

"If the door is locked we will let you in through the window."

He bowed, and raising his soft felt hat with easy grace, stood looking after her as she walked away with a smooth, light step down the path which led toward the cottage.

He was unmistakably a "squire of high degree." Above middle height, his well-proportioned figure had an air of picturesque dignity in his rough but well-cut shooting-coat; his long, fine, imbrowned hand grasped a light walking-stick, and as he walked quickly back toward home, he cut the heads from the tall reeds and grasses bordering his path with sharp, vindictive strokes, as if he laid some detested enemy prostrate at every stroke.

"This folly—madness rather—is a desperate complication, yet it is irresistible," he muttered to himself. "I have only to be bold enough and I shall succeed! After? Weariness, perhaps; but I shall have had an interval of life and joy, it will be something to know that, come what may, I have been blessed."

He glanced round sharply and suspiciously, but the only living things near were a little brown squirrel that scampered in sudden fear up the rugged stem of an oak, and a snake rustling among the fallen leaves as it escaped to its hole.

He laughed to himself, a cynical laugh, very different from the soft, caressing smile he bestowed on his fair visitor.

Clifford Marsden, the Squire of Eversleigh, was one of the fortunate individuals sometimes described as having been "born with a silver spoon in his mouth." He had succeeded his father while still a schoolboy; the savings of his minority enabled him to start clear of all incumbrances when he came of age, and the thirteen or seventeen years which had since elapsed had been diligently occupied by him in creating fresh ones.

He had lived with boundless extravagance and self-indulgence. He had done everything, seen everything, exhausted everything possible for a gentleman whose character was still fair, whose popularity was undiminished. Bankers and city men knew that his lands were heavily mortgaged; but society, as yet, only admired his magnificence, without doubting his solvency.

Eversleigh had seen little of its master of late years, but in his boyish days, and for some time after attaining his majority, Marsden hunted and shot in due season at Eversleigh.

His near neighbor and relative was Colonel L'Estrange, of Brookdale, the cottage just described.

The beauty of the sight had probably induced the builder of Brookdale House to place that edifice on the verge of the estate, for the stream above-mentioned was its boundary on this side. The farm and residence of Brookdale had been purchased by the squire's great-grandfather, who settled it on his only daughter. This lady had married a penniless soldier of good family, Colonel L'Estrange was her grandson.

He had married in India, and soon after his return home, his delicate wife died somewhat suddenly, leaving him a baby-girl of about five years old. The colonel, a grave, taciturn man, old for his years, and unsociable in habits, lived on in his humble home, finding consolation in sport, and looked up to by the young Squire of Eversleigh as a mighty hunter, an unerring shot.

When Leonora, or Nora L'Estrange, who was a pet and plaything with her cousin, had reached her tenth year, her father suddenly discovered she was too old to be left entirely with her nurse. Of a boarding-school he would not hear, and, in short, the only solution to the difficulty which found favor in his eyes, was immediate marriage with a pretty, pale, timid girl, the orphan daughter of a former friend.

Railway Agrees to Establish it at Kaien Island—Will Be a Great City

Victoria, Sept. 8.—The Provincial Government has entered into an arrangement with the Grand Trunk Pacific to establish its terminus at Kaien Island, on the track of 10,000 acres which the officials purchased some time ago. This was done on August 3, and the company agreed, subject to the approval of the Governor-General-in-Council, to construct thereon, of a substantial and permanent character, wharves, docks, stations, yards, round-houses, and other facilities, on or before June 30, 1906, and thereafter actively prosecute to completion. Should the company fail to carry out the provisions of the agreement, the Government has the right to cancel it and to resume possession of the land. As the result of its investigations, the company found there would be some difficulty in securing an eligible site for its terminus on this coast. Port Simpson was considered, but it was found that the land there was nearly all held by speculators, who demanded high prices for their property. A similar state of things was found to exist at Kitamaat, another possible location. A great city is bound to rise around the terminus.

—Mr. Thomas Barrie is building two fine new cottages on his island at Stony Lake. The work is being done by Mr. H. Castle of this city.

—The opening meeting for the coming season of the Peterboro Musical Association will be held on Monday morning, Sept. 18th, at the Y. M.C.A. building.

—A young man, hailing from Montreal, was in the city on Saturday looking over Peterboro as a possible location for a bill-posting business. He seemed a hustler and favorably impressed with the prospects here.

—An intimate friend of Mr. George (Sharboy) Main, the quick defence defence player of the local team, who was injured in Friday's game at Lindsay, last night assured The Times he is rapidly improving.

—The leading feature of the Y.M.C.A. for this week will be the visit of Mr. Geo. A. Gregg, of the International Committee of New York, who will spend Thursday and Friday, the 14th and 15th, in the city in the interests of the educational work.

Horses Panic-Stricken

A panic seized upon the horses attached to some vehicles crossing the bridge over the Trent Canal, upon Norwood road, Saturday morning, which for a few minutes threatened to result in a serious accident. The vehicles were approaching from both ends of the bridge, when the swing portion was opened to allow a wood scow to pass. A sudden stampede arose among the horses, which began to back and rear, causing their drivers a mauvais quarti d jeure. The struggling horses were pandemonium frantic by the sides of the bridge being covered by planks for repair purposes, into which the plunging animals backed and tried to climb. However order was, with difficulty brought out of the chaos, and fortunately without any serious damage being done.

AN ASTER WEDDING

Nuptials of Mrs. Julia E. Eastland and Mr. Harry E. Kent

A very pretty and interesting event took place in Apsley on Wednesday, September 6th, 1905, when Miss Julia E. Eastland, eldest daughter of Mr. T. G. Eastland, ex-warden of the County of Peterboro, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry E. Kent, of Montreal. Rev. C. Lord performed the marriage ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of cream silk arliene with chiffon trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemum asters. She was attended by her sister, Miss Hattie, who was attired in pale green trimmed with all over lace, and she carried pink asters with ferns. The groom was assisted by Mr. Alex. Pay, of Montreal, and little Miss Florrie Eastland daintily performed the duties of maid of honor, carrying a basket of small asters and ferns.

The bride was given away by her father. The bridal party entered the drawing-room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, which was played by Miss P. Payne, of Peterboro. The rooms were artistically decorated with a profusion of asters and ferns.

Many beautiful presents were received. The Presbyterians of the village testified their esteem of the bride by presenting her with an address and a Morris chair. The employees of the Dennison Engraving Co., Montreal, gave a tea service of wedgewood mounted in silver, while from the groom's bachelor friends came a handsome combination desk of quartered oak.

Of interest is the fact that just fifty-one years ago the bride's grandmother was married to Mr. Webster, of Montreal, and both grandparents were pleased to be able to come from the city for this event.

The groom's gift to the bride was a heavy gold bracelet; to the bridesmaid a circle of pearls, and the groomsman a pearl pin. The bride's going away suit was of brown-silk, and she wore a hat to match.

After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Kent left for Peterboro and Niagara. They will return via River St. Lawrence to their home in Montreal.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS

Directors of Peterboro's Great Fair Ensure Good Attractions

With the past record of a good time for all who attend Peterboro's great fall Fair, and the intelligent personnel of its present directorate, it goes without saying, that there will not only be a large attendance this fall, but that all those visiting the fair, will be thoroughly satisfied and declare that our own fair is good enough without travelling hundreds of miles to visit the Toronto and other exhibitions of a similar character.

On Friday evening the directors of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition met in the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company's offices, with Mr. Robt. Fair occupying the chair.

The most important business before the meeting was the consideration of propositions laid before the directors by Messrs. Larmouth and Hughes Charles, the committee appointed to go to Toronto to secure special attractions at the exhibition there.

Judging by the general success made by Mr. Larmouth in his management of the Jackson Park entertainments and in view of the fact that the directors gave him carte blanche in securing attractions for the fall fair here, the public may expect his judgment will result in our local Fair presenting attractions that will draw the public and send them home satisfied. Mr. Larmouth has completed arrangements for the appearance at our fall Fair of some of the most popular attractions at the Toronto Exhibition.

At the meeting of Friday evening Mrs. A. P. Powell was appointed superintendent of the exhibit in the ladies' work department.

The appointment of all judges was heard and confirmed.

Reduced rates have also been secured on all railroad and steamboat lines, and it is expected that a large number of visitors from outside points will attend the exhibition. The street railway company are also prepared to give efficient service in handling the crowds.

Mr. Porter Had Great Success

Mr. Geo. L. Porter, of Union City, Tenn., who was in this city last spring for some weeks, and who left yesterday, after a week's business trip here, for Chicago, has met with great success whilst in Peterboro. This gentleman represents the Big Casino Mine, Butchino county, California, and on each visit had with him wonderfully rich samples of gold ore taken from his mine. Mr. Porter met with great success, and particularly so on his recent visit, having placed many thousands of dollars worth of shares in this city. It might not be out of place to mention that Mr. Porter advertised his stock in the Peterboro Morning Times solely, and spoke in highest terms of the paper as an advertising medium; to use his exact words: "The Times is the right goods for selling what the people want." Mr. Porter who is a hustling business man with unbounded faith in the future of his mine, thinks Peterboro is a splendid place for placing good mining stocks, as the city contains many men of wealth and enterprise.

Mr. Snyder Laid to Rest

There was a large attendance of Peterboro's oldest citizens Saturday afternoon at the funeral of the late Mr. William Snyder, sincere expressions of regret, commingled with warm words of praise for the departed gentleman were in evidence everywhere. The pall-bearers were Judge Weller, Jas. Stevenson, Col. H. C. Rogers, H. L. Strickland, Wm. Davidson, and Dr. George Burnham. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's church, and were very impressive.

Poisoned by Canned Salmon

A case of ptomaine poisoning occurred last week, which threatened for a time to end seriously, in the family of Mrs. B. O'Dette, 23 Crescent street. She and her daughter, Miss O'Dette eat canned salmon, and were shortly after taken with symptoms of poisoning, pains and vomiting ensuing. Dr. McGrath was at once summoned, and had some difficulty in preventing fatal results.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Very often a married woman or young girl does not know who to turn to for advice in circumstances where she dislikes to talk with the family physician about delicate matters. At such times write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free consultation and advice, and the same will be held as sacredly confidential. It is foolish to consult women friends or persons without medical training.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription contains no alcohol, is entirely vegetable and was the first exclusively woman's tonic on the market—it has sold more largely in the past third of a century than any other medicine for women.

All other compounds intended for women only are made with alcohol, or alcohol is a large component—this alcohol injures the nerves. The little red corpuscles of the blood are shrunken by alcohol. All such compounds, therefore, do harm.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. Use them with the "Favorite Prescription" when a pill is required. One is a laxative, two, a mild cathartic.

A COWARDLY ACT

Horse Tramples Little Girl, and the Driver Flies Away

A serious accident occurred at Jackson Park Saturday evening, whilst thousands of our citizens were enjoying the entertainment. It seems that a little girl named Cooney, of Aylmer street, was sent by her mother to purchase some groceries. Just as she was about to enter E. F. Mason's store on George street, a young man, a cousin of the child, on a passing Jackson Park car, invited the child to take a ride with him. The child complied, and when the car reached the park was getting off the step, as a horse driven by two young men approached out of the darkness. It was generally supposed, by the people near by, that the horse and possibly the driver were dazzled by the powerful search-light in front of the car; the horse started forward suddenly, knocking the child down, cutting her cheek open with its foot, and the buggy wheels passed over one of the little girl's legs. As soon as the young man in the buggy noticed what had happened, in a most cowardly and inhuman manner, he immediately whipped the horse on and was, of course, swallowed up in the darkness, rendered more obscure by the contrasting powerful electric car headlights.

The little girl was taken on a trailer, at once to Dr. Amy's office, where anesthetics were given and the wound sewed up. Unless tetanus sets in from the wound, it is not expected that the child will be much the worse for her accident, excepting the scar on her face.

City Grants $400 For Exhibition

A Report, Recommending Purchase of Fire Engine Which Stands the Best Test--By-law re Removal of Merchandise Sent Back to Committee.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night, when there were present: Mayor Henry Best, and Aldermen Johnston, Bagley, Hicks, Mason, Crowe, Leary, Hall, Tovey, McIntyre, Batten, Scott and Adams.

TREAT ALL ALIKE.

A deputation from the Central Milling Co. waited upon the Council with a view to securing a fixed assessment of $10,000 on their property. The deputation urged that their claim for a fixed assessment, as allowed other manufactories, was perfectly just. They found that a similar institution to the Central Milling concern, with a more expensive plant is assessed at the low rate of $10,000. All they asked is a square deal on an equal basis with other mills in the same business.

Sec.-Treas. Matchett stated that as this company had asked for a fixed assessment last year, and the matter was held over on account of there being new assessment act, it would not be too much to expect a rebate on their present assessment of $14,200, commensurate with the fixed assessment under consideration. This would mean a rebate of about $75 on last year's taxes. The Manufacturers Committee will deal with this matter.

MUST PAY THE BILL.

The Peterboro Light and Power Co., in a strong letter, objected to reductions in their account with the city for street lights not burning on certain nights according to contract. They claimed that an accident at the power house resulted in the lamps not being in service, as complained of by the city authorities, and insisted on full payment of their bill for street lighting; otherwise they threatened to take action to collect the same. This matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

A NUISANCE.

Dr. Chas. Bolgetta, secretary Provincial Board of Health in a communication, drew the Council's attention to the fact that no action had yet been taken in regard to abating the sewage nuisance at the Barnardo Home, by providing either a septic tank or sewer connection. He asked that immediate action be taken. This was referred to the Board of Works.

$400 FOR EXHIBITION.

A deputation waited upon the City Fathers with a view to securing an [illegible] Peterboro Central Exhibition.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles, the president, urged that if this exhibition is to grow to the magnitude a prosperous city like Peterboro might look forward to, the city will have to [illegible] in the future than in the past. He asked for a grant of $500 this year, which he asserted would be but in the city's interests. Last year's grant was $250.

Mr. Charles, while deploring that the county had not increased their usual grant of $100, contended that the city is more particularly interested in its exhibition developing into an event surpassing in attraction, merit and attendance anything of the kind outside the large cities of Ontario. This would also necessitate the corporation buying commodious fair grounds, which might be so modelled as to be available to south enders for recreation grounds during the summer months. And he [illegible] a deputation will wait upon the city fathers with this end in view before next January's elections.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, acquiesced in the position taken by Mr. Charles, and pointed out that the Exhibition Society started out last year with a surplus of $900, and after paying all expenses wound up with a surplus of but $600. It will thus be said, be readily seen that to retain this event on a sound financial basis, it would be necessary for the city to be more liberal in its grants, especially now that no private subscriptions are being solicited.

County Clerk E. Elliott took the position that as the county materially assisted the rural fairs, such as Keene, Lakefield and Norwood, in the way of substantial grants toward their fair grounds, it was up to the city to be more liberal than the county in financially assisting Peterboro's exhibition.

Ald. Johnston said he would move that the grant be $250.

Ald. Leary moved, seconded by Ald. Batten, that the grant be $400.—Carried.

TO PURCHASE NEW FIRE ENGINE

Ald. Johnston presented the following report;

Gentlemen,—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. We recommend that this committee be authorized to procure the services of an electrician to ascertain whether the Peterboro Light and Power Co. is furnishing street light in accordance with the terms of their contract.

2. We recommend that the Peterboro Light and Power Co. be paid at the rate of $12 a year for the 32-candle power incandescent lights used on the streets for street lighting in accordance with order of the Council, so long as they are so used, and that they be paid for at the time and in the same manner as the are street lights are paid for.

3. The committee appointed by you to enquire as to the merits of steam fire engines made a report to us as did also the Chief of the Fire Brigade and their reports are attached to this report. We recommend a test of the engines at Peterboro and that the Waterous Engine Works Co. and the Canadian Fire Engine Co. be asked to send their engines here for this purpose; that the engine standing the best test be purchased, the engine to have a minimum capacity of 1,000 gallons.

Ald. Mason objected to arranging for the purchase of a steam fire engine when the Council have no idea where the purchase money is to come from, the by-law for this purpose having been voted down.

Ald. Hicks contended that as this new engine is urgently needed, the authorities should go ahead and purchase one, and take the cost therefor out of next year's revenue. He thought the Council's action in this respect would be endorsed by the ratepayers were another by-law for increased fire protection on the same lines as the last, providing for an expenditure of $25,000, voted on next January.

We are, he asserted, not spending enough for fire protection, especially so in comparison with other cities of a similar size. He favored buying the engine now, and should the ratepayers not vote for its payment next January, let the town pay for it out of the current revenue.

Ald. Hall agreed with Ald. Hicks, and said that Orillia is better equipped for fighting fires than is Peterboro, and a glance at Lindsay's apparatus would make our citizens blush. We should, he agreed, have at least a good steam fire engine and a water tower. Our insurance rates were going up owing to Peterboro's delinquency in this respect.

Ald. Adams objected to spending the city's money this way, without the ratepayers consent, the two occasions they have voted down the by-law to raise $25,000 for increased fire protection, and the Council has no right to go any further in the matter without authority from the citizens.

Ald. Johnston.—"We did not get a fair expression of the people on those by-laws, which were put in midsummer, when only those opposed to the measures would sufficiently interest themselves to go to the polls and vote. A January vote would have resulted differently. The Retailers' Association and the manufacturers, who are most interested in the matter, should meet the Fire, Water and Light Committee and seriously discuss the situation."

Ald. Tovey was in favor of going ahead and purchasing the engine at once.

Ald. Crowe objected. A steam engine, he said, is not the most useful requirement just now. The old engine was only used once in seven years. Get a new fire hall first, he urged, and buy the necessary equipment in instalments.

Ald. Batten, Scott, McIntyre and Adams favored renting an engine till January, when the people could vote again on the question of fire protection.

In correcting Ald. Batten, Ald. Johnston pointed out that those aldermen who are now opposed to the purchase of this engine were opposed to paying for granolithic walks by a general tax, which system he himself had strongly advocated.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Council were evenly divided on this vexed question, the report recommending purchasing an engine as soon as possible was adopted.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that Mr. Hartley be privileged to make connection with the sewer in the lane at rear of his property on Water street north, providing he change the connection should a sewer on Water St. north of Smith be constructed.—Carried.

THE CITY'S TAXES.

Aug. 1st, first installment paid $83,048.87

During Aug., paid 584.95

$83,633.82

Total Am. of taxes $114,801.27

Total amount paid 83,633.82

Taxes unpaid $30,967.45

REMOVING GOODS BY-LAW.

The by-law to amend the one re "Removing merchandise from the sidewalks," was referred back once more to the committee.

Ald. Mason said the law if enforced would be an injustice, and reiterated his remarks as before published. He contended that such by-laws are enforced only in the center of the city, from say Charlotte to Brock street. Then again, while edibles are allowed to be exposed for sale on the market our merchants are prohibited from doing likewise. He would have the by-law amended so that merchants could have a reasonable time in which to remove their goods especially perishable edibles.

Ald. Hall thought a clause governing perishable goods might be inserted, otherwise the by-law is just what is needed.

Ald. Johnston said the by-law should go back to the committee. The merchants at the inception of the measure, had in a largely signed petition, agreed to remove their merchandise, and all contingent refuse in reasonable time after receipt of same, and under supervision of the police, and their wishes should be respected, and no unnecessary hardship imposed upon them.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the by-law pass as amended.—Only the mover and seconder, and Ald. Leary voted for this motion, which was consequently lost.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the by-law go back to the committee.—Carried.

A by-law to authorize the construction of granolithic sidewalks and sewers passed their several readings.

A by-law appointing John Carnegie to arbitrate with the county arbitrator, the city's portion of the assets and liabilities of that section of Smith township recently incorporated in Peterboro, passed its several readings.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL BOARD.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Leary, that the solicitor be instructed to prepare a by-law to authorize the election of aldermen and school trustees by the ward system.

Ald. Hicks asked that the Council resolve and declare that it is expedient for the High School and Public school trustees or Board of Education for the City of Peterboro to be amalgamated, and that a Board of Education be elected in lieu thereof, to be styled the Board of Education for the City of Peterboro. This would mean, if adopted, a reduction of the number of school trustees from 17 to 11 members. This was referred to a committee of the whole Council, the present School Board to be invited to be present.

CONTRACT TROUBLES.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Scott, that in the event of sewer contractors not furnishing names of sureties, and refusing to sign contracts, the Board of Works be authorized to re-advertise for tenders.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned.

NEW ELEVATOR

Work on Peterboro Cereal Co's Elevator Being Pushed on

The Peterboro Cereal Company, as noted in former issues of The Times, are erecting a new elevator to the east side of their large mills. It is worthy of note, the rapidity with which the work on this structure is being pushed ahead. Yesterday work on the concrete foundations was begun although the huge cellar excavation was only started last week.

The elevator will be 40x40 and in height 85 feet. It will be constructed of plank and covered with galvanized iron. Some 150,000 feet of lumber, which has been purchased from the Dickson Company, will be used in its construction and operations will be completed this fall, the outlay being between $10,000 and $15,000.

A concrete floor is also being laid for the proposed new feed mill, which will be 40x50 in dimensions and erected just east of the elevator. Just where the Italian colony used to congregate. This feed mill will be two storeys high with basement and will give the Peterboro Cereal Company much more space. In fact the space, 25x40 on four floors, which is now used for feed mill purposes, will be used in connection with the turning out of cereals as soon as the new feed mill is completed. Later on the company will put up a special building for the manufacture of oatmeal and rolled oats, in which departments they will also carry on business.

POLAND IS TORN WITH REVOLUTION

Another General Strike Declared in Warsaw—The Losses in Baku

THE TURBULENT CAUCASUS

The Losses to Russian Industry Through the Lack of Oil Fuel are Incalculable

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Sept. 12.—In consequence of the execution on Friday of Ivan Kasgalsk, a Socialist leader who was condemned by a courtmartial for inciting political murders, all the factories in Warsaw struck today. Cossacks and infantry are patrolling the streets.

A large number of arrests were made in a theatre at Lodz last night. An individual from the gallery flooded the house with revolutionary documents, whereupon the police surrounded the theatre and arrested about 200 of the occupants.

Tiflis, Caucasia, Sept. 12.—Estimates of the losses at Baku received by the various companies amount approximately to $90,000,000. These figures include contingent losses due to the cessation of industry, until the plants have been rebuilt, and the losses of freight steamships and railways employed in the oil industry. Outside of Baku the losses to Russian industry generally through the lack of oil fuel are incalculable.

A conference of the oil men and Government representatives to devise measures for relief will take place at the Ministry of Finance as soon as the Ministry officials sent to Baku to investigate the conditions there return to St. Petersburg. If their report justifies the step, there is little doubt that the duties on crude oil will be reduced or removed.

Ambassador Hardinge has been informed that the acting British Vice Consul at Baku has gone to Balakhan, with a military escort, to search for the four Englishmen who are missing.

Double Tracking Canadian Pacific

Winnipeg, Man., September 12.—Work on the double tracking of the Canadian Pacific Railway, east of Winnipeg, begins this week. Until the rush of the grain traffic is over, no work will be done immediately alongside the main line, and all the energies of the contractors will be devoted to the divisions, where work will not interfere with the traffic.

The first camps have been established between Kenora and Cross Lake.

Succession Duties in Ontario

Toronto, September 12.—During August the Provincial Treasurer was enriched to the extent of $23,740 by succession duties, an increase over August, 1904 of $12,606. For the eight months the receipts were $194,195, an increase of $119,823.

Britain Pins Her Faith to Japan

The Whole British Nation Applauds Unparalled Influence of King Edward.

London, September 12.—The British press, while deploring the Japanese riots, attach little political importance to them. Japanese securities have been hardly affected, financiers having complete confidence in the good sense and loyalty of the nation generally. Their only fear is that the war, with the consequent high taxation, will be followed by a period of depression, encouraging the forces inimical to the present rulers. To a poor country like Japan, the cost of the war must prove a heavy burden.

The King returns to London today in vigorous health. Curiosity has been excited by the meetings between His Majesty and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman at Marienbad, with Admiral Fisher, who is both foreign politician and sailor, present. It is surmised that the King was sounding the Liberal leader informally on his general foreign and naval policy in view of a coming Liberal Government. The King is exercising unparalleled influence for a constitutional monarch, but the nation with heart and soul is applauding His Majesty's and President Roosevelt's efforts towards peace.

The position of the Liberal leader is becoming increasingly embarrassed in consequence of the restiveness and assertiveness of different sectional groups. On the one hand, the Irish Nationalists strongly reiterate their demand for Home Rule. The Welsh party demand precedence for the disestablishment of the English Church in Wales. The Welsh and English Liberals are united in their demand that British questions should not be subordinate to Irish demands especially since the Nationalists persistently supported the Government's education bills.

Further trouble is threatened by the Labor party, who hope to return an increased strength to the next Parliament. A representative labor congress this week passed a succession of socialistic resolutions, delegates urging that labor should maintain an independent position in and out of Parliament.

The Speaker today points out the growing recognition of the fact that reform must collect its energies to a direct attack on the Social superstition which devotes the country side to the pleasures and state of the rich and the towns to the crowded misery of the poor, and urges the country Liberal Government to put itself at the head of a national movement.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Steed

Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

There was only one case before the Worship yesterday. An incorrigible lad from the east side, whom the police and citizens across the river say is the leader of the young toughs of our new ward, was charged by the chief as a vagrant. It seems that the boy's father, a respectable railway employee, and the prisoner's brothers, have tried in vain to make this lad, some 15 years old, behave himself, but in vain. The police are determined to suppress the hoodlumism that exists on the east side, and begun by arresting the leader. The prisoner, it is alleged, is the leader of a gang of boys who torment a defenceless old woman living alone, by pelting her doors with tomatoes, and by similar specimens of cowardly annoyance. Last Friday the prisoner broke in the door of Mark How, a laundryman living across from the Hogan House, by jamming a whip butt through the slats. He and his gang of hoodlum boys returned the same evening and broke the Chinaman's window; he also used blackguard language to the laundryman. During his trial, Mark How was called on to give evidence, but as he did not know, or professed not to know, how to take an oath, either in the current way of this country, or, as the Chinamen swear in the courts of American cities, by breaking a saucer, and saying, "May my body be broken as is this saucer," the magistrate did not take his testimony. Sufficient evidence, however, was given to prove that the boy broke the Chinaman's property, but to establish the fact that some punishment must be inflicted to save him. The magistrate fined him $6, to be paid forthwith; as the prisoner had not the coin in his jeans, he went to Castle Nesbitt for 10 days. This will probably show him and the rest of his bunch of toughs, that they now belong to the city and must choose bwteen behaving themselves, or get a term in Central Prison. At the request of relatives and friends, all of whom are respectable people, and who are greatly grieved over the lad's bad conduct, we withhold his name, hoping he will benefit by yesterday's punishment and turn over a new leaf.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BASEBALL.

Mr. Ed. Pethick, Bowmanville, President of the Midland League, had a good scheme worked out but "the best laid plans o' mice and men, etc." He thought he could influence Cobourg or Port Hope to protest against Peterboro on the ground that the $5 entrance fee was unpaid, and then, by beating Cobourg on Saturday, Bowmanville would be champions of the league.

Both of his schemes have failed. Neither Port Hope or Cobourg would protest against Peterboro, and Cobourg even had the audacity to trim Pethick's gate right in Bowmanville, so that the latter are out of the running.

Manager MacEwen states that the entrance fee had been paid, and added that if President Pethick had been paying attention to the welfare of the league, he would have known that the money had been paid.

LACROSSE.

Referring to Peterboro's Waterloo at Lindsay, the Toronto Telegram says:

Beaverton had the struggle of a lifetime to put Peterboro out of the running. In Beaverton the Checkers won by two goals; in Peterboro the game went the other way by two goals, and when the two teams met in Lindsay Beaverton scored the winning goal five minutes before the final whistle blew.

St. Michael's College Saturday entered a team in the intermediate services of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and will play in the Toronto division. St. Mikes have always had a good team at the snap-back game and should make good in the series. They will not play in the Mulock Cup games at Varsity this year.

The official Canadian Football Guide for 1905, edited by Frank D. Woodworth, of Toronto, has just been issued by the Spaldings, and will be distributed among the clubs throughout Canada. It contains photos of all the prominent teams and the rules of the three Unions. A discrepancy appears in one of the O.R.F.U.'s new rules. As it reads now any foul behind the line will give the defending side a free kick five yards out. The intention of the rule framers was that on a forward pass behind the line the attacking team should score two points. This will be made clear by the O.R.F.U. Executive.

FOOTBALL.

The Quakers Football team will practice this evening and Thursday evening at 6.30 on the Oval. A full turn out is requested. The team had a splendid workout on Saturday afternoon and will be in good shape after a few more practices.

The Canadian Pacific Railway

Annual Report Shows a Very Satisfactory Year's Business.

The twenty-fourth annual report of the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the fiscal year ending June 30, was issued today. The statement of earnings already published is given, showing gross earning for the year of $50,281,893, working expenses $33,955,793, leaving net earnings of $16,675,988. After the payment of fixed charges and dividends, there is a surplus of $1,784,559. The working expenses for the year amounted to 69.25 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 30.65 per cent., as compared with 69.42 and 30.58 per cent., respectively, in 1904. Four per cent. consolidated debenture stock to the amount of $1,466,575 was created and sold, and the proceeds were applied as authorized towards the construction of branch lines and the acquisition of mortgage bonds of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway Company, the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway Company, the Northern Colonization Railway Company, and the Guelph and Goderich Railway Company, the interest on which had been guaranteed by the company. Preference stock to the amount of $900,000 was also created and sold, and the proceeds applied to purposes for which authority had been obtained.

During the year 569,286 acres of land were sold for $2,446,300, being an average of $4.30 per acre, and from the proceeds of land sales a further amount of $3,500,000 was deposited with the Dominion Government on account of the $16,000,000 land bonds mortgage, leaving a balance due on account of this mortgage of $8,000,000, against which are deferred payments on account of land and town sites sold of $14,059,179.

Two additional steamships for the Atlantic service, of 14,500 tons gross register and 18½ knots sea speed, are being constructed under a contract authorized at the last annual meeting. It is expected that these steamships will be ready for service on the opening of St. Lawrence navigation in 1906. Their cost, with equipment, will be approximately $4,000,000, and a resolution authorizing the issue and sale of the necessary securities to meet this expenditure will be submitted for approval at the next annual meeting.

The report also refers to the acquisition of lines in the West. Regarding double-track work, the report says: "The construction of the second track between Winnipeg and Port William is expected to be completed in about three years."

Of the additional $25,000,000 ordinary capital stock authorized at the last annual meeting, the amount of $16,000,000 was offered to the shareholders at par, and all was subscribed for, accepting 2,500 shares, which will be held in the open market.

The directors recommend that an amount equivalent to 15 per cent. of the last issue of the ordinary share capital, or $2,535,000, be transferred, as was done in the case of the previous issue, from the accumulated surplus earnings; this amount to be transferred to a special fund for improvements, and for such other purposes as in the opinion of the directors may conduce to the company's advantage.

In accordance with the bylaws of the company, the undermentioned directors will retire from office at the approaching annual meeting. They are eligible for re-election: Charles R. Hosmer, Hon. Robert Mackay, David McNicoll, G. Reid.

AWFUL CRIME OF AN INSANE MAN

Montreal Man Strangled Six-Months-Old Daughter With a Handkerchief

Montreal, Que., Sept. 12.—A shocking tragedy took place this morning in a well-known French-Canadian family, when J. A. Martin strangled his six-months' old daughter, while suffering from what is believed to have been a fit of insanity. He was taken into custody. Martin is a son of Mr. Martin, of the wholesale grocery and liquor firm of Laporte, Martin & Company, of which Mayor Laporte is the head.

The prisoner, who is 37 years old, was said to be despondent over some financial losses. He took the child into the smoking room and strangled it with a handkerchief, after having played with two others for a time. Mrs. Martin knew something was wrong and called a policeman, with whom the prisoner went quietly. Mrs. Martin was a Miss Orsali, and well-known in French-Canadian circles.

SHAMMED SUICIDE?

F. J. Reilly Prepared to Hang Himself, But People Think it was to Gain Sympathy

Belleville, Sept. 12.—On Saturday afternoon, Frank J. Reilly, the man made famous in the ballot box case, attempted to commit suicide in the corridor of the Belleville jail, where he has been confined since March 21st last to serve a year's sentence. He tied half of a bed sheet over one of the bars in the corridor, and at the other end formed a noose, in which he intended to put his head, but before he could accomplish his purpose other prisoners gave the alarm and he was placed in his cell and the jail physician, Dr. Yeomings, summoned. The latter ordered him to be placed in a cell and a guard placed over him. If Reilly is shamming to create sympathy, which is the general belief here, it will act as punishment. Reilly never showed any symptoms of suicidal intent before, and his health and appetite are of the best. This act of his will not tend to create any sympathy here.

THOUSAND INJURED

Death List in Italian Disaster Growing —Town of 2,800 Has Over 2,000 Casualties

Milan, Sept. 12. — Light earthquake shocks continue to be reported, extending to Central Italy, where they have been registered at all observation stations. A shock was felt last night at Louno, near Genoa, but caused no damage.

Late despatches estimate the killed and injured at three thousand. It would appear that the disaster can compare in extent with the shock of 1783. Most of the newspapers opened subscriptions lists and relief committees are being organized everywhere.

At Martirano, out of a population of 2,800, 2,000 were killed or injured.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

In Germany the telephone has been operated by the Government since its first introduction. The outside construction is very thorough but the interior equipment is not kept abreast of the times.

The German method of operating in the Central Office is peculiar. In the larger centres, where there are several branch exchanges as in Montreal and Toronto, a subscriber who requires a connection must first call the exchange with which he is connected and ask for the exchange with which the party with whom he wishes to speak is connected. Having got the operator on the second exchange he then asks for the number required, and after being connected he must ring the subscriber for himself. Thus the subscriber is obliged to work his own way, so to speak. The service is cumbersome and slow, but talking results are said to be fairly good.

In Berlin there is a flat rate of $45.00, and in Hamburg $40.00. This applies to either office or residence and the average rate is higher than in Canada—very much higher in the smaller exchanges. They have also a measured service rate, but comparatively few avail themselves of it.

Development of the telephone service is slow in Germany, and in this respect cannot compare at all favorably with Canada. Rural service, which is receiving so much attention here, is apparently not thought of in Germany, nor in fact, in any of the continental European countries.

In Russia also, telephone service is entirely in the hands of the Government. While there is little information that is definite it is universally conceded that the rates are high, development slow, and the service bad.

Wherever there is exclusive Government ownership there is the same story. It was on this fact that one of the expert witnesses based his assertion that "with a fair field a Company would beat a Government out every time in a competing telephone service."

There is nothing in the reports from the countries of Europe of any considerable area which would be an encouragement to change our system of telephone service for theirs.

We shall discuss conditions in Sweden in our next.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER

The Montreal Gazette, discussing the Niagara Falls power supply in the light of the facts elicited by Hon. Mr Beck, remarks:

Mr. Beck's figures, it would seem that in Niagara Falls the province has, not only what may be to it a legitimate source of public revenue, but a great factor in cheapening industrial processes and transportation facilities. Already it has been arranged that the Toronto Street Railway shall be operated by electric power developed at Niagara, and all through the peninsula of Ontario from Toronto to London, plans are being discussed for the utilization of power from the same source. It is within reason to expect in a few years the effect will be seen in an advancement in comfort and wealth throughout the district concerned. The enquiry promised by the Ontario Government will be of interest generally. Practically all of the Canadian provinces have water power possibilities, which the carrying out of a proper policy should make the source of considerable needed revenue, as well as aids in the industrial progress of the people."

A LABOR DAY AFTERTHOUGHT

Whilst Labor Day in this city was marked by praiseworthy sobriety, reports from other towns and cities show the reverse. Would it not be advisable to have compulsory closing of the bars on this, as well as all public holidays? The rational enjoyment of the holiday, so far from being spoiled, would be immensely improved by such a measure. There would be more money to spend on sightseeing and excursions, and the family would get the money that is now handed over the bar. All the purposes of the holiday for rest and recreation would be promoted. As the saloons are now closed on Sundays, election days and Saturday evenings, there is nothing alarmingly radical in the proposal. The municipal elections sometimes fall on New Year's day, and everyone notices the improvement in the manner of spending the holiday.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. DON'T BE A COLD WATER POURER!

BE FULL OF HOPE FOR THE SUCCESS OF PETERBOROUGH INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

Encourage it by every means in your Power--Pull Altogether--Be Optimistic.

Peterborough Fair can be made a most interesting, enjoyable and beneficial yearly event, if we pull together. A holiday on the Exhibition Grounds once a year can be made advantageous as well as a source of pleasure, not only to the farmer and his family, but to our citizens and their families as well.

This should prove an exceptionally good year to see our fair, because of the abundant harvest in fruits of the field, orchard and garden. Increased interest, also, is being taken in the promised big displays in all the different branches of live stock, the varied lines of manufactures, dairy, poultry, horticulture, ladies' work and fine arts.

The exhibition of horses and cattle last year was a magnificent one; this year it promises to be eclipsed; because of the liberal premiums offered.

Special amusement features of an entirely new character, now under consideration of the Directors, should tend to crowd the grand stand as it never was crowded before. Among these is a varied performance each afternoon and evening by a trained pony and dog circus, the Tokio Imperial Japanese troupe; wonderful bicycle performances, etc. Those already arranged for are: The Military Tournament and Musical Ride by the Royal Canadian Dragoons; a sensational automobile race on the track; an Association football match, and other events.

As we are loyal to our city, and slow to admit that there is any other better, let us feel the same towards our Industrial Fair. If we have anything worthy of exhibiting, get it ready for the entry list. It is surprising how infectious such a spirit of enterprise becomes. It spreads from you to your next neighbor, and from him to the rest of the community. Spirited competition and good natured rivalry are the life of a Fair.

Don't prejudice your fair beforehand. Rather imitate the example of the Irishman who was charged with feloniously stealing a pack. When the judge asked him:

"Michael Sullivan, are you guilty or not guilty?"

Michael answered:

"How can I tell till I hear the evidence, yer honor."

Hear the evidence, by all means.

The Delineator for October

From the artistic viewpoint, as well as that of fashion, the October Delineator surpasses even the high standard it has previously attained. Many pages are given to the styles of the month, twenty pages in color being a noteworthy departure, additional space being devoted to the New York and Paris fashions, set forth with chic and individuality by Helen Berkeley-Lloyd and Edouard La Fontaine; and the literary side, household topics and special features are on an unusual plane of excellence. Of the widespread interest to parents, teachers and all who lead or follow in educational lines is an exceptional article, "Education for Life through Living," by William H. Maxwell, Superintendent of New York City Schools; N. Hudson Moore writes interestingly of old china and secretaries, giving the hall marks that enable the amateur to place them correctly; Allan Sutherland tells the history of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," a hymn that is the inspiration of the young; Clifford Johnston takes the reader across the wild coast of Devon into the wilder country that was Laura Doone's. The marketing of milk is a vital public question in that it deals with the health, and consequently the life, of the child. In this issue of The Delineator Mary Hinman Abel discusses the milk question in various phases. The title of another article, "Club Women and the Food Question," shows something of how the campaign instituted in the interest of pure food has spread. Mr. Paine's story, "The Lucky-Piece," and the third instalment of Miss Winslow's "At Spinster Farm," furnishes interesting reading of a lighter character and there are also several short stories. Pastimes for children include another chapter of "Bon Riley Rabbit," that has delighted so many little ones, suggestions for Hallowe'en amusements, and other subjects of juvenile interest.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the Dominion Lands Agency is not established, by application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 10 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if thesecond homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clause [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 20 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 3rd of June, 1899.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in the Province or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind. But I feel I owe my thanks to Drs. K. & K. for the way and they have done me. I had a severe blood disease when I was 21 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. It is needless for me to say I used [illegible] I kept the boils and sores [illegible] four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee [illegible] to pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly reliable, so I commenced the new method Treatment. The eruptions disappeared in [illegible] weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares — Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable

ar Value, $1.00 Per Share. — Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, [illegible] and assays obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ores has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

whom he found in a dependent position, as companion to a rich old maiden lady, in the neighboring cathedral town of Oldbridge.

The new Mrs. L'Estrange was barely twelve years older than her step-daughter, and the Oldbridge gossips prophesied that young lady would be too much for her father's wife.

But, by some mysterious influence of sympathy or mutual comprehension, they drew to each other. Indeed, the old nurse did not hesitate to say that her young lady was regularly bewitched, and, for her part, was free to confess that it seemed horrid unnatural for a child to be so taken up with her step-mother.

However, Colonel L'Estrange, having been ordered to some German baths for cure of rheumatism, brought on by standing knee-deep in the river, fishing, removed his family, now increased by another daughter, beyond the reach of Oldbridge gossip, and, for reasons best known to himself, let Brookdale for several years.

He was already half-forgotten, when the local papers announced his death at Dresden.

His widow continued to reside abroad till the term for which Brookdale had been let expired, and had only returned, with her own and her step-daughter, in the preceding spring.

The ladies of Brookdale had finished their midday meal, which was luncheon to their big neighbors, and dinner to themselves. Little Beatrice, Nora's half-sister, was teaching a depressed-looking Dachshund, with out-turned toes, to beg, when a neat parlor-maid opened the door, and said

"If you please, ma'am, Mr. Winton is in the drawing-room."

Mrs. L'Estrange rose from her seat as if to join him, but Nora cried:

"We had better ask him in here. He has been shooting, I suppose, and you may be sure he is hungry."

"I will go and fetch him!" exclaimed Bea, jumping up and letting the biscuit with which she had been bribing the Dachs fall on the carpet as she rushed away. She was a delicate little creature of seven or eight, with big dark eyes, and fair hair, and idle, clever, willful monkey, with whom her mother strove in vain to be strict, and who imposed a good deal on her step-sister.

"Bea is quite excited," said Miss L'Estrange, laughing, and before the mother could reply the child returned, leading by the hand a tall, large-framed man of perhaps six-and-thirty or more, tanned by exposure to sun and wind a deeper red brown than was becoming, with thick, short curly hair, and light-blue, dreamy eyes. He wore a shooting-jacket and knickerbockers.

"I feel I am an intruder," he said, shaking hands with Mrs. L'Estrange, and then with Nora. "I did not intend to be so early. I heard you were in town, this morning, and calculated on clearing your luncheon hour, but the birds are very wild, or I was less keen than usual, and got over the ground quicker."

"We will forgive you," returned Mrs. L'Estrange, with a friendly smile, "and I dare say, if you have not already lunched, you begin to feel the need of something to eat."

"Thanks, no, I had some sandwiches an hour ago."

"Still, a biscuit and a glass of sherry," suggested Nora, insinuatingly.

"Are not to be despised," replied Winton, drawing a chair to the table, while one fair hostess poured out his wine, and another brought the biscuit tin.

"May I have some of the pretty brown feathers from those birds you left in the hall, for my doll's hat," asked Bea.

"I dare say your mamma will give them to you; I brought the birds for her. Were you in Oldbridge, too, Miss L'Estrange?" he continued, looking up quickly, as she offered him the biscuits.

"No, I have spent an idle, unprofitable morning, dreaming over the letters I was pretending to write."

"Dreaming! I thought you were far too practical to dream. What were you dreaming about?"

"The coming ball; the glories of Mrs. Ruthven and her jewels."

"Who is going to give a ball?" in a surprised tone.

"Clifford Marsden."

"Why he is, God knows where!"

"He is at Eversleigh. Come into the drawing-room, and I will tell you all about it."

Here Miss Bea was carried off by her German governess, not without loud remonstrances and reproaches addressed to Winton, who was always on the side of authority.

"I walked up to the Hall this morning," resumed Miss L'Estrange, when they had moved to the drawing-room, "to look for that passage of Pope, about which you are so mistaken, and there I found the squire, eating his breakfast at ten o'clock."

Winton muttered something inarticulately.

"Then he told me that Mrs. Ruthven, Lord and Lady Dorrington and a lot of people were coming to stay, that he was going to give a grand ball to town and country folk, and to have great doings. So, mind, Mr. Winton, you are not to run away shabbily, but stay, like a self-sacrificing Christian, and dance with me."

Winton glanced at her, a slow smile brightening his face.

"And when I have sacrificed myself," he said, "you will show me your card filled up with the names of the golden youths who hover about you?"

"That is a base libel! At all events, I shall have no court of Eton boys and ineligibles surrounding me here."

"Marsden is an extraordinary fellow," resumed Winton, thoughtfully. "The last time I saw him, early in July he offered me the shooting here, while I was starting with my sons and the camps, and swore he hated the place, and would never see Eversleigh again if he could help it."

"How unaccountable!" cried Miss L'Estrange. "It is such a sweet old place, and looks so lovely in autumn!"

"Yes! Do you remember our nutting expeditions when I was at home thirteen years ago?"

"I do, indeed," said Mrs. L'Estrange, with a quick sigh.

"Have you been thirteen years in India without once coming home?" exclaimed Miss L'Estrange. "I wonder you have any skin left."

"I had nothing to come home for! When Marsden was in India tiger hunting I saw a good deal of him. He was a prime favorite, in great request. They said that the rich Miss Guthrie was desperately annoyed not to have met him before she had pledged herself to his cousin. But as Marsden was only presented to her a couple of days before the wedding, even the charming Celia could not affect an exchange."

"Don't you like Mrs. Ruthven, that you speak so ill-naturedly?" said Miss L'Estrange, looking up from the complicated stitchery with which she was covering the pattern of a handkerchief. "I thought her nice and sympathetic, she was very kind to me."

"She is undoubtedly a charming woman. I may have the bad taste not to like her, that is nothing to the point."

"It is odd! I am afraid you have grown cynical," returned Mrs. L'Estrange, gently.

"I don't think I have."

"Celia," repeated Nora, "what an unusual name."

"Yes; I wonder where old Guthrie found it! It could not have been her mother's, for she was a Portuguese half-caste."

"Yet Mrs. Ruthven is fair," urged Mrs. L'Estrange.

"A caprice of nature, she will darken as she grows older."

"How long has she been a widow?" asked Mrs. L'Estrange.

"About two years. She left India after poor Ruthven's death, and wandered on the Continent till she could doff her weeds. Marsden ought to marry her, she has money enough to put him straight, if, as some say, he is a little dipped."

"He must know that, for he has something to do with her property, has he not?" said Mrs. L'Estrange.

"He is one of her trustees," returned Winton. "The other, an old friend of her father's, died last year. This projected visit and ball looks as if Marsden was not going to let [illegible]."

"I don't think the squire is mer-

All weakness is turned into strength, new energy and nourishing blood are created, buoyant good health is established in a short time.

DISCOURAGED WOMEN FOUND NEW HOPE.

"I had pretty nearly given myself up as incurable. I was weak and sickly all the time, had headache, poor digestion and sinking feeling. On rising in the morning there was a feeling of awful weariness.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped from the first. They must have strengthened my blood, for—I gained in strength as soon as I took them. Steady improvement followed, and I am now completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Benson, Woodstock.

STRENGTH AND SPIRITS IMPROVED.

"No medicine could possibly be better than Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes Mr. Jos. Devine from Ottawa. "I had pains in the back and side, caused by kidney trouble, was bothered considerably with headache, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me quickly. I can recommend them to every man."

You'll become vigorous and strong, enjoy a good appetite, your sleep will be dreamless and sound, after regulating your system with Dr. Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Prices 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.

Hurt at New Opera House

The first accident in the construction of the new opera house occurred on Saturday afternoon, when Mr. Joseph McCullough, Melbourne St., was hit on the back by a [illegible]. Mr. McCullough was working on the ground in the rear of the building, when a barrel lowered by the hoist slipped, and fell with great force on his back, inflicting numerous painful bruises and deep scratches. Mr. McCullough is an aged man, and the force of the blow rendered him unconscious for some time. Dr. Halliday was hastily summoned, and the injured man was conveyed to his home in a hack. He will probably be about again in a few days, although confined to bed now.

No Ducks at Campbellford

The Campbellford Herald is out with a lament that the good old times when one went after ducks armed with a bag of salt, and caught them, have passed away. It says: Duck hunters who went out from Campbellford met with the poorest of luck imaginable, one party not having been favored with the chance of a single shot, while another party brought home only one. Except for "poachers" duck hunting in this locality is a thing of the past.

Swimming Baths

Boys must and will swim, and they ought to swim. It would be a good thing if all the girls also would learn to swim. The need of a good swimming bath is patent to every community. The desirability of a swimming bath being provided has been pointed out. As our readers know, the positive need of some place for men and boys to bath learn and practice the art of swimming and bathing, has been demonstrated several times during the past summer, by frequent fines imposed on bathers. In Peterboro, swimmers have the Hobson's choice between swimming and being fined or going without their swim. Let us have some swimming accommodation for bathers. We have the water supply, and it would cost comparatively little to erect swimming baths.

FISH STORY

A Three Pound Black Bass Caught in a Glass Bottle

Mr. M. C. Tooley and their friends have just returned from a duck shooting and fishing trip at Campbellton, down the Otonabee.

The members of this party, including once of our local politicians, are all enthusiastic disciples of Isaac Walton, and would sooner fish than listen to a long sermon, so, it goes without saying that the finny denizens of the beautiful Otonabee have had a set back in their census.

Last Wednesday as P.C. Adam, one of the party, who were fishing just below Campbellton wharf from two scows, feeling a heavy dull weight on his rod and line concluded his hook had entered a sunken log. He handed his rod to Mr. Tooley and asked him to have it up whilst he lit his pipe, with a long tug, a strong tug and a tug calculated to break the line, "Pooley handed in" the line, which had a water-worn Seagram's bottle attached. Wondering how the hook caught on so slippery and hard an obstacle, it was drawn into the punt. With amazement the fishermen found the hook had entered the bottle's neck; not only that, but with in the bottle was a black bass which afterwards, when the bottle was broken to release it, pulled the scales at nearly three pounds.

The bass had evidently squeezed his way into the bottle when young, and a slight imperfection in the blowing of the bottle at its manufacture prevented its escape. Here it must have lived and grown to large manhood, until the fatal hook, baited with worm happened to enter and was swallowed by the imprisoned fish. The climax of the story, which is as wonderful as hard to credit was that two members of the party, who are prohibitionists, avow that, when cooked the fish had a distinct flavor of Seagram's well-known snake bite antidote.

This veracious anecdote will be entered in the free for all race in the Toronto Star's prize competition for fish stories.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Mr. Jas. Dolan Sells out to Mr. M. Pappas

The many friends and customers of Mr. James Dolan will be surprised to learn that he yesterday sold out his fine cigar and tobacco business, George street, together with the billiard and pool tables to Mr. M. Pappas. This is one of the best cigar stands in the city, Mr. Dolan having a tight grip on both city and county trade.

The new proprietor Mr. Pappas is a young man, who has a large business connection, having branch stores in Montreal and other cities, and under his control the store will not only be refitted and decorated, but will hold the large trade that Mr. Dolan has always had.

Mr. Pappas, who owns the shoeshine parlor next door, with a billiard room at the back, will, in a few weeks, tear down the partition between the two billiard rooms, and thus have the largest and finest billiard room in the city.

FREAK APPLES

Mr. Butcher, Burnham St. Has Curious Apple Trees

Mr. John Butcher, sexton of St. John's church, was yesterday showing his friends a curious sample of self-sown apples raised on his Burnham street property. The apples are wild in every sense of the word. The trees never were planted and have never been grafted and yet the fruit is very large and firm. In some respects they resemble the greening, but no name has been awarded them. Mr. Butcher has two trees of these wild apples, one has been bearing for three years, and the other is bearing this year for the first time. A dozen of the choicest of these apples have been left with President Hughes Charles of the Peterboro Industrial to be exhibited at the fair. Mr. Hughes Charles will endeavor to get an apple grower to name the new species.

Peterboro's Oldest Papers

Mr. Robt. Howland, a few days ago, discovered copies of the Peterboro Weekly Chronicle, of Aug. 6th, 1846;

Among the news items appears the following. "Are there no authorities in this town to provide for the interment of the pile of human bones which lies bleached in the rain on the banks of the Otonabee, near the post office?"

"The fence of the Protestant burying ground is not in a very respectable condition, as pigs and cows can walk in and out at pleasure."

"Tenders will be received at this office up to the 10th inst., for the building of a scow to ferry passengers across to the market square."

Among the names of advertisers appears that of Jas Stevenson.

The Chronicle also contains the prospectus of "a new weekly paper to be published in Toronto under the title of the Globe."

Mr. Joseph Sutcliffe Dead

Mr. Joseph Sutcliffe, of Toronto, father of Mr. J. A. Sutcliffe, of Peterboro and senior member of the firm of J. Sutcliffe & Son, city, died in Toronto on Saturday morning. The Toronto Globe, referring to Mr Sutcliffe's death, speaks very highly of the deceased gentleman's personal and business attributes. The funeral service will be held at 41 Wellesley street this morning. Interment at Brampton in the afternoon.

A Peterboro Agency

Mr. Arthur Roastrey, the well-known George street grocer, was yesterday appointed sole agent for this city and county of the widely advertised and popular "Sanitaris" mineral water. This effervescing mineral water is bottled at the springs by Messrs. the Diamond Park Mineral Water Co. of Arnprior, Ont. and is spoken of as being one of the best produced in any spring in the world, not excluding Appolinaris or the German Spas. Mr. Roastrey is now making arrangements for handling this water in car load lots.

What The Earth Produces.

The earth has nourished us through unknown ages of human existence. Is it not true that the earth supplies us with everything that we really require for existence? Have you ever thought that it is probable that the earth supplies us with the means to keep our bodily vigor, our health, if we only knew it? The animals know by instinct what is good for them and will search until they find in some plant what they need for correcting indigestion or constipation, etc. Is it, therefore, not possible that there are roots and herbs supplied by nature which will cure the diseases that afflict human kind? That is why Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has such faith in his "Medical Discovery." Years ago, when he was in general and active practice, he found that a combination of certain herbs and roots made into an alterative extract, without the use of alcohol, would always put the stomach into a healthy condition, nourish the tissues, feed the blood and nerves and put healthy tone into the whole system.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores the lost flesh by curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food from which flesh and strength are made.

"I was all run down, very nervous, and suffered terribly from stomach trouble, which the doctors pronounced indigestion," writes Mrs. Wm. Morey, of Marshall, Mich. "I doctored for a year without permanent relief. Was advised by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after the use of nine bottles I was cured. I can heartily recommend the 'Golden Medical Discovery' to any one suffering from stomach trouble. My husband was also greatly benefited by its use."

To gain knowledge of your own body—its sickness and health—send for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Send 21 cents in stamps for paper-covered, or, 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOLY WAR PROCLAIM BY TARTARS

Caucasian Insurgents Slaughter Children and Throw Mutilated Bodies to the Dogs

ANOTHER RIOT AT TIFLIS

Thousands of Tartars Swarm Over the Frontier and Destroy Armenian Villages

St. Petersburg, Sept. 13.—A holy war has been proclaimed in the Caucasian districts of Zangezur and Jebrail, where Tartars are massacring the Armenians without distinction of sex or age. The country is swarming with bands of Tartars. Many thousands of Tartar horsemen have crossed the frontier from Persia and joined the insurgents in destroying Armenian villages. At the village of Mankend three hundred Armenians were slaughtered. Dispatches say that mutilated children were thrown to the dogs and that the few survivors were forced to embrace Islamism in order to save their lives. Naptha firms are cut off from delivery of oil fuel to the shipping companies who are now confronted with the necessity for suspending their services and discharging their employes, which would result in leaving thousands with no means of subsistence. The salt works at Bankunchik have been obliged to close, owing to the scarcity of fuel, and this will paralyze the fishing industry.

OUTBREAK FEARED AT BATOUM.

Batoum, Caucasia, Sept. 13.—There is a growing agitation among the local Mussulmans against the Christians. The authorities have seized documents inciting an outbreak.

CLASH WITH COSSACKS.

Tiflis, Caucasia, Sept. 12.—A hundred Social Democrats were killed or wounded to-day in a conflict with Cossacks at the town hall, and many were trampled to death in a subsequent panic. Two thousand Social Democrats had forced an entrance in to the town hall, which had been closed, owing to the celebration of a religious holiday, the beheading of John the Baptist. Revolutionary speeches were made, and the Chief of Police ordered the meeting to disperse. Part of those present obeyed, but the remainder refused, and some revolvers were fired. A large force of Cossacks drawn up outside the building, then fired repeated volleys into the crowd, killing 30 and wounding [illegible]. In the subsequent panic, many persons fell and were trampled to death by their comrades and the pursuing Cossacks.

SIR WILFRID THANKS HIS STARS

Fort William, Sept. 13.—In his reply to the civic address of welcome at the ceremony of turning the first sod of the Lake Superior branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific yesterday, Sir Wilfrid said he thanked his stars that he had been permitted to take part in this ceremony. He remembered the words of fifty years ago: "All aboard for the West!" He would not say: "All aboard for the Far West! All aboard for the land of the prairie and the last acres of wheat! All aboard for the Rocky Mountains with their untold mineral!"

He referred to the great country to be opened by this new road, and then spoke of Fort William as the coming Chicago of the north. He had years ago referred to Ottawa as the Washington of this north. He knew that but a few years were left for him now, but hoped to live long enough to see accomplished the great work of making this place the important center it is destined to be.

He spoke of the present Government's work along this line of reducing wheat rates because of railway building, and intimated that when the Government will have built this railway they will not fold their arms, but will be alive to the duty of the hour, and another road might be necessary.

Speaking of the new Provinces, he paid a high tribute to the American immigrants as the best class of settlers. He said: "Welcome to all new settlers—welcome to all as fellow-citizens—welcome to all citizens the King."

HANGED FOR ANOTHER'S CRIME

After Thirty Years' Silence Farm Hand Confesses to Murder

Minot, N.D., Sept. 13.—After thirty years' silence, Charles Hersig, of Girard, Ohio, has confessed to the murder of Lizzie Crombacker, a crime for which Charles Sterling, a tramp, died on the gallows many years ago.

The confession come in the form of a letter from Hersig, who has been employed as a farm hand here. Torn with remorse, he finally could endure the awful life no longer, and yesterday decided to commit suicide, leaving the following letter behind him for his employer:

"Dear Mr. Byer,—In the early seventies, Charles Sterling, a supposed tramp, was tried for the murder of Lizzie Grombacker, a beautiful young woman, residing near Youngstown, in Mahoning County, Ohio. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence and was hanged for the crime in the county jail at Youngstown.

"Charles Sterling was an innocent man. I am guilty of the murder of that young girl."

The murder of Miss Grombacker caused intense excitement at the time and Sterling, who was seen in the vicinity of the murder, was arrested, twice tried, and finally sentenced to death. He was supposed to be a Canadian.

Sir Charles Tupper In Perfect Vigor

Canada's Grand Old Man Once More in His Native Land

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Two distinguished Canadians have arrived in Montreal, and are being called upon by a large number of Montrealers. Sir Charles Tupper completed his sixty-sixth trip across the Atlantic, and Sir Sanford Fleming is passing through Montreal, having also crossed the ocean many times.

Fellow-passengers of Sir Charles tell of his great endurance and vitality, and point with pride to the fact that when younger and in the natural course of events, stronger men had to go below and turn in, the veteran statesman stood it all without apparent effort. At all times he was ready to discuss matters of importance, and his views were always regarded with marked attention.

Sir Charles who was accompanied by Lady Tupper, only stayed until the evening train, when he left for Nova Scotia.

CONFIDENT IN CHAMBERLAIN.

In chatting over the affairs of the old land, Sir Charles said that he thinks there is little doubt that the [illegible] of Mr. Chamberlain will ultimately result in his return to power.

"But," he said, "I feel equally sure that the Liberals will win the next election, but they will not stay long in office. The program as outlined at present is undoubtedly appealing to the masses, but there are rocks, and many of them, upon which a party, weakened as the Unionist party is, may be wrecked.

"The strength of the Liberal party at the present time is due to the first alarm with which free traders stampeded the nation at Mr. Chamberlain's proposal to abolish the free trade fetich.

"Their contention that a system of preferential tariffs would be a burden to the working classes, by increasing the cost of food, is a fallacy. They have held the buyer of a two-dollar coat in this country responsible for the foreign countries before the eyes of the public constantly, explaining that it meant a corresponding increase in the cost of the food product. Such is not the case. That extra two shillings would never fall upon the consumer.

"I quite see difficulty of instituting and maintaining protective tariffs in a country to which free trade has become the breath of commercial life, but careful observation leads to the belief that a few years will see a revulsion of the national feeling in favor of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals.

OUTLOOK FOR FEDERATION.

"While there are a few individual politicians who cling to the theory that the colonies are a source of weakness to the Mother Land, yet there is no party in England which does not desire closer unity of the Empire.

"As a result of this, parties will vie with each other in an effort to do its best to accomplish something that will be lasting and that will bring together the component parts of his Majesty's domains.

"With this object then in view, it is only natural that, ultimately, a form of preferential tariffs should be adopted so that commercial ties will be the practical completion of those of blood and sympathy.

"There is no doubt that in this short space of time Mr. Chamberlain has succeeded in upsetting a lot of false dogmas that no other statesman in history has accomplished."

SIR CHARLES TUPPER, BART.

MYSTERIOUS AUTOPSY

Young Hill's Remains Exhumed and Post Mortem Held

That more exists in the recent Dunmore murder, than has yet been made public, and that another link will be added to the chain of mysteries holding back the full truth in this terrible tragedy is now certain.

A post-mortem examination of the remains of Thomas Edward Hill, the victim of the Dunmore township tragedy, was held at Ashcroft yesterday. The examination has been ordered by the Department of the Attorney-General, through Crown Attorney Wood, and was conducted by Drs. Young and Bradd. Dr. Grant was also present on behalf of the defence.

There are many theories afloat as to the probable cause of the determination on the part of the Department to have the body exhumed and the autopsy held, and it is currently reported that startling developments may result.

Crown Attorney Wood yesterday reported that he had no information for publication in connection with this post-mortem.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, counsel for Charles Gow, the prisoner now in the county jail charged with having killed young Hill, stated that he was unacquainted with the reason for the course pursued by the Crown, but pointed to the urgent necessity of the holding of an autopsy, instancing the case of Fredrick Hudson, since the seriously impaired state of some of his vital organs will have a strong bearing, possibly, on McAuliffe's line of defence.

The only examination of the remains of the murdered boy was that made by Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw, upon the day following the shooting.

Until the doctors making the autopsy hand in their report it would be indiscreet to publish any conjectures, but it goes without saying, that startling developments may be looked for.

LATER.

Late last night The Times interviewed Dr. Young, relative to the autopsy, but the doctor, while regretting his necessary silence at that juncture, stated that neither he, nor his fellow physicians, who performed the post-mortem, could give any details for publication until their report had been handed in to the County Crown Attorney. This will probably be done to-day, in which case full particulars will appears in to-morrow's issue.

PRIZE DOG

Mr. Complin Formerly of Peterboro Captures 1st Prize

The many friends, in this city of Mr. Complin, formerly on the local staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, but now in the employ of the same bank at Carman, Man., will be pleased to hear of the success he has won in an important bench show. The Winnipeg Free Press, in a despatch from Le Sueur, Man., says:—

"The Derby stake of the annual field trials of the Western Canada Kennel club was concluded this morning, and with it also concluded the trials. The same highly favorable weather conditions which prevailed yesterday were again in evidence, and some exceptionally promising puppies were run; and again, too, the finest going dog in the stake, namely, Reuben, was beaten, largely by indifferent handling. Mr. Complin's handsome pointer, Chief, captured first honors, after running a third series, with Holden's Reuben second, and Milton's Dot and Peaston's Granite Dick dividing third."

SUCCESSFUL LECTURE

Rev. Dr. Thomas, the Toronto Divine, Holds Audience Spellbound

On Monday evening, the Rev. Dr. Thomas, well known in Toronto as an eloquent and persuasive speaker gave a lecture entitled "Our days in a busy life, before a large and intelligent audience, in the Park street Baptist church. The rev. gentleman began his discourse by telling his audience, in a most witty manner, thereby ensuring their sympathy and attention, how people should take a holiday once a year, illustrating his theory by numerous and humorous anecdotes. The doctor, seemingly understanding the locality in which he spoke, mentioned fishing as an ideal occupation during a vacation, and showed by his graphic word pictures that he fully understands the gentle art.

In a serio-comic description of the trials and tribulations of a parson's life in the remote north county, the speaker told his own experiences during such work. In referring to the majestic grandeur and awe-inspiring scenery of the Rocky Mountains the doctor showed conclusively that such scenes must lead a thinking man to understand the higher majesty that controls the universe.

His whole discourse was punctured and tinged with matters appertaining to well spent, enjoyable, and profitable vacations.

On the platform, the Ministerial Association was well represented. Rev. F. J. Scott, of Murray street; Rev. Mr. McKinnon, of Gilmour Memorial; Rev. H. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's; the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace.

Previous to commencement of Dr. Thomas' lecture, on motion of Rev. Mr. Brace, Rev. F. A. Langfeldt took the chair.

At the conclusion of the lecture it was moved by Rev. Mr. Scott, seconded by Mr. W. D. Scott, M.D., that Dr. Thomas be tendered a vote of thanks for his kindness. The vote was made unanimous by the congregation. Such lectures by so eloquent a speaker are a great assistance in drawing otherwise difficult to obtain citizens within the sacred walls of our churches.

CANADA AND JAPAN

How Will We be Affected by the New Anglo-Japanese Treaty

London, Sept. 13.—Arnold White, writing in the Chronicle on the Japanese alliance, raises the question whether it is the best thing for the colonies, especially Canada and Australia, which appear to be somewhat a prey to Japan. "Canada which does not contribute a cent to the British navy, has rivaled the Commonwealth in her cavalier treatment of our Asiatic ally. Does Canada approve of the Imperial policy which depends for the defence of the Indian frontier upon Asiatics whose sympathies are bounded, and whose leanings toward England are those of efficient, hungry, impoverished swords men for an opulent, impotent employer?"

ANNUAL LAWN PRIZE

Horticultural Society Directors to Appoint Judging Committee

The thousands of our citizens and visitors, who have taken such pleasure, of late years, in Victoria Park, so ably managed and decorated by Mr. Cooney, the caretaker, under instructions from Peterboro Horticultural Society, will be interested to learn that the directors of the society will hold a meeting to-morrow night, in Mr. Dumble's office, for business. The most important business before the coming meeting, of the directors, will be the nomination and appointment of a committee to inspect the lawns, and adjudge their relative merits for prizes. It is a matter of congratulation that the society this fall is in a stronger condition financially than usual, and that in consequence larger bulbs and of a superior quality will be distributed.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Successful Rally Held in George Street Church

If the meeting held by the George street Epworth League, on Monday night, can be taken as an indication of the attendance that this remarkable society will draw during the winter term, the executive have reason to feel self-congratulatory.

Monday's meeting at which Mr. G. L. Galley, presided, was in the form of a social and most pleasant reunion.

An excellent program of vocal and instrumental music was furnished by Mr. Milner, Mr. Jas. Browne, Miss and Master Huycke, while Miss Lizzie Smith, and Miss Rosie Powell contributed well received readings.

An important feature of the evening was an autograph contest, in which Miss Edna Hill carried off the palm of victory.

On the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the Social Committee, and a few words brought a most pleasant gathering to a close.

SIX HUNDRED SAILORS LOST

Awful Destruction of Life by Sinking of Togo's Flagship

THE MAGAZINE EXPLODED

Officers and Men Who Went to the Rescue of the Doomed Vessel Were Drowned

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The Japanese battleship Mikasa, which was the flagship of Vice-Admiral Togo during the battle of the Sea of Japan, caught fire and sank at 2.30 a.m. yesterday.

The Mikasa was a first-class battleship of 15,200 tons displacement. She was built in England in 1902. She had a speed of over 18 knots and carried a crew of 830 officers and men.

AWFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The loss of life by the sinking of the battleship Mikasa totals 500 officers and men, including detachments from other warships which went to the rescue of the vessel.

THE OFFICIAL DETAILS.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The Navy Department this afternoon furnished the following details of the sinking of the Mikasa. The battleship caught fire from an unknown cause at midnight, September 10, and before the fire could be subdued the flames reached the after magazine which exploded, blowing a hole in the port side below the water line and causing her to sink. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

The disaster to the Mikasa recalls the great naval disasters of the war just closed.

On Feb. 14, 1904, the Russian cruiser Bayarin was sunk by mines just outside Port Arthur, and her officers and crew, 197 souls were lost.

On April 13, 1904, the Russian battleship Petropavlovsk, was sunk by a Japanese mine off Port Arthur, when Admiral Makaroff and 674 officers and men were drowned.

On May 15, 1904, the Japanese battleship Hatsuse was sunk by striking a submerged Russian mine outside Port Arthur, and 480 officers and men were killed.

The Japanese cruiser Yoshino was rammed and sunk by a sister ship, the Kasuga, on the same day, when 252 officers and men were drowned.

Don't trifle with the Safety Valve

COFFEE accelerates and over-works the Heart!

Over-work weakens and "runs down" a Heart, just as it would a horse.

A Heart that is "run down" continually cries out for more coffee and generally gets it—till the abnormal condition results in Heart-failure or nervous prostration.

Nature sets the pace at which the Heart should beat, just as the Government Inspector sets the safety-valve on a steam boiler—at the highest pressure which it can safely carry.

Tampering with the 'safety-valve' is risky.

"Coffee-heart', is the penalty for forcing, (with coffee), more work from Heart and Nerves than food supports them in doing.

And—Coffee-heart now debars many people from getting life insurance—an ominous fact worth pondering over.

Because—Postum is made from the outer coats of Wheat, in which are located the Phosphate of Potash that feeds Brain and Nerve up to normal condition, so that they feel as good all day as coffee makes them feel for a few minutes in the day.

These outer coats do not give up their full contents of Phosphate of Potash, except by thorough boiling—as in Postum.

"Coffee-heart," Dyspepsia and Nervousness, generally disappear when "Postum" has displaced Coffee six weeks.

A ten-day trial will show marked improvement,

"There's a reason."

CHEMICAL ENGINE

Mr. Dumble Speaks Enthusiastically of a Purchase

On adjournment of yesterday's police court, the magistrate, Mr. D. W. Dumble, called the press representatives to his desk and gave his opinion of purchasing a steam engine, as proposed; but noted his preference for getting a chemical engine instead. Mr. Dumble stated that in Western cities, particularly Winnipeg, Brandon and others, three-fourths of the fires are put out by means of a chemical engine. He drew particular attention to a comparison of the relative weights of the different systems, saying that the chemical being vastly lighter in weight, could be handled to the scene of a fire so much more quickly than the ponderous steam machine. Mr. Dumble described a new chemical engine now in use, which is a combination affair; the outfit having the engine and hose waggon in the same vehicle.

As to the cost, the chemical can be purchased for $1,350, whilst the engine now being considered by the Council would cost four times this much.

Mr. Dumble next spoke highly of our water system, saying that the only bad fire Peterboro could have would be in the congested part where business is transacted, and here the hydrants are in greatest number; he also said that although the hydrants are scattered throughout the city, almost into the suburbs, that with the pressure our local waterworks can produce, that hundreds of feet of hose could be brought to bear on a fire anywhere. In reply to a question by The Times, asking him how would the firemen do should an accident occur at the power house during, or preceding a bad fire; Mr. Dumble admitted the validity of this objection, but said that every plan suggested must contain room for some objections.

As to the powers of a chemical engine in extinguishing fire, Mr. Dumble explained that this style of engine was intended for incipient fires, and its light weight, with consequent mobility, would enable it to kill a fire whilst the heavy steam engine was being got ready and hauled on its way.

He strongly favors the city getting a chemical, instead of a steam engine, both on the score of price and utility.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

During the almost continuous discussion of telephone matters which has been going on in Canada for a number of years, no country has been so frequently referred to as Sweden, and it may be added, regarding no other country have the conditions been so little comprehended.

Sweden has been the scene of the keenest telephone contest that has probably ever been witnessed—a contest absolutely unique, inasmuch as it is between the general Government operating a complete local and long distance system, and a private company operating practically a local system only. The usual conditions are therefore reversed. This will render a study of the results particularly interesting.

The contest has centred about Stockholm, the capital and chief commercial centre of the country. The Company charges in Stockholm a flat rate of $27.00 or a partial service rate of $21.60 and $16.20, under which the subscriber pays $13.50 as installation fee. The Government charges in Stockholm a flat rate just one half of the Company's rate.

With all the prestige of the Government, with the advantage of a general connection by its long distance lines with its exchanges throughout the country, it would naturally be expected that the Government exchange in Stockholm would greatly outnumber its competitor in the number of subscribers. Not so, however. The Company has 34,000 subscribers to its exchange and the Government but 11,000. The fight has been going on for a number of years with little advantage on either side, but organized administration and good service is seemingly at last giving the Company the victory.

That the Government recognizes that its rate in Stockholm is an artificial one is shown by the fact that it charges a higher rate in its small exchanges where it has no competition than it does in Stockholm.

The conditions for service in Canada cannot fairly be compared with conditions in Sweden. The purchasing power of money is more than double in Sweden what it is in this country. Labor, material, everything, is cheaper there. When the fight is over and normal rates and other conditions resumed, it will be time enough to draw lessons from that country.

The development of the telephone in Sweden has been enormously exaggerated. It was stated before the Special Committee to be one telephone for 14 of the population of the country, but it now transpires that this average applies only to Stockholm, which is not as great as the development at Winnipeg and not much higher than Montreal and Toronto.

We have not a great deal to learn even from much-misrepresented Sweden.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton N. B., Sends an open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgic and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the loss of this nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

14. We recommend that the Locks bridge be replanked longitudinally with 2-inch elm plank, and that the county be charged with one-half the cost.

15. We recommend that the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. be given the use of the steam road roller for the purpose of rolling their tracks, and that they be charged for it at the rate of $1.50 per hour, to cover the services of the engineer and other expenses, and that the company be so informed.

16. We recommend that Alexander Fitzgerald be paid at the rate of $2.50 per day from August 1st, 1905, while superintending the work on the streets.

17. We received tenders for the construction of sewers on different streets and recommend that the contracts be awarded as follows, provided they furnish satisfactory sureties;

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patents on or before the 3rd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Many recent immigrants will require information in regard to lands. Full information can be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the North-west Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, ... obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

...cenary," said Nora, thoughtfully, letting her work drop into her lap.

"Perhaps not," replied Winton, carelessly. "Are you going to spend this fine day in the house, Miss L'Estrange?"

"No! I am going to the village. I always give poor old Mrs. Sykes an hour or two in the week. She is the blacksmith's mother, and is quite blind."

"You have soon fallen into English country ways," said Winton, looking steadily at her. "Are you undertaking the part of Lady Bountiful?"

"That I can not, for excellent reasons," she returned, laughing; "and I am sorry to say I do not like visiting among the poor. I always feel I am intruding, and many of them so soon begin to take what you do as a right, or cringe and whine. Oh! it is so hard to know how best to help them; their lot is hard. I wonder they do not hate the rich more bitterly than they do. I should, I am sure. Life altogether is a terrible puzzle."

"Then don't go and read to this old woman in her stuffy room; come both of you and escort me back through Evesleigh Woods. They are looking their best."

Nora colored slightly, but shook her head.

"I must not disappoint poor old Betsy. I really believe my reading is a pleasure to her, and I like it too; she is a woman of strong character and great intelligence. She and her son are Northumbrians, and he is a very stern, masterful sort of man. I should not like to be his wife."

"Do you intend to rule your future husband, Miss L'Estrange?"

"I have no distinct intentions respecting that great Unknown, but I am quite sure that equality is the soul of love and friendship. Now," rising, "I must start. Where is yesterday's 'Times,' Helen? My blind old friend prefers a newspaper to the Bible."

"If you will not escort me I will escort you," said Winton.

"With or without my leave?" exclaimed Nora, holding up a finger warningly.

Winton laughed.

"If you are graciously pleased to permit me," he added.

"Very well, you may come," and she left the room.

Winton looked gravely after her for a moment, his brows slightly knit as if he were puzzled—not agreeably puzzled.

Then he turned to Mrs. L'Estrange, and said abruptly:

"It is rather unusual to see stepmother and daughter on such good terms. They generally hate each other like poison. I suspect your nature sweetens the mixture; you were always a bit of an angel."

"You are too flattering, and you do not do Nora justice. She is the kindest girl that ever lived; most fortunately for us. Do you know that everything is hers? She might turn us out penniless if she liked tomorrow. I had no marriage settlement. Colonel L'Estrange was always going to alter his will—which left all he possessed to Nora—but died without having done so; and my poor Bea is quite unprovided for."

"What an infernal shame! They ought never to have allowed you to marry without a proper settlement."

"They? Who?" asked Mrs. L'Estrange, with a tinge of bitterness. "I had few friends, and was not particularly self-helpful. They were too glad to find me provided for and off their hands, to raise any question that might delay the happy release. This was only natural! However, if Nora reaches one-and-twenty and is still a free agent, I am sure she will carry out her intention of making a provision for Bea."

"When does she come of age?"

"Next February."

"Hum! Time enough to marry and plague a man's heart out before that!"

"My dear Mark, what has put you out of humor with Nora? You must not dislike her unreasonably."

"Dislike her! she is not the sort of girl any man would dislike! But what a contrast between you two; I strongly suspect she bullies you! What hard lines you had all your life; I sometimes think over old times and wonder how you pulled through."

He looked at her as he spoke, a wonderfully kind expression softening his eyes.

"I am very happy and tranquil now," returned Mrs. L'Estrange, "so let the past bury its dead."

"If I had been—" Winton was beginning, when Nora returned with her hat on—a very becoming hat.

"Are you not going to walk with us, Helen?"

"No, dear, I promised Bea to take her to see a foal and a baby peacock, at the Home Farm."

"Well, Mein Herr! I await you."

Winton rose, and shook hands with Mrs. L'Estrange.

"My aunt hopes you will come to luncheon to-morrow or on Friday, if you are in the town," he said.

"I will write to her. Good-bye for the present."

"Oh! I had almost forgotten," cried Nora, turning back at the door. "The squire said he would come and ask for a cup of coffee this evening about right."

"He shall have it," returned Mrs. L'Estrange.

Winton, who had paused behind Nora, turned a questioning look on Mrs. L'Estrange, then followed the young lady of Brookdale through the open entrance door into the sunlight beyond, and the sound of their footsteps on the freshly raked gravel soon died away.

Mrs. L'Estrange stepped out on the veranda, and looked after the retreating figures.

"He was always wise and kind," she murmured to herself.

"Mother," cried Beatrice from within, "I am quite ready."

CHAPTER II.

Some ten days later the sun was striving to pierce the sultry haze of an autumnal day in London, and making the half-deserted streets oppressively warm.

Every one was out of town and the chief clubs, shops, and hotels were being painted and renovated during the breathing space between seasons.

A brougham stopped at the door of a well-known hotel in Bond street, and attracted the attention of a waiter lounging on the steps. He descended to ascertain what the occupant wanted. She was a large, distinguished looking woman of more than a certain age, with almost white hair, and black eyes; whose traveling costume of dark-gray serge and bonnet of gray straw and black ribbons had evidently been designed by a high-class modiste.

"Is Mrs. Ruthven here?"

"Yes, 'm."

"Is she at home?"

"I'll see, 'm."

The waiter disappeared, and soon returned.

"Mrs Ruthven is in, ma'am."

"Open the door then," And the inquirer alighted.

"Who shall I say?"

"Lady Dorrington."

The waiter ushered the visitor upstairs to a handsomely furnished room, where, before a long glass between the windows, stood a small, slight figure, in an exquisite ball dress of pale-gold satin with draperies of fine filmy white lace, caught up at one side with drooping bouquets of wonderfully natural violet, clematis, and ferns. Two women, one in a dainty cap, the other in a smart hat, were standing back as if they had just desisted from the task of arranging the beautiful costume.

"A thousand apologies, dear Lady Dorrington, for receiving you in this extraordinary apparel, but I would not keep you waiting, as I know you have only a few hours in town!" cried the lady in the ball dress, ad-

Britain's Rights

A fact not generally known, but a fact nevertheless it is, that the British navy since the time of Alfred the Great has claimed the position of being "First among equals," and has maintained this position to the present day. It is acknowledged by navies of the world in the fact that on meeting a British man-o-war they first salute, the courtesy being returned by the British ship. The Dutch resisted this demand until 1673, and the French until 1704, since which date it has been an item of international law.

George Street Loafers

Why do not the police make the men and boys lining the west side of George street, between Charlotte street and Messrs. Hall & Son's establishment, every fine evening, "get a move on," or compel them to stop interfering with pedestrians and passing very audible remarks on every lady passing? These loafers, neither assist trade in the business places they ornament (?) the front of, nor do they pave the way to salvation for passers-by, who have to run a very unpleasant gauntlet every night.

A SEPTEMBER BRIDE

Miss A. I. Smith the Bride of Mr. G. A. Dornbush, Pittsburg.

A very pretty ceremony, amid beautiful surroundings, was that held yesterday evening at six o'clock at 15 Watton street, the residence of the bride's father, when Miss Amelia, eldest daughter of Mr. M. Smith, was joined in the holy and happy bonds of matrimony to Mr. George Albert Dornbush, of the Carnegie Steel Co., of Pittsburg, Pa.

The house was most appropriately and in elegant taste, decorated throughout the portion devoted to invited guests, and the auspicious event celebrated, with rare exotics, palms, ferns and other plants used for such occasions.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Jolliffe, pastor of the Charlotte Methodist church.

The charming bride was accompanied by Miss Stella her sister, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Ed. Dornbush.

Although Mrs. Dornbush has only resided in this city for a comparatively short time, the esteem and regard in which she is held by numerous friends was amply demonstrated by the large number of beautiful and costly wedding presents.

The happy couple, on conclusion of an elaborate dejeuner, left last night for a honeymoon through the eastern cities, and will in future reside in Pittsburg.

Cure For Potato-bugs

A man who has grown old in his gardening business claims that if a flax seed is dropped in with a potato seed at planting time, potato bugs will not trouble the growing plants; also if the potatoes are grown on old flax ground, the beetle will not come near them.

GIRLHOOD WOMANHOOD MOTHERHOOD

The first lesson that the young girl has of womanhood is usually a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time may, in almost every instance, be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

The anxious mother of the family oftentimes carries the whole burden of responsibility so far as the home medication of common ailments of the girls or boys are concerned. The cost of the doctor's visits is very often much too great. At such times the mother is invited to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for medical advice, which is given free. Correspondence is held strictly confidential.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, of Buffalo, N. Y., ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"Your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,' has helped me greatly in time of suffering," writes Mrs. Minta Wright, of Edwards, Ind. "Last winter I was unable to do my work, was to be confined in February, and a lady in Illinois wrote and told me about your medicine. I used three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and will say I had the easiest and quickest confinement I ever had. Had three children before, and would suffer from twenty-four to thirty-six hours before birth, but this time only two hours. Have a fine baby girl and she is the most healthy one of all. I am still using the 'Favorite Prescription' as a tonic."

EXHIBITION RACES

Arrangements Complete for Races That Will Attract Best Talent

Arrangements have now been fully completed for having some splendid races at the coming Peterboro Fall Fair. The races, as arranged, will not only be of great interest to the thousands of spectators but will offer special inducements to farmers from the nearby townships and this city to enter green colts, with symptoms of swiftness, but no mark or record of speed recorded against them; any time made by the horses competing will not count as a record, hence debarring them from competing in future races in a lower class. This arrangement should encourage any one owning a speedy horse to enter it, there being no entry fee, and should such horse either win or make good time, such time will not be recorded against it. This will also ensure the spectators good fast racing, as all fear of the best horse being pulled is thus debarred. Considerable interest is being awakened over the gentlemans Road Race for prizes, which, although valuable, will not constitute professionalism; the first prize in this race is a blanket and hood, worth about $25, with a valuable whip for the second driver. The race is half mile heats, two in three.

There are several swift roadsters owned by local gentlemen that should assuredly be entered in this race. Messrs. Brooks, Munroe and Alex. Elliott are working hard to have this feature of the Fair's attractions a success, and, judging by the past racing record of these gentlemen, they will give the public good satisfaction and add to the interest of the Fair.

Apples Scarce This Year

It will be to the interests of our local farmers to attend more closely and intelligently than in years gone by to the packing of their apples for shipment. Mr. A. Gifford, Dominion fruit inspector, who has been giving demonstrations throughout the Niagara district in packing fruit and grading it, said to a Times representative, that fruit-packing in Canada has very much improved over a couple of years ago. The fruit for shipment is being packed in better shape and there are fewer infringements upon the Canadian fruit marks act as regards fair packing. The inspectors are watching things closely, however, and at present several cases against parties accused of sending out immature fruit are pending. The standard size of box, 10x11x20 inches, adopted by the Dominion Government for packing apples, is being generally used.

Speaking of the apple crop in Canada, Inspector Gifford says that it was very poor this year. Taking the country as a whole, it does not average forty per cent.

Peace Once More In Japanese Cities

The Attacks on Christian Churches Have Ceased.

Tokio, September 14.—Foreign residents of Tokio agree that the outrages done by mobs to Christian churches in this city during the recent riots, and the destruction of the residence of Mr. Bergstrom, an American missionary, cannot be interpreted as a sign of widespread anti-foreign and anti-Christian agitation. The work of the mobs when aimed at the churches, was local and spasmodic, and was mostly confined to districts where the influence of the Buddhists is strong.

Furthermore, the moving spirits in the attacks were thieves and other criminals who saw in the confusion in the city an opportunity to secure booty. In some districts intemperate remarks and actions by Christian propagandists have aroused the enmity of individuals, who incited hostile action by street mobs. The city feels a deep sense of relief now that martial law is in operation. There is believed to be no occasion for further anxiety. Of the 228 police boxes in Tokio, 145 were burned or otherwise destroyed during the rioting.

In the main, the destruction of churches was involved in the general trouble, though the police are to be subjected to a searching examination for their failure to give better protection to this class of property. Leading factors in the attacks aimed at the government are held to be disappointed brokers in stocks and self-styled patriots. The political parties do not seem to have had any part in the disturbance.

A meeting which was to have been held in Osaka yesterday to protest against the peace treaty was prohibited.

NEW COUNTY COUNCILS

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT MAKES AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Bill to be Passed Providing That Henceforth They Shall Consist of Reeves and Certain Deputy Reeves and Mayors of Towns

Hon. Mr. Monteith, the Minister of Agriculture, has sent the following circular letter to Clerks of County and Township Councils and of towns not separated from counties:

Prior to the year 1896 the County Councils of Ontario were composed of the Reeves and Deputy Reeves of the various townships and the representatives of towns not separate from the counties. In that year, however, the new County Councils act came into operation, whereby the number of persons composing the Council was greatly reduced and a new method was adopted of electing the members directly to the Council. By this means, all direct connection between County Councils and Township Councils was removed. The Premier of Ontario, Hon. J. P. Whitney, on several occasions prior to his being called to form a Government for Ontario, made the announcement that a revision of the act in reference to County Councils would be a matter of concern to his Government. It is proposed now to fulfil this promise.

At the recent session, a bill was introduced amending this act and providing that in future County Councils should consist of the Reeves of the various townships. The bill was given some consideration, and certain amendments were agreed upon, but it was felt that, as it will not come into operation until the beginning of 1907, final consideration might be postponed to the next session of the Legislature. The full and final provisions of the bill need not be given here, but the general principle of the bill may be stated, namely: It is proposed that, beginning with 1907, County Councils shall consist of Reeves and such Deputy Reeves as may, on further consideration, be decided upon. It is proposed to make the number of Councillors less than in the Councils prior to 1897 but, most important, to restore the direct connection formerly existing between County Councils and Township Councils. In the amendment to the County Councils act, provision was made whereby County Councils might, by resolution, decide to revert to the old form of election, such action to take place on or before the first day of October in any year preceding the holding of an election.

It has been felt that, if any Council has under consideration the passing of such a resolution, it would be advisable to let them know what is the policy and intention of the Government. I need, therefore, simply state that it is the present intention of the Government to introduce and to pass at the next session of the Legislature a bill providing for the repeal of the present County Councils act and to provide that henceforth County Councils shall consist of Reeves and certain Deputy Reeves of townships and Mayors of towns not separated from the county.

Oil for Fuel on Warships

London, September 14.—Exhaustive experiments with the use of oil as fuel on battleships, have proved so satisfactory that the British Admiralty has ordered the extension of a great oil storing depot at Plymouth with jetties at which tank steamers can moor. It is understood that the stores of oil will be so established at most of the home ports.

MURDERER KEPT PROMISE TO DIE

Man for Whose Crime Innocent Canadian Died Commits Suicide by Hanging

Minot, N.D., Sept. 14.—The dead body of Charles Herzig, who left a written confession that he was guilty of a murder committed near Youngstown, Ohio, over thirty years ago, has been found by a posse of searchers. The body was hanging to a tree in a secluded ravine in the county of Wallace. Pinned to his breast was a piece of wrapping paper, on which was written the following:

"My name is Charles Herzig. Over thirty years ago I murdered a young girl named Lizzie E. Grombacher, near Youngstown, Ohio. Charles Sterling of Canada, an innocent man was tried, convicted, and hanged for the murder of this girl. If my body is ever found, notify my mother, Catherine Herzig, at Girard, O."

If Herzig had not left a written confession, and had not made at the Byr ranch a threat of suicide, his body might not have been found for years, as he hanged himself in a spot seldom visited. Around his neck was a shred of thin green stuff such as women use for lace veils. It is recalled by a former Youngstown man here that Lizzie Grombacher wore such a veil when murdered and that part of it was used to strangle her. The piece found about Herzig's neck is supposed to be the remainder of the veil, as he showed such a piece to a fellow ranchman to whom he told the story of his crime, declaring that he had kept it all these years to use in ending his own life some day.

BECAME A WANDERER.

Herzig said in his confession to the ranchman that after committing the murder and exchanging shirts with Sterling, he went to Warren, Ohio, where he was employed by a lawyer named Ratliff as a gardner. After Sterling's arrest and trial Herzig fled to Mesopotamia, Ohio, where he remained in hiding until the ore of Sterling's execution when he stole a horse and went west. He settled in Telluride, Col., where he married. Ohio people commenced to move in, and, becoming frightened, he deserted his wife and children, and went to Death's Valley in California. Since then he had been a wanderer.

STRONGER THAN MEAT

A Judge's Opinion of Grape-Nuts.

A gentleman who has acquired a judicial turn of mind from experiences on the bunch out in the Sunflower State, writes a carefully considered opinion as to the value of Grape-Nuts as food. He says:

"For the past five years Grape-Nuts has been a prominent feature in our bill of fare.

The crisp food with the delicious nutty flavor has become an indispensable necessity in my family's everyday life.

It has proved to be most healthful and beneficial, and has enabled us to practically abolish pastry and pies from our table, for the children prefer Grape-Nuts and do not grieve rich and unwholesome food.

"Grape-Nuts keeps us all in perfect physical condition—as a preventive of disease it is beyond value. I have been particularly impressed by the beneficial effects of Grape-Nuts when used by ladies who are troubled with face blemishes, skin eruptions, etc. It clears up the complexion wonderfully.

"As to its nutritive qualities, my experience is that one small dish of Grape-Nuts is superior to a pound of meat for breakfast, which is an important consideration for anyone. It satisfies the appetite and strengthens the power of resisting fatigue, while its use involves none of the disagreeable consequences that sometimes follow a meat breakfast." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

PLEASING PRESENTATION

Miss Julia Eastland a Prospective Bride, Honored

On Tuesday evening the members of Apsley Presbyterian church presented Miss Julia Eastland, who had so efficiently filled the position of organist of that church, with a handsome Morris chair, and an address, read by Rev. Mr. Taylor.

The address reads as follows:

Dear Miss Eastland.—It is with mingled feelings that we come, on the eve of your departure from our community, to bid you good-bye.

We are glad to know that you are about to enter a sphere where your many enviable traits of character will have a wider field for their activities and we bespeak for you many happy years in your new home. And yet we cannot conceal our regret at losing from our midst one who has in so many ways laid claim to our respect and appreciation. In many unassuming kindly services you have engaged the gratitude of all our Protestant congregations and it is with a measure of reluctance that we part with one who can ill be spared.

In presenting this slight token of our appreciation we wish to convey with it our heartfelt wishes for your future welfare, and that kindly Providence will still bless and make you a blessing among your new associates is the sincere desire of your friends in the Presbyterian Church, Apsley.

Signed in behalf of the Presbyterian congregation.

The presentation was made by Mr. E. Tasker.

As noted in Tuesday's issue of The Times, Mr. G. L. Porter, representative of the Big Casino Mining Company of California, who disposed of many thousands of dollars worth of his company's stock last week in this city, has gone to his home in Union City, Tenn. We might, in justice to a well-known local firm say, that Mr. Porter's great success in disposing of large blocks of his stocks was in part due to the efforts of and introductions given by Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Co. Messrs. Patterson & Co. have still a few shares of Big Casino stock for sale at 50 cents, par value $1.00.

This stock is sure to rapidly rise in value, and dividends are assured in either December or January. The dividends of the Big Casino Mining Company are payable monthly. As this stock is a certain paying investment, with unlimited chances of enormous raises in value in the near future, we would advise those seeking a lucrative investment to get the few shares left at once; first come first served.

SITUATION GRAVE BUT PEOPLE CALM

No Attempt to Interfere With Government's Decision re Sweden

AN ARBITRATION TREATY

Will Probably be Made as a Guarantee of Future Peace

Christiania, September 14.—Though the situation is grave, the people of Norway remain calm. Neither the press nor any faction of the citizens is trying to interfere with the Government's decision in regard to Sweden's demands. All are satisfied that the wisest course will be pursued by the Ministers. The people desire a peaceful solution of the points of difference, and are willing that concessions shall be made if they conform to national interests, but they will face war calmly if Sweden proves too aggressive.

Norway demands a strong arbitration treaty with Sweden as a guarantee as to the future. Having secured this it will be willing to make all the concessions that may be made with honor. Even the question of the destruction of fortresses near the frontier may be solved in accordance with Sweden's wishes. The Government officers continue [illegible] conference with political leaders.

BRITISH CRUISER THERE

Capt. Bernier Lectured on Board the Scylla in Hudson's Bay

Quebec, Sept. 13.—Major Levasseur has received a letter from his son Paul, who is one of the crew of the S.S. Arctic now in the Hudson's Bay district. The letter is dated at Port Burwell, Ungava Bay, Aug. 18, 1905, and deals with conditions at Fredericstine Bay, Cape Lauzier, etc. The letter was brought to Newfoundland by a British war vessel recently returned from an exploration trip up north.

Mr. Levasseur states that upon arrival at Port Burwell, on August 16 last the members of the Arctic crew were much surprised to find the British cruiser Scylla there. Among those on board was Sir William McGregor, Governor of Newfoundland. This vessel brought the mail from the Arctic.

Up to the time of writing the steamer Neptune had not arrived with supplies and coal was very very scarce on board the Arctic.

On August 18 Captain Bernier of the Arctic delivered a lecture on the North Pole on board the cruiser Scylla. The lecture was given on the invitation of Governor McGregor.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The Marine Department is informed that the steamer Arctic has arrived at Chateau Bay, Straits of Belle Isle, with damage to her machinery. She will go to St. John's Newfoundland, for repairs, and to coal. Superintendent Moodie of the Northwest Mounted Police has come out with the Arctic.

TWO YEARS FOR A KISS

Negro Waiter Heavily Sentenced for Kissing Irish Maid as Result of Wager

Baltimore, Sept. 14.—John Fedderman, a negro waiter in a summer hotel, was sentenced to two years in jail by a police magistrate yesterday, for forcibly kissing Mary White, an Irish nurse maid. The maid is employed by a guest at the hotel, and was giving the children supper when the negro came up behind, threw his arms about her, and kissed her cheek. Miss White became hysterical.

Another negro waiter had wagered that Fedderman would not kiss the young woman.

Recovering Old War Vessels

Detroit, September 14.—Mr. C. M. Burton, of this city, who has interested himself in one of the old war vessels sunken at the mouth of the Thames River, Lake St. Clair, has sent an attorney to Ottawa to see the Secretary of State, it having been reported that Canada will not permit the removal of the old hulls.

RUSSIAN ARMY IS DISSATISFIED

Considers Peace Terms Offensive to Honor and Dignity

ARMY IS VERY HOSTILE

Godzradani, Manchuria, September 14.—The peace terms became known here on Saturday. The majority consider them inoffensive to Russian honor and dignity. It is not clear at what station the railway is to be turned over to the Japanese at Kwang Chen Tze or Chantufu. This question is important. If the turn-over occurs at Kwang Cheng Tze then Russia cedes to Japan 100 miles of yet unoccupied line and otherwise the only coal mines south of Harbin. From Chantufu start all the trade routes to the very rich Kirin Province, and should the road become the property of the Japanese to Kwang Cheng Tze, the complete possession of Chantufu would place Kirin Province entirely under Japanese influence. This would be very undesirable for Russia. Should the transfer occur at Chantufu or further south, Kirin Province, which has supported the Russian army for six months would be particularly advantageous, because the southern portion of the railway has no natural outlet.

This and many other questions, such as the Russians right to maintain consular officials, and commercial agents at Liao Yang, Mukden, Port Arthur, and Port Dalny should, it is claimed here, be settled before the armies withdraw their strategic positions. A high officer declared Saturday that it would be impolitic to permit the Japanese to settle in Kwang Cheng Tze for in case of another war they could reach Harbin in 50 hours, occupy Kirin and cut Russia off from the Amur regions.

WALTER SCOTT CHOOSES MINISTERS

First Cabinet of Saskatchewan Sworn Into Office at Regina

Regina, N.W.T., Sept. 14.—The first Ministry of the new Province of Saskatchewan was yesterday sworn into office before Lieut.-Governor Forget as follows:

Walter Scott, Premier and Minister of Public Works.

J. H. Lamont, Attorney-General.

James A. Calder, Minister of Education.

W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary.

Hon. Walter Scott is the son of George Scott and Isabella Telfer, both of whom were from Scotland. Born on October 27, 1867, in London township, Middlesex county, Ont., he was educated at the public schools. He married in 1890 Miss Jessie Florence Read, of Regina, where he had gone in the early eighties. He has been president of the Leader-Times Company, and publisher of the Regina Leader and the Moose Jaw Times. He was elected to the House of Commons in 1900, defeating the late Nicholas Flood Davin, and was re-elected at the general election last year. He is a Presbyterian.

Hon. John Henderson Lamont is also of Scotch ancestry, being the son of Duncan Carmichael Lamont and Margaret Robson Henderson. He was born on November 12, 1866, at Corning's Mills, Dufferin county, Ont. He was educated at the public schools and at Toronto University, where he took his B.A., degree in 1892, and his LL.B. in 1893. He is also a Presbyterian, and married on October 21, 1899, Margaret Murray Johnston. He was first elected to the House of Commons at the last general elections last November.

Hon. J. A. Calder was Deputy Minister of Education under Mr. Haultain.

STEAMER FREED BY URUGUAY

Captain of Alleged Poaching Ship set at Liberty as a Result of British Protest

Ottawa, Sept. 14. — The British treaty of commerce with Japan, to which Canada will, probably become a party at an early date, will afford our people the advantage of minimum tariff rates on a specified list of articles that include printing papers, cement, cottons, iron and steel manufactures, and woolens. The duty rates are very low, in some cases only five per cent.

A telegram to the Justice Department announces that the Halifax sailing steamer Agnes G. Donahoe, which was seized about one year ago on a charge of poaching in the territorial waters of Uruguay, has been released by the courts. The captain of the vessel was to be set free on Monday next.

Captain Dunn of the Dominion fisheries protection cruiser Vigilant has wired the Marine Department that the American fishing tug Bertha L. Cockell, which was seized in Lake Erie yesterday, was about six and a half miles from the Canadian shore when captured. She had about five thousand pounds of whitefish and herring on board and a quantity of nets.

—TARTE AND SIFTON CALL.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier returned early this morning from his trip to the autonomy celebrations at Edmonton and Regina. Among his first callers this morning were his two ex-colleagues, Hon. Messrs. Tarte and Sifton.

THE KING'S VISIT

45 Years ago To-day our King Was in Peterboro

It was just 45 years ago to-day, or on Sept. 14th, 1860, that the present King of England, His Majesty Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, honored this city, then the little town of Peterboro, with a personal visit. The Royal party, including the Duke of Newcastle, arrived by the now obsolete Cobourg and Peterboro Railroad. The King and his suite crossed Rice Lake on a steamer, [illegible] for the safety of so valuable a life, not caring to risk using the bridge from Harwood to Hiawatha. On arrival the Prince and his suite were driven through the town to the Court House, now Victoria Park, where the speeches and addresses were made, at a reception attended by thousands of people from this and nearby counties. The Prince left Peterboro the same evening to assure making connection with promised visits elsewhere.

GOW GETS BAIL

Alleged Slayer of Young Hill May Give Bonds in $7000

Yesterday afternoon Judge Weller granted the application made by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, counsel for Chas. Gow, to have the prisoner admitted to bail.

County Crown Attorney Wood opposed the application. His Lordship made an order that the bail be fixed at $7,000, in two, three or four sureties.

It is probable that the prisoner and his bondsmen will appear before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning, as Mr. Dennistoun has been in communication with Gow's friends, relative to raising the necessary amount of his bond money. Should these arrangements be satisfactorily concluded, Gow will be released on bail to appear at the fall assizes next month on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Thomas Edward Hill.

MANLEY COLE GONE

Crown's Chief Witness Against McCauliffe Now in Buffalo

Mr. Manley Cole, the Crown's chief witness in the prosecution of Patrick McAuliffe, of Emily, for murder of Fred Hudson on 1st. June last, who has been living at Havelock, has gone to Buffalo, N.Y. It was Manly Cole, and he alone, who swore to actually seeing the alleged fatal blow struck by the prisoner.

The Crown have thus lost their star witness unless Cole returns of his own free will, for the trial, as he cannot be forced to come back and give evidence. It is conceded that this will weaken the case of the prosecution against McAuliffe, who will appear charged with [illegible] next month.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

St. John's Church Harvest Festival To-day

Every things points to the Harvest Festival, in connection with St. John's church, which takes place this evening, being, if possible, more successful than ever. The church is appropriately decorated, in perfect taste, with the harvest grains, fruits and flowers, customary in such ceremonies, and presents a beautiful appearance. The special music carefully selected, and which was finally practised last night, will be an anthem by the full choir and a solo during the offertory by Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot. The special preacher will be Rev. R. J. Moore, B.A., rector of St. Margaret's church, Toronto. The Holy Communion will be celebrated at ten o'clock a.m.

Police Court Officials

Chief of Police, C.L. Reed
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

Mr. Newton, who lives on Hunter street, near the bridge, was in the police station yesterday morning to lay a complaint. He stated that at ten minutes after eleven Tuesday night, some boys had broken a large plate glass window in his residence. Mr. Newton blames the boys of the east side, saying that our new ward contains a lot of very tough young men who are a nuisance to that ward, and to every one whose place they pass when crossing the river. He says that the window must have been broken designedly by a stick, as he could find no stone or missile within the room where it was smashed. The chief promised to make an investigation and try to find the perpetrators of this act of vandalism. These east side hoodlums must be taught to behave themselves.

Post Office Sign Needed

Many complaints now reach The Times concerning the lack of a proper sign on the post office. Whilst the city has gone for a good many years without a sign on this building, it would be a great convenience for strangers and new citizens to be able to distinguish our most frequented public buildings from a soup factory or orphan asylum. Every other post office in Canada, in all probability, has some kind of sign denoting what the place is for, so that strangers can easily ascertain where to get their letters.

—The firemen were given a run about 12 o'clock last night to extinguish a small blaze in Macdonald's drug store, corner George and Hunter streets.

An Aged Women Burned to Death

Her Nightdress had Evidently Caught Fire From a Lamp—Only Other Occupant of the House Was Not Aware of the Terrible Occurence.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—Lying near the door of her bedroom, where she had been overtaken in an effort to escape, the charred body of Mrs. Beal, 63 years of age, was found yesterday morning, after an alarm of fire had been given by Miss Taylor, the only other occupant of the house, 49 Shannon street. Miss Taylor, who is Mrs. Beal's niece, was dazed by the tragedy, and the dead woman's only son, who was brought from his night work down town to have the terrible news broken to him, was almost overcome by grief.

The exact cause of the fire and the time it broke out are unknown. It is certain, however, that it originated from the lamp by which the aged lady was in the habit of reading her Bible each night. Mrs. Beal retired late at night, and it is supposed that she went to the lamp to put it out or relight it, and that her nightdress caught fire. The lamp still stood on the partly burned chair this morning, and the drapery near the chair was burned. Mrs. Beal fell near the door, and the side on which she lay was badly charred by the fire which burned the carpet under her, and burned into the floor supports for a length of about two yards. The door and window being closed, the fire only smouldered, and did not spread far in the room. The lamp was out and contained very little oil when found in the morning.

CHARRED BODY FOUND.

It was about 4.15 o'clock when Miss Taylor, who slept downstairs, was awakened by a crackling noise. Her aunt did not answer to her frightened calls, and when the young woman opened the door of her aunt's room upstairs a volume of smoke drove her back. The neighbors came in answer to her cries, and carried water to put out the fire. Meantime Mr. Gackling, rushed in his night clothes to Ossington avenue and College streets to give the alarm. There was little for the firemen to do when they arrived, and they soon found Mrs. Beal's charred body. Until then Miss Taylor had thought that her aunt must have arisen and left the house.

Mr. Thomas Goldsmith, the dead woman's son, who works for the C.P.R. Telegraph Company, was telephoned for. Not till he reached home was Mr. Goldsmith told of his mother's death.

The dead woman was subject to epileptic fits, and during one of these over two months ago she had a presentiment that her death was near.

CANADA TO LEAD IN IRON

Great Industry in the Dominion Predicted by Dr. Heroult the Expert

ELECTRIC SMELTING AT SOO

Experiments to Be Made There at a Cost of $15,000—Government Enterprise

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—"In ten years Canada will have become a great metallurgical country. You will see an iron industry in this Dominion larger than in any other country in the world. Canada will yet furnish to the world its iron supply. It will be just the same with iron as with wheat. A decade from now Canada will outstrip all other countries in wheat growing. The production of iron at a cheaper rate than it can be made elsewhere will cause Canada to take a similar position as far as iron is concerned."

The foregoing prophecy was made not by a Canadian, but by a visitor from France, Dr. P. L. T. Heroult, Technical Director of the French Electro-Metallurgical Society, who have immense works at La Praz, France, where aluminum and steel are produced.

Dr. Heroult is perhaps the best living authority on the smelting of iron ores and the manufacture of steel by the electric method. He has invented the process which is named after him. Two great plants for the refining of steel by the Heroult process are in course of construction, one in Germany and the other at Syracuse, N.Y. By the expenditure of about one dollar per ton steel worth $20 a ton will be converted into a product worth $200 a ton. Dr. Heroult has come to America with his wife and four high salaried engineers. The party will spend twelve months on this side, and the cost to Mr. Heroult will not be much less than $20,000.

EXPERIMENTS AT THE SOO.

The great metallurgical expert has undertaken to superintend experiments in the making of pig iron and steel at a plant which is now in course of construction at Salt Ste. Marie, and for which Parliament, on Hon. Frank Oliver's recommendation, voted $15,000. Associated with him will be Dr. Haanel, Superintendent of Mines. Dr. Heroult has smelted magnetite by electricity, and it is a success. He is reasonably certain we can produce pig iron and a high-grade steel here. But to make certain beyond all peradventure, and to ascertain all the facts that can be learned in connection with electric smelting, experiments for six months will be conducted at the "Soo" in a plant of special design and construction. Dr. Heroult thinks that under favorable conditions pig iron can be made for $10 per ton, while steel will cost only $4 per ton more to produce. This means a saving of several dollars as compared with the cost of producing pig iron and steel elsewhere. But even if the cost were the same as in other countries, it would mean great things for Canada.

MEANS MUCH TO CANADA.

When asked what the successful smelting of iron ores would mean to Canada, Dr. Heroult said: "Pig iron is the basis for structural and other steels. At present Canada expends fifty and sixty millions of dollars in buying steel abroad. This idea ought to be to make that steel in this country out of Canadian material by the aid of Canadian water power and Canadian labor. Even if the cost of making iron and steel here should only equal the cost elsewhere you would keep in Canada the money you now send abroad. But we expect the cost of manufacture will be less here. Think of what it means. The retention in Canada of sixty millions of dollars now yearly spent abroad, the supplying of the new demand for steel rails, structural steel, and other classes of the product which has arisen in consequence of the country's development, the profitable sale of your surplus product in foreign markets, and the creation in this country of numerous other industries more or less dependent upon iron and steel. As to the iron resources of this country, from all that I can learn they are vast indeed. In Sweden the quantity of ore in sight is sufficient to supply the markets of the world for one hundred years. If we were to compare the quantity in Canada with that in Sweden I should say Canada has three times as much."

SHALL IT BE PEACE OR WAR?

Norwegian and Swedish Delegates Meet Again to Decide the Terms of Dissolution

Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 14.—The Norwegian and Swedish delegates appointed to discuss the dissolution of Norway and Sweden have all arrived here to resume the negotiations.

At two-hours' session was held before lunch, when the delegates adjourned for the afternoon. The same secrecy was observed as to the course of the negotiations as at the previous meeting of the delegates.

NORWAY MUST SUBMIT FIRST.

Stockholm, Sept. 13.—Political circles disavow any desire on the part of Sweden to oppose the arbitration treaty demanded by Norway, but they point out that only the preliminary negotiations in regard to the form and contents of such a treaty can be discussed at present, as the conclusion of a treaty is impossible until Norway has accepted Sweden's conditions and the latter has recognized Norway as an independent sovereign State. The Swedish intentions, it is declared, are wholly pacific.

CLAIMED SHE WAS ROBBED

Mrs. Moore, a Young Widow from Canada in Hands of Buffalo Police

Buffalo, Sept. 14. — Mrs. Blanche Moore, a widow, 21 years old, whose husband recently died in Winnipeg, applied to the police to-day for transportation from Buffalo to New York city. The woman arrived in Buffalo last night and told the police here that she was without funds.

She claimed that while she was stepping from the boat from Fort William at Owen Sound yesterday morning she was robbed of $300 by a thief who snatched her chatelaine bag. She was placed in the care of the matron of the Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Children here to-day.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used up Condition

With women ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more blood and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became nervous and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

A NAVAL SOMERSAULT

The remark was made yesterday that the Japanese navy by the capture or raising of Russian war vessels, gained some seven battleships, besides a number of cruisers and torpedo vessels. The number of battleships should have been six. This large gain is explained by the following special despatch to the London Times from Tokyo, August 27:

"It has now been ascertained that the Russian warships at Port Arthur were not blown up or sunk by gun fire.

The Russians opened the Kingston valves, having previously greased or otherwise protected the machinery and vital parts of the vessels. Evidently the capture of 203-Metre Hill exposed the ships to such danger that the Russians decided to sink them, forbidding recovery of the command of the sea by the Baltic fleet. Their four battleships, one armored and one protected cruiser, will speedily form a serviceable addition to the Japanese fleet."

Battleships—Poltava (renamed Tango) and Peresviet (renamed Sagami—refloated and navigable by their own engines; Retvizan and Pobieda—to be raised and fit for service shortly.

Of the three other battleships of the Pacific fleet the Czarevitch is interned at Kiao-Chau, the Petropavlovsk was blown up by a mine and sank with Admiral Makharoff, and the Sevastopol was sunk in deep water by her own crew shortly before the capitulation of Port Arthur.

Armored cruiser— Bayan —refloated.

Protected cruiser— Pallada —refloated.

Torpedo-boat destroyer— Silni —refloated.

Protected cruiser— Varlag —refloated.

Thus as regards the Baltic fleet, the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan captured the battleships Orel and Imperator Nicholas I., the coast defence ironclads Gen.-Admiral Apraxine and Admiral Senyavin and the torpedo-boat destroyer Biedovny.

Thus the known sure additions to the Japanese navy from the war are six battleships, two coast defence ironclads and three cruisers, to say nothing of torpedo-boat destroyers, transports, etc. On the other hand, the Japanese lost two battleships, sunk by mines, and a number of torpedo boats. The two battleships were of the finest; but so are two of the captured Russian ones, the Retvisan and Orel. Russia has lost not only the eleven large vessels Japan has got, but fourteen battleships and cruisers and a number of torpedo and other war vessels sunk during the war and not likely to be refloated. Thus the net result as regards the two navies is that the Japanese fleet is stronger by nine battleships and cruisers than before the war (or rather eleven, having bought two Chilian cruisers after hostilities started), and the Russian navy poorer by twenty-five battleships and cruisers. As regards Russia, the matter can be put more simply by the statement that she has but half a dozen cruisers left of all her navy, of 1901, except the ships of the Baltic fleet, which are not available for war elsewhere. She has, however, five first-class battleships building. Japan remains with a navy of ten battleships, several building, and a magnificent fleet of cruisers.

COL. LEYS DEAD

Former M.P.P. for London Passes to Rest After a Long Illness

London, Ont., Sept. 13.—Colonel F. B. Leys, ex-M.P.P., died last evening at the family residence on Elmwood avenue, after an illness of many months.

The late Francis Baxter Leys was born in the township of Pickering, and received his education in Toronto. He commenced the study of law in the office of his brother, the late John Leys, ex-M.P., Toronto, but abandoned his intentions and went to the West Indies. On his return to Ontario he became identified with the volunteer movement, being appointed paymaster and subsequently colonel. He came to London to engage in the banking business, and afterwards organized the Dominion Savings & Loan Company, which he managed for many years. He represented London in the Legislature as a supporter of Hon. G. W. Ross, defeating Hon. Adam Beck, but was himself defeated by the present Minister at the next general election. Colonel Leys was for twenty-five years a director of the Western Fair and instrumental in making it a success. He was also a director of the London Horticultural Society, the Masonic Temple Company, the Grand Opera House Company, and other enterprises of a semi-public character. Two sons, Dr. Bert, of Detroit, and Allan, London, and two daughters, Mrs. F. L. Evans and Miss Carrie, and a widow survive.

WOMEN REFUSE TO LIVE IN CEMETERY

Superintendent Gave up Job Because He Could Not Get a Wife

Bowling Green, Ky., Sept. 13.—Because he did not have a wife and was unable to get any one to keep house for him, Henry Somerville, of Louisville, today tendered his resignation as superintendent of Fair View Cemetery, this city. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the mysterious disappearance of Robert A. Boulston, also of Louisville, who is now insane in Ireland.

When the Board of Public Works elected Somerville he came here from Cave Hill cemetery, and seemed well pleased with his position. A day or two ago he suddenly disappeared, and today a letter was received from him in which he says:

"Gentlemen,—Having had the honor conferred on me of being elected to the position of superintendent of your beautiful cemetery, which I very much appreciated, but not being married, with no one to keep house for me, and not having been able to get any one, also cemetery too far for me to go to six meals I, hereby tender my resignation."

A SMALLPOX OUTBREAK

Disease Visits Merlin and One Family Has Been Quarantined

Chatham, Sept. 13.—The medical authorities report an outbreak of smallpox in Merlin, and claim that the disease was contracted from Dresden, where there was a mild outbreak a short time ago. One family has been quarantined. One of the cases is very severe.

Yesterday fire broke out in the barn of David Tolc, of Raleigh, Lake Shore, and consumed the buildings and all their contents, including over 1,000 bushels of this year's grain, together with hay, implements, and some horses. There is no definite report as to the cause of the fire, and the insurance is not reported.

TUESDAY'S POLICE COURT

Only One Case Engaged the Police Magistrate's Attention

At yesterday morning's police court the case of Mr. Conroy, who, as noted in a former issue of The Times, was charged with selling liquor after hours on Labor day, was tried. Mr. Conroy pleaded guilty to the first offence. No evidence was heard, and the magistrate, in summing up, said that, as the lowest fine for such offence was $30 and the highest $50, he would strike the medium, and imposed a fine of $35, to be paid under the usual conditions.

IN MEMORIAM

Dennis Condon, Who Died November 13th, 1904

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
That never can be filled.
He is gone from earth,
God called Him Home,
We know His ways are best.
He wonders why we weep.
You dear friend you've left us;
Your toil and cares are o'er;
In heaven we hope to meet,
But here, oh! never more!
In manhood's happy prime,
A mother's joy, a father's pride,
A brother kind and dear,
He bid farewell to all his friends,
And left this world of care.
Stricken upon an autumn noon,
'Twas hard to bid adieu.
Beloved friend thou lay at rest,
Asleep within the silent tomb,
Against the resurrection morn.
And though life's sky,
Seems clouded now;
Yet God's own time we wait
To meet and part no more.
So, let us mourn no more.
Jesus, whilst our hearts are aching,
O'er the victory death has won;
We would at this solemn parting
Calmly say, "Thy will be done!"

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purpose may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, or to the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

[1] At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

[2] If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

[3] If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

[4] If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses [2], [3] or [4] must cultivate 30 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 40 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Every intending settler will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in selecting lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

☞NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indigestion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back or my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were clammy, eyes became sunken, nervous and restless, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. NOW, AFTER TREATMENT at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic; I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are fully paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve ingures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the mine, together with those of the very best character, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $10 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

vancing and shaking hands with her visitor very cordially.

"I am charmed to have a peep at your robe of triumph, as I am sure it will be. It is quite perfect. Don't let me interrupt you, don't postpone the important study of dinner trousers, now that you are full of your subject."

"There is little more to be done. We were just hesitating whether to loop up the lace on the shoulders with small bouquets, or with ruby and diamond butterflies. What do you say, Lady Dorrington?"

"My dear Mrs. Ruthven, I am no judge. I never attempted to dress, I knew it was no use. I just wore solid, serious clothes."

"You have admirable taste, I am sure. I am inclined for the butterflies sparkling among the lace."

"I think, madame," said the dress-maker, deferentially, "there would be an elegant simplicity in the bouquets."

"If madame permits me to speak," cried the maid, in French, "I would say, the rubies and diamonds will be infinitely more distingue."

Mrs. Ruthven stood a moment gazing fixedly at herself in the glass, and then said, decidedly:

"I will wear the butterflies. Bring me a tea-gown, Virginie, and remember" (to the dressmaker) "I must have the dress complete by to-morrow, the changes you have to make might be done in an hour."

"Oh, madame! not in an hour!"

"I will return immediately, Lady Dorrington," said Mrs. Ruthven, not heeding her, and sweeping away toward her bedroom, the door of which stood open. "There is such a bad light in my room, I was obliged to come here to see how I looked."

Her attendants followed—and Lady Dorrington, taking up The World, which lay on the sofa, chose a comfortable chair and settled herself.

She had scarcely read half what The World says, when Mrs. Ruthven re-entered in a very becoming tea-gown—all creamy muslin and lace, lightened by tufty knots of soft crimson ribbon. She was an attractive looking woman, without regular beauty—a soft pale complexion, with a certain richness of tint—a very red-lipped mouth, somewhat pouting—a wide, low forehead, and large, dark, beseeching eyes. He hair was profuse—of a peculiar yellow, golden tint—and worn in a careless, irregular fringe—which gave orderly and narrow-minded people an impression of untidiness.

"And, you do not go direct to Eversleigh?" said Mrs. Ruthven, placing herself on the sofa and folding one foot under her, with Oriental suppleness.

"No. We have to go over a day or two to Bournamouth. Aunt Ilminster has been very unwell, and wishes to see me."

"Ah! the Duchess of Ilminster!" said Mrs. Ruthven, as if a little impressed. "But how will Mr. Marsden manage his preparations without you?"

"Perfectly well. He has excellent taste; he will order everything regardless of cost, and leave the payment to Providence."

Mrs. Ruthven smiled, thoughtfully, with downcast eyes, as she opened and shut a large feather fan.

"You are a little hard on your brother! He has a right royal nature—and—a fine estate."

"Yes. An estate that—with a little prudence, and a little ready money—would soon recover itself. I am always impatient with Clifford. He is quite old enough now to give up his follies and take to work, to ambition! There must be some dozen girls in the marriage-market with heaps of money, any one of whom would jump at Marsden of Eversleigh. Then Parliament, and a splendid career would be open to a man of his ability! I see him ambassador, secretary of foreign affairs—anything—in short," cried Lady Dorrington, laughing, "I am hard on my brother, because I know what he could do—and see how he wastes his life."

Mrs. Ruthven made no reply; she looked at her fan, and a slight color came on her cheek.

"I see you have his last photograph," resumed Lady Dorrington. "Bad boy! He refused it to me! Well, dear Mrs. Ruthven, tell me—how are you? I was so sorry to hear you had sprained your ankle."

"It was only a severe twist, and is all right again. I was foolish enough to let myself be persuaded to climb down some rocks at Ventnor, and suffered accordingly. One should always think of one's principles—and mine is to avoid unnecessary exertion, except riding. I now hope to dance at your brother's ball."

"He will be greatly disappointed if you do not. He looks to you to be queen of the fete; and I fancy the county is on the tiptoe of expectation respecting you also."

"Why! what can they possibly know about me?" asked Mrs. Ruthven, with a pleased smile.

"Oh! we are sad gossips in Blankshire, and deeply interested in possibilities which may affect us socially."

"Does not that Miss L'Estrange, who was staying with you last spring, live near Eversleigh?" asked Mrs. Ruthven abruptly.

"Yes, close by. She has a little property bordering my brother's, and is a distant cousin."

"A little property! I was in hopes it was a big one; for I have an idea Mr. Marsden was a good deal taken in that quarter, nor am I surprised; Miss L'Estrange is a charming girl."

Lady Dorrington glanced at her keenly.

"Oh! very nice, indeed, but I should never forgive her if she married Clifford; and he could not be so insane. He would not marry her. Indeed, a more inexperienced girl could never be so attractive to him as a woman of the world."

"It does not strike me that Miss L'Estrange is a mere ingenue. However, as her fortune is insignificant it does not matter," and the fair widow stifled a yawn. "When do you propose going to Eversleigh then?"

"The day after to-morrow—and you?"

"I am invited for the 20th, and I propose to arrive that afternoon. The ball is fixed, I believe, for Wednesday."

"Is there any one—any men, I mean—you would like Clifford to ask? I can send the invitations before I leave this afternoon."

"You are really too kind. I should not dream of exacting——"

"Oh! there is no obligation," interrupted Lady Dorrington. "We want a number of dancing men, and you may know some."

"The only person I can think of is Captain Shirley."

"Very well; what is his address, and who is he?"

"Mr. Marsden knows him already. He was in my husband's regiment. He is a good dancer and a presentable person. He has left the army, I believe, and his address is 'The Doric Club.'"

"Very well. Now tell me what you did and who you saw at Cowes? How do you like English life so far, and have any of our brilliant youths impressed your widowed heart?"

Mrs. Ruthven laughed low and softly.

"Life in England is very livable so far as I have seen it. With a few ingredients it would be delightful, and these——"

"Captain Shirley!" said a waiter, throwing open the door.

"There is an end of our gossip, my dear," said Lady Dorrington, "and I can not wait."

Mrs. Ruthven did not leave her seat. She held out a slim hand, which was somewhat darker in tint than her face and throat, and received the new-comer's profoundly respectful greeting with a quiet smile.

"Lady Dorrington, let me present Captain Shirley to you."

"We have just been speaking of you, Captain Shirley," said her ladyship blandly. "My brother, Clifford Marsden, is gathering his forces for a ball on the 23rd, and if you are disengaged and inclined to spend a few days at Eversleigh, we—I speak as temporary mistress of the house—shall be delighted to see you. There is good shooting, some pleasant people, and Mrs. Ruthven."

"Such attractions are not to be resisted. I gladly accept," returned Shirley, with a low bow.

"You must take the Oldbridge and Anchester line," added Lady Dorrington. "We will send carriages to meet the six o'clock train on the 21st. Now I must run away, dear Mrs. Ruthven."

The ladies kissed and parted, Shirley escorting Lady Dorrington to her carriage.

When he returned Mrs Ruthven had resumed her seat on the sofa, and did not speak for a moment. He stood looking at her in silence also.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE

Indigestion is Responsible for More Sickness in America Than Any Other Disease.

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. Repeated attacks inflame the lining of the stomach and cause the glands to secrete mucous instead of the juice of natural digestion. Consequently the blood is poisoned, nerve force is reduced, the vitality of the entire system is weakened. There is but one straight remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are being used by thousands with marvellous success.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give force to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he craves.

Under the vitalizing effect of Dr. Hamilton's Pills your system will soon rally; once more you'll enjoy the pleasures of health. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1; at all dealers, or by mail from N. C Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Sugar Factory May go on

There is still a possibility that the seemingly moribund sugar factory, may be erected, and a demand for beets created in this district. Mr. J. W. Garvin, late managing director of the Peterboro Sugar Co., is credited with saying that the Wallaceburg Sugar Co. will in November next arrange to purchase the property of the local company. Mr. Garvin who is an enthusiastic believer in the future of this enterprise, says that the Peterboro stockholders will get far value for their stock. Should Mr. Gordon of the Wallaceburg Co. take hold of this business, there is good reason to suppose there is a successful future for sugar making in Peterboro.

Mr. Jos. Mitchell Home

Mr. Joseph Mitchell, the well-known tonsorial artist, one of the oldest and best known of this city's barbers, a sportsman and lover of birds and dogs, has returned from a two months' trip to England. Mr. Mitchell sailed on the Allan liner Victorian, and had a rough voyage, which took twelve days. He spent the greater portion of his vacation in London, where he met many old friends. Mr. Mitchell was in Portsmouth during the visit of the French fleet, and saw the international motor boat races for the King's challenge cup. His return trip was made by the Allan liner Virginian, and again encountered a rough voyage.

THE RINK ASSURED

Street Railway Company Will Probably Build at or Near Jackson Park

As noted in a former issue of The Times, as probable, the Peterboro Radial Railway Company, has decided to establish a skating rink this winter, most probably at Jackson Park, and a refreshment stand will probably be one of the features in addition to the rink.

In conversation with The Times yesterday, Mr. Larmouth, who has made so signal a success out of the Jackson Park exhibition during the last few weeks, explained that the Street Railway Company's rink at the south end of the city, last winter, whilst satisfactory from a financial standpoint, was difficult to keep in as perfect a condition as he desired, owing to the soil which was not adapted to ice making, and that its exposed situation caused the snow to drift over every storm.

Whilst not definitely decided as to whether the coming winter's rink will be at Jackson Park or not, the patrons of the company can depend on getting good skating.

BIRTHS.

Peterboro People Wed in Toronto

A wedding was celebrated in Toronto yesterday in which both bride and groom are residents of this city. Miss May Alexander became the bride of Mr. Alex. Weddell, son of Mr. John Weddell, of Almeda, Sask. Both the high contracting parties are members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The groom has for many years been engaged here, in the insurance business, with Mr. W. H. Hill, of the Sun Life Co. The many friends in this city will wish them long life and prosperity.

Improvements at the Oriental

Mr. Geo. Graham, proprietor of the Oriental Hotel is having some important improvements made in this popular hotel. The billiard room in particular is being greatly improved. It will be re-papered, and have new fittings and furniture added. The large table, 6x12 will be recovered and supplied with new cues and balls. Mr. Wm. Willard, who is in charge of this department will now be in a position to cater to the most exacting of his numerous patrons. A new gold leaf sign is also being placed upon the front Cafe' window.

A Toronto Party Returning

Mr. H. H. Holland, manager of the Confederation Life Co., Toronto, who with his family have been enjoying an outing at Campbellton, and points on the Otonabee river, with his family arrived in the city yesterday en route home. They were the guests of Mr. F. C. Cubit, the Charlotte street sporting goods man.

Mr. Holland speaks very highly of the Otonabee both as regards scenery and the sport to be had with rod and gun. His son Regie, a few days ago, armed with a small calibre rifle, went a hunting along the banks. He returned laden with "A wild animal," which he suggested would be a valuable addition to the duck stew. However on examination, the wild animal proved to be a ground hog, and was not used for culinary purposes.

IS IT INSANITY?

Vest, Watch and Whiskey Found in River's Brink

The nucleus for a scare heading, with several columns of conjecture turned into pseudo facts, for some of our esteemed contemporaries of this Dominion, was discovered on the bank of our placid Otonabee yesterday afternoon. A conductor employed by the local street railway company, yesterday afternoon, had his attention drawn to a small heap of wet and dry goods lying on the river's bank, near Point St. Charles. The conductor naturally investigated the matter, and found the pile to consist of a man's waistcoat, with a silver watch in one pocket, and, most inexplicable perhaps of all, a quart flask, almost filled with seemingly a good quality of what, in prohibition townships, surreptitious purchased, is called "square drummond," or plain English, old rye.

The deduction drawn by our amateur editor is that the final points to either suicide by the river route, insanity or crazy drunk. The first possibility is argued out by this experienced solver of enigmas, as resting in the fact of one tired of the world and its temptations leaving valuables beside the water, and having taken only one born to nerve him for the fatal plunge, besides leaving said goods to propitiate the gods for his sins; the insanity theory is too well based on the fact of a whole flask, almost full, together with sufficient collateral to treasury gather, being abandoned, to require comment; the drunk possibility, what not beyond reason, is hard to credit, owing also to exhibit "C," the snake bite antidote. Until further light is thrown on this matter, we candidly admit that we are puzzled, but will report in to-morrow's issue the solution of this mystery if possible.

In the mean time any one who has lost a vest, watch and nearly a quart of whiskey, by naming age and make of the latter, as well as identifying the watch, can procure same from Chief Bagel.

A Store Improved

With that strenuous striving after all latest improvements that characterizes the merchants of Peterboro, and with a view towards having his place of business equal in appearance with its reputation of many years' standing, Mr. Dickson Davidson, proprietor of the old time drug store doing business under the trade name of Ormond & Walsh, has had his store decorated and improved. The most notable improvement is observed in the ceiling which has been covered by a modern embossed metallic plating, embellished with pretty designs stamped in strong alto relievo. The alcove, between ceiling and walls, for some distance down is finished in the same material to where it meets the wall paper. The latter is a handsome ingrain green, which in contrast with the rich oak fixtures and fittings, presents a very attractive tout ensemble. Mr. Davidson, although a young man has established a large business, constantly increasing, and insists on his establishment being in line with the best and most modern ideas.

No Quorum

The meeting called for 8 o'clock a.m. yesterday by the Board of Health, did not materialize, owing to want of a quorum, only two members, Messrs. Eyres and Schneider, being present, whilst it requires four to make a quorum. The meeting had been called to discuss and take action on the Barnardo avenue sewer and other matters. As noted in a former issue of The Times, the Provincial Board is now taking action on the objectionable and dangerous sewer being built from the Craig House at Lakefield to carry the sewerage of that hotel into the Otonabee.

Methodist F. M. S. to Meet Here

The Board of Managers of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada, will meet in the George Street church, Peterboro, on Tuesday, October 17th. There will be a meeting of the Billeting Committee at the close of the prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. All ladies of the congregation who are willing to entertain delegates are asked to send their names to Mrs. A. W. Creegman, secretary of the Billeting Committee.

Work on New Switch-board

Work on the new switch board, which on arrival in the Bell Company's office was described in detail in these columns is now being rapidly pushed to completion, so that all subscribers will soon be speaking through the newest and most modern switch board now controlled by the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Jas. Hadwin, in charge of the switch board connections, assisted by Messrs. R. Burton and Chas. Box, all three expert men in this branch of telephone construction work, are completing the connections.

These gentlemen say that the new switchboard has only one rival in Canada for completeness and satisfactory work, that recently placed in North Toronto. The one now in the Bell Company's office has however secured later improvements that make it unique in perfection.

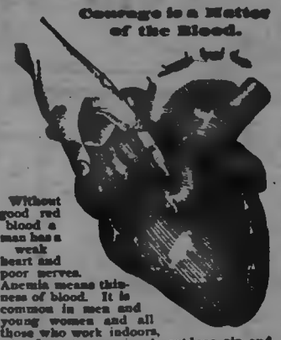
Courage is a Matter of the Blood.



Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Anemia means thinness of blood. It is common in men and young women and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough outdoor air and good oxygen in their lungs. There are too many white blood corpuscles in such cases, and there is often a peculiar sound in the heart, called a murmur, in cases of anemia. This heart murmur is caused by thinness of the blood passing through the heart. The murmur of anemia disappears when the blood regains its natural redness and richness. It is not heart disease. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart, which is not heart disease, but caused by the stomach. It is the occasion of much anxiety, alarm and suffering, for which its victim is dependent upon reflex disturbances from the stomach caused by indigestion. In the same way many bad coughs are dependent upon these reflex disturbances of what is called the pneumogastric nerve. To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which promotes digestion and assimilation of food so that the blood gets its proper supply of nourishment from the stomach. Get as near to nature's way as you can. A medicine made entirely of botanical extracts and which does not contain alcohol is the safest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol or narcotics. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best liver pills.

MORTGAGE BURNT

Park Street Baptist Church Now Free of All Indebtedness

On Tuesday evening, that progressive corps of Christian soldiers, the Park street Baptist church, with their energetic pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, witnessed a most pleasing ceremony, in which tangible proof of business management tinged conclusive evidence that the Lord's good work inspires and opens the purses of, his followers of the above congregation.

For two years, pastor and people of the Park street church, have labored hard, and not in vain to eliminate the debt on their church, which was well described by Deacon Gillespie.

A large audience was present and were greatly impressed by the ceremony of burning the mortgage, and by the significance of such action. A short address delivered by Rev. Dr. Thomas, formerly pastor of the Jarvis street Baptist church, Toronto, who, upon the previous evening, lectured in the church.

After the devotional services had been concluded Deacon Gillespie gave a detailed history of the church, from its early days. He referred to the visit paid to Peterboro by Rev. Alex. Grant, Superintendent of Home Missions, when Rev. Mr. Parker was pastor, and how this far-seeing gentleman had, urged the formation of a mission school here. He noted that on a Sunday in August of 1888 a Sunday school was organized on Dalhousie street, with Mr. R. J. Kidd as superintendent, when the attendance was limited to twenty. In November 1890, upon the resignation of Rev. Mr. Parker, Rev. J. E. Trotter was placed in charge of the church.

Shortly after the Sunday school's inception, $600 was left it, with other local schools, by the late Mrs. Mercolls, which was paid over some three years later. A building lot was purchased, $170 being paid on it. During 1892 the Sunday school was opened, and dedicated, Rev. Mr. Trotter preaching in the morning. In 1893 the average attendance was 54. In 1895 some 34 members of the Murray street congregation applied for and were granted permission to form the Park street church. The following officers were elected;

Deacons—Mr. A. L. Grover, Mr. T. G. Gillespie, Mr. E. K. Hase.

Clerk—Miss M. E. Mann.

It was another important resolution, decided not to accept exemption from taxation. In 1896 the building was enlarged, $400 being borrowed for the purpose. In 1899 a suitable mission house was erected at Indian River, at a cost of $747. In 1899, Mr. G. S. Matthews gave the church $75 and $90 was borrowed from Miss Mann. In 1901, Rev. Mr. J. H. Hannah, B.A., was appointed.

The present efficient pastor took charge of the church in 1903. Mr. Gillespie spoke very feelingly of the good work done by the present incumbent. The ceremony of burning the mortgage was performed by Revs Brace and Dr. Thomas surrounded by Deacons Gillespie, Kempt and Barrie. As matches applied the flames which wiped out all evidence of debt on this church, those present were greatly moved. Everyone arose and joined heartily in singing the Doxology, which was, indeed, upon this occasion, a paean of rejoicing.

Appropriate remarks were rendered eloquently by Rev. Dr. Thomas, when, after letters of regret had been read, the meeting closed in the usual way.

DEEP SEA ROMANCE OF THE CARMENCITA

Said to Have Planned a Raid on the Seal Rookeries, but Hunters Became Suspicious--Boat is Now in the Hands of the Officials at Victoria, B. C.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 14.—Collector Newbury to-day seized all papers aboard the schooner Carmencita, and will hold an investigation into the alleged irregularity of Capt. McLean, who is accused of shipping guns in California for the purpose of a raid on the seal rookeries. McLean claims Mexican register and is flying the Mexican flag.

The press correspondent at Victoria, B.C., says, in an age when romance is passing even from deep sea navigation, there remains, to those who revel in tales of adventure, much to stimulate the fancy in the doings of the opium smuggler and the seal poacher. Both of these enterprising free lances of commerce are found in Victoria, which has long been a base of operations along both lines. Some of the drawing card hunters who "whoop it up" in Wharff street saloons after the season's cruise could, if they would, unfold tales which would make the creations of the writers of fiction seem tame by by comparison.

The opium trade has by reason of a decline in the value of the contraband, as much as through the vigilance of Customs officials fallen off greatly, although there are still dusky-colored sloops frequenting the little bays near this city, whose business seems to take them to sea only at night. Taking on their cargoes under cover of darkness from a cache known only to their confederates and themselves, these little craft creep in the darkness past the wooded shores of the unnumerable islets which dot the straits and sound between here and Seattle. Hiding in day, traveling by night, careful not of time, but only of secrecy, a few of these daring navigators still make a good living in a traffic which the law declares to be illegal.

RAIDING SEAL ROOKERIES.

The same is true to a great extent of the sealing trade. Here great secrecy must be observed if a rookery is raided, for confiscation of the boat and imprisonment of the crew and hunters would follow detection. Still, for the gain to be obtained, there are still those who will take the chances. Indeed, some of the skippers who pilot the schooners out of this port have reputations for dare devil recklessness in breaking the law and evading the consequences. Of that number is Capt. Alex. McLean, skipper of the schooner Carmencita, now on the coast, but wanted by the authorities on general principles.

The Carmencita, because of the reputation of her skipper, as well as owing to the record of the ship, and her peculiar movements, was an object of concern to the officials from the time she came north to Victoria last March to outfit ostensibly for the Mexican trade. It was under the Mexican flag that she obtained register, and she cleared from Victoria for Acapulco. She had then on board about a dozen hunters, but practically no crew. The hunters were compelled to navigate the ship until Drake's Bay, about thirty miles from San Francisco, was reached. Here about thirty men, most of them of an unprepossessing appearance, were taken on, and before the authorities could get into touch with the mysterious craft craft, she had cleared and stood out to sea.

EVADED U.S.S. GUN BOATS.

From this point her voyage proceeded, not south to Mexico, but to the north, and a few days later she was reported from the west coast of Vancouver Island, into which she had put for repairs and water. From this point again she continued north, spent some time in Behring Sea, from which point strange tales of her escapades reached the outside, and a day or two ago arrived back again on the west coast after evading the gun-boats sent out by the United States Government to apprehend her.

The stories told by the hunters of the hard-handed days, midsea chase McLean was evidently bent on mischief, but the hunters becoming suspicious of him notified him that they would not hunt, and he was compelled to return. Provisions ran short, and one of the ship's officers, Capt. Thomas died. But the crew made no raid, and had no conflict with the guards, as reported on this coast. In fact, McLean seems to have spent most of his time keeping out of the way of passing steamers.

On his arrival on the coast the Collector of Customs summoned him to appear before him to explain his erratic actions, while United States warships have been despatched to pick up the vessel as soon as she comes out of Clayoquot.

DISGRACE STARES DE WITTE IN FACE

Russian Mission, Which Sails To-day, Apprehensive of Its Reception in St. Petersburg

MARTENS IS NEW ENEMY

Law Expert, Disgruntled at Portsmouth, Joins War Party; May Influence Czar to Dishonor Envoy

New York, September 15.—The Russian mission has sailed, and was given an enthusiastic send-off. It is wondering what kind of a reception will be accorded to it when it shall arrive in Russia.

The members do not conceal their apprehension that the Emperor and the war party will shoulder upon M. de Witte the responsibility for making peace "harmful to the dignity and honor of Russia."

Since the agreement was reached at Portsmouth, M. de Witte has received only one cablegram from the Emperor in regard to his conduct of the negotiations, and that was couched in language showing that the agreement was not satisfactory to his Majesty, although he was compelled to approve of it.

It has been expected by the enthusiasts at Portsmouth when M. de Witte's achievement appeared so large to the members of his suite that he was bound to be rewarded by the Czar. The chief Russian plenipotentiary does not expect a reward. Nor does any member of his suite. On the other hand, they fear they will be criticised sharply.

"If they only treat us decently and let us stay in St. Petersburg," said one of the members of the mission yesterday, "we will not complain. The treaty is unpopular. They think we have done shamefully, whatever may be thought elsewhere. In time, we may be commended; not now."

Further inquiries developed the existence of a condition of affairs in the mission itself which was not thought to be the case at Portsmouth. Prof. Martens, the well known Russian international expert, and M. Chipoff, who is connected with the finance ministry, stayed away from the Portsmouth navy yard in order not to be present at the signing of the treaty.

Martens was disgruntled all the way through the negotiations. He was not admitted to the conferences and laid the blame for his ostracism upon M. de Witte and Baron Rosen. He would not accept the explanation of the Russian envoys that the Japanese positively refused to admit him.

GOLD IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Metal Has Been Found in Paying Quantities for the First Year

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 14.—T. Mathewson & Co., Ltd., New Glasgow, have under construction a complete gold mining outfit for Newfoundland. The plant will consist of a crusher, engines, boilers, tools and concentrating tables.

The company for which the plant is intended is known as the Goldenville Mining Company, and is largely composed of St. John's people. They have been conducting development work for some time.

A shaft has been sunk on the body to a depth of 150 feet. Samples have been carefully selected as the sinking was prosecuted and shipped to Libby's Mill at North Brookfield, Queen's County, Nova Scotia, and they have tested with sufficiently gratifying results as to warrant the company in erecting a milling plant.

This is the first mine in Newfoundland where gold has been discovered in paying quantities and the Mathewson plant will be the first one to be erected there.

CANADA WOULD BENEFIT

Old Arguments as to Value of Preference Advanced in London

London, Sept. 14.—A correspondent of the Times, in the course of an article on immigration into the North-West, thus sums up possible results of a preferential on Canadian wheat; "It would divert the whole British emigration which now goes into the United States in the best section of this prosperous colony and vastly increase the northward drift of prairie farmers across the forty-ninth parallel of latitude, and by threatening the transference to Canada of one of the pivotal industries of the United States, compel Washington to offer a reduction of the American tariff, which was devised as a weapon against Canada."

THRESHING DELAYED

Rain General Throughout Manitoba To-day--Ever Increasing Number of Land Seekers

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—Rain is general in Manitoba to-day, and threshing operations are at a standstill in most districts. The effect of the big harvest is seen daily in the ever-increasing number of land-seekers coming in from the States.

An echo of the commission held before Judge Morson last year in connection with an English divorce case, to investigate into the actions of Col. Lynn while temporarily residing in Toronto, cropped up at Osgoode Hall this morning. Mr. J. E. Cook is suing Mrs. Lynn and her English solicitors for expenses which were then incurred amounting to $465.

NO SURPRISES IN NEW TREATY

Terms of Alliance With Britain Will Counterbalance Portsmouth Treaty

Paris, Sept. 15.—The Foreign Office has received a despatch from the French Minister at Tokio, saying that calm has been re-established, but that the Legislature, as a precautionary measure, continues under military guard.

It is the present intention to postpone making public the text of the new treaty between Great Britain and Japan. The officials here were advised that the first plan was to make it public in London and Tokio last Monday, but Japan asked for further time (probably on account of the internal disorders, and it was thereupon arranged to let the publication go over for a month, when it is expected the texts of the treaty of alliance and of the Portsmouth treaty will be officially communicated to the public at the same time, as the two documents are expected to counterbalance each other with the Japanese public. However, it is possible that action of the Japanese Diet upon the treaties may lead to a postponement of the publication of their texts beyond a month. In the meantime, it is said that the new Anglo-Japanese alliance does not contain surprises outside of the main features summarized in these despatches, Sept. 7, but that in addition the agreement covers secret clauses, known only to the contracting parties, and which will not be made public.

DRASTIC ACTION IS REQUESTED

France and Germany Tired of the Performances of President Castro

A CRISIS AT HAND

Franc and Germany Urged to Take Drastic Action

New York, September 15.—A Philadelphia despatch to The Tribune says that information has been received there to the effect that diplomatic notes have been received at the State Department in Washington from both France and Germany requesting, in diplomatic language, early and drastic action by the United States in Venezuela. The French cable incident and the embarrassments inflicted on the German Railway interests have brought about relations and conditions far from agreeable to President Roosevelt.

The diplomatic notes in hand, interested persons in Philadelphia are told, [illegible] advices even more startling than any of the publications thus far given out, concerning the performances of President Castro.

The general feeling in Philadelphia in circles having close connections with Venezuela, is that a crisis is approaching with reference to the French, German and American interests.

CHAS. E. CONRAD COMMITTED SUICIDE

A Well-Known Montrealer Ended His Life With a Revolver

Montreal, Sept. 15.—Since the death two weeks ago of Charles E. Conrad, one of the best known men in Montreal, there have been many persistent rumors of foul play or suicide. It was announced at the time of his death that it was due to apoplexy, and the press chronicled accordingly.

It is just learned that Conrad ended his life with a forty-two calibre revolver at his summer home at Dorion while his wife was out walking. Remarkable efforts to keep the matter quiet were successful until to-day, when Coroner McMahon admitted that it was a case of suicide.

Conrad belonged to a very wealthy family, but his father died 4 years ago, and his step-mother and he were not friendly.

It was known for some time that he was financially embarrassed, and tried to get insurance policies upon his life aggregating $100,000. He was at one time the best scrimmage foot ball player on the Britannias.

CHINAMEN ENTER PROTEST

Chinese Propose a Boycott Against Canada

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 15.—The Chinese colony of Halifax is evidently going into politics. They assembled in Chinatown, and under the guidance of their English sympathizers passed the following resolution which may be the beginning of a boycott against Canada, similar to that against the United States.

"Whereas, Chinese residing in Halifax are prohibited by Government officials from holding any communication with their countrymen in transit, and, whereas the transportation companies have no objection to the Chinese in Halifax visiting their countrymen in transit, therefore, resolved, that in case such prohibition is not immediately removed, we recommend:

1. The giving of as much publicity as possible to the unjust treatment of Chinese;

2. That we make a complete investigation into the treatment of Chinese in bond by the Government officials of Canada.

3. That we advise the merchant guilds of China of this unwarrantable interference with the Chinese of Halifax, on the part of Government officials.

JAPAN PREPARES TO REAP HARVEST

After War's Turmoils Will Buckle Down to Triumphs of Peace

PREMIER GIVES GOOD ADVICE

An Organization Formed for Development of Foreign Trade

Tokio, Sept. 15.—In spite of the strong undercurrent of indignation pervading all classes over the terms of peace arranged with Russia, typical business men here are following a wiser course without repining over an accomplished fact. An important organization, representing 81 leading business interests, has been formed under the presidency of M. Iwade, a millionaire, which aims to work for the development of home industries and foreign trade with redoubled energy. A significant feature of the organization is that it consists of a wealthy and conservative element, representing an enormous combination of capital, its interests and energy will be principally directed towards the exploitation of trade with Korea and China. The organization is prepared to co-operate in this direction with foreign capitalists.

PREMIER'S GOOD ADVICE.

In a speech before the local Government to-day Premier Katsura said, "The peace negotiations brought about through the good offices of President Roosevelt have been concluded. During the 20 months of hostilities the war was successfully carried on with an united national support. Your earnest and efficient efforts in guiding the people of your respective localities are fully appreciated. Now that peace has been restored, your further efforts are desirable in dealing with post bellum measures so as to afford full play to the enterprising energy possessed by the nation in no remarkable a degree.

"The national energy must be so guided as to realize an expansion and development commensurate with the extent of its victories.

"It is highly regrettable that disturbances have occurred in the capital, but we hope that your localities will remain at peace.

"In enforcing restrictive measures over the press, promulgated by an urgent ordinance, you are required to be guided by moderation. We hope that under your experienced guidance the nation will fully realize the fruits of its victories."

RIOTING AT YOKOHAMA.

Yokohama, Sept. 15.—During the rioting that followed an anti-peace meeting last fourteen police stations were wrecked and forty policemen injured. The Government regarded to an appeal for aid from the authorities by sending troops. The police say that the meeting was the private speculation of a professional agitator, who charged an admission fee.

KOMURA RESTING QUIETLY.

New York, Sept. 15.—Baron Komura the Japanese peace envoy, who is ill at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, was resting quietly to-day without apparent change of condition since last evening. The doctors disagree on the typhoid fever diagnosis.

NORWAY FOR WAR

Charter Transport to Convey Troops and Ammunition

NO HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

Contraband Steamer Loaded With Rifles Overtaken and Sunk

Copenhagen, September 15.—The National Tidende prints a dispatch from Frederickhaven stating that the Norwegian steamer Harold has been chartered by the Norwegian Government to convey troops and ammunition to a destination which is kept secret.

Christiania, September 15.—The tone of the Norwegian newspapers indicates that the negotiations between the commissioners of Norway and Sweden regarding the dissolution of the union have reached an impasse, Norway being unable to accept the conditions laid down by Sweden.

The Dagbladet, commenting on Sweden's refusal to discuss an arbitration treaty until Norway had accepted the Swedish conditions, declares that even war would be preferable to a peace bought at the expense of national humiliation.

Helsingfors, Finland, September 15.—Customs officials on Saturday discovered 600 carbines of Swedish manufacture, with bayonets and 150,000 cartridges, on a barren island in the Gulf of Bothnia, near Kemi.

Sunday morning a boat belonging to the customs service discovered a 200-ton steamer loaded with rifles and ammunition near Kalfskaer rock, twenty miles outside of Jacobstad. The customs officials ordered the captain to take his vessel into port and discharge the cargo.

The steamer proceeded towards the shore. Suddenly several explosions were heard from the steamer, and the customs officers on returning found the vessel sinking and her crew in lifeboats disappearing hurriedly towards the south. The officers immediately pressed into service a number of fishermen, who unloaded most of the rifles and ammunition on the beach. A

7000 BULBS ORDERED

Horticultural Society Will Inspect Lawns and Gardens To-day

The Peterboro Horticulture Society, to whose intelligent labor, and hours of valuable time devoted gratis for creation of a love of floriculture and beautiful gardens among our citizens, met last night in the office of its President, Mr. D. W. Dumble. The president occupied the chair, and after a few remarks on work of the society, called the meeting to order. Among other minor matters of business transacted, it was decided [illegible] annual inspection of gardens and lawns for prizes, and a committee was appointed, consisting of the President, Messrs. Hill, Beale, Dr. Burnham and Jordan. The committee will perform this duty this afternoon.

The society ordered that some 6,000 to 7,000 high class tulip bulbs be purchased for distribution among the members and for decorating Victoria Park.

Few, among the thousands of visitors who every summer enjoy and admire the beautiful beds, well kept lawns and carefully trimmed trees of Victoria Park, ever reflect on the debt all lovers of this tastily kept park owe to the Peterboro Horticultural Society.

BASEBALL.

Mr. Chris Graham has received a letter from Chancer Elliott, secretary of the Brantford Western Ontario League team, stating that his team will tour eastern Canada and New York State, and asking for a game with the Peterboro club between Sept. 19th and 22nd. The Brantford team is one of the fastest in Ontario, and line up as follows—Elliott, c.; Colwin, Hickey, and "Knotty" Low, p.; Dale, 1b; Burke, 2b; Brennan, 3b; Lepper, ss; Lovely, lf; Daly, cf; Ross, rf. It is possible that the game may be arranged.

The Midland Baseball League championship will be decided by a sudden death game at Port Hope on Saturday, September 23rd, between Peterboro and Cobourg. This is in response to communication between the Cobourg team and Manager McEwan, and is a compromise, Cobourg not being able to get a full team to Peterboro. The locals will, in all probability run an excursion to Port Hope for the game, and there will likely be quite an attendance of Peterboro sports.

• • • •

Peterboro will not be ruled out of the Midland League, despite Pearl dear Pethick's wire-pulling. At the meeting held in Port Hope Wednesday, attended by Manager McEwan, both Port Hope and Cobourg sided with the local team. Pethick now tries to crawl by laying the blame on Port Hope, but this is too thin.

FIXED AT $10,000

Central Milling Company to be Assessed on $10,000 for ten Years

The Manufacturers' Committee met last night and, after transacting the usual routine business, took up the application of the Central Milling Company, for a fixed rate of assessment on the same basis as had been given to other industries. It was decided to fix the assessment of this company the same as that of the Peterboro Cereal Company, Simcoe street, at $10,000 for a period of ten years commencing January 1st, 1906. The meeting then adjourned.

Splendid Record of Makasa

Togo's Splendid Battleship Believed to be a Total Loss.

Tokio, September 15.—It is believed the Mikasa will be a total loss. Universal sorrow prevails over the destruction of the noble ship.

At the battle of the Sea of Japan Admiral Togo, as the engagement was about to open, flew the following signal:—

"The destiny of our Empire depends upon this action. You are expected to do your utmost."

In that battle the Mikasa was the heaviest loser of all the Japanese ships, having sixty-three killed and wounded. She approached nearer to the Russians than any other battleship.

According to one report of the engagement, in a conning turret a lieutenant at Admiral Togo's side was wounded with a splinter from a shell, and Togo went on his knees and lifted up the young officer. After the battle, when he arrived at Sasebo, Togo allowed no one to land, and himself did not leave his ship till he visited the captive Russian commander, Admiral Rojestvensky.

The Mikasa was also the flagship of Admiral Togo after the great battle fought off Port Arthur, on August 10th, 1904, when the Japanese also suffered the most, but continued in the fighting line.

On that occasion the Mikasa had four officers and twenty-nine men killed, six officers and twenty-nine men severely wounded, and four officers and twenty-nine men slightly wounded.

The Mikasa was a first-class battleship of 15,200 tons displacement. She was built in England and was launched in 1902. The battleship was 432 feet long, had 75 feet beam, and drew 27 1-4 feet of water. She had 16,401 indicated horse power, giving her a speed of over 18 knots, and carried a crew of 875 officers and men.

Her armored belt was four to nine inches thick, her deck was protected by three inches of armor, she had six inches of steel on her sides above the belt, her bulkheads were protected by twelve inches of steel, she had fourteen inches of steel armor over her heavy gun positions and six inches of steel over her secondary battery gun positions.

The armament of the Mikasa consisted of four twelve-inch guns, fourteen six-inch guns, twenty twelve-pounders and a number of smaller rapid-fire guns. She had four submerged torpedo tubes and carried from 700 to 1,870 tons of coal.

MR. VAN EVERY WEDS

Mrs. Lois Rush Hodgson Becomes the Bride of a Retired Merchant

Yesterday afternoon a gentleman well known in this city, formerly a successful dry goods merchant, Mr. William VanEvery, took to himself a wife, in the person of Mrs. Lois Rush Hodgson, daughter of the late Mr. Thos. Rush. The wedding was celebrated quietly, only the immediate relatives and friends of the high contracting parties being present, at the residence of the bride, 180 Brock street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Maher, rector of All Saints'. The bride was quietly, but richly, attired in a white silk waist, smartened with embroidery suspella-trouz, with skirt of seal brown ladies' cloth. At the conclusion of the ceremony the usual wedding dejeuner was served, and Mr. and Mrs. VanEvery, dispensing with a wedding journey, repaired to their future residence, 388 Rubidge street, followed by the congratulations of numerous friends.

Both bride and groom, the former a lover of music and herself a talented musician, are both too well known by many of our citizens to require a lengthy personal history; suffice to say that both Mr. and Mrs. VanEvery will receive the hearty congratulations of many friends.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Meeting Held Yesterday Morning to Discuss Sewers and Other Matters

A meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday morning in the city clerk's office.

Those present were; Messrs. R. Neil, chairman, Eyres, Parker, Scheider, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, and Chief Rousel. A letter was read from the Provincial Board of Health, Toronto, which says:

Toronto, Aug. 30th, 1905.

Dear Sir,—Your favor of the 29th to hand regarding the action of the local board of health, re Barnardo Home, and also complaint regarding the emptying of the sewage of the Lakefield House into the river. I am writing the clerk of the municipality of Lakefield, notifying him that the same is illegal and must be prevented. I would advise that your board keep a watch over the same, and if necessary take legal action to prevent the pollution of the river. Believe me.

Yours truly,
CHAS. A. HODGETTS
Secretary Provincial Board of Health.

A report from Mr. T. A. Hay regarding construction of sewer from Barnardo Home, west of the Public school was received. Several accounts were read and passed, when the meeting adjourned.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

Before we close our review of Telephone conditions in Europe we wish to add a few general statements which will tend to a fuller comprehension of the situation.

In England owing to the number of long distance lines, no one is allowed to hold a conversation of more than six minutes duration. This is a harrassing condition which would rob the long distance telephone of a great deal of its usefulness and would not be submitted to by the business men of this country.

In Great Britain telephone subscribers are required to make a deposit in advance to guarantee payment of long distance tolls. When the deposit is exhausted it must be renewed before further service will be given.

Calling for long distance connections is entirely by number and the full charge is exacted whether the party wanted is obtained or not. If the number asked for is in use locally at the moment, an enquiry charged is enforced.

In Canada, a particular individual can be asked for and if the party is not obtained there is no charge.

The conclusion of the expert testimony before the Special Committee was that Government operation of the telephone in European countries has been a blight on development, has maintained rates higher by far than the rates charged in Canada; and generally resulted in poor service. The limited license system adopetd in Great Britain has restricted growth, for the reason that capitalists would not invest in a Company whose right to do business expires within a few years. It was stated in evidence that $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 additional capital per annum might have been employed profitably in the extension of the telephone business in Great Britain for years past, but capital could not be obtained in view of the expiring Government license.

The Government itself, apparently will not provide the capital to increase long distance facilities, although there is, admittedly, a great deficiency of lines to meet the demands of the public. There can be only one of three conclusions—either the Government is purposely driving the business to the telegraph service, or it will not invest more capital in an unprofitable business, or it is indifferent to the requirements of the public.

Judging by the results of the Government operation in France and elsewhere, matters in Great Britain will be worse instead of better when the whole telephone service of the country is taken over by the Post Office Department. This seems to be the view of the Chairman of Edinburgh Municipal Telephone Committee, who in his evidence before the Special Committee expressed his concern at the prospect of the Government taking over the telephone exchange service throughout the country, as it meant increase of rates. He might have added, prospective inefficiency.

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and its anxious, tired feeling is still there. Don't neglect this gradual decline; it can't cure itself. But by forming rich, pure blood, Ferrozone will quickly supply the nutriment and building material your system craves.

Instantly you are aware that some powerful force is building up your depleted energies. Day by day you feel braced, toned, strengthened. Search the world over and you won't find anything to take up a weak system like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the most strength-creating, uplifting medicine ever discovered.

No more spells of tiredness, but bounding, active health when you take Ferrozone. Mrs. H. N. Gold, of Hanover, Ont., speaks in the following words of praise:

"I state my case because I think it may assist other women to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffering from nervousness, and hysteria. Little things going wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments but they didn't help. He said my low condition was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous and was made so by Ferrozone."

Why not cast aside the claims of sickness and enter the bright, happy life of robust health. Let Ferrozone help you—let it cure you once and forever. Price 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

END OF THE VACATION SEASON

The vacation season is now about over. There will be stragglers out all this month, but most of the grand army of vacation-takers have had their week's or two weeks' or months' furlough and have returned or are returning to camp. Some are no better off than they were when they left. Some are worse off. They neglected, before they set out, to learn the most important thing about a vacation, which is, how to take it. They went to summer resort hotels and ate what they ought not to have eaten, drank what they ought not to have drunk, danced too late, and spent too much. They are coming back depleted financially, physically and mentally. They are returning to work not rested but to rest.

A great majority, however, are returning tanned, healthy, happy, and ready for business. They have walked, rowed, fished, bathed, rested, eaten meals which at home would have foundered them, and had a fine time. And they are glad to get back. When the weary city man went away he wished he was going for good. He felt he never would wish to come back to the city's incessant, nerve-racking tour, to its dingy, fetid atmosphere, its grimy buildings, its hustling and hurrying unsociableness. He hated the thought of the business or professional grind from which he had just been emancipated. It is a different city he returns to from the one he left. Its roar is not near so loud and dissonant, its atmosphere not near so foul and disgusting, as he imagined. The business or professional grind, it might be thought, from the alacrity and enthusiasm with which many jump into it again is, and ever was, the chief joy of their lives. The average Canadian thoroughly enjoys a vacation three times—when it begins, while it lasts, and when it ends.

The beneficial effects of their vacations will continue to be felt by most people until the vacation season comes again. They will find their work easier than if they had not gone away from it for a time; a burden is always a good deal lighter after it has been laid down awhile. And they will be able to do their work better and do more of it. Canadians do more business and make more money during the rest of the year than they would in the whole year if they did not take vacations. While vacations are a good investment from the cash standpoint they are a still better one from the happiness standpoint, which, after all, is really the only one from which things are deserved to be looked at. People who know what to do with a vacation not only get enjoyment out of it while it lasts, but, between the memory of the fun they had last summer, the improved health they enjoy as a result of it, and the fun they anticipate having next summer, they get more pleasure than they otherwise would out of the rest of the year, too.

EIGHT YEARS OF WAR

Since April, 1897, the earth has has only a few months' rest from war. Four great struggles have taken place on the four continents, to Europe, North America, Africa and Asia, not to mention the minor revolutions in South America, Kitchener's expedition to Khartoum and the relief of Pekin. In the eight-year interval tens of thousands of lives have been sacrificed and hundreds of millions of dollars wasted.

This remarkable series of hostilities began with Turkey's declaration against Greece on April 17, 1897. In a brief campaign of 31 days the Greek troops were overwhelmed and Russia intervened. By the treaty of Constantinople, signed December 4, 1897, Greece was compelled to pay an indemnity of $18,000,000. Four months later the United States and Spain were fighting. War was declared on April 25, 1898, and on August 12 peace protocol was signed. The formalities were not concluded until April 11, 1899. The Filipino insurrection bridged the gap to October 11, 1899, when war broke out in South Africa. The peace of Pretoria was concluded nearly 24 months later on May 30, 1902.

Then came an interval of peace lasting 20 months, followed by the greatest war of all, which is to be ended by the treaty of Portsmouth after a year and a half of fighting.

This is a bloody record for civilization to look back upon for the concluding years of the 19th century and the opening half decade of the 20th. At a terrible cost in lives and the fruit of human endeavor Spain has been deprived of its colonial empire, the South African Republics have been annexed to British dominions beyond the seas and Russia has been driven out of Manchuria. The results could have been obtained infinitely cheaper through arbitration. But the day when that stage of civilization shall be reached seems to be yet far away.

BRITISH CRUISER THERE

Quebec, Sept. 13.—Major Levasseur has received a letter from his son Paul, who is one of the crew of the S.S. Arctic now in the Hudson's Bay district. The letter is dated at Port Burwell, Ungava Bay, Aug. 18, 1905, and deals with conditions at Professaine Bay, Cape Laurier, etc. The letter was brought to Newfoundland by a British war vessel recently returned from an exploration trip up north.

Mr. Levasseur states that upon arrival at Port Burwell on August 16 last the members of the Arctic crew were much surprised to find the British cruiser Scylla there. Among those on board was Sir William McGregor, Governor of Newfoundland. This vessel brought the mail from the Arctic.

Up to the time of writing the steamer Neptune had not arrived with supplies and coal was very very scarce on board the Arctic.

On August 18 Captain Bernier of the Arctic delivered a lecture on the North Pole on board the cruiser Scylla. The lecture was given on the invitation of Governor McGregor.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories (excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes), may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration Winnipeg or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Section 16 of the Act must cultivate 20 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

Little Journeys

At Little Cost

To the scenic land—short trips from Denver and Colorado Springs into the mountains—made in a day and at slight expense—that is one of the enjoyable pastimes of Colorado.

Denver has at least a dozen such trips that are worth while; for instance: Around the Georgetown Loop, to Platte Canon, to Greeley, to Boulder and to Ward "up the Switzerland Trail."

Colorado Springs will keep you occupied for as long a time as you can stay. You should go up Pike's Peak, over to Cripple Creek, to Manitou, through the Garden of the Gods and to North and South Cheyenne Canons.

You may also go beyond the state to Salt Lake City and Ogden. Special reduction for all these trips to summer visitors.

The trip to Colorado is also a pleasure. Quick, convenient service via Rock Island System. Two one-night trains daily from Chicago—one two-nights train. Through daily trains from St. Louis and Kansas City and through daily sleeping car service from Memphis.

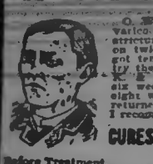
VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the morning? Don't neglect your kidneys. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.



C. E. Reese, of Jackson, Mich., says: I had varicocele in the secondary stage and two strictures of 8 years' standing. I was operated on twice, undergoing great suffering, but only got temporary relief. I was finally advised to try the NEW METHOD TREATMENT of Drs. K. & K. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of locating were very poor; however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $5 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

height, well but slightly made, with a dark, keen face, the features small and well cut, piercing black eyes, the expression of which was in general carefully guarded. He wore a small thick moustache, the rest of his face was clean shaven, the blue-black of a naturally strong beard showing clearly through the skin. From head to heel he was perfectly, freshly dressed, and had an air of extreme neatness.

"Well," said Mrs. Ruthven at last, raising her eyes slowly to his, "you see I look after your interests. I have managed this very pleasant invitation for you, and I imagine we shall meet a very good set at Mr. Marsden's."

"You are extremely good to me in all minor matters," said Shirley, drawing a chair near her sofa.

"With which you must be satisfied," she said calmly, adding after an instant's pause, "and thankful."

"I am thankful! I am very thankful for the little note in which you warned me you would be in town for two or three days, and would talk over the suggestion I made, instead of refusing it at once. How long do you remain?"

"Till Monday! I have not as yet such a circle of acquaintance, nor such a multiplicity of invitations as would enable me to fill up a spare day or two."

"I fancy you command society pretty much as you like."

"No, Shirley!" she returned with sudden earnestness, raising herself on her cushions as she spoke, "English society is a bigger thing than either of us imagined. I have a good start, that is all. The want of family connections is a serious matter. Then having been at school in Paris till I went out to join my father, is another drawback. If I had married Robert, a man of more importance than poor Charlie, and returned with him here, I should have made a place for myself; but I shall do it all the same, only it will take more time. I have no basis for my operations, except my late husband's relations."

Shirley made a slight gesture of assent. "I suppose," he said, "you believe that what you call a position in London society, is worth the trouble it will cost?"

"I do," thoughtfully. "I have, as you know, many other pastimes, but when I weary of them, this ambition always remains to occupy me!"

Shirley knocked the top of his cane softly and reflectively against his small white pointed teeth.

"I was a fool," he said somewhat abruptly, "to dream I could persuade you to marry me."

"Was," she echoed quickly, with a slight smile, "I think you were."

"You are charmingly candid! Well, Mrs. Ruthven, have you thought favorably of my proposition?"

"To appoint you my trustee in the place of my father's old ally, the late Mr. Burgess? No, my dear friend! Not at present, at least."

"But you do not entirely reject me! You must feel sure no one could be so devoted to your interests as I am."

"I am quite sure no interest would come before mine, save one, and that is your own."

Shirley showed all his white teeth in a pleasant smile. "You are very keen, but you do me an injustice," he said, "and believe me your interests need looking after; I have been making quiet inquiries and I find your present and sole trustee, Clifford Marsden, has been in a very shaky condition, for some time, but has lately been evidently flush of cash—cash which I suspect is yours."

"Oh! nonsense," carelessly; "Marsden may be a spendthrift, which after all is only suspected, but he is a man of unblemished honor."

"I don't believe in unblemished honor," observed Shirley calmly.

"Probably not," she returned, "I am in no hurry, and I should like to consult Mr. Marsden as to a second trustee. It suits me to stand well and on confidential terms with my late husband's relatives."

"No doubt; and," with a keen glance, "should this especial relative become his successor, a delay in naming the second trustee might save trouble in case a new settlement is required."

"Precisely," said Mrs. Ruthven with much composure. "I should certainly accept Clifford Marsden were he to ask me. The position as his wife would suit me exactly. But I do not think he will; unless, indeed, he wants my money very much. He is not a bit in love with me, nor I with him; but it might do. Indeed, I am now old enough to feel that marriage is too important a matter to be confused with love! I was always accustomed to this view of the subject in my school-days, but stupidly allowed a whim to blind me when I married poor Captain Ruthven, who was really very nice."

"Well, I wish all success to your platonic scheme! But at the same time, I should advise you to take every possible precaution as respects the trusteeship. I have generally observed that honor is blemished or unblemished very much in proportion to the degree of temptation to which it is exposed. You must remember that, save myself, you have few old original friends, if any, in England; and in all sincerity I am devoted to you."

"I am really inclined to believe you," said Mrs. Ruthven with a soft smile, and seductive up-turning of her eyes, "so I will try and do you a good turn. At Eversleigh you will probably meet a very charming girl—a cousin of the Marsdens; she has a small property (I will inquire into its value), and if worth the trouble you might win and marry her. I will give you all the help I can."

"You are very good. As an abstract idea, I am not a believer in marriage, but I am open to conviction. Since I left the service to live on my private fortune, I have not done so badly; what with a little luck on the Stock Exchange, and a little judgment in making a book—"

"Take care, all gambling is risky, but as you do dabble in such matters, I wish you would give me an idea how I can get more than three and a half per cent—that is all I need—for forty or fifty thousand pounds?"

"Fifteen hundred a year! Can your highly honorable trustee do no better for you than that? You must have a weak spot in your heart for him, or you would never stand it."

"There is no question of weakness," she returned scornfully. "Our relations, if any ever exist between us, will be purely a matter of calculation."

Shirley looked down with a slight incredulous smile, and Mrs. Ruthven watched him with a glance of fierce intense anger. Quickly recovering herself, she added, with insolent indifference:

"Believe or not, as you choose."

"I much prefer believing," returned Shirley. "Now, what are you going to do the rest of your exile here? Will you come down to Oxford with me to-morrow? It is one of the places you ought to be able to talk about!"

"If you will come back and dine with me at 7.30 to-day, I shall have made up my mind, and tell you."

"To hear is to obey. I shall be here punctually; and in the meantime I will think over the question of investments! Three and a half per cent! The God of Love himself must have blindfolded you before you submitted to such robbery."

"As you like," returned Mrs. Ruthven coldly and carelessly, "so good-morning, and au revoir."

Shirley kissed her hand with an air of gallantry, and left the room.

When the door had closed on him Mrs. Ruthven sprung up with the quick feline grace of a tigress Darling to her writing-table she seized the photograph of Clifford Marsden, and stood for a moment intensely still, gazing at it. Then she murmured:

"Purely a matter of calculation," and laughed aloud. "Only a matter

Consequently it requires an internal treatment—one that will restore the blood, and thereby relieve the cause of the pain.

After years of experiment Dr. Hamilton succeeded in producing a remedy that quickly cures rheumatism, gout and all uric acid disorders. This marvellous cure has been given to the public as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills; in every case they cure quickly.

By toning the kidneys and liver, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure a clean healthy body. The blood is restored to a normal healthy condition, renewed vigor is imparted to overworked organs, and thus the general health is built up, and no room is left for rheumatism to creep in.

Discouraged sufferer, relief is at hand. Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and you will soon shake hands for good with your old enemy. Here is substantial proof:

A Cripple's Story of His Cure.

"This is a glad day for me," writes James E. Brownell, of Mitchell, Ont., "because I can speak of my permanent cure of rheumatism. I have been all through the aching days and sleepless nights, have spent my money on worthless remedies, and consequently in succumbing Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I feel sure of their merit. No remedy gave such relief or did me so much good as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My rheumatism they cured, and ever since my health has been perfect."

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to be had in any drug store, it's foolish to live on in misery and ill-health. You ought to get this medicine today and cure yourself. Yesterday the flag floating over St. John's church denoted that a festival was to be celebrated. Communion service was held in the Monday and was attended by a large number of communicants. Last night the church, beautifully decorated with appropriate designs of autumn products, testifying to the bountiful harvests granted this country. At the evening service, which comfortably filled the edifice, Rev. R. J. Moore, Rector of St. Margaret's church, Toronto, preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon. The music, which had been specially selected, and adapted to the occasion, was well rendered, showing as a result of practice by a well selected choir. Mrs. K. Hardley-Wilmot rendered a most pleasing solo, in her usual excellent style, during the offertory.

GOW RELEASED

Four Sureties in $1,750 Each Put up His Bail

Yesterday afternoon Charles Gow, charged with killing T. E. Hill, the young lad shot in Dummer, last month, was released from his detention in the county jail. The liberty is, of course, only temporary, as he will have to stand trial at the Assizes on a charge of manslaughter.

The bail was fixed by Judge Weller at $7,000. The four sureties, who are bound for the sum of $1,750 each, are: Geo. G. Taylor, John Darling, David Miller, and John F. Gow, father of the young man.

Before the bonds were accepted, the four sureties had to appear before County Magistrate Geo. Edmonson, and after the conditions of the bond had been explained to them, signed it.

Police Court
OFFICIALS
Chief of Police, C.T. Reid
Magistrate, D.W. Dumble

The first case, at yesterday morning's court was that of three small boys, charged with bathing in public on Sept. 12th. In answer to a question by his Worship, "How much clothing had you on?" the largest boy, acting as spokesman for the trio, answered "None." The magistrate made a reference to swimming baths, advising them to consult the councillors as to public baths. The boys had been swimming at a boat house on the way to the Cereal Co. The boys were allowed to go with a warning.

A local Englishman, was charged with having been drunk and raising a disturbance in his residence near Smith street bridge.

The complaintant said on the 12th Sept. there was a great disturbance in defendant's house, and he heard language he would not care to use in court. The row started about ten minutes before midnight, and kept him awake. Quite a few people gathered on the streets. Would judge they were drinking. The Englishman asked several questions, to establish that the windows of the houses were only four feet apart.

Complaintant's wife says the language used that night "Was simply disgraceful," and such scenes had occurred before.

A third witness who lives three doors from defendant, heard the disturbance, which was made mainly by the children.

A lady living on Downie street, heard children scream, but no bad language used.

Defendant, in the box, swore he only took two glasses of lager. The disturbance was a row between himself and his eldest son. Had not seen his wife that evening, as she was in bed before he came home. Result $2 fine with $2.60 costs to be paid in ten days. The magistrate said this kind of family row might go in England but not in this country.

STEALS AN ENGINE.

Eleazer Babcock, a young man who, after the trial, informed the Times that he had been separated from several farmers in Carlwright, near Lindsay, and who is married, with his wife in Lindsay, was charged "With having stolen, taken and carried away a locomotive, No. 2093, the property of the Canadian Pacific Railway," on Wednesday evening.

The magistrate put the usual question in serious cases, "Do you elect to be tried by me or by a jury?" the prisoner said he was not guilty and proposed to be tried by a jury. His Honor having explained that in such case, he would have to await his trial, by the judge in court, for perhaps a month, the prisoner asked, "Can I go until the trial?" "Yes," said his Worship, "if you have $1,000 in your pocket to put up for bail." "Good Lord," said the prisoner despairingly, "where would I get $1,000. The prisoner, who was drunk the preceding evening seemed either still under the influence, or non compos mentis.

The history of the crime with which Babcock is charged, began, as do too many crimes, with whiskey.

It seems that Babcock, whilst under the influence, wandered into the C.P.R. yards, where an engine, near Thos. Rebell's ice office, was standing. For reasons known, or unknown to himself, he jumped into the cab and pulled open the engine's throttle wide. The engine, at once responding to the 90 odd pounds of steam let into its cylinders, started westwards until it ran into the open switch, which fortunately prevented its going on a mad race, causing death and destruction to what ever train and passengers it would have collided with.

P.C. Stewart was summoned at once and arrested young Babcock. A wrecking train was sent here yesterday morning from Havelock, which got the locomotive back where it belongs, on the tracks.

W. Hole an east side boy, will appear at this morning's court to answer to a charge of firing off a gun within the city limits.

Yesterday a young man named Chas. Healey had a horse and buggy, and a big jag; the horse was old, a veteran who had handled many a ton of freight on a cart, but the jag was young, husky and of the nature that impels its owner to do anything that subtlety would discountenance. Healy gave quite an entertainment to the store keepers and others along Charlotte street during the morning. He drove up and down this street, between George street and the G.T.R. tracks quite a number of times, beating the horse with whip and rein ends, yelling "get up, Mollie," and similar terms of encouragement to his steed. Once the horse, as the outfit neared the G.T.R. tracks, as a train was crossing the street, seeming to recognize that its driver was incapable, took matters, and the bit into its own hands (to use an hibernianism), and promptly turned round and made for George street. Here was the beginning of the end; the horse was tired of its Charlotte street trips and refused to go up that thoroughfare again.

Healy drove up to the vicinity of St. John's church and was upset, cutting his face badly. Nemesis, in the shape of the chief, was on his track, and Healy ushered up in a cell during the afternoon, and, last night was allowed to go but will appear in the court this morning to explain the whereas of the jag.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

A mother's love is so divine that the roughest man cannot help but appreciate it as the crown of womanhood. However, Motherhood is looked forward to with feelings of great dread by almost all women. At such times a woman is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable, and she is in need of a uterine tonic and nervine, a strength builder to fit her for the ordeal. No matter how healthy or strong a woman may be she cannot help but be benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to prepare for the event.

This is what one mother says:

"With a heart overflowing with gratitude I will endeavor to write you. It is nearly two years ago since I first wrote to you for advice regarding my health which was then very bad," writes Mrs. L. Pearce, of Bloesdale, Ky., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting surgeon of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N.Y. "I have described my sufferings in other letters to you. After receiving your advice and the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser' I bought [illegible] and the good mother of a dear little boy."

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century.

How to live in health and happiness, is the general theme of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work on medicine and hygiene, containing over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers.

THE BULLET'S COURSE

What the Doctor's Will Report as Result of Autopsy

As noted in yesterday's issue, Doctors Young and Bradd, who, on September 12th, performed a post-mortem examination on the body of young Hill, slain in Dummer, have not yet made their report public, handing it to the crown authorities. The Times, however, learns that the report will state in effect that the body was five feet in length, weight 100 pounds, and in regard to external appearance the body was in a putrid condition, with a small circular wound appearing on the posterior of the external wall of eleventh ribs, one half inch to the left of the spinal column, one half inch in diameter. In front of the thorax (cavity of the chest), immediately below the clavicle (collar bone), and one-half inch to the left of the sternum (breast bone), a circular wound was found, five-eighths of an inch in diameter.

Internally—On opening the chest cavity and tracing the wound from above, downwards and backwards, it was found to extend from a point at the lower margin of the clavicle, one-half inch to the left of the breast-bone, a distance of ten inches—a continuous performance of pericardium (sack enclosing the heart), left side of heart, left lung and diaphragm. The tenth rib was fractured where it joins the spinal column. The opening in the back was opposite the space between the tenth and eleventh ribs. The right lung was normal, left lung collapsed. The heart was empty, and normal in all other respects.

By following carefully the course taken by the bullet, as inferred from the coming report, which will probably agree with the above, the boy must have been leaning forward in a semi-recumbent position.

Turned Too Quickly

Yesterday as the driver for a local lumber company, was driving along Charlotte street, he made too quick a turn, with disastrous results to the Charlotte street Methodist church fence. His conveyance, was two pairs of large wheels, joined by a pole some thirty feet long, such as is customary for transporting long timbers or poles. As he neared Reid street, on his way west along Charlotte, a street car came quickly round the corner at Park street. To escape collision with the car, the driver made a quick turn on Reid at the corner of Charlotte street, forgetful of the pair of wheels, fully six feet in diameter, trailing behind him. The sudden turn caused the hind pair of wheels to vault the Methodist church fence, both wheels badly tearing the upper coamling and breaking away the pickets. Strange to say the wheels did not upset the first collision the driver had of his trespass on church property, was when he felt them jump from the top fence coamling.

John Burns May Come

The local Trades and Labor Council have authorized Mr. C. P. Murty, Peterboro's delegate to the congress meeting in Toronto, next week, to invite Mr. John Burns, M. P., now in Canada, to visit this city. It is not beyond possibility that this well-known member of the English House of Commons, may accept the invitation; in this case he would probably address a large meeting during his visit here. Should the invitation secure Mr. Burns' presence here, it would be a world-wide advertisement for Peterboro.

FEARS THAT PEACE MAY UTTERLY FAIL

Russian Nation Believed at Last to be Stirred Over Action of the Czar

LONDON SPECIATOR DRAWS MOURNFUL PICTURE

Predicts Another Big War as an Outcome of Russia's Defeat and Lost of Prestige.

London, September 15.—It is becoming more evident every day that the "peace of Portsmouth" has not brought about that universal tranquility which was so greatly desired. From many quarters come expressions of doubt that the two Emperors involved in the negotiations have acted in perfect good faith or that they are content with peace on the basis arrived at. No less an authority than the London Spectator, coldly conservative and never given to inciting alarms, says: "Peace may endure, but there are somber shadows in the picture which no unprejudiced observer can content altogether to ignore. The rulers of the world, in spite of peace, are sullen, of anxious, or disappointed."

Another London writer asserts that the advent of peace is not an unmixed blessing to Russia. "Lovers of peace in their humanitarian desire to stop the war in the Far East," he says, "lost sight of the emancipation of the Russian people. As a result the clock of civilization in Russia has been turned back for a century." Since the outbreak of the Russian war with Japan every week has witnessed progress toward the final domination of the people in the government. The bureaucracy was weakening fast under the onslaughts of the revolutionists and the ukase establishing a national assembly was only a concrete expression of a long step toward abolishing absolutism. No student of Russian affairs can believe either that the Czar willingly made this concession to his riotous subjects or that he sincerely expected to carry out the plan of allowing the people to share in the administration of the government. It was merely a bait thrown out to the wolves that are pursuing the Romanoff dynasty in the hope of securing temporary security.

The Czar's only hope of preserving peace at home is to provide a diversion abroad; to institute a safety valve for the escape of popular passion and resentment at the failure of the war and the disgrace it has brought upon the fatherland. The nation is arousing into powerful activity. From the sluggish torpor of centuries the people of Russia are stirring, and there must be some field for their activities or this mighty force will be turned against the dynasty. The Spectator hints at a resumption of the war with Japan. It declares:

"The court at St. Petersburg didn't expect peace, but desired another battle, wherein it hoped for victory, and is sullen at what it considers an unnecessary loss of its prestige in Asia. The Czar, in a message to General Linevitch, reveals irritation and disappointment, and the irritation of an autocrat often produces disastrous consequences. He cannot violate the treaty of Portsmouth, but it is as much open to Nicholas to make some of its consequences an excuse for a new and speedy war as it was for Napoleon to resume hostilities after the peace of Amiens. There will be many occasions for declaring that the action of the Japanese in Manchuria is menacing to the future of Russia."

This is a most significant expression from such a source. But the view is supported by other great newspapers, and more than one Continental editor has given the opinion that conditions in Europe are far more critical at the present time than when attention was diverted to hostilities in the Far East.

RUSSIA'S LESSON NOT SUFFICIENT

Maxim Gorky Says Czar Has Yet to Learn

POLAND'S TERRIBLE STATE

Even Worse Than Ever Before, Says the Great Novelist

London, September 16.—The correspondent of the Standard at St. Petersburg sends an interview which he had with Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, at his temporary home in Finland, whence he will shortly return to Moscow to be present at productions of his new dramatic works. Gorky said:

"I have no doubt that the conclusion of peace has strengthened the hands of the Government, nor have I any doubt that the weakness of the Government would have been our opportunity. Apart, however, from any effect that peace may have upon the attainment of political liberty, our colossal country ought to end. We have no mission to colonize, for we have more of our own than we can civilize in a century, and besides we have nothing to give to others."

The novelist then referred to the terrible condition of Poland and the Caucasus which had been left to degenerate instead of being developed, and said:

"I fear that our lesson has not been thorough enough, and we shall return to schemes for Asiatic expansion, instead of devoting our energies to domestic affairs."

Without sharing the views of the Liberals, who welcomed peace for various tactical reasons, one of them being that the returning soldiers would await the demand for political reform, Maxim Gorky expressed the opinion that war abroad would be no worse than civil war at home, such as the Government had instigated in the Caucasus and which was being waged on a smaller scale throughout the country.

He said, however, that he did not despair of the cause of freedom, and was confident that the peasants, no matter in what matter they might be elected, would surprise the Government by their insistence on liberty, and once that liberty was obtained, "there is bound to be marvellous unfolding of the spiritual and intellectual faculties of the people."

A MONSTER ONION

A Spanish Onion Weighing Nearly Four Pounds in Town

A few days ago a car load of onions imported direct from the large plantations, of W. Abri, Denia, Spain arrived in the city. These grand specimens of this succulent but strong smelling vegetables, were the finest specimens that ever came to Peterboro. They are packed in open crates, and out of the whole carload, there were not half a dozen spoiled onions.

Mr. Arthur Rountree, the energetic George street grocer, whilst unpacking a crate yesterday afternoon found one onion that, in all probability is a record of its kind for this city. The onion, which was stuck firmly between slats on opposite sides of the crate containing it, was as large as the head of a small child, but, although, from its bright silvery looks would appear light, when placed on the scales was found to weigh exactly three pounds, fourteen ounces. Mr. Rountree has promised the onion to a leading restaurant keeper as an attraction for his window.

GENERAL BOOTH BUSY

Head of Salvation Army Offers Settlers to Both Australia and Canada

London, Sept. 16.—Gen. Booth has asked Hon. Mr. Deakin, the Australian Premier, by cable whether he can place in Australia 5,000 families, not destitute, to be available this coming winter.

Contrasting Gen. Booth's Australian scheme with H. Rider Haggard's Canadian idea, the Chronicle says the General's Salvation Army has a fondness for acting whilst other people are thinking, and offers Australia to supply settlers more numerous than contemplated by Haggard's Canadian scheme.

Interviewed by the Chronicle regarding his scheme, Gen. Booth said, "The Salvation Army is now engaged in reducing emigration to a system by which on a large scale able-bodied men, wives, and families may be fitted to earn a living in another country. Last year the army sent a thousand to Canada, and only four or five turned out failures. Canada can swallow up people by thousands, but there are other countries besides Canada open for the purpose."

Will Not Ask for Bonus

Stratford, September 16.—Mayor Ferguson has received a letter from Mr. J. W. Leonard, manager of construction of the C. P. R., stating that after discussing with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy regarding the question of building a branch line through Stratford, it has been concluded not to ask the city for a bonus.

Should the C. P. R. eventually decide to come to Stratford, the company will ask only for the right of way controlled by the city, and will finance the route of the right of way themselves.

THE WORLD'S FAVORITE

Pianos Manufactured by Heintzman & Co. Toronto, Excel all Rival Makes

Since the little jingling spinnets, which were the fore-runners of our grand pianos, ascending the steps of improvement in manufacture, and passing the age of the first improved pianoforte of Clementi, one of which is now preserved in the Tower of London, to the present modern masterpieces of the manufacturers art, the world has never excelled in beauty of appearance, richness of tone, and durability, those splendid pianos made in Toronto by The Heintzman Co.

All judges of music, all skilled critics of technicalities of make and adjustment, and the world-acknowledged masters of players art, combine in saying that for every purpose the Heintzman piano holds a place inferior to none and superior to the majority of other makes.

The most noted, and widely advertised pianos of the celebrated English and European makes, whilst wonderful in their depth of tone and beauty of finish, and possessing all qualities demanded by the most fastidious purchasers abroad, lack the something essential to standing the vast variations in our Canadian climate, that the Heintzman possesses in such perfection.

In our own city the great majority of our best families possess and declare for this grand Toronto instrument within the past few years, of all the high class pianos sold in Peterboro, whether square, upright or grand, it is safe to say that seventy-five per cent. were Heintzman & Company's.

It is interesting to note the celebrated artists, singers and musicians who prefer the Heintzman piano; among such well qualified judges, who recommend this make of instrument, we might mention:

Nordica, the world's greatest Prima Donna.

Muriel Foster, the beautiful English Contralto.

Mendelssohn Choir, exclusive choice of their famous concerts.

The People's Choral Union, H. M. Fletcher, Conductor, used exclusively at their crowded Massey Hall Concert.

Alberto-Jonas, great Russian Pianist.

Friedheim, the world-famed Pianist.

Katharine Bloodgood, Soloist to the Plancon Concerts.

Hubert de Blank, Pianist to Mdlle Trebelli.

Burmeister, famed pupil of Liszt.

August Hyllestead, the great Danish Pianist.

Adela Verne, greatest woman Pianist.

Arthur Beresford, Boston's famous Musician.

C. A. G. Harriss, Organizer of the great Mackenzie Festival Concerts.

Madame Albani, the world's greatest Soprano

Pol Plancon, the great French Basso.

R. Watkin-Mills, England's most eminent Artist.

Signor Arthuro Nutini, the celebrated [illegible] Pianist.

William Lavin, the great English Tenor.

Mlle. Antoinette Trebelli, the famous Vocalist.

Madame Sophia Scalchi, the world's greatest Contralto.

Harold Jarvis, the popular Tenor.

Mr. and Mrs. Derward Lely, the famous Scotch Musicians.

Ben Davies, the popular English Tenor.

Jessie Maclachlan, the great Scotch Soloist.

Plunkett Green, the great English Basso Cantato.

David Bispham, the great American Basso.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Director Conservatory of Music.

A. S Vogt, Conductor famous Mendelssohn Choir.

Mr. F. H. Torrington, Director of the Toronto College of Music.

W. O. Forsyth, Director Metropolitan College of Music.

W. Caven Barron, Director of the London Conservatory of Music.

That the Heintzman & Co. pianos lead all the Canadian makes for the world's market is beyond dispute, as is the fact that even the most costly European makes will not stand the climate of this country as well as these masterpieces of the Toronto firm's manufacture. Canada should feel proud of having so perfect an article made in so young a country.

A WORKER

Mr. C. A. Gregg Addresses Men at C. G. E. Company

Great interest has been excited in local Y.M.C.A. circles by the present visit to Peterboro of Mr. Geo. A. Gregg, of New York City, secretary International Committee Y.M.C.A. for Educational Department.

Mr. Gregg has certainly been a busier since his arrival to look after educational matters in the interests of his vast and noble society. He has visited factories and enlisted the attention and sympathies of their several managers and foremen. Through the kind permission of Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the C.G.E. Co. Works, Mr. Gregg spoke to the employes at noon yesterday, and was heard with attentive interest.

ANOTHER GONE

Charles Wagg, Witness in the Hudson Murder Case Gone

As noted in a former issue of the Times, Manley Cole, Havelock, an important witness for the prosecution in the trial of Patrick McAuliffe, charged with the murder of Fred Hudson, has gone to Buffalo; now another important witness, Charles Wagg has disappeared. Wagg resided in the city at the time of the murder and his evidence would have had a strong bearing on the trial of McAuliffe at the next assizes, but has been out of town for some days. He apparently has gone to rFench River to work in the shanties.

If many more witnesses in this important trial get out of the way, it will seriously handicap both prosecution and defence.

NEW WAR CLOUD IS LOOMING UP

Strained Relations Between Greece and Roumania

AMBASSADORS HAVE QUIT

War May Involve Other Nations—All Depends on Roumania

Bucharest, Roumania, September 15.—The relations between the Government of Greece and Roumania have become strained. M. Tombazis, the Greek Ministers here has left the country on an unlimited leave of absence after receiving a note from the Roumanian Government, which immediately sent orders to the Roumanian Minister to Greece, M. Ghica, to leave Athens.

The cause of the trouble between the two Governments is the refusal by Roumania of the demand of Greece for compensation to those who have suffered by the pillaging of Greek shops and maltreatment of Greek subjects during the recent demonstrations here, and for satisfacton for the burning of the Greek flag by demonstrators at Gurgevo. The Greek Government also complained of the general insecurity of Greeks in Roumania, several having been expelled.

All depends on the action of Roumania whether war will follow or not.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.I. Read

Magistrate, D.W.Dumble

The only case occupying the attention of the court yesterday morning was that of an eleven-year-old boy named William Hele, from the east side. Hele was charged with firing off a gun within the city limits.

It seems that P. C. Stewart, a few days ago, whilst in performance of his duties in our youngest ward, heard shots fired on James street, near the Little Lake. An investigation proved that young Hele was firing at a mark in his father's yard. Next door to the Hele residence lives a family where a number of small children live. The officer took the gun away from the youthful marksman and took it home. Shortly afterwards, Hele's father came to P. C. Stewart's residence and raised peculiar polemics over his boy being deprived of his rifle. The officer tried to calm his visitor's ruffled feelings by explaining the danger to near by children and citizens in general, offering to give Mr. Hele the rifle once provided he would not allow the boy to use it again. Mr. Hele, however in indignant sentences, told the officer he would "carry the matter to Toronto."

An information was then laid and at yesterday's court, the youthful transgressor of the law, pleaded guilt. His Worship remarked at some length on the danger of firing of guns, and particularly rifles, in the city, as the projectile might kill some innocent party at a great distance. He imposed a fine of $10 to be paid within ten days.

In the matter of using a rifle within the city limits, one has only to recall the case of a few years ago, when Miss Thornton was killed by a stray bullet from just such a rifle as used by young Hele, a 22-calibre. The neighbors, when interviewed by a Times representative yesterday, living near the Hele residence, expressed great satisfaction that this shooting danger had been stopped.

A HORSE DEAL.

Yesterday afternoon a young man came to the police court and asked advise as to what action he should take in a horse deal in which he seems to have come out second best. According to the complainant's story, on Thursday night he bought a horse from a local dealer for $150. It seems that the dealer had only procured the animal in a trade that night, but had driven it into the city from a little beyond Jackson Park. When the complainant made the deal he paid $5 down, and the balance, $95 yesterday morning, on the dealer's assurance the horse was sound. Shortly after paying his balance due, on the horse, the buyer took it for a drive and claims now, it is so badly knocked out with the heaves as to be absolutely worthless. The chief recommended the buyer to interview the Magistrate, and if so advised by him, to swear out an information.

As the case may lead to an action in the courts, we withhold both names until next issue.

A SCOTCH DRUNK.

Yesterday morning an elderly man with an accent broader than the distance between him and Scotland, the land of his birth, was arrested in a condition that must have taken many wee drappies to have created, on McDonnel street. The old man was not only "under the influence," but was begging for the money to put a gilt edge on his jag. In answer to a question put by a Times' representative, after his arrest, the prisoner said his name is John Stuart, and claims Ottawa as his home. He has lived also in Perth, Ont., and says he came to Peterboro to get work. His trial will take place this morning.

A DANGEROUS DRINK is impure water. It brings on diarrhoea, cramps and piercing pain in the bowels. Counteract the effect of bad water with Perry Davis' Painkiller. Take it in your grip when you travel.

THE MYSTERIES OF BANKING

A Well Known Son of Erin in Trouble

A rather amusing incident is reported to have occurred the other day in the Ontario Bank. Our informant states that a well known son of the Emerald Isle presented a check for payment to the teller.

"Do you know any of the staff here?" asked the teller.

"No, sor," replied Pat.

"Well, then, you will have to be identified in some way."

"What's that?" asked the now confused Irishman.

"Why," explained the teller, "you will have to get some one whom we know and who knows you to come in here and identify you. You might be anybody, and we want to be sure that we are paying Patrick Rafferty."

Pat looked dazed and went over to a seat, and for ten or fifteen minutes looked stupidly at the check.

Finally he approached the wicket again, with the most dubious look imaginable on his face, and said: "Say, young feller, if I'm not Pat Rafferty, who the divil am I?"

A PRETTY WEDDING

Amid Flowers, Miss Sarah Pilling Becomes the Bride of Mr. W. J. Rome

A pretty house wedding was solemnized Thursday night at the residence of Mr. William Pilling, 14 Bolivar street, when his daughter, Miss Sarah was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. John Rome. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The drawing room in which the ceremony was performed, was appropriately decorated with flowers.

The bride looked charming in a gown of dove gray silk, trimmed with point d'esprit and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Pilling, sister of the bride, and Miss Elsie Winter, of Port Hope. Miss Pilling was charmingly attired in blue silk, trimmed with rose point lace and chiffon, and carried pink roses. Little Miss Winters, a charming maid of honor, was attired in a white silk dress, with white lace and chiffon trimmings.

The presents were numerous and valuable. The guests included friends from Port Hope, Toronto, Keene and Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Rome will take up their residence at 10 Bolivar street.

A HEALER WHO MAKES THE DUMB TO SPEAK

Restored Hearing and Speech to Eleven-Year-Old Girl, and is Said to have Performed Many Other Equally Startling Feats.

Bedforth, Sept. 16.—Robert Sharman, a man of middle age, wearer of black clothes, but having the appearance of a prosperous mechanic, is the sensation of Huron county to-day.

Sharman came here three weeks ago, and registered at the Queen's Hotel, giving his place of residence as the Northwest Territories. His business is that of a healer.

Today he is credited with marvellous cures, and for the past two has had from two hundred to four hundred callers every day. It is claimed that his cures run into the hundreds.

FLOCKING TO SHARMAN.

Men and women are flocking here from every part of the country. The hotels are crowded with persons anxious to meet Sharman and test his curative powers.

It is like a Fair day in the town. Farmers drive in from many miles around, always with some sick one to present. Often the cases are pathetic. Patients are brought in resting on beds, barracks and gravel wagons, which have been turned into temporary ambulances. At the hotel, where Sharman makes his headquarters, it is often impossible to crowd through the corridors.

The fame of the man has spread abroad, until stories of the most miraculous cures are told with every sign of credence, and the whole countryside is apparently ready to stake its reputation upon the genuineness of the healer.

HE'S MODEST.

Sharman does not heal by faith. He asks no questions of the patients, his system being merely the laying on of hands.

For himself he accepts none of the glory. He does not even claim to be the seventh son of a seventh son.

"It is the work of God," he says, "I am in His hands, to do His will. When I discovered that I had this power, I quit my work as a machinist."

The healer is about sixty years of age.

He does not refuse any case that is presented to him. He claims to have operated upon a woman for cancer of the liver a few months ago, and to have met with success.

HIS FIRST CASE.

Sharman's first case here was that of a hotel habitue, a sufferer for years from rheumatism. He was afforded relief in a few minutes, it is alleged. Within a week, it is claimed, Sharman had healed twenty cases.

THE TEST.

Sharman's method of healing is simple. He lays his hands on the head of the patient, and prays. Then he passes his hands down the body, and prays again. Then he lays his hands on the head and prays again.

Sharman claims that he has no power of himself, but that he is merely the instrument of God.

Today he is credited with marvellous cures, and for the past two has had from two hundred to four hundred callers every day. It is claimed that his cures run into the hundreds.

HIS FIRST CASE.

Sharman's first case here was that of a hotel habitue, a sufferer for years from rheumatism. He was afforded relief in a few minutes, it is alleged. Within a week, it is claimed, Sharman had healed twenty cases.

What is considered reliable proof is also given of other remarkable cures effected by the "healer."

The case of Robert Mason, of Clinton, is cited for an example. Mason, it is said, fell from a building, 11 years ago and broke his back. It is alleged that he was treated in the Toronto and London hospitals, and that the doctors removed two and one-half joints from his back bone. His friends say he was never able to put a foot to the ground, but after an interview with Sharman he could walk with the aid of a stick, and is growing stronger.

William Tyner, of Summerhill, was unable to leave his bed for two years and eight months. For thirteen years he moved about only with crutches. In half an hour Sharman enabled Tyner to dress himself, walk to his stable, and sit at dinner with his family.

OTHER CURES.

James Dicart, of Zurich, was so badly tied up with rheumatism he could not move from room to room. Sharman was driven out to see him. Dicart was in town last night, in perfect health.

Mrs. Charles Cluff, of Tuckersmith, said to be the worst case of rheumatism in the country, a confirmed invalid, was treated last Sunday. Now she can go about with difficulty.

Mrs. Nichols, of Seaforth, had her fingers so badly stiffened by rheumatism, her hands were useless. Some fingers were bent backward and some forward. Four days after being treated by Sharman she was sewing with needle.

CAUSES DUMB TO SPEAK.

"I am thoroughly convinced that the man is all he claims to be," said Thos. Stevens, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel.

No one has had better opportunity to judge of Sharman's accomplishments than Mr. Stevens, who recites many cases of marvelous cures, which, he says, have come under his personal observation.

"A little girl named McVeity, 11 years old, came into my hotel," Mr. Stevens stated, "who had lost the power of speech and of hearing through an attack of fever. In twenty-five minutes after Sharman began to work with her she could both speak and hear."

Mr. Stevens confesses that he is unable to understand it at all, and accepts Sharman's statement that it is a gift from God.

FIVE TIMES A WIFE

Canadian Woman of 78 Years is Said to Have Two Husbands Still Living

RETURNED TO CANADA

Her Latest Venture Was With an American, Whom She Later Had Arrested for Bigamy

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 16.—Adam H. Crysler, alleged signalist, is still in jail, being unable to give the $500 bail bond demanded for his temporary release. His wife, Linda Brown-Crysler, who preferred the charge that resulted in his arrest, has left town, and her attorney states that she has gone to Canada on private business. Crysler told the following story.

"My wife had four husbands before she married me and two of them are still living. Her first husband was named Brown. Her second was John Allen, formerly a Toronto policeman, and now living near that city. She married No. 3, William Pick, at Morrisville, Ont. John Horning, a farmer, now living near Rattlesnake Harbor, Norfolk county, Ont., was No. 4. When I married her she represented to be a widow. Mrs. Pick, and made no reference to Horning.

"I deny that I have two other wives living. I don't know anything about this woman in Windsor, Ont., who claims to be my wife. I first married Hulda Robbins at Wellington, Ont., but she died 24 years ago in giving birth to her second child. My second wife was Hulda Thompson, who had one child, and died 28 years ago.

"I met my present wife at Otterville, Canada, and saw her but twice before we were married. I said I wanted a housekeeper and a good wife. I said I would make the fires and prepare the breakfast, and that I wanted a companion for dinner and supper. A week after we first met I proposed, but she upt me off. Then we corresponded for a time, and at last were married Sept. 19, 1904. She's 78 years old, although she coyly informed me when I proposed that she was just two months younger than I am, 63.

"Last April I got a letter from her daughter. This made her jealous, and in a fit of anger she left me."

VERDICT WITH HELD

Lawn Judges of Horticultural Society Defer Judgment

The committee appointed by the Peterboro Horticultural Society to inspect the lawns and gardens of this city, to determine to whom belongs the prize for, and honor of, having the best kept and florally adorned lawn or garden in Peterboro, yesterday afternoon made the rounds of the city in performance of their duty. The committee, consisting of Mr. D. W. Dumble, President of the society, Messrs. W. H. Hill, Jordan and Dr. Burnham, took a buck and drove from garden to garden, and lawn to lawn, carefully comparing the merits of each. On their return it was decided, owing to the great improvements made by many property holders, and consequent difficulty in determining the best, to withhold judgment until this evening or Monday. Each member of the committee will make out a private report based on his individual judgment and opinion, and when the several reports are handed in, the prize will be awarded by a comparison.

Mr. Peter Campbell, also a member of the committee, was unable owing to a pressing business engagement to accompany the party.

The committee report that this season the various gardens and lawns show great improvement over all previous years, more trouble and taste in decoration and choice of plants being observed.

The owners of places visited showed great interest in the work of the society. The judges have three classes of grounds under consideration, when deciding to whom the prize shall be awarded;

1. For those whose grounds have been cultivated by hired help.
2. For those who have conducted the work partially by hired help.
3. For those who have personally done the work.

"Never once bitten" is the report from the Cape by a user.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHY SO WEARY ?

Always Restless and Weak Isn't Natural—But Its Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The Water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The wonderful strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight backing cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

UNION LABEL

PETERBORO SEPTEMBER 14, 1905

CHICAGO'S STRIKE BACILLUS

Chicago is, therefore, at this moment a strike—poor wind-swept, tempest-tossed, demagogue-cursed, strike-ridden Chicago. Truly, Chicago's unhappy lot commands commiseration's tear. Nature consciously marches its narrow bones with merciless winds, but man is unkinder still. It is, perhaps, the worst governed city on the continent. Possessing any number of great business men, giants in trade, commerce, the professions and the newspaper world, it is scourged by a lot of labor leaders compared with whom Attila the Hun was a philanthropist, constructive statesman. Alas, poor Chicago, when the New Zealander shall sit on her magnificent ruins a thousand years or so hence, and muse on the mutability of mundane affairs, little will he guess that so small a creature as a Shea or a Debs could have pulled down the temple of her greatness.

Undismayed by the disastrous failure of the teamsters' strike, the union freight handlers have presented an ultimatum to the railroads entering Chicago, demanding an increase of 10 per cent. in their wages and recognition of the union. If their demands are not granted within forty-eight hours a referendum vote will be taken to call a general strike.

If the freight handlers sincerely desire to learn something to their advantage they should read the history of the Chicago railroad strike in the '80s, which was put down by federal bayonets. The railroads are engaged in interstate commerce, and they also carry the United States mails. The president of the United States does not owe his election to the labor unions, and so they are timely to find him a very different sort of stranger from Mayor Dunne, of Chicago. The freight handlers might also profit by taking counsel with the 1,000 union teamsters who have just repudiated Shea and his methods. But in all probability they will do neither. If the railroads reject their demands, these freight handlers who, comparatively speaking, amount to as little as a fly on the carriage wheel, will enter upon an industrial war which may temporarily embarrass the railroads out which will more probably end in their own defeat, with great suffering to themselves and and their innocent families.

The strike headless seems to have its permanent habitat in Chicago. The cause may be due in part to the town's large unassimilated foreign population, which is easily led and duped by professional labor agitators and political demagogues. But most of the blame attaches to Chicago's cowardly and loathsome municipal administration. Honest government belongs also to the business men of Chicago who for years have submitted to the indefensible blunder of paying blackmail to corrupt labor leaders instead of fighting their demands from the start. The effect they have effected a premium for their own undoing.

The cowardice and demagogy of Chicago's city government was thoroughly exposed during the teamsters' strike. Its inefficiency for years past is thus summed up by The Chronicle:

"It is appalling to think of the weighty matters that the city government needs to undertake. Chicago's entire sewer system needs reconstruction. Almost every water main needs to be replaced. Not one-fourth of its streets are paved or cleaned. Its police department is a farce and crime stalks abroad almost without rebuke. Its finances stumble along on the brink of bankruptcy. The city government has not even a decent shelter over its head."

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

WANT TO EXPROPRIATE

Application of a London Railway Before the Railway Committee

Toronto, Sept. 15.—An ancient law suit came perilously near being wound up by the Master-in-Chambers yesterday morning. William Houston, of Sarnia, is suing James, his father, an old gentleman, who is approaching 90 years of age. The son claims that 20 years ago the father promised to bequeath all his property to the son if the latter would support him for the balance of his days. A quarrel having arisen, the old man threatened to dispose of his possessions in other ways. The writ of summons issued two years ago, never having been served, the Master gave the plaintiff till Monday to effect this service, otherwise the action will be dismissed.

An Ancient Law Suit

Toronto, Sept. 15.—The London and Southwestern Traction Company asked the Railway Committee of the Ontario Government yesterday for power to expropriate certain three properties along the line between London and St. Thomas.

Mr T. H. Luscombe, solicitor for the company, was requested to draft an order in the form desired. The company will then consider it.

Bounties on Oil and Lead

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—The bounty paid on coal oil production during the year ending June 30 last amounted to $350,000. The rate is a cent and a half per gallon. The total quantity on which the bounty was paid was rather more than 23,000,000 gallons. The bounty on lead amounted to $236,600 as against $191,500 in 1903-1904.

St. John's Church Y. P. S.

The Young People's Anglican Society of St. John's church, will hold their annual meeting about the first of next month for the purpose of electing officers and transacting general business. Although last year, the first in the society's history, proved very satisfactory, everything points towards this coming season coming a larger membership and equally satisfactory results.

Fixed at $10,000

The Manufacturers' Committee met Thursday night and after transacting the usual routine business, took up the application of the Central Milling Company, for a fixed rate of assessment on the same basis as had been given to other industries. It was decided to fix the assessment of this company the same as that of the Peterboro Cereal Company, Simcoe street, at $10,000 for a period of ten years commencing January 1st, 1906. The meeting then adjourned.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting 8 and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

ENTRY

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situate, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES

A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years. It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler was entitled to and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township, or an adjoining or commanding township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of clauses (2), (3) or (4) must cultivate 20 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommodation, and have besides 20 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon their first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd of June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled and the land may again be thrown open for entry.

APPLICATION FOR PATENT

Should be made at the end of three years before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba or to any of the Dominion Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior

N. B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

148 SHELBY STREET, DETROIT, MICH.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares at Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1906, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The workings [illegible] of the claims, most of [illegible] however, good float being found upon the ground and good paintings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $16 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

of calculation," she repeated. "Oh, my prince! my king!"

Kissing the picture passionately, she threw it from her on the table, and crouching again on the sofa, sat with clasped hands gazing at some imaginary picture as if lost in a dream.

* * * * * * *

All Blankshire rejoiced that Eversleigh Manor was once more opened to the county, and to the severely clerical society of Oldbridge.

Though the present owner had been most popular with all sorts and conditions of men, his prolonged absence was beginning to tell against him, and whispers of his extravagance were raising serious doubts that he would again show himself among his provincial peers. The rumored magnificence of his preparations gave the lie most agreeably to these ill-natured reports. Every one welcomed the idea of such a neighbor living in their midst, and entertaining both great and small with the open-handed hospitality which characterised the Marsdens of old.

Enlivened by the gossip to which this unexpected event gave rise, time flew quickly, and the fingers of the local dressmakers worked nimbly, while almost every train which stopped at Oldbridge brought men or munitions of war desired for the manor house.

Mrs. L'Estrange and her stepdaughter took a natural and lively interest in the preparations. Marsden himself was frequently at the cottage, always in the most charming spirits, and boyishly full of anticipated success.

It was the day but one before the ball. Nora was sitting near one of the drawing-room windows which was open, while a bright wood fire crackled on the hearth. It was a soft, grey day, as if nature was tenderly mourning the departed summer, and the woods gave out a faint autumnal fragrance.

Nora sung softly in snatches as she plied her needle diligently, braiding a winter frock for Beatrice.

"May I come in through the window?" asked Winton, so suddenly from the veranda that Nora started and blushed vividly.

"I ought to send you round by the front door as a punishment for frightening me!" she said laughing, as she rose and gave him her hand. "But you shall be absolved, for I see you bring me 'Cornhill.'"

"Lie there and wait, good dog," cried Winton, when he had whistled his attendant pointer to heel, and the animal, of the beautiful, red-brown Irish breed, obeyed at once.

"What a dear dog! We sorely need a watch-dog," said Nora. "You know this place is rather solitary at night. The gypsy has promised me one of Queenie's pups as soon as it is old enough to leave its mother."

"If it is worthy of its race, you will have a treasure. The Eversleigh mastiffs are famous."

Winton had entered while they spoke, and instinctively walked to the fireplace, where he stood surveying the room and its occupant.

"What a pleasant room this is," he said abruptly, after a few moment's silence. "I never see anything like it elsewhere. It is pretty, yet not too fine for use, and supremely home-like. You can not fancy what a charm there is about everything home-like to an outsider like myself. Brookdale and its owners will be my most lasting memories of the old country hereafter."

"I am very glad you appreciate it, and glad, too, that you have come back in such good humor. Had you good sport at Moatlands?"

"Very fair; nothing remarkably exciting."

"I suppose not, as you have returned so soon. I thought you were not to be back till to-morrow."

"I was rather bored. And how is Mrs. L'Estrange?"

"Very well. She has gone down to the village with Bea. I stayed at home because I rather expect my godmother, Lady Dorrington."

"Oh, she is your godmother, is she?" said Winton, settling himself in a corner of the sofa near his companion, who resumed her needlework. "When did she arrive?"

"On Saturday. She came earlier than was expected, so the squire was out riding with me. I do not think she was pleased."

"Indeed! Are you fond of riding?"

"Yes; but I should have enjoyed it more, but for the want of practice all the time we were in Germany. The squire says I don't sit badly, and that he will make a good horsewoman of me before the autumn is over."

"Ha! Is he going to stay here, then?"

"I suppose so; I hope so, he is very nice and kind. I was quite surprised to find him still so young. I used to think of him as being as old as my father. I was accustomed to see them together when I was a child. He must have been quite a boy then."

"No; not quite. He is only a year younger than I am," returned Winton, gazing dreamily with a softened expression at her deft fingers and pretty pose.

"Is it possible?" cried Nora in frank, uncomplimentary surprise.

"I suppose, then, you consider me a sort of grandfather?" said he, with a grim smile.

"No, indeed!" lifting her eyes with a sweet look of apology to his, "only you are so much graver, and—and—more dignified, that," she paused.

"A gracious translation of the first terms which suggested themselves, I suspect," said Winton, laughing good-humoredly. "Then I have been broiling for years under an Indian sun, in an up-country station, where my days have been occupied in dealing justice to a lot of ruffians, collecting taxes and hunting big game. You can not wonder that I am a little rusty and unfitted to amble in a lady's chamber."

"You amble very gently in ours."

"That is, I do not absolutely smash the china toys every time I pull across the room! Do you know I was half afraid I should find you tyrannized over by old friend, Helen Landell, but I do not believe you do, though I imagine there is a dash of the tyrant in you."

"But why?" asked Nora, turning her earnest eyes full on him. "What have I done—" her sentence was never finished, for the door was dashed suddenly open, Bea, followed by her mother, ran into the room, and the pleasant tete-a-tete was over.

"Oh, Nora, poor Waldman was nearly killed!" cried Bea. "He could hardly get away fast enough from the wagonette, it was driving so fast to meet the train."

Mrs. L'Estrange was greeting Winton while she spoke.

"Yes," she said, "the Eversleigh guests are gathering fast. Mrs. Ruthven arrived yesterday, and Lord Alfred Harcourt, Captain Shirley and some other people, arrive to-day."

A Golden Wedding

On Monday last Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Needler celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage, which took place at the home of Mrs. Needler's parents in Ofonaben on the 11th of September, 1855, the Rev. Mr. Rogers being the officiating clergyman. In 1864 Mr. Needler went to Millbrook where he has since carried on a large milling business. At the celebration held at his residence, there were present; Mr. Sam. Stewart and Miss Stewart, of Otonabee, brother and sister of Mrs. Needler; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Needler, of Lindsay; Dr. and Mrs. Burrows, sister of Mr. Needler and Miss Burrows, Lindsay; Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. Allen, and members of their own family. Speeches and congratulations followed an excellent repast. The Ven. Archdeacon Allen, almost a life-long friend, spoke in deserved terms of their many years of friendly intercourse. Dr. Harry Needler read an address on behalf of the friends, and Mr. and Mrs. Needler were the recipients of a number of suitable and costly presents, among the latter being a handsome gold headed ebony cane from his brother, Mr. William Needler.

REVOLVER ACCIDENT

John Clarke After a Skunk Shoots Himself

Mr. John Clarke, a well-known farmer living near Springville, keeps hens and takes great interest in their welfare.

On Thursday night he was awakened by a terrible cackling and flapping of wings in his hen house, and went to investigate the cause of this midnight alarm. Before going, (sensibly anticipating a possible tramp after future fried chicken or eggs), he slipped a revolver in his pocket. The instigation of the disturbance proved to be one of those loud smelling quadrupeds, whose fur, after proper post-mortem treatment, is labelled "Alaska sable" by the fur trade, but which the laity denominate skunk.

After firing two or three shots at the obstreperous roost robber, he discovered the cartridges in his revolver were all exhausted. In the act of reloading, Mr. Clarke, by some means unknown to himself, discharged the weapon.

The ball plowed through his left hand in a diagonal course, inflicting a very painful wound. The wounded man at once hooked up a horse and drove to the city, arriving early yesterday morning. Dr. Greer dressed the injured hand, and Mr. Clarke will get along all right providing blood poisoning does not set in.

MR. LARMONTH'S OPINION

Leading Business Man Advocates Adequate Fire Protection

Mr. J. H. Larmonth, manager of the Peterboro Radial Railway Company, when speaking to a "Times" representative yesterday about fire protection, said that he considered a new central, up-to-date hall was badly needed, and it might be advisable to have two sub-stations. He supported the last by-law in favor of spending $25,000 on a new hall and up-to-date apparatus, and believed that if another by-law was submitted to the taxpayers at the January election it would stand an excellent chance of being carried.

Mr. Larmonth strongly advocates purchasing an up-to-date engine and extra horse. Insurance rates in Peterboro are high, and now that the town has been created a city, there might be another raise unless the residents took immediate steps to strengthen the department and furnish it with modern appliances. Mr. Larmonth thinks that the city is now large enough to support a permanent department. Other places smaller than Peterboro, such as Chatham, have a paid brigade, and it is said to be a success.

The Annihilation of Distance.

How much nearer to each other [illegible] are to-day and really are to-day than was the case a few decades ago! When weeks and months were required for communication between the United States and Europe the countries of the old world appeared to be a long way off. Now, the circumference of old earth is belted with telegraph and cable lines in every possible direction. What happens to-day in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, South America and the great islands of the sea is made known to us to-morrow by great newspapers like the Chicago Record-Herald, whose foreign correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. In addition to its own staff correspondents the Record-Herald enjoys the foreign news service of the New York Herald, famous for many years for the reliability of its foreign news.

A Small Fire

Yesterday shortly before the city clocks struck three p.m., a furious alarm of fire was pealed forth. The brigade were on hand in one-two-three time, as usual, and dashed up, with hose wagons and Babcock extinguishers to the corner of Stewart and Murray streets. Here a quantity of discarded planks from the old sidewalks in stored, some of which, on their arrival they found in flames. A babcock was quickly turned on, and to almost as quick time, the flames were put out. It is believed that the fire originated from the small boy and his pestiferous coffin-nails. No damage was done of any account thanks to the celerity of the brigade, but had these inflammable planks once gotten burning well, a hot fire would have caused great loss in the neighborhood.

Traffic on the Canal

Although the passenger traffic on Kawartha Lakes is practically over for the season, on Thursday thirteen boats and barges passed through the lift lock, bearing in all over three hundred cords of wood. Mr. Frank Moran's tug—the Lakefield—had in tow three scows of wood. The amount of wood being received from the northern country is this year abnormal, and there is every prospect of a continuance of the heavy traffic till navigation closes. This is some slight indication of the tremendous rush of traffic that would ensue upon the completion of the Trent Canal from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario at Trenton.

C. Y. C. Meeting

A meeting was held last night in the Peterboro club, by the executive of Chemong Yacht Club. Commodore Dennistoun occupied the chair, with Messrs. Alex. Elliott, A. A. Hollingshead and Miss Hamilton present. The meeting received and discussed plans for the proposed club house, made by Mr. Heatherton of Messrs. Belcher & Heathorton. The plans, as submitted present a most desirable building, well adapted for the purpose proposed, and which will doubtless, on completion add greatly to the beauties of Chemong Park.

WOMEN SUFFER NEEDLESS MISERY.

There are hundreds of thousands of women in America suffering from Female Diseases, endangering their lives by doing nothing. If they write to me I will give them the benefit of my extensive experience.—S. B. Hartman, M. D.

IN view of the great multitude of women suffering from some form of female disease and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence.

The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores.

The Doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. Furthermore, all correspondence will be held strictly confidential.

This offer will hold good only during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements, and previous treatment.

Pe-ru-na Brought Health and Happiness.

Miss Nellie South, late of Manchester, Eng., writes from 86 Prince Arthur St., Montreal, Can., as follows:

"Peruna has made a wonderful change in my life. It has brought me health and happiness.

"Since my seventeenth year I have had female complaint and irregularities. My general health suffered, I had pains in my back and lower limbs, my eyes were dim, and I became morose and unreasonable.

"Mother sought the advice of our family physician, who prescribed for me, but I grew no better.

"I then read of Peruna and procured a bottle. That one bottle was worth more than all the doctor's medicine I had taken previously.

"I cannot express my gratitude. Peruna has been a great blessing to me."—Nellie South.

Miss Edna Moore, 46 Elm street, Buffalo, N. Y., Secretary East End Literary Association, writes:

"I was a great sufferer from systemic catarrh, was extremely nervous, could not sleep, fainted easily, was very irritable, had a confusion of the senses, and got up in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed.

"I was very wretched, but upon taking Peruna I began to improve, and after using the medicine four months, I felt like a new woman and was completely cured."—Edna Moore.

The principal remedy which Dr. Hartman relies upon in curing catarrhal diseases of women is Peruna. Hundreds of women sufferers find Peruna a household necessity.

Miss Angelina Grotten, 295 St. Urbain street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"Having heard Peruna praised so highly induced me to try it for my cold, and pains in the groins with which I had been suffering for months. It took nearly three bottles to cure me, but I consider that was but a short time, as I have often taken doctors' prescriptions for months before I got relief."—Angelina Grotten.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the President of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted to the treatment of female diseases.

He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence.

Those wishing to become patients should address Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

We have on file thousands of testimonials like the ones given here. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are constantly receiving. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

Botanical Plants

Hold the Secret of Life and Death.

Recent experiments conducted by most eminent scientists, prove that light is a great remedial agent; it is essentially Nature's agent. It may be either sunlight or electric light, but it has a decided effect in helping nature to banish disease and restore health. Other scientific men have proved that oxygen electrifies the heart and can prolong life.

The people on this earth are susceptible to some laws which govern plant life. A plant cannot be successfully grown in the dark. A man is seldom healthy and strong who lives in the dark or in cumbrous rooms. After all, Nature's ways are found to be the best. Nature's remedies are always best for eradicating disease, and by this we mean a medicine made of roots and herbs. They are assimilated in the stomach and taken up by the blood and are, therefore, the most potent means which can be employed for the regaining of lost health. Dr. R. V. Pierce, consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., in many years of extensive practice, found that he could put his faith to an alterative extract of certain plants and roots for the cure of all blood diseases. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Containing no alcohol nor narcotics, entirely vegetable, this "Discovery" makes rich red blood and is a powerful tissue-builder, giving the tired business man or woman renewed strength and health. Rapidly growing school-girls and boys often show impoverished blood by the pimples or boils which appear on face or neck. To eradicate the poisons from the blood, and feed the heart, lungs and stomach on pure blood, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Don't allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by offering his own blood remedy to you instead of this well-known prescription of Dr. Pierce's. Your chances are he will substitute a cheap compound having a large percentage of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the best for the bowels. Use them with the "Discovery."

The Men That Were Behind the Guns

Premier Whitney Informs Northwest Field Force That it Will be Impossible to Give Them Land.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—"This is an illglove deputation to be a deputation of the men who were behind the guns," said Lieut.-Col. C. Greville Harston, president of the North-West Field Force Association, in introducing a large deputation to the Government today. With Premier Whitney were Hon. Messrs. Matheson, Foy, and Cochrane. It was made clear to them by the Premier that, while their claims will be considered, no land grant whatever can be expected.

The veterans ask that the same privileges which were granted to those who served in 1866-1870 and in South Africa, in the way of a land grant, be also extended to those who served in the Northwest in 1885. They think a great injustice has been done to the men who served through the Northwest rebellion by depriving them of a land grant, and claim that the feeling is strong among the 1,500 men from this Province who went to the front.

"Equal rights," were demanded by Ald. S. Alfred Jones, who served with the 7th Battalion, London.

The hardships which the men went through were briefly told by some of the speakers, who all spoke of their exclusion from land grants as a slight. The Dominion land grant it was stated, were worse than useless, as the conditions attached were such as could not be fulfilled by the veterans. The lands were in remote districts, and the men could not put in residence. The speakers were; Pte. Lionel Dent, Infantry School Corps; Pte. W. J. Urquhart, Staff-Sergt. W. Bewley, Sergt. George Lewis, Sergt. W. Bewley, Sergt. George Lewis, Sergt. Wm. Fowler, Capt. T. Burke, Midland Battalion; Sergt.-Major Tilley, G.G.B.G.; Pte. C. Cairns.

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

"There can be no two opinions as to what volunteers deserve at the hands of their fellow-citizens," said the Premier in reply. "I do not suppose they are apt, under any circumstances whatever, to get anything like what they deserve."

The Premier pointed out that the men represented had already got a land grant from the Dominion Government, but he laid stress on the fact that neither they nor the men who have been given land by the Ontario Government have derived any benefit from it. Though well-intentioned, the Ontario grant had been unwise, and had tied up all the available land, or else led to its getting into the hands of speculators.

"It is absolutely impossible for the Government of Ontario to give you any land, for there is no land left," continued Mr. Whitney. "It will take ten years to survey what the late Government has bound us to give."

"There are 7,000 claims out of 12,000 not located yet, and some of the locations are one hundred miles away from a railway," interposed Mr. Cochrane.

"As every British Government would feel it its duty to acknowledge the services of those who have fought and bled for their country, so this Government will be anxious to acknowledge your services, and we will consider the matter carefully, and with a leaning toward you," concluded the Premier amid applause.

WILL VISIT THE CITY

Minister of Railways, With Deputy Will Come Here Next Monday

Peterboro has had the honor of entertaining many distinguished visitors, and will, next Monday, have another added to her list of callers.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways in Canada, accompanied by his deputy, Mr. J. M. Butler, and his former deputy, Mr. Colling-wood Schreiber, will be in Peterboro next week to make a tour of inspection of the Trent Canal.

It is altogether probable, with the proverbial hospitality that has always characterized Peterboro, that the visitors will be honored with a recognition of some semi-public capacity, presumably, a banquet. The present member for the riding, has tried for some time to get the Minister to pay this part of the country a visit, so he can learn more fully of our canal and its objects.

MR. J. J. TURNER HOME ONCE MORE

Speaks in Highest Terms of Reception in London, Paris and Other Cities

50,000 OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

London Will Have 100,000 Looking for Work Before Christmas Unless Present Conditions Greatly Change

Mr. J. J. Turner, head of the well-known firm of J. J. Turner & Sons, has returned from a three and a half months' trip to Europe, the trip having been taken in company with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. As noted in former issues of The Times, Mr. Turner had the misfortune, whilst abroad to be laid up for some weeks in London with a most painful and distressing carbuncle located at the back of his neck. Notwithstanding this serious handicap to complete enjoyment of his trip abroad, Mr. Turner speaks in glowing terms of his experiences with the Canadian delegation.

Mr. Turner returned on the Allan Liner Tunisian and reports having had a very rough but still enjoyable passage; he and another Canadian friend who did not succumb to the terrors of mal de mer during the passage, continued to keep the rest of the saloon passengers in good spirits by joking and songs, in fact the two non-seasick Canadians were christened the choir by the rest of their friends. On board the Tunisian were 1441 passengers of whom 191 were in the saloon passage.

Regarding a question put by The Times, during a friendly call made yesterday by Mr. Turner to the sanctum, regarding labor conditions in England and particularly in London and the large cities, Mr. Turner stated that people who are talking about the eight hour labor day in Canada, should reflect that in London alone there are 50,000 men out of work, and before Christmas, those well qualified to know, prophesy that over 100,000 will be out of employment in London alone; during his visit there were 138 men out of work on one short street. In the printers' trade alone their are thousands of men anxiously looking for work, who will, he thinks, make for Canada, should any serious trouble ever arise with the Canadian printers.

Mr. Turner is a good, immigration agent for this country, having both on a former as well as on his last trip brought out some skilled mechanics; on his last trip he brought an expert sign writer.

During his stay in London, Mr. Turner ... Daily Chronicle for the sign writer, mentioned above, and had 32 letters before noon of the same day. A friend of his put an adv. in for a mechanic wanted, and had over 1,000 replies in less than three days.

In speaking of the political situation in England, Mr. Turner shows himself to be an ardent advocate of the Chamberlain policy; the general feeling in England, he says, is that the food item is the only obstacle in its universal adoption, and that the dear bread cry is only political claptrap.

On the Tunisian with Mr. Turner, was Sir James Grant, and Major Holford, 1st Life Guards, a brother of Lady Grey. During his visit the London Chamber of Commerce gave each of the visiting Canadians a beautifully finished emblem, containing the British coat of arms, with the maple leaf of Canada. In Paris, the party were received by the Mayor and civic officials.

To show the excellence of Canadian manufactured goods, Mr. Turner brought back with him some large orders for camping outfits for leading firms in London.

IS ALL RUSSIA NEAR REVOLT

Autocracy Turns From War to Repress Subjects

RETURN OF THE ARMIES

Measures to Restrain and Oppress Peoples Have Effect of Increasing the Spirit of Revolution

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—The bureaucracy freed from the incubus of the war is resuming oppressive measures, thereby fanning the flames of discontent and revolt all through the empire from Finland to Caucasia.

The breaking up by troops yesterday at Helsingfors of a meeting of 800 delegates from all towns in Finland, called for the purpose of discussing the political situation, has aroused great indignation throughout Finland. The meeting was an orderly one, and was composed of representatives from many of the cities and towns in Finland. Many of the best citizens, and even women, were in attendance.

The action of the government in dispersing the gathering has fanned the dissatisfaction felt by the Finnish people, which to-day even went so far as to bring forth threats to throw a bomb at the governor-general, Prince John Obolensky.

DISBANDMENT UNPOPULAR.

The disbandment of the 1st battalion of guards by the Russian authorities has proved to be unpopular and since the dispersal of the meeting of the delegates yesterday this has been taken up as an additional grievance against Russia.

A proclamation signed by Assistant Minister of the Interior Trepoff has been posted throughout St. Petersburg again, prohibiting the sale of revolvers or ammunition to the public generally, and also forbidding army officers to purchase revolvers or ammunition without the permission of their superiors. The orders recently issued forbidding the sale of arms or ammunition in the open markets were partly ignored yesterday and the authorities searched the markets, confiscated all the arms and ammunition which were for sale, and fined the dealers.

WATCH ON ZEMSTVOISTS.

The Russian Ministry of the Interior has sent a circular to the governors of provinces, and mayors of towns ordering them closely to watch the Zemstvoists everywhere, in view of arresting them for specified offences. This action is based on the Zemstvo conference at Moscow, in June, to which the circular refers in most condemnatory terms. It accuses the Zemstvoists who attended the congress of fraudulently misinterpreting and falsifying the words of the decree issued by the czar in March, the "aim of which," according to the circular, "was to improve the laws of the country, and the economic conditions of the nation by maintaining an actual form of government based on unrestricted absolutism."

The circular accuses the congress of contemptuously rejecting "this freedom offered by the czar's bounty" of working out a project of government based on universal suffrage, of attempting now to seduce the nation by a propaganda declaring open war against the government.

Therefore every Zemstvoist must be specially watched by secret service agents and must be prevented from issuing or distributing any publication whatever. If detected in doing so the Zemstvoists must be arrested and handed over to the courts, while the people must not be allowed to attend their meetings.

REINFORCEMENTS TO BAKU.

Tiflis, Sept. 18.—Further reinforcements have been ordered sent to Baku.

The governor of Elisabethpol has telegraphed for more troops owing to the menacing attitude of the rioters. A deputation from Elizabethpol today presented a petition to Gen. Shirinkin, commander of the forces, asking that immediate steps be taken to prevent further bloodshed.

Option Secured On Building Lots

Canadian General Electric Co. Have Option on Land to South of Present Vast Works --This Means More Buildings and Increased Pay List.

It has, for some time, been an open and large building, the compound and transformer, the machine shop, the brass foundry, and the blacksmith shop, which from the increased and incessant demands placed upon their present limits, have, at times, sorely tested their capacity, which only intelligent management and occasional adjustment of needed space, have enabled them to so successfully meet the demands upon them.

Since the steam turbines have proved to be satisfactory beyond all anticipation, and the demand for motors and dynamos has so enormously advanced, the company have, at times, had to hold orders for three times to wait their turn. The name of Canadian General Electric Company alone, now creates an enormous demand for the products of this leading industry of Peterboro, but with the increased facilities inaugurated on the proposed additions to the company's works, Peterboro will now be able to ship such goods in practically unlimited supply.

The options on the lots as noted above of 250 feet depth and 3,000 frontage will give the public some idea of the extensive projects which the company have in view. When the new additions are completed and occupied, it is interesting to note that possibly 1000 more skilled workmen will be added to Peterboro's population, as there are now between 900 and 1000 men employed in the C.G.E. Co. every working day. As before noted, this company a few weeks ago, purchased the Theobald property at the corner of Park and Albert Sts., to make room for the enlargement of their plant.

These important enlargements were of course, in a manner, foreshadowed by the recent large increase in the company's capital stock.

ROOSEVELT AIDS PEACE OF WORLD

Will Issue Second Call for Conference of Powers to Make Radical Changes in Hague Treaty

HIGH GOAL FOR NATIONS

President Would Strengthen International Ties by Making War and its Horrors More Difficult

Washington, D. C., September 19. — President Roosevelt will, within a week, take his final step in connection with the Russo-Japanese war.

He will issue a call to the powers to hold an international conference, which shall amend the treaty of The Hague so as to make it more difficult for two nations to go to war, and should they do so to compel them to adopt more humane tactics than were observed during the struggle which has just closed.

The idea to call such a conference has been in the president's mind for more than a year — almost, in fact, from the time the war between Russia and Japan began. The action of the belligerents in planting mines so that they drifted in the path of neutral commerce causing the loss of innocent shipping and death of persons who had no interest whatever in the hostilities; the capture and sinking of neutral vessels because they had aboard what was construed to be contraband of war; the immense damage done to private property — all these things of the first importance to every people in the world — determined the president to use his efforts to induce the powers to make large amendments to The Hague treaty.

RESULTS DELAYED BY WAR.

He communicated with the powers last year as to the advisability of holding a conference, but while there was provisional acceptance, it was evident that fear of offending Russia and Japan by adopting proposals which might reflect upon their course and limit their future action made several nations hesitate about appointing representatives. Russia and Japan were not prepared to participate in the congress while they were engaged in a deadly struggle which compel them to take measures in self-defense which would be contrary to the decisions reached at The Hague.

Finding an indisposition to take part in the congress, President Roosevelt notified the powers that he would issue another call when the war should end. He left, however, to the permanent court of arbitration, constituted under The Hague treaty signed in 1899, the preparation of a program which would be set forth in extenso the subject to be discussed and, if possible, settled.

SUBJECT OF CONFERENCE.

It is expected that the president in the circular he will issue will make suggestions as to the subjects which should be considered. The conference of 1899 adopted resolutions expressing a wish that the following subjects should be considered by a subsequent conference:

The question of the rights and duties of neutrals.

Adoption of new types and calibers of muskets and marine artillery to be used by civilized states.

The possibility of an agreement concerning the limitation of land and naval forces and war budgets.

A proposition having for its object a declaration of immunity of private property in war on the high seas.

Regulation of the question of bombardments of ports, cities or villages by naval forces.

ERA OF GREAT ACTIVITY NOW ON

End of Russo-Japanese War Commencement of a Great Commercial Awakening

PROSPERITY IN BR'TAIN

Prices and Ability to Make Quick Deliveries the Determinating Factors

London, September 18.—British business authorities believe that the ending of the Russo-Japanese war marks the beginning of one of the greatest commercial and industrial eras that Europe, in general, and England in particular, have ever experienced. The United States is expected to share extensively in the approaching "world prosperity" unless it pursues an ostrich policy in reference to reciprocity. China and other countries, it is said, will demand give and take arrangements. The United States and British steel and iron and textile trades, traditional barometers of international conditions, are in a more buoyant condition than at any previous time in the last five years. The United States steel corporations' customers in Great Britain and on the continent have placed their orders from six to twelve months ahead, in order to be fully equipped for the expected business tidal wave. These anticipations are cherished by practical men of affairs, who base their hopes on the belief that the treaty signed in Portsmouth has removed for an indefinite time the probability of any fresh danger to the world's peace. London commercial agents look for a great scramble for Russian and Japanese business, on the part of Englishmen, Germans and Americans, not only in connection with the rehabilitation of the naval and military establishments of the belligerents, but in the reconstruction and expansion of their industrial systems as well. Tremendous quantities of foreign materials and machinery will be required for these purposes. Germany is known to have mobilized its financial and industrial forces for this competition. Counting on securing a large share of the business, Englishmen think that the sentiments and sympathies engendered in the war will cut but little figure in securing orders, prices and ability to make deliveries being the determinating factors.

ARRIVED BROKE

Twelve English Immigrants Stranded in the City

Peterboro was on Sunday evening and until noon yesterday the temporary stopping off place of some twelve English immigrants, comprising the members of their families who arrived at the C.P.R. depot Sunday morning without "the price" in their wallets. These impecunious sons and daughters of Old England, were travelling en route for Oshawa, having entered Canada at the Port of Montreal, and expected to meet relatives, in the former town on arrival, who had preceded them.

The unfortunate strangers found that although in a strange land, human sympathy was extended to them in their need; in need they certainly were, having all told not enough remains to purchase food or lodging. They were taken care of in the shelter, after kind hearted people had provided them with something to eat.

The party left by noon train yesterday for their destination.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Fourth Thursday Next Month Likely to be Chosen for Holiday

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Thanksgiving Day this year will probably be the fourth Thursday of October, the 26th of next month. The question will probably be settled by the Cabinet at a Council that is being held this afternoon. The necessary proclamation will be published, so that the public may have due notice of the anniversary.

The suggestion was made some time ago that it would be better to have Thanksgiving fixed for a Monday, so as to allow of family reunions, which it would not be so easy to manage in the middle of a week. This resulted though in a chorus of protests against having the anniversary converted into an excursion day.

The October date is selected in preference to one in November, because the chances are in favor of better weather in the former month.

GIRL BROKE JAIL

Taken Away by Two Companions, but Later Re-arrested

Wingham, Ont., Sept. 19.—The sequel to the riotous assembling which culminated in a violent attack on a girl named Annie Free, and a young man who was with her on a Sunday night a couple of weeks ago, has just occurred here.

An information was sworn to by Mr. Alexander Kelly, a Councillor of the adjoining township of Turnberry, that the Free girl was guilty of improper conduct on the public highways. She was arrested by County Constable Phipps, and confined in the Wingham lock-up.

The following night the brass padlock on the cell door was smashed, apparently by a crowbar, and the girl was taken away by two men.

Later, she was rearrested, brought before the police magistrate, and sentenced to six months in the county jail at Goderich.

A curious feature of the escape of the prisoner is that the outside entrance door to the corridor, where the cell is, was found locked as usual, while the lock of the inner cell door was broken. There was no other way of getting out of the corridor communicating with the cell door, except through windows which were heavily barred with iron, one bar of which had been wrenched off, but it left only a space of some seven inches through which it would have been a tight squeeze for the prisoner to escape. How the jail breakers got in or out appears somewhat of a mystery. It is expected that further arrests will soon be made.

LACROSSE.

Mr. A. Ragan, of the National Hotel was on the Beaverton line-up on Saturday. He says the Peterboro team could beat the Shamrocks to a stand-still. The reason he gives for Beaverton's defeat, was that they were cut down. It was the roughest game he ever played in. He was struck in the stomach in the second quarter and had to retire. He does not think that the Beaverton boys will have a chance to win out on Wednesday when the return game will be played at Beaverton.

S. J. A. Sellars of the Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. came second, and A. Woods of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. third. They received as prizes, a gold, silver and Bronze medal respectively. The Montreal "Y" team takes the Dunlop trophy.

WRESTLING.

Duncan C. Ross of New York, former champion wrestler of the world, is in the city, and yesterday completed arrangements for a wrestling match between Mont. Wilson, of Garden Hill, Ont., and himself. The conditions are one hour's wrestling, catch-as-catch-can, three points squarely down to constitute a fall. Flying falls not to count. No holds are barred. The stakes are $200 with an additional $50 on behalf of Wilson as a guarantee for his appearance. Wilson is well known here as a cattle buyer and a powerful athlete, who has had several bouts with the best wrestlers in private, and has not yet met with defeat. He is a giant in stature and weighs 250 pounds.

TORCH OF HATE BEING KINDLED

Believed That China Will Attack all Foreigners

AMERICANS BEING HOOTED

Boycott is Now Much More Than Commercial Menace and Threatens to Develop Into Crusade to Drive the Foreigners out of the Flowery Kingdom

Shanghai, Sept. 19.—The American boycott in China is already more than a commercial menace. It is now considered by many to be the forerunner of an anti-foreign agitation. Business men in Shanghai, who at the beginning were inclined to laugh, have been astonished at the manner in which the propaganda has been promulgated in the interior.

In its connection the boycott was believed to have been fathered by a group of officials in Pekin. According to report certain Chinese firms with a large quantity of American goods in stock took advantage of the movement. They themselves had bought forward as far as June, 1906, and were anxious to keep their smaller competitors out of the market. The latter would be prevented from buying and the instigators of the scheme would be able to sell at their own figures.

Advices from many parts of the empire show that the torch of hate has been kindled afresh in the minds of the Chinese. It is feared that a general uprising and butchery of foreigners may take place.

40,000 SCOTS MARCH BEFORE KING

Greatest Muster of Armed Men in Scotland Since Flodden

Edinburgh, Sept. 19.—The greatest muster of Scotchmen under arms since the battle of Flodden Field was reviewed by King Edward here to-day. The King arrived at the Scottish capital this morning and proceeded to Holyrood Palace, whence, attended by the Duke of Connaught and a brilliant staff, he rode to the parade ground in King's Park. Nearly 40,000 Scottish volunteers were in the march past. Enormous numbers of visitors from all parts of Scotland and the north of England witnessed the review, which is expected to assist in counteracting the extreme irritation felt in volunteer circles over recent worrying regulations of the War Office.

During the march past, Sir Thos. Lipton, who is honorary colonel of the Second Lanarkshire Engineers, was leading his regiment past the King, when his horse threw him, and Sir Thomas was kicked in the face. His injuries are not serious.

COLOR QUESTION IN TRANSVAAL

Deputation Waits on Lord Selborne With Many Complaints

A VERY SERIOUS PROBLEM

British Government Will Have to Define its Policy—Negroes Claim Injustice

Johannesburg, September 18. — The "color question" is causing no end of trouble to the ruling forces in the Transvaal. A deputation from a political organization representing the colored population of the Trans waited upon Lord Selborne and laid before him certain grievances with respect to the tenure of land, the franchise, railway traveling, morality, marriage laws, education and other important matters. Lord Selborne replied to the several points raised by the deputation. He reminded them that the franchise as it now existed was the result of the terms of the Vereening agreement, and was not the outcome of a deliberate policy adopted afterwards. He pointed out that the native and the colored questions were not a simple matter, as might be inferred from the language of the deputation, and that unless the real difficulties and complications of the matter were recognized the country would not be able to arrive at any solution of the problem.

That the matter is one which will not down at the bidding is evidenced by the fact that a deputation of the Witwatersrand church council, representing the Presbyterian, Wesleyan, Baptist and Congregational churches, also waited upon Lord Selborne and protested against the legislation tending to restrict the rights of the natives in the matter of land tenure.

In the course of the interview the deputation raised the entire question of the status of the colored people. They declared that they took their stand on the principal of equal political rights for all the civilized people of South Africa, and deprecated the imposition of any disabilities on civilized natives. They alleged that the latter had been disappointed in the expectation they had formed of British administration, and referred to certain aspects of police administration of municipal regulations as pressing unjustly on the native population. Finally they claimed to represent the views of the moderate party opposed to the extreme negrophilists, as hasn as well as to the extremists who oppose the negro in South Africa.

Lord Selborne stated that he did not feel called upon to put forth any final views upon what was clearly the most important question that the government had to contend with in South Africa. With regard to the tenure of land by the natives, however, the position taken by the government had been clearly stated by the attorney general, but in view of the desire expressed by the legislative council that land purchased by natives should be registered in the name of the commissioner of native affairs, he thought that the government ought to accede to that request. No control, however, would be vested in the commissioner.

He strongly deprecated the vague statements which had been made regarding the prevalence of an hypnotism among the natives that the British administration was less just than the Boer government, and pointed out that it was the duty of every individual if an instance to this knowledge which might give value to such an insinuation to ... [illegible] to the authorities.

How Consumption Starts

Tired When You Waken--Languid All Day—Nerves Worn Out —Soap All Gone

Your limbs feel "draggy" and excessively weak. A night's sleep seldom brings satisfying rest. Continuous headaches, exhaustion and nervous sensations destroy your health. Soon every spark of vitality is used up. Then you catch tuberculosis.

Start to-day. Build up, get new nerve force, and overcome this process of decay. Use Ferrozone, which physicians consider the most vitalizing, uplifting tonic ever made.

Ferrozone cures because it can furnish the body with sufficient nutriment and building material.

Think of the instant effect—at once the appetite increases, delightful color in the cheeks proves that rich, red blood is being circulated. Tired muscles are invigorated, flesh and weight are added. Nerve force develops, and hounding, human health is finally established.

This is certain—Ferrozone restores failing strength from any cause. The experience of Mr. Thos. Dowd, of Schreiber, Ont., proves this;

"Nothing would agree with me. I was about exhausted my strength. I was weak and miserable. My cheeks lacked the color of health, and occasionally I had spells of rheumatism. Then my appetite fell off, and nothing could tempt me to eat. Worn-out feelings, chills and despondency filled my very being. I became anaemic and dwindled down to a shadow. Consumption was very near. Ferrozone put strength in my body with a rush. It built me up, strong, virile and happy, and I have been well ever since."

Ferrozone cures sickness by curing the real cause—lack of blood and nerve tone. It keeps people at their best—fit, ready and anxious for work. In 50c. boxes only, six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

FUEL OIL COMING INTO USE

Great Britain has made a distinct advance in the science of naval warfare by the adoption of oil as a fuel for its battleships. The use of oil will do away with the great volumes of ocean weeds and disclose their whereabouts to the enemy long before the vessels themselves appear on the horizon. If Retjutevsky had had fuel oil instead of coal in his furnaces he might have escaped the Japanese and reached Vladivostok in safety.

If Great Britain carries out the innovation on a large scale in her navy the other great powers will necessarily follow her example, and a great impetus will be given to the oil industry. The consumption of fuel by the navies of the world is enormous, and although the figures are not obtainable it can readily be seen that the adoption of oil as a naval fuel will create a greatly increased demand for the crude article. In that event the immense oil fields of Ontario will be aided in taking their rightful position as sources of great wealth.

The railroads are experimenting with oil as a fuel, and it is believed that the time is not far distant when it will supplant coal, at least on passenger locomotives. Its superiority in making steam, and its cleanliness compared with coal are factors too important to be ignored. One of the greatest discomforts of railway travel is the smoke and cinders, and these are entirely obviated by the use of oil. The first railroad that advertises smokeless, cinderless trains is going to handle a tremendous rush of business.

MR. D. A. THOM WEDS

An Old Peterboro Boy Marries in Toronto

The Toronto Star referring to the marriage of Mr. Douglas A. Thom, B. A., son of Rev. Jos. Thom., a former pastor of the Mark street Methodist church, last week says:

Few are the instances of the father of a groom and a bride performing the wedding ceremony for their children, but this was the case at the marriage of Miss Mabel Louis Chown to Mr. Douglas John Thom, B.A., yesterday afternoon.

The interesting ceremony took place at 31 Madison avenue, the residence of the bride's father, Rev. E. A. Chown. The latter officiated, assisted by Rev. Jos. Thom, father of the groom. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. J. Harry Chown, Winnipeg, and her sister, Miss Stella Chown, was bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Dr. Albert J. Fraleigh, of Toronto.

The happy couple will leave shortly for Regina, where Mr. Thom practises law.

—Of all the hundreds of people that summered at Stony Lake only two families are left. The Lundys, of Toronto, are still on their island, and Mr. Grubbe is on his island. He will stay at his cottage until some time in October.

HOUNDED TO DEATH BY UNTRUE STORY

Father Tells a Pathetic Tale of His Daughter's Sufferings

New York, Sept. 18.—Lorenzo D. Berry, a carpenter of West Medford, Mass., today identified as that of his daughter Ella, the body of the young woman who committed suicide on Wednesday in the Hotel Manhattan.

"The newspapers have done all this," said the latter when he was able to control his grief. "My daughter, who was a pure and modest girl, was a stenographer in her home town. A year ago a Boston newspaper published a story that she had run away with a married man. The next day it turned out that she had merely gone on her vacation alone, and that she had nothing to do with the married man named in the story who had disappeared. The newspapers printed a retraction, but that did not hurt my daughter's feelings.

"Whereever my daughter would go," said Mr. Berry, "it would seem as if somebody was ready to point to her as a girl who had been mixed up in a disgraceful affair. Then she went away from home to seek employment in other cities. She would be a short time in a place when the story would reach the ears of her employers, and she would be told that she could not remain. This happened several times until my child could bear it no longer."

Mr. Berry said his daughter left home in West Medford on Tuesday last. She registered at the Manhattan Hotel Wednesday afternoon under the name of "A. W. Wildey, of Washington, D.C.," and that night killed herself with poison and pistol, leaving a note to the effect that her body would be called for.

THRILLING SWIM OF NIAGARA MAN

Swept Down River He Saved Himself After Superhuman Struggle

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 17. — While touring away the temporary wing dam of the Niagara Power Company, above Duffering Island, yesterday, one of the workmen slipped and fell into the river and was swept away in an instant by the current, which is very swift at this point.

His helpless companions watched the man struggling in the angry waters and thought there was no possibility of escaping death over the falls.

They watched him go down the boiling current, struggling desperately, and saw that he was striving to reach a point where the current splits and one branch runs to the ice rack at the Ontario Power Company's intake, while the other goes straight over the falls. Several times he went down out of sight, and the watchers gave up hope, but each time he reappeared and kept struggling towards the point where the water divides. For a long time he was on the wrong side of the current, but just before he reached the point of division he made a superhuman effort and reached the right side, saving his life by a few feet.

The current quickly carried him against the ice rack, and a rope was thrown out, and he was pulled up on the wall. He was terrible exhausted from the awful struggle, and collapsed as soon as he was rescued.

DEATH CAME WITHOUT WARNING

Five Workmen Killed by the Explosion of a Boiler

Pincouning, Mich., Sept. 17. — By the explosion of an alleged defective boiler in the stave mill of Edward Jennings here today five men were killed and eight or ten injured, two of them so seriously that they will probably die.

The dead are: Richard Gifford, Burt Bell, Charles Easterman, Wm. Atlin and Elijah Peters.

Easterman and Atlin were married and leave families.

The explosion came without the slightest warning to the workmen and the destruction of the mill was complete. Portions of the wreck were scattered about for several hundred feet.

All the Polish societies are to march, and the labor organizations of the East Side will be asked to join the parade.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

STRICTURE AND KIDNEY DISEASE CURED.

G. B. Wright.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. I had heard a great deal about them and concluded from the fact that they had been established over 25 years that they understood their business. I am delighted with the results. In one week I felt better and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Have gained sixteen pounds in weight." G. B. WRIGHT, Lansing.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 40,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, [illegible] all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Winton's eyes followed hers, but he made no reply, and then the young proprietress suggested going in to tea, as she was sure Mrs. Ruthven looked tired.

A tempting tea-table was spread with toast and hot cakes, and the conversation grew lively, and even noisy, as the prospects of the ball were discussed. At last the evening began to darken, and Lady Dorrington proposed their returning.

"You look pale and weary," said Marsden, in a low voice, to Mrs. Ruthven; "stay here, and I will send the pony-carriage over for you."

"Oh, thank you! I shall manage to walk back."

Adieus exchanged, the party set forth, Nora and Tea accompanying them as far as the bridge. When half-way across, Marsden exclaimed: "Excuse me a moment—I quite forgot a message for Mrs. L'Estrange," and he turned back quickly, overtaking Nora, who was alone.

"Be sure you send for what flowers you require, Nora," he said. "I told the gardener not to cut any till he knew what you wanted."

"You are really too good, squire. Your guests will want them all. I have what I need at home!"

"Then I will select for you myself. See that you wear mine, if you prefer Winton's—"

"Why, Mr. Winton would never dream of offering any one flowers," said Nora, laughing. "I shall certainly wear yours, and try to look my best for your ball."

"Look yourself," said Marsden, adding in a different tone, "sweet cousin and queen!"

He laughed a rather forced laugh.

"Adieu, Sir Knight!" returned Nora, laughing; "go and take care of Mrs. Ruthven," and she ran away into the house, reaching it in time to say "good-bye" to Winton, who was about to start on his homeward walk to Oldbridge.

Mrs. Ruthven was very tired, she said, and therefore silent, but in reality she was asking herself, over and over again, what it was that Marsden went back for. She deeply distrusted Nora.

CHAPTER III.

Both Mrs. L'Estrange and her step-daughter uttered exclamations of surprise and admiration as they entered the hall of Evesleigh Manor House on the night of the ball.

It was large and oblong, occupying the height of two stories, with a double staircase at the back, curving gently to an arch, beneath which a door led to the rooms in the rear of the mansion. A gallery of carved oak surrounded it on three sides. Below were the reception and breakfast rooms, while the library, morning and billiard-rooms were in the wings. This hall was exquisitely decorated and brilliantly lighted. Figures in armor held lamps, banks of flowers filled in the bend of the staircase at either side; the door-way beneath, which was handsomely draped, showed the softly lighted passage beyond, leading, between ferns and palms, to the refreshment-room. Flowers wreathed the gallery, and groups of banners hung in the angles. Sofas and chairs stood in various positions, with Persian rugs, bear and tiger skins, lying before them on the highly polished oaken floor.

The ladies of Brookdale came early, they wished to see the rooms before the crowd assembled.

"Lady Dorrington is in the white drawing-room," said the butler, opening the first door on the left.

This was the smaller of the two drawing-rooms, and was as bright and beautiful as lights, flowers and groups of plants could make it.

Lady Durrington, in velvet and diamonds, stood in the centre, with nearly all the house party, re-enforced by several gentlemen Nora had not seen before, gathered round her.

Directly the butler announced "Mrs. and Miss L'Estrange," Marsden came forward, shook hands very cordially with Mrs. L'Estrange, and let her pass on to Lady Dorrington; then stopping Nora, to whom he showed a programme, said: "I have put down my name for waltz number eight," pointing out the word "Clifford," written in ink against that number; "you can not alter it, you see."

"I shall not want to alter it," returned Nora, looking up with a smile. "I fancy you are the best dancer here."

She was struck with the expression of his eyes. They were fiercely bright, and had a certain indescribable look of intense resolution, while his face was white, and the veins in his forehead showed distinctly; otherwise he was strikingly handsome and distinguished. Evening dress suited him well.

"Mrs. and Miss Saunders, Captain Lethbridge, Mr. Winton," were announced in rapid succession. Lady Dorrington went forward to receive them.

"My severe duties are about to commence," said Marsden, who still held the programme, which he now put into Nora's hand, managing to catch and press it as he did so. "I look to you for my reward by and by."

"I wonder," thought Nora, looking after him as he went to greet his guests, "if the squire is ever in earnest?"

Her conjectures were interrupted by the appearance of Mrs. Ruthven, who came in from the room beyond. She looked radiant and fairy-like in soft satin and delicate lace, and absolutely ablaze with jewels. Diamond stars studded the firmament of her golden-red hair; a collar of superb rubies, set with brilliants, encircled her neck, and, in the estimation of some, seemed too overpowering for her small figure. Diamond and ruby butterflies glittered on her shoulders, where they caught up her scanty lace sleeves, and bracelets of rare gems clasped her arms.

"I never saw anything like her jewels," said Nora to Winton, who had taken his stand beside her.

"I should like to know their real value, and what they cost old Griffin," he returned, "I fancy there are some curious stories attached to these fine things."

Here Mrs. Ruthven came straight to where they stood, followed by a neat, accurately dressed, keen-eyed man.

"Ah! good-evening, Miss L'Estrange. Isn't this a pretty room? Really, the decorations are in admirable taste. I must compliment you on your dress, if you will forgive me," she said, looking keenly at Nora from head to foot, with a comprehensive glance.

The dress was a pretty combination of cream satin, tulle powdered with pearl beads, and pearl fringe, bouquets of fresh green grass and wild foliage decorated the skirt, and a small coronet of similar leaves gave a becoming stateliness to her well-shaped head.

Mrs. Ruthven felt that she was a dangerous rival, or might be, if she knew how to use her advantages, but the honest steadiness and tranquility of her large dark-gray eyes, seemed to assure the dainty intri- [illegible] that she was more than

Of Interest to Ladies

The visit of Prof. Dorenwend to the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, September 26th, will afford the ladies of Peterboro and surrounding country an opportunity of consulting him regarding their hair, its needs and their requirements in all styles of Hair Goods. Prof. Dorenwend carries with him a large and most varied assortment of his famous conceptions in Switches, Bangs, Pompadours, Wavy Fronts and Wigs. The equal of those high grade natural hair productions can not be procured from any hair goods dealer in America. Prof. Dorenwend has the distinction of being the largest manufacturer and the most noted specialist in these goods. Private apartments are at the convenience of all who avail themselves of calling at the Oriental Hotel, on the day on of his visit.

Fine Samples of Ores

Mr. T. H. Crowley an old Peterboro county boy, who, as our readers will doubtless remember, had had persistent and good fortune in discovery of mineral lands in New Ontario some months ago, has returned to the city, from a prospecting trip to Bancroft, Hastings county. He brings with him some fine specimens of sodalite, corundum, mica, gold quartz, iron, talc, etc. All these were found within ten miles of Bancroft, most specially in large quantities sodalite, this blue ornamental stone, is being mined and shipped, and so is corrundum. the belt of which rare mineral extends into this county. Mr. Crowley yesterday left for Toronto to ensure validity for his mineral claims.

Mr. Richardson Will Return

Mr. R. P. Richardson, the hustling representative of Messrs. Parker & Co., Toronto, who visited this city on Friday, will return shortly and spend two or three days in Peterboro. Mr. Richardson has interested quite a number of our citizens in the Port Arthur lots he has for sale and will be glad to show them to all who call at his office. Mr. Richardson has also a number of lots in the Port Arthur townsite for sale, prices ranging from $55 to $100 each. Mr. Richardson, showed The Times conclusive proof that parties who a few weeks ago, purchased some of the lots at $75 each, have already been offered $100 each for the same lots. There is no doubt, with the certain boom that influx of population, owing to industrial activity and increased shipping business, must create in Port Arthur, these lots now for sale at comparitively low prices, will before many months increase rapidly in value. Mr. Richardson will stop at the Snowden House, and his arrival will be duly noted in our columns.

Evangelist Kennedy Leaves

Evangelist H. D. Kennedy left on Saturday for Madoc where he will remain for one month, conducting meetings in the Methodist church of which Rev. N. A. McDiarmid, D.D., is pastor. Mr. Kennedy has been enjoying a well earned rest in this city with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson, Water street. Judging by Mr. Kennedy's ability and success in the past there will surely be an awakening in Madoc before his month's work is accomplished.

A Fisherman Gone Home

Mr. Dwyer, one of Rochester's leading lights of the law, who has been visiting his uncle, Mr. John Dwyer, walking boss for Mr. A. McDonald, left Saturday evening for home. Having had exceptionally good luck with the maskinonge and bass in Stony Lake, Mr. Dwyer naturally speaks well of Peterboro's summer resorts. Mr. Dwyer is an accomplished exponent of the gentle art of angling.

GETTING READY

Peterboro Fair Directors at Grounds Yesterday Making Preparations

Yesterday afternoon the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, or as they are generally termed "The Fair," directors, spent several hours superintending and giving instructions for the coming greatest of all fall fairs. There is no doubt whatever but that the intelligence displayed and energy introduced by the fair directors will result in Peterboro having this month a fair that will do honor to our city and ensure an even larger attendance next year.

Yesterday they gave instructions for erection of a large, and substantial stage 30x50 feet, immediately in front of the grand stand, for the afternoon and evening performances by the Japanese jugglers and other attractions.

The stables have been given a thorough overhauling and cleaning, as have the chicken pens. Lovers of poultry can depend this year on having a show that will be head and shoulders over anything of a similar kind ever seen here before. The Crystal Palace or main exhibition building came in for a careful inspection, which will result in several important improvements.

Mr. J. M. Brooks, will go to the Lindsay Fair on Friday to ensure having good horses entered at our local races during the exhibition; horses which ran for the good purses hung up at the Kinmount fair will also be secured by Mr. Brooks for the Fair's races.

Cereal Company's Addition

As announced in Saturday's Times, work on the long-talked of addition to the American Cereal Company's large establishment began yesterday morning. The enlargements will consist of the addition of one storey to the (four-storey) warehouse building at the south of the main mill, and the extension of the whole structure to Hunter street. Mr. Langford, the well known local builder, who has the contracts for this important addition, has a gang of men at work tearing up the plank driveway approach to the present building. The company will use property recently purchased at south side of Hunter street for their railway siding.

Mr. Hopwood Honored

In reference to a gentleman well known in Peterboro and Otonong, where many of our citizens have enjoyed the pleasure of his hospitality and advice in matters appertaining to affairs of interest to visitors at that charming summer resort, the Toronto Mail and Empire says: Mr. W. J. Hopwood, who recently left the employ of Messrs. Gordon Mackay & Co., Limited, after representing them east of Toronto for thirteen years, was last week presented with a gold watch, chain and locket from his friends on the travelling staff of the house. Mr. Reed J. Kenaman made the presentation.

Citizen Does His Duty

Yesterday afternoon a member of the Peterboro Horticultural Society, who has offices on Hunter street, was seen to vigorously stamp his foot here and there on the pavement in front of his office. A bystander observing his actions, asked if he was "seeing snakes?" He replied, this conscientious member of the society's executive, "Its potato bugs and its the duty of every one interested to kill them." He had put to death over a dozen of the pests.

Grand Music at St. John's

Many complimentary remarks were heard throughout the city yesterday by those, who attended St. John's church Sunday evening, over the grand organ recital given, at close of the service by Mr. J. P. Person-Smith, Mus. Doc., Dublin. This talented musician, who has been spending a few days in the city, is one of the best masters of organ music that Peterboro has heard.

The Secret of Long Life and How to Overcome Waste.

To "Know thyself," is to take advantage of life's secrets and equip one's self with an armor which will successfully resist the attack of disease in the battle of life. The old idea of fate or "kismet," and that a person always dies when his time comes, is now exploded. Every mechanism, whether made by God of man, has a definite amount of wear and its life can be lengthened or shortened according to the care that is given it. If accident or carelessness destroys the works of the watch or the human mechanism an end comes to its usefulness, but it has not actually "worn out." Man's system at times gets rusty like the wheels of the watch and needs a little cleaning and oiling to put it in shape for life's battles.

An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alterative extract of herbs and roots, without the use of alcohol, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This vegetable medicine coaxes the digestive functions and helps in the assimilation of food, or rather enables the organs to take from the food just the nutriment the blood requires.

Prof. J. E. Tanguay, of 61 St. Peter Street, Quebec, writes: "I had been ill for some time with La Grippe and did not regain my strength. Within a week after using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I was able to be around again, and I found that my system was entirely free from any of the bad effects of La Grippe. I now keep a bottle of the Golden Medical Discovery on hand, and, when I catch cold, take a few doses, which keeps me in perfect health. As a builder up of lost strength and vitality I do not believe your 'Discovery' has an equal."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the best laxative for old people. They cure constipation and biliousness.

—The Baracca Bible class of Murray street church will hold a reunion and social evening this evening.

—Gillett's advertising automobile arrived in the city yesterday and is attracting considerable attention.

—New fall bonnets and September rain do not harmonize. A small attendance Sunday evening at the various churches.

—Mr. R. N. Scott of Smith township, threshed for Mr. Henry Cox, Fifth Ward, 3,000 bushels of oats and barley in 12 1-4 hours. This is a cracker jack record!

—The public boat house at southern terminus of the street car line is having a coat of paint and is being placed in readiness for next season's navigation.

—Lindsay Post says; In Peterboro the council has been laying cement walks by day labor with satisfactory results, and it is now proposed to put down several miles of sewers after the same plan.

—The first consignment, consisting of a car load, of "Sanitaria" mineral water arrived yesterday for Mr. Arthur Rountree, the George street grocer, who as noted in a former issue has been appointed agent for this district.

—Drinking comes high in St. Catharines. The evening Journal of that city, under police news, notes that seven different drunks hailed before the magistrate last Thursday, were fined $5 each, with an alternative of 21 days in jail.

—The Government dredge "Trent" which, for the past week, has been engaged in pulling out the old dam just above the locks, and clearing out the entrance to the locks will be finished with this job in two or three days.

—Cowardly dog poisoners are at their nefarious work in the city, several valuable animals having been killed recently. The police should, in protection of owners who have paid taxes, find out and severely punish such outrages.

—Mrs. John Dobbin, 82 years of age, mother of Mrs. James Byrne, of the Ladies' Hair Works, on Saturday fell down stairs and severely strained her ankle, while visiting the home of Mr. Wm. Fowler, North Monaghan.

—A meeting of the Master Printers' Association of Ontario, will, it is understood, be held at St. Catharines towards the end of this week to consider the eight-hour day movement of the typographical unions, and it is stated that it will be condemned.

—Contractor Jas. Graham began work yesterday on Mr. Jas. Murty's Hunter street shop. Mr. Graham, who is pushing on the work rapidly to allow Mr. Murty's being in readiness for the fall trade, put in large plate glass light, as well as working on other interior improvements.

—It is on the tapis that local power users and owners will at once take out an injunction to end the Balsam Lake steal of our water. Peterboro, particularly at this season of the year, can neither afford nor allow the Otonabee's reservoirs to be drained.

City Hotel Deal Off

Regarding the rumors current on Saturday and reported in a local newspaper of that evening, as to the probable sale of the City Hotel to Messrs. Demetre Bros., there does not seem to be any material foundation for such reports. The Times yesterday, interviewed Mr. Martin Connors, proprietor of that hotel, and asked what there was in the report. Mr. Connors emphatically denied that he had any intention of closing such a deal as noted. He acknowledged that the firm in question had offered him a few days ago $6,000 for the hotel, but he would not talk business on that basis.

Fireman Killed in Big Toronto Fire

Terrible Death of Captain Worrell, Berkeley Street Fire Hall, in Destruction of Elevator --Captain Sargent, Wilton Avenue Hall, Seriously Injured.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—Death, sudden and terrible, overtook Captain Thomas Worrell, of the Berkeley street fire hall, in a fire which broke out shortly after one o'clock this morning in the premises of the Alexander Brown Milling Company, at the foot of Princess street. All day long in the sunlight his companions have been digging through the tons of flour and timbers under which he lies buried in an alleyway of the destroyed building.

DIGGING FOR COMRADE.

Among the men who are digging for their dead comrade are Fireman William C. Patterson, Charles J. Fox, David Corbett and David Leslie, whose escape from a similar terrible death is miraculous and thrilling. One other man was in the alleyway when the floor above collapsed. He is Captain Sargent, of Wilton avenue station, and is lying at the General Hospital.

Save for the engine room and the gigantic smokestack which towers uninjured among the ruins, the building is a wreck and the stock a total loss. The loss on the building and contents is estimated by the company at $100,000, and the total insurance is $84,500.

Spontaneous combustion is the most likely cause of the fire. It broke out in the elevator and cleaning department, and such was the rapidity with which it spread that the four employes who work at night in the building not only were unable to check it, but had no time to lose to escape with their lives. The four-storey brick building stands to the south of the railway tracks, and on land where a few years ago, were the waters of the bay. To the west is a slip, to the south the stables and storeroom of the milling company, and immediately to the east are the immense premises of the Elias Rogers Company.

LAYING THE HOSE.

The Berkeley street and Wilton avenue sections of the fire brigade were soon at the fire, and at 1.30 o'clock a general alarm was sounded. The fire fighters used a boat in carrying a line of hose across the slip, and others ran hose from the east side of the building, but it was at the north or front end of the building where the fire was fiercest. Eastern District Chief Villiers barried up the steps in the five storey square tower at the north of the building, but was soon driven back to the street.

Meantime Firemen Patterson and Fox of the Wilton avenue hall, and Corbett and Leslie, of Berkeley St. hall, had entered the one-storey alley-way which runs through the building from north to south to admit freight cars and farmers' wagons. Each pair of firemen had a line of hose playing up to the rafters wherever fire showed.

CAPT. WORRELL BURIED

The men were about forty feet from the alleyway entrance when Captains Worrell and Sargent walked in to direct them. The captains were nearing the men when, without a second's warning, there was a terrible rumble and the joists and a great quantity of flour in bags fell, pinning the captains to the ground. Captain Worrell was completely buried, but Captain Sargent was dragged out by comrades, who rushed in to his assistance. He was completely covered with flour and being injured he was hurried away to the hospital.

Debris of immense bulk and weight had fallen, and the four firemen who first entered were blinded and choked by the dust and smoke. They still played their hose, and as the dust thinned the Berkeley street men ran over and past the sizzling, spluttering flour and timbers to safety. Firemen Patterson and Fox had crawled under one of two railway cars, which stood on the track beside them.

RUSHING FROM DEATH TRAP.

"Say, Charlie, we're cut off to the south, and this stair to the east doesn't go very far," said Patterson to Fox. "See if you can make it to the north while I keep the hose going. Those other fellows were going to try to go west to the water, but I think they got out where we came in. Try it."

Fox ducked his head, and flew over the fiery debris and a moment later, Patterson dropped his line of hose and followed him. The spectacle of those trembling, dishevelled men rushing out safely from that death trap was a joyful surprise to their comrades, but Worrell remained, and had it been possible for human being to face that fiery passage again, rescue would have been attempted. But the explosion which had caused the flour to burst down upon the men had spread the fire with amazing strength to every part of the building. The big building and its contents were doomed. Soon the roof crashed in, the tops of the south and east walls tumbling outward, and the top of the west wall bulging out and dashing into the water in the slip.

DYNAMITE USED.

The side walls of the burned building leaned outward after the roof fell in, and the north wall leaned so much that at seven o'clock it was blown down with three sticks of dynamite. This blocked up the 20 feet of alleyway, which had been comparatively free. At eight o'clock the firemen and others commenced digging out timbers and throwing out bricks and bags of flour, but it will be this evening before the dead fireman's body is recovered.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Suit Against the Government at Exchequer Court Here Yesterday

A suit which caused some interest yesterday was tried at a special sitting of the Exchequer Court, with Mr. Justice Burnbridge presiding. The suit was one brought by Jonathan Griffin of Lakefield, for damage done to his property in the village of Lakefield by the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, for which he claims compensation, is being heard.

The petitioner is the owner of lots [illegible] and the water privileges fronting on said lots, together with the rights to use in all 400 inches of water from the wing dam, opposite said lands. The lands and premises are on the east bank of the Otonabee river in the village of Lakefield, and a short distance north east of the lock on the Trent Valley Canal, and upon the said lands is erected a [illegible] grist mill and saws and door factory.

The petitioner also owns five acres in part of lot one in the village of Lakefield, used as garden lands.

In May 1889, the suppliant made a first settlement for damages done his property to that date, getting $250, but this settlement was on the understanding that the water should not be raised above a certain height. However, since that settlement, the water has been raised considerably, and Mr. Griffin claims that his property has received further damages, for which petition claims substantial damages.

The Government disputes this claim in full, and offered $150 in full of compensation. A. P. Poussette, K.C., and O. A. Langley, Lakefield, counsel for the suppliant; E. H. Edwards for the Crown.

The case, which of course was tried by the justice, but no jury, was argued out by the respective counsel, and judgment was reserved. It is likely that a compromise between the $150 offered by the Government and $800 claimed by petitioner, will be allowed.

HONEST PHYSICIAN

Works with Himself First

It is a mistake to assume that physicians are always skeptical as to the curative properties of anything else than drugs.

Indeed, the best doctors are those who seek to heal with as little use of drugs as possible and by the use of correct food and drink. A physician writes from Calif. to tell how he made a well man of himself with Nature's remedy.

"Before I came from Europe, where I was born," he says, "it was my custom to take coffee with milk (cafe au lait) with my morning meal, a small cup (cafe noir) after my dinner and two or three additional small cups at my club during the evening.

"In time nervous symptoms developed, with palpitation of the cardiac region, with accompanied by great depression of spirits, despondency—in brief, the "blues" I at first tried medicines, but got no relief and at last realized that all my troubles were caused by coffee. I therefore quit its use forthwith, substituting English Breakfast Tea.

"The tea seemed to help me at first, but in time the old distressing symptoms returned, and I quit it also, and tried to use milk for my table beverage. This I was compelled, however, to abandon speedily for while it relieved the nervousness somewhat, it brought on constipation. Then by a happy inspiration I was led to try the Postum Food Coffee. This was some months ago and I still use it. I am no longer nervous, nor do I suffer from the pains about the heart, while my 'blues' have left me and life is bright to me once more. I know that leaving off coffee and using Postum helped me, and I make it a rule to advise my patients to use it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

REDMOND AFTER YANKEE DOLLARS

Irish Nationalist Again Visits the United States

WANTS HELP IN STRUGGLE

Says United States well Served by Irishmen Since Days of Washington

New York, Sept. 20.—William Redmond, M.P. for Clare, K. in the British House of Commons, has made an appeal for American support to the movement for the political freedom of Ireland. He says: Next to Ireland, the Irish people love America. America has been well served by Irishmen from the days of Washington to the present. The influence of the United States in the world to-day is paramount. There is no doubt that the powers of Europe look toward the United States for guidance. I believe English people would do anything to cement an alliance with the United States of America. The European powers are so jealous of each other that a move upon the part of any of them is looked upon with suspicion. America, however, is outside of the turmoil of European strife. The United States stands for liberty and humanity, and any recommendation made by the United States will carry weight because it is well understood the nation is not in search of territory. The whole world will be better off when the century-long struggle of Ireland is over. We confidently appeal to the cause of justice and humanity, that is characteristic of America, to aid us in our struggle.

WERE FIGHTING FLAMES BELOW

When the Disaster on Jap Battleship Occured

THE MAGAZINE EXPLODED

Additional Particulars of the Great Calamity to Jap Navy

London, Sept. 20.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends the following additional details of the Mikasa disaster received from Sasebo. The Mikasa had entered the harbor, together with other warships, to effect repairs and repainting. All the men were asleep in their hammocks when the cry of fire was raised. The crew, scantily clad, promptly turned out and worked the fire extinguishing apparatus.

While everybody did his utmost it was inevitable that there should be confusion. The flames extended within a few minutes from end to end of the ship. The reports of exploding magazine resounded among the hills. The conflagration raged most furiously along the second deck and the majority of the crew were there trying to cope with the fire. Consequently this was the scene of most of the casualties. Men were blown to fragments, which were sent flying hundreds of yards away into the waters of the harbor, while all around presented a horrible sight, crimsoned as it were with blood of many gallant sailors.

A large per cent. of the bodies showed that death was due to scalds from steam. Those brought ashore they were completely beyond identification. The reason why the fate of so many men is unknown, is that a large detachment was sent below to battle with the flames and when the vessel foundered they were unable to reach the deck. They therefore still interred in the ship.

Although the casualties were great it is believed the damage done to the vessel was comparatively slight, but until she has been raised it will be impossible to ascertain the cause of the disaster. Even then it cannot be assured.

Police Court

OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, C.I. Rand
Magistrate, R.W. Dumble

Two prisoners faced his Worship at yesterday's court. Eleazer Babcock was charged with having stolen coal and carried away a locomotive, No. 2060, the property of the C.P.R.

Mr. Kerr, representing the prisoner, asked if there were any other charge to be laid against his client.

Mr. W. H. Moore represented the C.P.R., and Mr. Wood the prosecution. There was another charge preferred against the prisoner of having placed a locomotive upon the track and blocked the road, this under section 490.

Pat. Coursey, who works at the Matthews' Packing House, left work at 11 o'clock the evening of the 13th September, and when passing the C.P.R. station heard steam blowing off. Saw a young man, the prisoner on the engine and asked if he was working there; the engine was off the tracks and the tender partly blocked the main line. The engine had moved backwards. Caused prisoner out engine, and went to notify C.P.R. operator at the station.

The station operator came to the scene of trouble. Prisoner blew the whistle just as he got off the engine. Prisoner said he wanted to go to Lindsay.

Under cross examination by Mr. Kerr, prisoner said "I want to go to Lindsay, give me a hand to shove me the engine on." The prisoner was drunk at the time, was staggering all over the place, and did not know what he was doing.

Mr. Clarke, a C.P.R. engineer in charge of the engine in question, left the engine in the usual place on the west siding. Did not block the engine when through work but left it in care of the watchmen. The engine had been damaged to about $3.

To Mr. Kerr deverbed the various operations necessary to start an engine. It would take very little knowledge to move the lever. To Mr. Wood, the engine would have from 120 to 140 pounds when he left it and the engine got on the main line it would have gone from seven to ten miles with the steam he left in her.

Mr. John Martin, fireman on engine No. 2036, left the engine shed night about seven o'clock and next saw it about 11.30, both engine and tender were off the rails, and the bunker interfered with main line; no train could have passed on the main line. Engine could have been blocked by a chain or block of wood, but with steam, engine could have jumped such block.

Mr. Pearce, signal man at G.T.R. and C.P.R. crossings, said first he knew of the trouble was an engine whistle, as he sat in his signal tower; heard the whistle three times, and wondered what train it could be. After the third whistle saw the engine move and drop off the rails to the ties. Coursey was taking prisoner out of the engine when he arrived. Found the engine set on back motion, and throttle open. Shut the lever and made engine safe. There were 60 pounds of steam on.

F. Atkinson, was yardmaster at C.P.R. at 11 o'clock, as everything was all right went to his home on Bolivar street, to get a lunch, and when he got back, engine was off the track. His duties were to take care of the engine and have her ready for the morning when the engineer arrives. Had nothing to do with watching the yard in general.

Oaler Brecken, night operator at C.P.R. depot, said he and baggageman took charge of the prisoner, and held him at the station until the police arrived. Prisoner did not seem responsible for his words or deeds.

Mr. Jackson, trainmaster at Havelock, brought up an auxilliary train as he found end of tender as far as first truck of derailed engine was foot of main track; 17 ties destroyed, which cost 45 cents each. The auxilliary train cost $50 to put the engine back.

The magistrate explained that prisoner was tried under section 490 of the act. Mr. Kerr claimed that prisoner was so drunk he was incapable.

The magistrate said that, drunk or sober, the man was responsible for his acts, which might have been very serious had he gotten the engine on the mainline. The charge of theft was withdrawn. And the preliminary hearing being over the prisoner was committed for trial.

CHANGE OF DATE

Thanksgiving Day Settled for Thursday Oct. 26th

An Ottawa despatch says; Thanksgiving day is fixed for Thursday, Oct. 26. This was decided upon by the Cabinet to-day. Strong representation has been made to the Government to select a Monday, so that young people away from the parental roof might eat their Thanksgiving turkey with the old folks, but clerical influence on behalf of Thursday has carried the day.

There will be no official observance of the King's birthday on Nov. 9th, and it will not be a public holiday. The celebration will be held as this year, on May 24. On Nov. 9th there will be only the royal salutes fired at each military post in Canada.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

BASEBALL.

The Port Hope Guide's sporting editor is not infatuated with that all star aggregation of female twirlers called the "Bloomers," which played (?) in that town Saturday. The editor is short on credulity regarding the alleged sex of even all the four ostensible really truly female ladies on this team. He had doubts, as had some of our local sports regarding the seeming lady who played at playing short stop. Should this combination favor Peterboro with another visit either this matter of sex must be decided before the gate money is adjusted, or several small boys employed to provide a few live mice for distribution on the field.

THE TURF.

Maud Keswick, the former Peterboro horse, which showed up so well at the Peterboro races recently, has been doing great stunts on the United States circuits. In Syracuse recently in the 2.09 1-4 class, pace or trot, for a purse of $1,200, Maud Keswick took first money in straight heats, the time being 2.06 3-4. This horse gives promise of developing into one of the fastest trotters in America.

HOCKEY.

The Lindsay Post says; Hockey is now being talked up, and there will be several teams in the town league. There will be no senior or even intermediate team, but a fast team will be placed in the Junior O.H.A.—one which should bring the junior championship to Lindsay. Mr. "Artie" Parkin, for many years back a prominent figure in hockey, and a player on the Lindsay senior team is shaping things out for a speedy seven for the junior honors, and when he places them in the district, which will likely comprise teams from Kingston, Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterboro and Lindsay, he expects to come out on top. Artie has already several players under contract, and intends pushing the team along. A team in the junior series is what Lindsay wants, and we feel sure his braves would receive good patronage if they put up the winning article.

Brer Post seems to forget to remember a certain game very near the Lindsay ice in which the score stood 13 to 5, that whatever shortage there was in hockey playing was supplied by a superior knowledge of "seven come eleven," that intricate game of the ivories.

ANGLING.

Lindsay Post is congratulating itself over an order now issued for stoppage of all fishing in Scugog Lake and river for a period of two years as that bright daily has advocated such action. Mr. A. Bradshaw, fishery inspector at Lindsay, has received the following notice;

PUBLIC NOTICE.
Stocked Waters.

Notice is hereby given that the waters of Scugog Lake and Scugog River as far down as the locks at Lindsay, have by authority of the Commissioner of Fisheries been set apart for the natural and artificial propagation of fish for and during a period of two years from the 1st day of September, 1905, and that that fishing therein in any manner whatever is prohibited for the said period under the penalties provided by Section 27 of the Ontario Fisheries Act, 1900, 63 Vic., c. 50. By order.

S. T. BASTEDO,
Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries.
Toronto, Sept. 1st, 1905.

N.B — Any person who fishes in these waters contrary to this notice is liable to a penalty of $100 with costs, and in default of payment to imprisonment for three months.

English Sentiment Against Chamberlain

Says Mr. J. W. Langmuir, who has Just Returned from the Old Country--Good Crops and Prosperity.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Mr. J. W. Langmuir, general manager of the Toronto Electric Light Corporation, returned on Saturday afternoon after a seven weeks' trip to England, Scotland, and France, and in conversation with a representative of the press to-day recalled many interesting observations.

One of the subjects Mr. Langmuir is specially interested in is the question of electrically transmission, he being chairman of the Niagara Falls Park Commission.

"Electricity is making progress in Britain," he said, "though the cheapness of coal for fuel, and the fact that there are not many important waterfalls, excepting in Scotland, prevents as rapid advances being made as in this country. However, the underground railway in London is at the present time being electrified, and in the smaller cities and towns companies are being formed or municipalities are organizing for the purpose of giving an electric light and in some case an electric power service. In many quarters there is a disposition to wait for the complete solution of the problem of long distance transmission. The large quantities of copper wire required for the transmission of power in quantities is a serious item. Of course the problem of transmission as far as distances of 100 or 150 miles are concerned, is already solved."

WASTE LAND IN BRITAIN.

Mr. Langmuir noticed on all sides in Britain every evidence of an abundant harvest and a prosperous year. "But I was struck with the fact that in England, with its comparatively small area, large tracts of land are not cultivated. Of course this is nothing new, but these uncultivated tracts are increasing in area. They are used largely for hunting and sports. In France it is vastly different. Between Havre and Paris the country is divided into little farms that are like gardens, with apparently every foot productive."

"It has been said that England is finished, this will become merely a pleasant place to live in."

"It is a fine place to live in now, only you must have lots of money."

Mr. Langmuir found political sentiment practically unanimous in the opinion that Chamberlainism had no chance at the coming election. "The laboring man and the artisan will simply not listen to argument on the subject," he said. "Any suggestion of a tax on food he will not have. That there is any other side to the question never occurs to him. Whether this condition will ever materially change is to my mind doubtful. A change might be brought about by hard times."

AGAINST CHAMBERLAIN.

Mr. Langmuir made the further interesting statement that not only the laboring men were opposed to Chamberlain but also the merchants almost unanimously, and a majority of the bankers. The merchants want to be able to buy anywhere in the world that suits them, and the bankers like foreign business to continue because of the profits from the business in exchange.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.

"It is a curious thing that in Britain one has to make inquiries to learn anything about politics. One never hears politics talked as in this country unless one introduces the subject.

"I noted a remarkable change in sentiment toward France. The entente cordial was apparently real. I met Frenchmen travelling everywhere, not only in London, but away up in Scotland. On my visit during the Fashoda trouble scarcely a Frenchman was to be seen.

"Of the Kaiser there appears to be a certain amount of suspicion. He is generally looked upon as a disquieting influence in international politics."

UNDER CIVIC CONTROL

Immense Increase in Consumers of Peterboro's Water

This is one of the times of year that Town Treasurer Felix Brownscombe takes off his coat and fairly wades into work. The water accounts will shortly be issued. The water office this quarter will send out some 1,900 bills to its customers throughout the city as compared with 1,500 sent out one short year ago.

[illegible] the increase due, partly to civic control, and partly to influx of population. It will be seen that in the past year 400 more consumers have taken services. This of course involves a vast amount of labor for Superintendent Henderson's employes, in street work, such as laying mains, etc.

Peterboro purchased the water works in 1902, in which year the cash discounts allowed consumers amounted to $770, whilst in the first half of the present year alone, the rebates allowed were $2,061. The net receipts in 1902 from users of the city water amounted to $22,997, whilst, judging by the receipts of the first six months of 1905, viz., $11,720, the amount that this city will get for water, will come to probably about $28,500. It pays to watch your water bills and pay them promptly, as 25 per cent. in them saved.

A CLEAN FAIR

Constables Standing in With Gamblers Will be Sent Down

That the Peterboro Fair, to be held next week, will be free of objectionable features, and in particular, that bete noir of such gatherings, the slick smooth voiced shell man, or wheel of fortune operator, although from past experience such is hardly necessary, is now assured by a warning which has been sent out to local constables throughout the Province by Mr. H. B. Cowan, Provincial Secretary, [illegible] Agricultural Societies.

This notice warns, in no uncertain language, constables who accept a bribes from people who operate gambling outfits and games of chance at fall exhibitions, and in return permit them to operate on the fair grounds, are liable on conviction of such action to be sent to jail for 14 years.

Detectives who have been sent out by the Department of Agriculture have found that many of the local constables work in with these sharpers. An effort will be made this year to detect constables at this work, and where convictions can be secured the offenders will be prosecuted with the utmost vigor.

Whilst no suspicion of such practice has ever attached to our local force, the warning will have a salutary effect throughout the Province and inspire confidence of security from fraud among the thousands who visit the various fall fairs.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

Though the rapid growth of the telephone business is one of the marvels of this generation, yet it is apparent to those who have considered the matter, that the record of the past twenty-five years will be exceeded even in the next decade.

An expert witness stated before the Special Committee that from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 per annum would be required for years to come, in Great Britain alone, to meet the demand for telephone service.

Another expert stated that the investment in farmers' lines alone, in the States of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, represented a capital of upwards of $50,000,000.

In Canada, the number of telephone subscribers has doubled in five years, and the long distance line mileage has increased in the same proportion.

The capital investment has likewise been doubled, emphasizing the fact that a telephone company, to maintain its existence, must have a continuous increase of capital.

The greatest of all telephone problems is the extension of the service to farmers. An expert witness declared before the Special Committee that the financial obligations in providing a farmers' telephone service in Canada, were greater even than the Dominion Government could safely undertake. His advice was that the farmers should unite with the Company in providing telephone service for themselves, upon the co-operative plan, thus securing service at the lowest possible expense, while securing the advantages of both local and long distance connections.

This recommendation is the result of experience, and the advantages it contains are offered by The Bell Telephone Company of Canada to those who wish to avail themselves of it.

SHOT THE SOO RAPIDS

Sailor Has Unique Adventure and Escaped Unharmed

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 20.—J. J. Burton, of the Algoma Central fleet, went over the Soo rapids in a yawl boat, and survived the trip.

It is generally considered sure death for anyone who gets caught in the current of the upper river and is swept over the rapids, but Burton, though he probably went through the swiftest part of the rapids, made the trip safely. The experience was entirely unintentional on his part. In company with another sailor, named Hurdman, he had been across the river. On starting for home his companion refused to cross the river in the yawl boat. Burton therefore started alone. His recollection of what happened is not particularly clear, but he knows he went over the rapids, and when able to take his bearings found himself at the new Ontario docks, indicating that he came over near the Canadian shore. It is on the Canadian side that the rapids runs the swiftest.

WEST AUSTRALIA FOR UNEMPLOYED

General Booth, of Salvation Army, and His Colonization Schemes

London, Sept. 20.—General Booth is being more and more drawn towards Australia for the development of his Salvation Army Colonization schemes and is preparing to colonize forthwith 20,000 acres in Western Australia, which he bought at eight shillings per acre. General Booth proposes to settle there British agriculturalists and others, who, having drifted to the towns, are now unemployed, putting them first through labor tests at the Salvation Army farms here. Reduced passages are to be given per the Orient Line.

The Victoria and Queensland Governments are considering similar schemes, but, remembering the strong labor vote, desire assurances that the emigrants shall be real land workers. The Canadian authorities seem content to allow Australia to take her fill of this class of settlers.

Salvation Army Immigrants

London, Sept. 20.—One hundred women and children, with other emigrants, under Salvation Army auspices, will sail for Canada on October 8th. General Booth states he has plans for the emigration of 20,000 workless at no distant date, and has already arranged for 5,000 for Australia. Of the rest, 1,000 will probably go to New Zealand, while Canada and the Argentine Republic will share the remainder.

NEW EMBROGLIO

Russia and Turkey Disagree Over Fortifications on Bosphorus

Constantinople, Sept. 19. — The steady progress of work on the new fortifications on the Bosphorus is causing friction between the Russians and the Porte. The fortifications were hastily commenced at the time of the mutiny on board the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine. Turkey arising upon this pretext as a means for carrying out a scheme of fortification which she had long desired, but which had always been opposed by Russia.

It is understood that the question was discussed at the recent audience which the Russian ambassador had with the Sultan, in the course of which he pointed out that the further fortification of the straits was incompatible with friendly relations between Turkey and Russia.

In the meanwhile, the works are being actively pushed, though they can hardly be completed for several months. The Porte continues its irreconcilable attitude in regard to the proposed international financial control of Macedonia.

THE CANADA ATLANTIC

Grand Trunk Will Have the Running of the Road October 5th

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—October 5th has been fixed as the day for the taking over of the Canada Atlantic by the Grand Trunk system. The work of signing the books and perfecting other details of the transfer is nearing conclusion. The Grand Trunk has also commenced the work of strengthening the bridges over the whole system from Ferry Sound to Swanton.

There will be little delay in building a new depot in Ottawa and also a new hotel. The intention of the Grand Trunk, it is stated, is to boom the Rideau lakes route, bringing tourists from Kingston by that way and then taking them east and south over their lines. To provide accommodation for an increased tourist and general traffic, it is the intention to erect a first class hotel.

The Scourge of Consumption

Thousands Are Dying—If Tired Languid or Run Down Get Protection Before Too Late

No child, man or woman is safe from consumption unless their blood is pure, rich and nourishing.

Allow the blood to become thin, and immediately the whole system grows weak. The lungs are deprived of resisting power and the ever-present tubercular bacilli develops.

The most positive protection against consumption is Ferrozone, which restores the blood to full strength. Weak organs are instantly strengthened. Worn-out tissues are rebuilt. New life is given to the lungs and all danger of consumption is destroyed.

Mrs. E. J. Richardson, Manotick, Ont., tells as follows of her enormous gain in health from Ferrozone: "For two years I was not well. I was thin and anaemic. Towards spring I fell into a condition of nervous exhaustion. A dead tiredness hung over me like a load of lead. Housework of any kind I simply couldn't do. A bad cough developed that worried me greatly for I thought it might be tubercular. When I first read of Ferrozone I was convinced it was good. I took it regularly for eight weeks and the change in my condition was wonderful. My cheeks filled out and became clear and rosy. I gained eight pounds and now am strong and vigorous as possible."

Ferrozone feeds, nourishes and tones up the body—it sends the thrill and vim of robust health from head to foot—makes you feel better at once. Won't you use Ferrozone? Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

OUR GREAT HERITAGE

A writer in the World's Work shows that the new Canadian Provinces on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains are filling up with immigrants largely from the United States. The Oregon, published at Seattle, says it knows that numbers have gone thither from Oregon—even from Oregon, where population is yet [illegible]. The World's Work says that there are to-day in Western Canada 190,000 male Americans over 18 years of age. Why they have gone there he explains, by recital of a conversation had with a farmer from Iowa, viz.

"I don't see much difference between living in Canada and living in the States. They are a little more for law and order up here. Why did I come here? Because it seemed to be the only place to go. The old homestead was worth $100 an acre. It was too small to divide among the boys, and the neighboring farms were too high priced to buy." So the father went "land looking." The search for cheap land of the right sort carried him across the border. To-day he is making as much from his $7 land in Manitoba as he was from his $100 land in Iowa. He has a good bank account and the satisfaction of having his sons on farms around him. This man's story explains how it comes about that Iowa is losing population.

A farmer who had lived a long time in Marion County, Oregon, went to Alberta not long since, fore precisely the same reason. He could get cheap land and settle his sons and daughters round about him, and all could make wages by growing wheat. A second Canadian settler is reported through the World's Work as saying:

Four years ago I lived in Iowa with a $2000 mortgage hanging over me. Taxes and interest were eating me up. I came up here, got 160 acres of land as a gift from the Canadian government and for two years my family and I lived in that shack. Now I own that house and every board in it is paid for. Eighty acres of my land are under cultivation. My wife and my children are well fed and well clothed for the first time in years. Do we want to be annexed? I guess not.

We have places in the Pacific Northwest, and especially in Oregon, for multitudes of this sort of people; but they require railway transportation, or the prospect of it; both of which are denied them, by the do-nothing policy of those who refuse to extend their own railway system, and who cheek others who would come into this field. In Canada it is different. The railways lead the way and the settlers march with the railways.

The contention of the Oregonian is not against the Harriman system of railways, so called, but against the slow and obstructive policy that practically forbids immigration, and sends even our people off to Canada.

THE PRISONERS

The differences in the kind of war waged by Japan and Russia is indicated by the difference in the number of prisoners held by the two combatants. The number of Japanese prisoners in the hands of the Russians is not precisely known, but it is comparatively insignificant, not more than 2,000 at the outside. Japan has upward of 100,000 Russian prisoners, of whom 40,000 were taken at Mukden in March last, 26,000 at Port Arthur, about 5,000 in the battle of the Sea of Japan and the rest in smaller engagements. The repatriation of prisoners is not regulated by any international agreement, the Hague Convention of 1899 merely declaring that "after the conclusion of peace, the repatriation of prisoners of war shall take place as speedily as possible." Japan will, therefore, provide means for the return of her captured soldiers and will pay the cost of their transfer, while Russia will at the same time assume the greater responsibility of moving her imprisoned soldiers and sailors from the Japanese depots. In fact, the Russian government is said to have already taken the first step toward that end in signing a contract with the Hamburg-American Steamship Company for the transportation of the prisoners by water.

As the Russian prisoners have been well cared for by the Japanese they will have a chance to speak well of their captors when they get home, and will doubtless be glad to do so.

A NEW SCHOOL

They are teaching, or try to teach, almost everything nowadays. One of the latest efforts is that made by the Young Women's Christian Association, of Worcester, Massachusetts, which announces in the prospectus of its educational department for the coming season a class in salesmanship. It is designed to train young women for positions in stores. Much interest has been expressed in such a course of training by the leading dry goods merchants of the city and they have promised to give the undertaking their hearty co-operation and support. The association has been fortunate in securing as a teacher for the class a person who will be able to furnish from her own successful experience as a saleswoman a valuable course of instruction in the principles and methods of the art. While nothing can take the place of actual experience in the eyes of an employer, it is believed that such a course of training as is afforded will be of great assistance to a young woman in getting a position, and that preference will always be given such pupils over those without training or experience.

This theory is good, and perhaps it will work. Young women can certainly learn, if they take a notion to, and they do learn how to be salesladies in one way and another. We hope if the new school in Worcester is successful that there will be clerks in Worcester stores who do not feel certain that they always know what a customer wants better than the customer does.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

ATHLETIC WORLD

BY OUR SPORTING EDITOR.

The Bloomers.

An aggregation of so-called baseball players, bearing the gate receipts title of "The Chicago Bloomers" yesterday drew a fair attendance to Riverside Park. The Peterboro team was evidently a scratch team, but won out by a score of 5 to 4. The Bloomers had five females in their team who played respectively, pitcher, for four innings, when she changed places with a man on second base; first base, short stop, center field, and right field. The Bloomer on 1st base, and she who pitched for a time were fairly good players, but the aggregation as a whole, were out for the gate money more than ball playing. On the Peterboro team, Clark Earles and Lang acted as battery. Two of the home ball players, not members of the team, helped the Bloomers make up their necessary nine players.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I cordially can recommend you. treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their intention to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believes that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground, and good ore shoots are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

match for her unconscious antagonist.

"I am infinitely flattered, Mrs. Ruthven," exclaimed Nora, with a pleased smile and a slight blush; "your approbation is a compliment—as to you, you are quite too dazzling. I never saw anything like your rubies before. I confess I should like to see all your jewels one day."

"You shall, if you like. Meantime, here is Captain Shirley, waiting for the introduction I promised him. Captain Shirley—Miss L'Estrange."

"May I have the honor of the first dance, Miss L'Estrange?" he asked, with a low bow and an air of repressed eagerness.

"With pleasure."

She handed him her card. Having inscribed his name, he hesitated, and said, with a smile of entreaty:

"Dare I ask for the second waltz?"

"Very well," returned Nora, with a little laugh at his imploring tone.

"I assure you, Captain Shirley is a capital partner," put in Mrs. Ruthven.

Then addressing him, she added:

"The rooms are filling rapidly. Give me your arm, and I will join Lady Dorrington. He shall return directly, Miss L'Estrange."

"Well," said Winton, who had exchanged a nod of recognition with Shirley, "I think you might have given me the first quadrille, any idiot can walk through a quadrille!"

"You know I could not ask you," said Nora, glancing up into his eyes with a bright, amused sparkle in her own. "And as you said nothing about it, I never thought you would deign to dance."

"I don't suppose you ever gave me a thought, and you are right; I have stiffened too much and too soon into elderly ways, to be a fit partner for a creature like you."

"Mr. Winton," with an air half mocking, half kindly, "will you do me the honor of dancing the first quadrille?" and she handed him her programme, from which he perceived that the first dance was a waltz, the second a quadrille.

Mark Winton flushed through his sun-tanned skin, as he returned the correct reply:

"Most happy! Where shall I find you?" he added, eagerly, as he saw Shirley returning.

"Here. I shall return to this room," and she was gone.

Mrs. Ruthven's triumph began with the dancing. Though some of the county grandees were present, the host opened the ball with her, and he had never before been so charming, or so devoted in his attentions; he explained with an amusing air of martyrdom the cruel necessity for his taking the Marchioness of Blankford, an immensely stout, talkative woman, with gray hair and moustache, to supper; but there was no escape. Mrs. Ruthven had never felt so secure, so elated. What wonderful luck hers was, to be ardently in love with the right man!

The sense of gratification gave a charm to her expression it did not always have, and the Blankshire squires were lost in admiration of the fascinating woman, who, besides bearing about her with the outward and visible signs of so much adorable wealth, might well have tempted a man to make a fool of himself, and marry her without it. Every now sought for introductions and dances, at least all the men of social importance, except Winton. And in the midst of her success, Mrs. Ruthven noticed and resented his neglect.

She had, however, nothing to complain of. He was rigidly, properly polite, when she spoke to him, but he never sought her voluntarily, and she fancied that every one would notice the avoidance of the only old acquaintance she had in the room, except Captain Shirley, and he was nobody. But of their former acquaintance, or his neglect, no one was conscious save Shirley, who had the bad taste to comment on it.

Meantime, the guests poured in, and dancing had begun with great spirit.

"I feel as if I ought to look for you and offer you my arm," said Nora, as Winton rose to give her his seat beside Mrs. L'Estrange, when Shirley brought her back. "Having asked you to dance, I should act the role completely."

"I will excuse you."

"Why do you not dance, Helen?" she resumed. "Lord Dorrington tells me you refused him peremptorily."

"It would not be becoming in the chaperon of a great grown-up daughter to dance," returned Mrs. L'Estrange good-humoredly.

"You must give me a quadrille, Mrs. L'Estrange," said Winton, "for the sake of 'Auld Lang Syne.' I don't think I have danced since the old rectory days, when you used to be my partner—you remember?"

"I do, indeed!" A quick sigh caught Nora's ear, and she noticed the soft, sad look which stole over her step-mother's countenance.

Mrs. L'Estrange was a small, elegant, but somewhat colorless woman, with pale-blue eyes, and pale-brown hair, a pretty figure, and very soft, quiet manners; she could talk well when roused, but had always the air of preferring to be still and silent. "She had had a trying life!" thought Nora, while Winton said, "Well—I will come and look for you, presently." Then he gave Nora his arm, and they took their places.

"I think you must have danced more than you admit," said she, when the quadrille was over. "You made very few mistakes!"

"I watched my neighbors, and the evolutions are not difficult. No; don't go back yet; you will be snapped up by your next partner. Who is it, Lethbridge?"

"No, a friend of the squire's, who introduced him, Lord Alfred Harcourt."

"I don't think he will amuse you! Have you been in the conservatory yet? It is really very pretty."

"No!" yielding to his movement in that direction.

Winton led her into the hall where numerous groups sat and stood about, down the passage before mentioned to the buffet, and then across the breakfast-room, as yet unoccupied, where card-tables were set forth, into the conservatory.

This was dimly lighted by soft silvery lamps among the foliage, and freshened by the splash of a couple of fountains. The fragrance of the flowers, the cool stillness, after the noise and heat of the ball-room, were most welcome.

"This is lovely, indeed!" cried Nora, "none of the balls I was at in London were half so beautiful."

"How many did you go to?" asked Winton.

"Three," she replied, "you like accuracy."

"It is essential! What is this place at the end?"

"Let us explore," cried Nora.

A door which led out to the terrace had been replaced by a deep red velvet curtain, which, looped to one side, gave admittance to a Turkish tent, draped with rich, mellow-colored Oriental stuffs, intermixed with gold. A divan with embroidered cushions occupied one side, and a stained glass lantern swung from the centre, with a long mirror opposite the door reproduced the charming

Miss Hattie Howden a Bride

Yesterday afternoon at 3.30, a very pretty wedding, was quietly celebrated at the residence of Mr. J. A. Storey, 16 Waller street, when Miss Hattie Howden, second daughter of the late Mr. James Howden, of South View, Cavan, became the bride of Mr. Caleb Lowes of Rothsay, Peel township, county of Wellington. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few friends, by Rev. H. V. Monster, of Orono, formerly pastor of the Methodist church, Cavanville, where the bride resided. Mr. Lowes is a brother of Mr. Wm. Lowes, Dunlop street. Mrs. J. F. Staples, of Ida, and Mrs. Walsh, of Perrytown, sisters of the bride, were among those present. After a charming dejeuner, the happy couple took the C.P.R. for a honeymoon trip in Toronto and other western points, amid showers of rice and wishes for life long happiness by a large number of friends who saw them off at the station. They will reside in Drayton, Wellington, Co.

Mr. Laing Goes to Montreal

The St. Catharines Star has the following concerning Mr. Arthur S. Laing, son of Mr. Robert Laing, Water street, a graduate of the Peterboro Collegiate Institute:

"It will be with sincerest regret that a wide circle of friends in St. Catharines will learn of the intended departure of Mr. A. S. Laing of the Collegiate Institute staff. Mr. Laing has tendered his resignation and leaves about October 1st to accept a commendable position in the employ of a large Montreal firm. Mr. Laing has been a resident of the city and a member of the teaching staff of the institute for the last six years, and during that time he has won a warm place in the hearts of the citizens of St. Catharines. As a teacher he has established a most enviable reputation, and it is only natural that his services should be sought in a wider field of labor. While his departure will be deeply regretted his numerous friends will wish him every success in his new sphere."

No Engine Contest

The engine contest, as advocated by both the council and Chief Tom Rutherford, to decide superiority of makers between the competing rival manufacturers will, it is altogether probable, fail to materialize. Mr. Hugh Cameron, selling agent for Canada of the Waterous fire engine of Brantford, who visited the city on Monday, informed The Times that he is willing his engine shall be judged on its merits and record, as judged by its practical tests in actual work at towns and cities that use it, but refuses to permit his new steamer to be tested and strained by such a test as advocated by the council and our chief of the brigade.

TREE PLANTING

Water Street Resident Listens to Advice and Makes a Compromise

A citizen living on Water street recently noted with dismay that a good sized maple tree in front of his residence, was showing signs of dissolution. Armed with axe, pick, and shovel he yesterday morning attacked the shade tree; after numerous musings of preparation induced by the September sun and unaccustomed labor, he called to his aid several men from a nearby industry. With a rope attached to the top of this monarch of the forest, some 70 feet in height, a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, the shade tree fell. To replace the now ruined shade tree was his next worry. Not being posted in arboriculture he consulted a number of his friends, who advised him to replace the maple with another of the same genus, others said, "Never plant maples on Water street, the soil won't grow them, put in elms," still others said basswood. In despair he decided on one of each till advised. "Don't try planting trees until the spring," said one friend," another said the only time trees will grow is to put them in as the snow first flies. Still more advised him to plant them now. The citizen, decided to plant at once so as in case of failure, he could successively try fall and spring insertions.

The trees were brought in during the afternoon. "Don't wet the roots" advised a friend, "Put on lots of water or the trees can't live said another." "Be sure you don't disturb the leaves," advised a friend, "strip off every leaf," said another, "if you want your trees to leaf next year." The dweller on Water street, during the early evening put in three trees, a maple, a basswood and an elm, one with all its leaves, one entirely stripped, and one semi-nude, with one of them he watered the roots, another went in dry, and one had about two cups of water with them. Time will now prove which of his various prizes of advice was best, and having taken a memo of full particulars as to how each one was treated, he can govern his spring planting accordingly.

A Full Game Bag

Yesterday evening a boy with conscious pride and the bearing of a veteran sportsman, marched triumphantly into Messrs. Cubitt & Porter's, sporting goods store on Charlotte street to return a gun he had rented from them the preceding morning. When asked by Mr. Cubitt what luck he had had, the lad proudly opened up an ancient and voluminous game bag, which was strapped over his shoulders, and after first displacing sundry packages of remnants left from lunch, and some empty cartridge shells, with a tired shake of the arm, let out one hard frozen kill, displayed five black and three red squirrels, together with a very moth (?) eaten groundhog. One of his black squirrels was a beauty measuring about 20 inches from tip to tip.

A Successful Party

A merry party was that held Monday evening at the residence, McDonnel street, of Mr. J. Hardie, travellor for Messrs. Perkins Ince & Co., the local wholesale grocers. Mr. Hardie's little son, Jack, had some thirty-five or forty of his playmates in, and played the host with the dignity and enthusiasm of his age. With games, music and such fun, as only youngsters get out of life, the happy hours flew by only too quickly. Refreshments, without which a Children's party would be tame indeed, were served, and needless to say, thoroughly enjoyed by Master Jack's guests. With expressions of pleasure over the pleasant time enjoyed, at a reasonable hour these present dispersed.

The Question of Baldness

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of Wigs and Toupees. The visit of Prof. Derenwend, of Toronto, to Peterboro on Tuesday, September 26th, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel, renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstration given to show the perfect naturalness of his Wigs and Toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the day and date.

Your Home Safe for a Trifle

To provide the absolutely necessary fire hall and appliances, consistent to a proper protection of this city's homes, factories and stores, will take, it is estimated $25,000. This means only an additional 34 cents on each $1000 of assessment. Surely the man who is concerned, say, $1400 on his home his hard earned, and often, harder saved, money, has secured for his wife and little ones, will not have to think very long or very deeply, over an annual expenditure of half a dollar a year, or a trifle of a cent a day when it will make him feel safer every night he retires to bed, or every morning when he leaves home for work, as far as fire is concerned.

A Bicycle Mix-up

Yesterday evening as a young man, carrying his dinner pail, in one hand was riding homewards along Water street on his bicycle, on whose handles rested his other fist, he met with a bad spill just before reaching Brock street. A small boy, drawing a miniature express wagon, tried to be funny, by pushing his wagon in front of the wheelsman. The tire struck the wagon, the rider struck the road, and the bicyclist's No. 11 shoe struck the boy, just on the north end of his anatomy. The latter went off wailing like a steam piano playing fortissimo by Paderewski.

ONE OF DR. CUPID'S PRESCRIPTIONS.

That Love sometimes cures disease is a fact that has recently been called to the attention of the public by a prominent physician and college professor. In some nervous diseases of women, such as hysteria, this physician gives instances where women were put in a pleasant frame of mind, were made happy by falling in love, and in consequence were cured of their nervous troubles—the weak, nervous system toned and stimulated by little Dr. Cupid—became strong and vigorous, almost without their knowledge. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out, does no person about she can think of. She may be ever so much in love, but Dr. Cupid fails to cure her. In ninety-nine per cent. of these cases it is the womanly organism which requires attention; the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes, are only symptoms. Go to the source of the trouble and correct the irregularities, the drains on the womanly system and the other symptoms disappear. So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer a $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of leucorrhea, female weaknesses, prolapsus, or falling of the womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath, they cleanse and regulate the stomach, liver and bowels and produce permanent benefit and do not re-act on the system. One is a gentle laxative.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser" is sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps to pay customs and mailing only. Send 50 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address, World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Fielding's Reception

It has not yet been determined what steps, if any, will be taken to entertain Hon. Mr. Fielding on his arrival here. The Board of Trade has not taken any action as yet, nor has the council. It is to be hoped, for Peterboro's reputation for hospitality, that a member of the Government will not be allowed to come and go, unhonored and un-feted. Surely the Liberal party can afford us enough to supply a lunch. Possibly a banner from the Peterboro's old boys' grant from the city may remain, why not use it as a nucleus?

The Coronership

As noted in Monday's Times, we gave little credence to the rumors current regarding the alleged probable removal of Dr. Gray, from his office of coroner, to be replaced by two local men, whose names, Dame Humor even quoted. As far as we have been able to ascertain, Dr. Gray is likely to be retained and an associate coroner will be appointed for West Peterboro. He will be Dr. T. N. Greer. In nearly every county except Peterboro there is more than one coroner and it is learned that an appointment will also be made at the same time for East Peterboro in the person of Dr. Ford of Norwood.

A good investment—$7.50 for a 3 months course at the Business College Night School.

Another Industry Started

Mr. Dunsdon, has begun operations on his recently acquired factory on Edinboro, between George and Aylmer streets. Workmen are now improving the present building and putting on an addition, 16x22 feet, for the new industry he recently started in this city, that of manufacturing show cases, "the silent salesman." A new motor from Alexander and Miller, for supply power to his machinery has been purchased, and will be placed in position as soon as possible.

The Opera To-night

The Winnipeg Tribune, in referring to the Russian Opera Company, which is to appear in the Opera House this evening, says: "Of all the companies which have come to Winnipeg at this time of the year for spring productions of comic operas, The Russians hold the palm. Each production they have made has been extremely enjoyable. They have become prime favorites by sterling worth."

Death of Dr. Barnardo, The Friend of Waifs

The Founder of the Celebrated Barnardo Home Through Which Thousands of Children Have Been Sent to Canada Who Will Mourn Him as a Father.

London, Sept. 21.—Dr. Thomas John Barnardo, the well-known founder and director of philanthropic institutions, by which over 60,000 orphan waifs have been reared, trained and placed out in life, died last night after a short illness. Dr. Barnardo had suffered from angina pectoris for some years.

Thomas John Barnardo was born in Ireland in 1845, the ninth son of the late John M. Barnardo. He was educated at private schools and at hospitals in London, Edinburgh and Paris. While at the London Hospital in 1867 he had his attention drawn to the condition of the child waifs on the streets of London, and established his first home for such a year later. In 1873 he married Syrie Louise, only daughter of Mr. William Kimakin, and in the same year founded a village for girls at Ilford. In 1887 he founded "Her Majesty's Hospital for Sick Waifs." He was the pioneer of the emigration of children, thousands of whom are now contented residents in Canada. Dr. Barnardo was a F.R.C.S. of Edinburgh, and a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

Dr. Barnardo's Homes, with their 121 branches, had on 30th June, 1905, 8,493 boys and girls under their care, and to this large family about thirteen others are added every twenty-four hours. The number of children wholly maintained by the homes in 1904 was 10,905. During the same year 3,627 fresh cases, boys and girls, were admitted—a number very largely in excess of all the admissions put together by similar institutions throughout England. In all, the homes in the forty years of their existence, have saved nearly 60,000 "unwanted" and destitute children from suffering, vice and crime. That, with the overcrowding that prevails and increases in London and other populous centers, there should still be a steady diminution of the criminal classes is, without doubt, to be attributed in large measure to the operation of homes like these. These waif and stray and orphan children do not come from London alone, but from all over the Kingdom. There is hardly a city, town, or village which has not at some time or other contributed its quota to the great army of destitute children under Dr. Barnardo's care. As a matter of fact, of the children annually admitted to the homes, nearly one-third are from the metropolitan area, and at least two-thirds come from the Provinces, from Wales, from Scotland, and from Ireland, the whole Kingdom thus being indebted to these national institutions.

Of the 3,627 candidates who, being absolutely destitute and homeless, were at once admitted on application during 1904, 367 were babies in arms, 124 were deaf and dumb, or blind, or deformed, or little incurables, 215 were homeless youths over 16 years of age, who were assisted to find their footing again through the labor house, while 73 were very young women "saved so as by fire" from the black army of the streets. The institutions, from one or other of their 121 branches, supplied 31,032 night's lodgings to forlorn street wanderers, to whom also 167,415 free meals were given. 1,266 boys and girls were emigrated to Canada and the colonies during 1904, and 669 have since been sent out in 1905, making a total of 16,829 emigrated in all. At the close of the year 1904, 3,967 children from the homes were boarded out in rural districts throughout England.

As our readers generally are aware Dr. Barnardo has visited Peterboro several times, and is well known by many of our local citizens.

SPREAD OF BUDDHISM

German Paper Calls Attention to Its Growth in That Country

Berlin, Sept. 21.—In a leading article which is attracting considerable attention here the "Vossische Zeitung," dwells on the continuous spread of Buddhism in Germany, not as a definite or organized creed or church, but as a potent influence, beginning to permeate large sections of the population.

The leading Liberal journal draws attention to the decay of interest in Christianity, as shown by the falling off in the membership of churches and Bible societies, and to the decrease of the incomes of these societies as one of the surest evidences of this. Men nowadays, says the article, are more than ever interested in the religious problems, more than ever religious, but it is religion no longer militant, but marked by that toleration which is more characteristic of Buddhism than of Christianity.

The "Vossische Zeitung" reminds its readers that not long ago the Grand Duke of Hesse-Darmstadt gave a commission to the eminent sculptor, Prof. Habich, to erect a large statute of the Buddha in Syrenite, under the trees of his garden at Wolfgarten. This act was not a mere satisfaction of some aesthetic impulse, but significant of the profound alteration of public sentiment in matters of faith and dogma.

FISH CONTAINED PURSE

Swallowed $35 in Gold Was Caught by French Angler

Paris, Sept. 20.—Like Polycrates a local magnate of the Vosges has recovered his property from the inside of a fish. He had not, however, thrown it away to propitiate the gods and is quite content to have it back again. A fisherman on the lake of Gerardmer caught a fine gibs weighing something like 32 pounds. He sold it for eight shillings to the chief hotel of the place. In the kitchen, the fish on being cleaned out, was found to contain a small purse in which were $35 in gold. The cook notified the hotel proprietor, who remembered that the local magnate in question who had been in the house only the week before had accidentally dropped the purse while out on the lake for a row. The property thus recovered has been returned to its owner, who identified the purse.

HARDY ROBBED CANADIAN BANKS

Will be Brought Back to the United States From Germany

New York, Sept. 21.—A New York State detective will sail for Germany within a few days to bring back to this country Henry F. Hardy, who for the last thirteen years has been an inmate of German prisons. Hardy is to be brought back to serve an unexpired term of twelve years in the Clinton Prison, from which he escaped in 1890. He is declared to be one of the most expert criminals ever known in this country.

After his escape he is alleged to have robbed two Canadian banks of $7,000, and was next heard of in Germany, living the life of an "American millionaire," as he was called, at a fashionable hotel in Frankfort-on-Main. A Baden-Baden banker recognized him as a man who had stolen from his bank account to the amount of $24,000. He was at once imprisoned by the German authorities, and his time is now expiring.

Since Hardy has learned that he would be brought back he has written letters to the State Superintendent of Prisons, asking that he be allowed to remain in Germany. The authorities have refused to consider his petition.

SUCCESSFUL HOP

Peterboro "Not Outs" Give a Most Charming Dance

Last night Foresters' Hall was the scene of beauty and mirth, where fresh young faces, oftentimes blushing under well deserved complements, and beautiful girlish costumes, whirling to the strains of well played music carptured the eyes of all on lookers. The hostesses of the evening were the "Not Outs," or young ladies of the city who have not formally been brought into society owing to their youthful age.

Some 25 of these young ladies issued invitations to both their lady and gentlemen friends; it is needless to remark that very few letters of regret were received. The supper was supplied by the fair hostesses, and proved both tempting to the eye and the appetites of those who had, for hours, "tripped it on the light fantastic."

Among the lady patronesses were, Mesdames J. R. Stratton, P. Campbell, and others.

The floor was in perfect condition and the music, by Mr. Musgrave, specially brought from Toronto, was inspiring. The assembly broke up at a very late, or perhaps early hour. All present, confessing some 75 of Peterboro's youth and beauty, called the "Not Outs" jolly good fellows.

OLD RESIDENT GONE

Mr. Michael McMahon, 90 Years a Resident Here, Died Tuesday

One of the oldest residents of this city, in the person of Mr. Michael McMahon, passed away on Monday night. The deceased, Mr. Michael McMahon, came to Canada from Ireland, his birthplace in his youth, and has lived here ever since. He was 90 years of age at the time of his death, and had been ill for about eight months, suffering from cancer, his death occurring at his residence, 19 Lake street, where he lived with his sister, Miss Bridget McMahon, who with another sister, Mrs. Hargraves, of Lindsay, survives him.

The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock, from his late residence, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

GAYNOR-GREENE DECISION

Judgment Postponed Till To-day by Justice Ouimet

Montreal, July 21.—Mr. Justice Ouimet has postponed the decision of the Gaynor-Greene case to-morrow proceedings until to-day, and may further postpone it.

Since fixing the date for the delivery of his judgment in the case, the learned judge has been almost continuously kept busy in the Appeal portion of the Court of King's Bench, so that he has been unable to prepare his judgment. He hopes, however, to be ready for Thursday.

"THERE'S A REASON"

That's All Right, But What Is It.

A lady teacher in South Dakota says:

"I was compelled to give up teaching for nearly 4 years because of what the physicians called "nervous dyspepsia." Nor was I of any use in the household economy. I was in many respects a wreck.

"I had numerous physicians, one after another, and took many different kinds of medicine, but they did me no good.

"Finally, 5 years ago, I began to use Grape-Nuts food. I grew stronger in a very short time on the new diet, and was soon able to resume and am still teaching. I no longer use drugs of any kind, my dyspepsia has disappeared and I am a hearty woman — thanks to Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Brain work and worry take strength from the stomach and bowels. They become too weak to handle the fried meat, eggs, bacon, coffee and white bread, so, partly digested they decay and cause all sorts of trouble which will become chronic if continued. Then the nerves and brain grow weary for they are deprived of the rebuilding elements the food must furnish to replace the soft gray filling of nerve centres and brain which is partly used up each day.

Now comes the mission of Grape-Nuts to supply the "Reason." Made in a peculiar and scientific way of the selected parts of Wheat and Barley this famous food contains natural phosphate of potash with albumen which combines with water in the body and makes that gray matter quickly and surely. Then when nerves and brain feel the power of new made and properly made cells, the strength returns to the stomach as well as other parts. "There's a reason." Anyone can prove it.

FRANCE WELCOMES RUSSIAN ENVOY

Sergius Witte is Greeted by French President

PEACE DUE TO ROOSEVELT

Who Warned Japan That Further Hostilities Would not be Tolerated

Paris, September 21.—M. Witte received the congratulations of the French official world today. The attentions of President Loubet were especially marked as the head of the Republic sent a carriage from the Elysee Palace to carry the Russia to the Presidential presence. President Loubet and M. Witte entertain a strong liking for each other, the latter declaring that his first and greatest desire was to see the President and to thank him for the good counsel he gave when the Czar's plenipotentiary was leaving for Portsmouth.

"I have talked to representatives of the press steadily for the past two months," said the Russian statesman to your correspondent this morning, "and I cannot think of a single thing left unsaid. You may deny absolutely, however, that my presence here has anything to do with money. I have seen this statement published in the United States, from Paris, a number of times. I have friends among the Paris bankers. They may call to see me or I may call to see them, but once more, say flatly for me, that I am not Minister of Finance any longer. I am not here to arrange any loans. What financial views the Russian Government may head at the present time I have no opportunity of knowing."

In various short interviews since he arrived in Paris today, M. Witte has stated that the bringing about of peace was due to the warning given by President Roosevelt to the Japanese, that they would lose the strong favor they enjoyed with the people of the United States if they did not yield on the question of indemnity.

"Yes, I believe that we have served our Emperor and our country well. Physically I feel something of a wreck. After a few weeks which I shall spend attending to my own property interests in Russia, I shall go to Italy for the sake of my health."

CHARLES MERZ DROWNED

Slipped Off a Gang-plank While Boarding His Vessel on Buffalo River

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 21.—Charles Merz, of Grimsby, Ont., a fireman employed on the steamer Hutchinson, lying in the Buffalo river at the eastern elevator, slipped off a gang plank while boarding the vessel shortly after midnight. Merz was drowned before his shipmates, who had been drowned by his cries, could come to his aid. The body was recovered today within a short distance from where the man went down. Merz was about 35 years old and was a member of the Seamen's Union. The body was removed to the morgue until relatives can be notified.

THE WILY CZAR

Besten in War, Plans Commercial Campaign in Persia

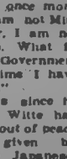
Berlin, September 21.—The combined Russian ministers of finance and ways and communications have fitted out an expedition of financial and commercial experts who will travel through Persia during the coming autumn and winter with the object of studying the country and devising means for promoting Russian trade there.

The expedition will not confine itself to Northern Persia, which has hitherto been the scene of Russian commercial enterprise, but will extend its journey to Central Persia and trading points on the Persian Gulf.

One of the objects in view is to judge whether it would be advisable to establish a regular line of steamers between Odessa and the Persian Gulf.

The expedition will travel to Julfa on the Northern Persian frontier, over the trans-Caucasian Railway, which has just been opened.

Police Court



OFFICIALS

Chief of Police, G.L. Hurst

Magistrate, S.W. Dunsford

Only one case occupied the attention of his Worship yesterday morning at the Police Court, and although a serious charge was involved, the proceedings took two and one-half minutes. Hector Baker was charged with stealing a horse and rig from Charles Scribner. The case was enlarged until Friday morning, and Hector escorted by a bodyguard of one, wandered by Victoria Park to his temporary residence on the hill. It seems that Scribner left his horse on Tuesday afternoon in front of Mr. Dan Bellegham's store, Hunter street, and after a short absence, found it gone.

The animal was recovered some time later near the corner of Stewart and Hunter streets, while Baker, who is alleged to have driven off with the outfit, was discovered with the main ingredients of a possible criminal attack of hilarity, a goodly sized flagon of the 40-rod variety of whiskey, recumbent in a Stewart street ditch. This trick of borrowing horses on the "French leave" plan is too common in this city, and should be suppressed.

WEATHER NOTES

HUGE ELEPHANTS DID THE TRICK

Easily Pull Out of Mud Heavy Mail Wagon That Sank to Axles

New York, Sept. 21.—But for the strength and courtesy of four huge elephants, a two-ton batch of mail stuck in the mud at Sixth avenue and Forty-second street would have missed its train at the Grand Central Depot last night. The trouble began when a large mail wagon, jostled to the top, swung down Sixth avenue and ventured a short turn at the corner where repairs had left a strip of soft earth, turned to sticky mud by recent rains. A new driver employed in place of a striker, was on the wagon and was accompanied by a policeman. He urged the horses into the trap, and the wheels sank to their hubs. A crowd gathered and broke three heavy ropes in their efforts to help the horses. Then the policeman had a happy thought. He sent a messenger to an amusement house nearby and asked for the service of the performing elephants. Four were hurried to the scene in charge of their keepers. They were hitched to the side of the wagon, and jerked it out of the mud with the utmost ease while the crowd cheered.

Early in the evening a crowded Madison avenue electric car crashed into a large mail wagon at Eighteenth street and Union Square, overturning the vehicle. The strike-breaking driver and a policeman, by whom he was accompanied, were thrown into the street. Both were severely injured. The motorman was arrested.

CZAR'S TREATY WITH KAISER

Secret Agreement Between Russia and Germany

SLAP AT GREAT BRITAIN

Alleged to be Kaiser's Answer to Anglo-Japanese Alliance

London, September 21. — A secret treaty has been concluded between the Emper of Germany and the Czar of Russia. This is the information which reaches the British Foreign Office. The information states that the secret treaty between Germany and Russia is strictly defensive and deals exclusively with the far East—in Asia; so that on its face it does not clash with the treaty between Russia and France.

The new treaty is regarded as the Kaiser's response to the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which aims to maintain the status quo in Asia. If peace be broken, Germany and Russia will fight against England and Japan.

America is directly interested in the secret German-Russian treaty, for between Great Britain and America has recently been established a perfect understanding that the policy of the two nations shall be to conserve the present state of affairs in the Pacific.

SIGNS OF GLOOMY WINTER IN RUSSIA

The Nation's Industries and Railways in State of Indefinite Paralysis--Gaining Ground in Direction of Liberty--Important Concessions Have Been Obtained During the Past Few Days.

Moscow, September 21.—In spite of the systematic resistance of the bureaucracy, the nation is daily gaining ground in the direction of liberty and self government.

Among the important concessions obtained in the past fortnight are:

Restoration to the universities of the rights of self administration.

The privilege of organizing charity relief for the victims of the approaching famine, which hitherto has been denied to Zemstvos and private societies.

Permission to hold the oft-prohibited congress of Zemstvos of municipalities, which will assemble in Moscow next week.

The Government asks only that no Liberal constitutional project be discussed at the congress, in view of the fact that the first Douma has not yet been elected.

Meantime signs of a gloomy winter in Russia accumulate. The nation's industries and the railways are in a state of indefinite paralysis, owing to their inability to secure coal for fuel. Millions of tons of coal and grain are kept from the market because the railways cannot operate. Even if they had an abundance of fuel they are short of cars, owing to the extraordinary demand for transportation to Manchuria.

MEN HELD AS PRISONER

CANADIAN SAILORS IN RUSSIAN MILITARY PRISON

Dominion Attorney's Claim It is Unjustifiable and an Apology Should Be Demanded

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The imprisonment of two Canadian sailors who were taken by the Russian on a Japanese sealer, in a Russian military prison is causing considerable discussion in legal circles. There is no doubt in the minds of the lawyers who have looked into the matter that the imprisonment is unjustifiable.

Honore Gervais, K.C., M.P., professor of international law at Laval University, referring to this matter, said: "The detention of these men is altogether illegal. Of course it is just possible that the continued detention is due to the ignorance of the men themselves, who should first ask for their release. The rule of all nations is that prisoners of war must be kept in comfortable quarters, properly fed and allowed communication with the outside world, naturally under censorship.

"If these conditions have not been observed in the present case, the conduct of the Russians has been what is construed in law as an unfriendly act, and England has the right to demand an apology.

"The peculiar thing about the detention of these men, however, is that international law which prevails in Russia. Even the Japanese are treated as prisoners of war, and their ship might be subject to arrest, while their ship might be subject to capture. The British view of this law differs, at least in theory, from the continental view. Under the British international code every citizen of a country with which England is at war is belligerent, whether he bears arms or not, and as an enemy is subject to capture, and even to death. This theory, however, as has been remarked by Professor Rolland of Harvard, has grown obsolete."

GOVERNMENT ASKS $26,000 DAMAGES

For Escape of Syrian Immigrants Suffering From Trachoma

Montreal, Sept. 21.—The case of the King against Capt. Balla, master of the steamship Lake Simcoe, twenty-six of whose passengers, suffering from trachoma, escaped in Montreal last summer, is fixed for hearing today in the Superior Court. The Government claims from Captain Balla and the Canadian Lines, Limited, $26,000 or $1,000 for each of the escaped immigrants. Dr. Bryce, Dominion Medical Immigration Inspector, is in court for this case, which will likely be begun during this day. The defence is that at the time the trachoma patients escaped they had been taken out of the control of the steamship officers and were under control of the court.

The patients in the case were Syrians, and several Montreal Syrians were called to account before the departs for their part in causing the disappearance of the infected patients, in July, 1904.

SEEKING DIVORCE IN MINNESOTA

Blockade of Grain Threatened in the West—Heavy Wheat Shipments

Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—R. W. Caldwell, of Regina, says wheat should be rushed east. The feeling is that there will be a blockade on the railways in a week's time if fine weather continues.

It is reported that several Winnipeg firms will open branches in Edmonton.

Nearly two million bushels of wheat have been shipped east by the C.P.R. so far.

Mayor Laird, of Regina, will be the Conservative candidate for the city constituency.

Canadians are learning that Minnesota divorce laws are much easier than those of their own country, and for this reason the number of persons married in Canada who apply for divorces in Minnesota courts are on the increase.

R. S. MacDiarmid has been nominated as the Provincial rights candidate for Arcola, Sask.

According to report the C.P.R. has decided after all to build a line from Winnipeg to Pipestone (was previously thought that the C.P.R. line would be used for the transcontinental). Standard Oil is reported in the purchase of coal oil lands in Brandon.

TIREDNESS MEANS DANGER

dicates Faulty Blood and Worn Out Nerves—Build Up or Total Collapse Will Surely Follow

When you're tired all day, bothered by trifles, exhausted with nervousness, be sure there is something wrong.

You need bracing up, need more nourishment in the blood, need a powerful medicine to vitalize the nerves and distribute force and staying power to all over-worked organs.

The most marvelous success in Ferrozone, a nourishing tonic so scientific as to be the admiration of every physician. Ferrozone performs wonders for people in poor health; acts directly on the blood, enriching it with strength and new life that is at once dispatched to all parts of the body. Ferrozone feeds the nerves and vital energies, supplies force, determination and joyous buoyant spirits.

A case where there was insomnia and lack of strength to walk is that of Mr. David Brown, of post-office box No. 30, Boston, Ont.: "About a year ago my health commenced to fail. My hands and feet seemed always cold. I felt worn-out and exhausted, weak as a little child. My face twitched. My limbs and arms commenced to lose their sense of feeling and finally my left side was perfectly numb. All my color left. My appetite run down. Ferrozone was the first to give me any help. I improved with it very quickly. It toned up the blood and started circulation, so that the numbness gradually disappeared. My condition was perfectly cured by Ferrozone, and I have been well ever since. (Signed) "David Brown."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To get satisfactory results be sure you get Ferrozone only. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

GERMANY AND ENGLAND.

Though the British have protested that nothing of the kind was intended, the recent visit of Admiral Wilson's fleet to the Baltic has been taken as a serious affront by the German people. Their attitude on the appearance is described in a London paper as anything but complimentary. The admiral's party were received on shore "in absolute silence." There was no salute, murmur or applause, or mark of respect or interest. The people looked on coldly and stolidly;" no decoration, no bunting, no flags shown in greeting. There can be little doubt, in the writer's opinion, that the visit of the warships was regarded by the general public, not as a friendly chance visit, but as an insolent flaunting of naval strength, especially significant after the fraternization of the French and English fleets at Portsmouth. This was not surprising under all the circumstances; the vaporings of the Jingo press of both countries, and the fact that Germany had just been "spreading herself" in the Baltic as cock-of-the-walk, since the destruction of the Russian fleet. In view of the seething condition of things in Scandinavia, the whole fleet of Germany was marshalled on a ceremonial cruise, and produced a powerful influence, as was intended, in the assertion of naval supremacy over those northern waters. While this cruise was in progress the British fleet was sent under Admiral Wilson, the object being to assert the openness of the Baltic to British men-of-war. The mission was crowned with success, as a demonstration of naval force. Admiral Sir Arthur Wilson took with him a force of greater fighting strength than the whole German active fleet. Under his supreme command there were eleven first-class battleships, all of them more powerful than their "opposite numbers" in the German navy, and associated with these battleships were five armored cruisers, four protected cruisers, and twelve torpedo-boat destroyers. The visit was a reminder of the German people of the supremacy of all the seas which the British Admiralty still claim. It was a dictum of Nelson's that a fleet should cruise in the waters in which it will most probably have to fight. Owing to the friendly relations now existing between Great Britain and France, Spain Portugal, and Italy, British naval power is being shifted to northerly waters, and Admiral Wilson's cruise was intended to convince the German people that the old claim to the supremacy of European waters had been in no way affected by the recent growth in the German fleet. The cruise was planned in no unfriendly spirit, but was intended to correct the tendency in Germany to regard the Baltic Sea as a mere cloisrem. The fact that Admiral Wilson was dispatched with the sympathy of the French Government, and that his visit was welcomed in Scandinavia and in Russia, has not been without its effect upon the German Government and the German press. The resentment marked by the sullen demeanor described by the correspondent of a London paper is a rather unpleasing growth of the visit. Much more satisfactory would have been the greeting of an outstretched hand toward the power that claims to be invincible and shows a readiness to prove it. But so long as the feeling goes no farther, both nations may have time and opportunity to work out their respective destinies in peace.

TO DRY UP NIAGARA?

Mr. Dow, President of the New York State Niagara Reservation Commission, told the International Waterways Commission that the withdrawal of 40,000 cubic feet from the present average flow over the falls, would reduce the U. S. falls to a miserable little film which would barely dribble over the rock, and the further withdrawal of 40,000 more cubic feet would entirely dry up the American side of the falls. He further said that already power companies on the U. S. side have diverted 16,200 cubic feet, and on the Canadian side 37,000 cubic feet, and have arranged for 30,000 more, making a total of over 78,000 cubic feet. And yet here's Billy McLean proposing to light and heat all Ontario and to drive all the machinery of our factories and farms by the power to be generated on the Canadian side alone. Get after Dow, Billy; he's throwing a wet blanket on your scheme.

BABY BOY BORN ON STREET CAR

Ushered into the World While Crossing the Brooklyn Bridge

New York, Sept. 20.—In the Park Row terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge on the trolley loops where 200,000 daily battle for seats, there was born early yesterday morning another who in time may take his part in the struggle. He was born in the center of the battle ground, on the seat of a Putnam avenue trolley car, on which his mother, Mrs. Mary Hamilton, 21 years old, of 240 Bond street, Brooklyn, was riding. She was on her way, with a woman friend, to the Lying-in Hospital at Sixteenth and Second avenue.

On the way over the bridge on the trolley car the child was born. The car stopped on the loop, and the motorman held it there, at the request of Mrs. Hamilton's friend, until the woman could be moved.

As soon as she could be moved Dr. Cherry placed Mrs. Hamilton in the ambulance and took her to the Hudson street hospital. She was later transferred to the Lying-in hospital. In spite of the unusual circumstances of the birth, the surgeons say that both mother and child are doing well, and that the mother will recover and the child will live.

UNDER CIVIC CONTROL

Russia and Turkey Disagree Over Fortifications on Bosphorus

Constantinople, Sept. 19. — The steady progress of work on the new fortifications on the Bosphorus is causing friction between the Russian and the Porte. The fortifications were hastily commenced at the time of the mutiny on board the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine. Turkey acting upon this pretext as a means for carrying out a scheme of fortification which she had long desired, but which had always been opposed by Russia.

It is understood that the question was discussed at the recent audience which the Russian ambassador had with the Sultan, in the course of which he pointed out that the further fortification of the straits was incompatible with friendly relations between Turkey and Russia.

In the meanwhile, the works are being actively pushed, though they can hardly be completed for several months. The Porte continues its irreconcilable attitude in regard to the proposed international financial control of Macedonia.

WANTS HELP IN STRUGGLE

Irish Nationalist Again Visits the United States

New York, Sept. 20.—William Redmond, M.P. for Clare, E., in the British House of Commons, has made an appeal for American support to the movement for the political freedom of Ireland. He says: "Next to Ireland, the Irish people love America. America has been well served by Irishmen from the days of Washington to the present. The influence of the United States in the world to-day is paramount. There is no doubt that the powers of Europe look toward the United States for guidance. I believe English people would do anything to cement an alliance with the United States of America. The European powers are so jealous of each other that a move upon the part of any of them is looked upon with suspicion. America, however, is outside of the turmoil of European strife. The United States stands for liberty and humanity, and any recommendation made by the United States will carry weight because it is well understood the nation is armed of justice and humanity, that is characteristic of America, to aid us in our struggle.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

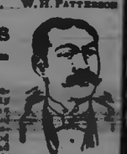
Before Treatment

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS

The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.



After Treatment

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially this kind, but I feel I owe it to suffering humanity to tell how I was cured. For years I had a serious blood disease. When 21 years of age, the skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and blotch formed, running sores broke out, hair became loose, pains in the bones and joints. Mercury, potash, sweating, steaming, every month, with 2 to 3 bottles for me to say I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one. I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor, friend of mine advised me to see Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 30 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases, they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors, but took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or bond, and investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares at Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and hence the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the mine are identical with those of the very best, richest gold mines being found upon the ground and good panning ore obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft began on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $2 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

effect of the interior. "This is admirably done," said Winton, looking round.

"You have been taken out of the 'Arabian Nights,' just as it is," exclaimed Nora. "One almost expects to see Scharlar lying on those cushions, and waiting for the continuation of the story which Scheherazade promised him in 'her next.'"

"No one seems to have found it out. It is cunningly concealed."

"No doubt Mr. Marsden has had it done to please Mrs. Ruthven, and remind her of her Eastern life!"

"I don't suppose that would give her any particular pleasure," said Winton dryly.

"Are you sometimes taken with ill-natured fits?" asked Nora, looking up into his eyes.

"Never," he replied, emphatically, "I am always generous, just and reasonable! Will you not sit down, and allow me to enlarge a little further on my own admirable qualities? the cushions are soft and comfortable."

"I must not, however interesting the subject! My partner will be looking for me—and—"

Without a syllable of remonstrance, Winton gave her his arm, and they began to retrace their steps. "When the waltz is over we must bring Helen to see this beautiful tent," said Nora. "Tell me, Mr. Winton," she went on after a short pause, "was Helen ever young and merry, and thoughtless, like me for instance?"

"Never like you," quickly; "I wish she had been, for her own sake. She never had your buoyancy or vitality; but she was bright once, and full of feeling; she had hard lines for some time after her father's death. I often used to wonder how she was getting on, poor dear little soul, and was glad to find her as happy as she is."

"Ah! Miss L'Estrange, where have you been hiding yourself!" cried Lord Alfred Harcourt, meeting them in the door-way of the refreshment-room. "I have been looking everywhere for you; this is our waltz."

Winton resigned her to the new claimant and was almost immediately button-holed by an old officer who had known him in India. It was some time before he got back into safe anchorage beside Mrs. L'Estrange; with Nora he did not get a word till later, as she only returned at intervals to be immediately carried off again by a fresh partner.

Mrs. Ruthven, bland, smiling, attentive to all with whom she came in contact, was nevertheless keenly watchful of her host and his doings. He had opened the ball with her, and then his duties kept them apart until his arm of fifth dance, but during that time she had not seen him bestow the smallest notice on Miss L'Estrange. Instinct had made Mrs. Ruthven more cognizant than any one else of the attraction Nora exercised over Marsden—the instinct of a strange unruly passion; and though nearly convinced that she was herself a sufficient counter attraction, and almost delivered from her dread of Nora as a formidable rival, she was not yet quite at ease, not quite free from a sense of the necessity for outmanoeuvring Mrs. L'Estrange and her step-daughter, whom she firmly believed would move heaven and earth to compass so fine a match.

"At last!" exclaimed Marsden, coming up to the sofa where she sat talking to Lord Dorrington, who speedily effaced himself. "At last I have a moment's liberty, and I hope you can give me the next. It is a waltz. I have watched you floating round the room with sundry incapables unable to do justice to the rhythm of your fairy feet, till I cursed in my heart, though obliged to give good words with my tongue! Let me see your card, 'Sir George Brocklehurst,' may I go and dispose of him? Yes, do let me promise and vow three, or thirty-three, things in your name. I must have this waltz with you!"

"I give you carte blanche," replied Mrs. Ruthven with downcast eyes, almost overpowered with an intoxicating sense of delight at his tone. "Here he comes."

"My dear fellow," cried Marsden addressing him, "will you do me a very great favor? I have only this one waltz free till nearly the end of the evening, will you resign your great privilege of dancing it with Mrs. Ruthven in exchange for — how many?—two dances after supper — may I say two, Mrs. Ruthven?"

Mrs. Ruthven bowed with a gracious smile, saying: "Perhaps Sir George has not so many disengaged."

"With Mrs. Ruthven's approval, I can refuse nothing to my good host," returned Sir George, a tall, thin, pompous man, with a profound belief in his own importance.

"A thousand thanks! now let me provide you with another partner."

"Thank you, no! I do not much care for dancing in the abstract."

A low bow. "The first and second dances after supper, then?" He wrote them solemnly on his card, and disappeared.

"Then, there goes the Marshal Ney waltz! Don't let us lose time. Come, ma belle Nourmahal! May I presume to call you so?" said Marsden in a low tone as he gave her his arm and they walked into the ball-room. "Certainly in your shining golden gown and flashing jewels, you suggest the Light of the Harem. But, dare I confess a heresy?"

"I think you may," smiling softly. "This is a terrible one. I would rather see your fair neck without its overpowering load of gems, you may trust it to its own beauty. These ornaments are too heavy, too mundane for you. I feel as if I must hold you up all the closer, lest the weight of your jewels prove too much for your strength." He put his arm round her, and they whirled away into the crush of dancers.

"How pretty your young cousin, Miss L'Estrange, looks to-night," said Mrs. Ruthven, as soon as she took breath, when they paused under the dark arch of the conservatory.

"Is she? I suppose she is fancied by that old bard, gigantic Mr. Winton?"

"A fancy for Winton!" said Marsden, turning sharply to look at Nora, who was standing nearly opposite, her arm through her partner's, but her head half turned and raised in a pretty attitude to speak to Winton, who stood behind. There was an indescribable expression of pleasure and liking in her pose, which somewhat justified Mrs. Ruthven's remark. "Oh, no," continued Marsden, "she has better taste than to care for such a piece of petrifaction! Besides, he is an old flame of the step-mother's, and is, I fancy, paying his court in that quarter. No matter, these refrigerated machines are not in our line, you and I are children of the sun, though chance has made us English. Are you rested? Let us have another turn."

When next they stopped Marsden bent over her and said, with an air of tender interest:

"I am afraid you are fatigued, you tremble! Come, there is a charming retreat at the end of the conservatory, where you can rest and be quiet; you look pale. The waltz will not be over just yet, and I can bring

What I needed was a blood purifier and nervetonic tonic which I found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Music in Catholic Churches

A circular has been issued by the archbishops and bishops of Canada, with a view to enforcing the regulations in regard to church music, as contained in Pope Pius X's recent encyclical. The clergy are commanded not to allow women to form part of the choir at high mass, vespers, requiem services or other liturgical services. At the purely devotional services women may sing, but it must be alone. In parishes where only women are accustomed to do the singing priests are asked to make special efforts to train the young men. Bands are not to play in the churches and orchestras will be allowed only after special permission has been obtained from the bishop of the diocese.

Our Water Power Safe

Owing to the vigorous kicking done by the people of Peterboro, the Dominion Bridge Company, of Montreal, who were taking away water belonging to the Trent Canal system to the extent of 250 horse power from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe to operate their plant in connection with the Kirkfield lift lock, will instal a steam plant within a few days to operate their drills, hoists, etc., when no more water will be diverted. The difficulty will therefore be overcome, and there will evidently be plenty of water this fall and winter for the Peterboro users.

EL CAPITAN

Sousa's Sparkling Operetta El Capitan Draws Good House

The old opera house was fairly well filled last night when the curtain went up for "El Capitan," a light and sparkling comic opera, admirably rendered by the Rosslans Opera Co. This opera, by the celebrated bandmaster and composer, John Philip Sousa, is replete with catchy music and laughable situations. The cast was above the average and pleased the audience with their individual rendition.

Mr. Claude Amsden played the part of El Capitan in a way as though to the manner born. Mr. Amsden was for two years stage director with the celebrated De Wolf Hopper Miss Nobi, who took the part of El-Capitan's daughter, is highly spoken of by the press in general and by her clear soprano and admirable portrayal of the part played, showed last night she deserves the kindly notices given. Miss Hazel Davenport in the part of Princess Maganza, and Jack Leslie as Mr. Poison are both well deserving of kindly mention. Miss La Salle, who played Estrelda, has a high pitched soprano voice, and played well a part adapted to the rules of a mezzo-soprano singer.

The company has arranged for a return trip next week, and will present an admirable attraction during the fair days for those preferring the opera house.

MAKING READY

Mr. R. G. Murphy, Sec. in the City Preparing for Dairymen's Convention

Mr. R. G. Murphy, Secretary of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, was in the city yesterday and gave the Times a friendly call. Mr. Murphy's trip was in connection with the convention to be held in the new opera house on January 10th, 11th and 12th. He spoke very warmly concerning the coming meeting and judging by former conventions and the great interest our citizens are displaying over the event, thinks we will have a most successful affair.

The members of the association everywhere are looking forward eagerly to the convention here, and will attend almost to a man. Mr. Murphy considers that these gatherings of men skilled in the dairy business are of incalculable benefit to the farming community and expressed a hope that all farmers interested in this branch of business will visit Peterboro during the meeting.

KEEPING FAITH

The Opera "Little Duchess" Can be Heard in Lindsay

The powers that be of our new opera house being unable to open the new local home of the drama, as promised, from inability to complete the interior in time, with the comic opera "Little Duchess," have decided to allow future patrons to hear the opera in Lindsay. This opera having some 60 people in the cast would have been a good "curtain raiser" for the new building, Mr. Bradburn has arranged for a special train to Lindsay, where the "Little Duchess" is played, on Oct. 16th.

This train will leave Peterboro at 7 o'clock, returning to the city about 12, midnight.

A Port Hope Burglary

On Tuesday morning early the residence of Mr. Edward Rowland, Brown street, Port Hope, was burglarized. Mr. Rowland had worked late at night at his place of business and returned at midnight. When he arose Tuesday morning he found his watch and chain gone, from his vest which was thrown on the stairway. The burglar has got in his best work upstairs, as the bedroom adjoining Mr. Rowlands, had been rifled of ninety-seven dollars in hard cash which Mr. Rowland had left in his trouser pockets. A purse of Mrs. Rowlands, containing a small sum of money, her wedding ring and numerous valuable articles, were downstairs, but they were not disturbed, as from pieces of burnt matches thrown carelessly about, the daring thieves must have made a very hasty and not-overclose search. It is supposed a back door had been left unlocked, and that here the thieves got in. Chief Bond, of the Port Hope force is working on the matter and hopes soon to have a clue.

Port Hope Forger Arrested

A man named A. J. Campbell, who says Port Hope is his place of residence, and who was arrested in Montreal, on a charge of forgery, has been taken by Detective Meakin, who was sent from Toronto after him, to the latter city. It seems that Campbell, when in Montreal, cashed a cheque there which was drawn on a Port Hope bank, but a telegram to the bank showed the cheque to be a forgery. Campbell protested his innocence and said that his father died last June, leaving him $22,000, and it was against this sum that he had drawn the cheque which is claimed to be bogus. Campbell in the meantime will stand trial on a charge of having passed a bogus cheque on the Walker House, which was also drawn on a Port Hope bank.

Speaks Well for Our Fair

Both C.P.R. and G.T.R. have advertised return tickets, at single first-class fare, for those visiting the great Peterboro Fair next week. The fare will be good from Saturday afternoon until Thursday, and will be issued from all points within a radius of from 20 to 25 miles. Reduced rates only for passengers to Peterboro. This fact alone speaks volumes for the interest outside towns and cities are taking in our annual event, and will ensure successful recognition of the hard and intelligent work done by the Fair's executive.

Confirmation on Nov. 19th

Yesterday morning Rev. E. A. Langfeldt received a letter from the Bishop of Toronto, in which he states that owing to his recent illness, he has decided to postpone his engagement for the Confirmation. He will be in Peterboro on Nov. 19th, and will perform the rite of confirmation at St. Luke's and St. Mark's Otonabee, instead of on Oct. 15th, as previously arranged.

TYPHOID GERMS.

The microscope shows that in the blood of every person suffering from typhoid the little germs can be found as shown above. They are supposed to get into the water or milk we drink. The germs multiply so that one germ is capable of producing about one hundred trillion germs in twenty-four hours. That is why if they ever get into the water supply of a town they multiply so fast that nearly everybody drinking the water comes down with the disease. There are exceptions, however, and they are the persons whose health is perfect, whose blood is pure, and liver active. When the germs get into a healthy body they are thrown off with the other poisons. Recent Chicago statistics show that one-eighth of all the deaths in the past two years in that city have resulted from pneumonia.

The best advice we can give is to get your body into a perfectly sound, healthy condition. Be assured that you have rich, red blood and an active liver.

Many years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, who is consulting surgeon to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., found certain herbs and roots which, when made into an alterative extract (without the use of alcohol), seemed to be the very best means of putting the stomach, blood and vital organs into proper condition.

This seemed to him as close to nature's way of treating disease as it was possible to go. For over a third of a century Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has had a wonderful sale and the cures resulting from its use are numbered by thousands. It is a tissue-builder, better than cod liver oil because it does not sicken the stomach, or offend the taste. It strengthens or renews the assimilative or digestive processes in the stomach and puts on healthy flesh when the weight of the invalid is reduced below the normal.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing else is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

DADDY HASKILL'S LATEST

Good Story Told of the Popular Conductor

A good story was told The Times yesterday. While it was not given "for publication," it is too good to keep it from the readers of this q.f.j.

It was on the run from Peterboro to Toronto, when Conductor Haskill was doing the ticket punching act. He came to a seat occupied by a woman and a boy. After he had punched the woman's ticket he said:

"I shall have to ask you for a ticket for that, boy, ma'am."

"I guess not."

"He's too old to travel free. He occupies a whole seat and the car is crowded. There are people standing."

"I can't help that."

"I haven't time to argue this matter, ma'am. You'll have to pay for that boy."

"I've never paid for him yet."

"You've got to begin doing it some time."

"Not this trip, anyway."

"You'll have to pay for that boy, ma'am, or I'll stop the train and put him off."

"All right; put him off if you think that's the way to get anything out of me."

"You ought to know what the rules of this road are, ma'am. How old is that boy?"

"I don't know. I never saw him before."

RESERVED SEATS

Seats in Grand Stand Will be Reserved During the Fair

Mr. Lermonth, manager of the Peterboro Street Railway, was yesterday engaged in drafting a plan of the grand stand at the Exhibition grounds. It has been decided by the directors that the grand stand, which is arranged for 1120 seats, will be reserved for evening performances on the stage immediately fronting it. A small charge, insuring their being reserved, will be charged for evening performances, over and above the regular 25 cents admission to the grounds.

During the afternoon performances a small charge will be made for admission to the grand stand, but seats will not be reserved for such performances.

The plan for grand stand seats will appear ready for those desiring to secure seats for any or all performances in a local drug store.

This is a good idea, and will allow ladies and children, after their ride to the grounds to go at once to seats previously secured, and thus avoid uncertainty and crowding.

As the Fair management have secured some really excellent talent for their stage performances, the grand stand will probably be largely patronized.

VOL. XXXIII, NO. 222 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 22, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Where Will Outlet of The T. V. Canal Be?

A Deputation From Port Hope Waited Upon the City Fathers Last Night and Urged Their Co-operation for the Port Hope Route.

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night.

Ald. Adams moved, seconded by Ald. Batten, that two valves be placed on the steam heating pipes in the town buildings.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Adams, 9, 12 and 15-inch moulds will be purchased for concrete piping for drainage purposes. The Bethune street creek will be diverted either along Barnardo avenue or Edinburg street to the river, and 15 inch concrete piping is to be laid on Aylmer street from McDonnel St. to the creek.

SNOW PLOWING.

Ald. Begley thought the snow plowes used last year had proved unsatisfactory, and the Council should take immediate steps to remedy the matter. He also was of the opinion that a flaw existed in the by-law governing removing snow from the sidewalks by citizens, as it had never yet been enforced.

Considerable discussion arose as to the best method of assuring passable walks at a reasonable early hour during snowy weather.

Ald. Adams said the only way to avoid complaints would be to make each citizen shovel his own snow.

Ald. Scott remarked that that policy is adopted in Galt with unniversal satisfaction.

Ald. Mason thought one of the best plans would be to let the snow plowing to one party—he to hire teams and where necessary men to shovel the beautiful.

Ald. Adams and Hall offered that in ordinary seasons (last year was an exceptional one) the snow plow system is as good as any, providing the work is properly supervised by a responsible man. It was generally felt, however that the districts let to one man were too large.

Ald. Hall moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the matter of snow plowing and the by-law governing the removal of snow by citizens be referred to the Board of Works—Carried.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The School Board did not accept the invitation to be present last night to discuss with the Council the suggested reduction of their number and their method of election.

Ald. Hicks is advocating that the number of school trustees be reduced from 17 to 11, 10 elected by the whole town, and one by the Separate School Board.

Ald. Johnston thought that a Board controlling the expenditure of so large an amount of money should, like the Council, be exclusively the people's choice.

Ald. Hall said, from information he could gather, most of the present trustees, while in favor of a reduction of their number, thought the present time inopportune as the new Collegiate Institute and other weighty matters are live issues with the Board. He did not favor any change being made until both the Council and the school trustees were elected under the ward system, which could not come into force till 1907. He moved that no action be taken in this matter for another year.

Ald. Hicks contended that last year the School Board themselves asked the Council to petition for legislation reducing their numbers. Subsequently, however, they thought it expedient that such a charge should not be made for another year, for reasons as given above by Ald. Hall, and so expressed themselves before a Committee of the Whole Council. Now that the year's grace asked for has expired, Ald. Hicks contended that a reduction in the number of this Board is desirable.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that a special meeting be held on Monday night to act in this matter.—Carried.

MORE POLLING PLACES.

Ald. Tovey asked for more accommodation for voting in No. One Ward. There have heretofore been but two polling subdivisions, and they so far apart that much inconvenience has been experienced at the elections.

The solicitor will be instructed to prepare a by-law providing for an additional polling booth in No. One and No. Four Wards, and a committee will re-arrange the polling places.

COURT OF REVISION.

The Mayor appointed Mr. Wm. Langford and the Council appointed Mr. H. Rush, members of this Board. The Sheriff will be the third member. The salary will be $300 a year each, payable quarterly.

OUTFALL SEWER.

The solicitor will be instructed to notify the guarantee company going security for Mr. Bogue that he has not yet commenced work on the outfall sewer in Ward Five, and if is not completed within the time specified in contract, the town will hold Mr. Bogue and the company responsible for damages.

The Council then adjourned.

T.V.C. OUTLET.

A deputation from the Port Hope Canal Association waited upon the Council with a view to securing their support in pressing upon the government the expediency of having the Trent Valley canal waterway outlet into Lake Ontario at Port Hope instead of at Trenton.

The visiting gentlemen were; Dr. Powers, president of the association; J. F. Clarke, secretary; Mayor Clark, aldermen F. Outram, R. A. Muraland, Col. Nicholson and Capt. Braund.

Mayor Clark pointed out that the canal outlet at Port Hope would give Peterboro an advantage on freight rates, particularly coal, which as delivered at Port Hope from Oswego and other southern parts at 30c. a ton against 40c. a ton at Trenton. Then large barges never had to touch at Trenton on account of shallow water and the tedious and dangerous passage into the harbor. In illustrating the saving in water transportation, Mr. Clark contended that from Erie soft coal can be purchased at Port Hope for 50c a ton cheaper than by rail from the Susquehanna Bridge.

Mr. Mulholland thought that Peterboro and Port Hope should join hands in urging a deep waterway between the two towns; the canal lacks a front door, and both places should used their united influence with the Government to open that door as soon as possible, and at Port Hope in the interest of both communities. Port Hope has a splendid harbor capable of accommodating 40 vessels, a mile of dockage, gigantic elevators and deep and safe water. The canal would cause the abolishing of railway freight rates, and extend the trade of Peterboro with western Ontario. If its outlet is at Port Hope, which is much nearer Toronto than Trenton.

Ald. Outram asserted that barges can safely navigate the open lake, and that the gaps at Kingston are far more dangerous than the open water between Port Hope and Trenton. Trenton water is extremely shallow, and rock extends out for three-quarters of a mile into the lake, necessitating the employment of a pilot. The resources of Canada are not yet big enough to warrant the expenditure of millions of money to create at Trenton a deep and easy opening for the canal into Lake Ontario. We need the shortest and easiest route possible for this waterway, with the biggest draught possible, and that is via Port Hope, of whose natural advantages Trenton cannot be jealous.

Captain Braund, of large experience on Lake Ontario, said that the entrance to Trenton was of so intricate a nature that he would rather sail from Toronto to the head of the lake than touch at Trenton. He advocated a deep water canal from Peterboro to Port Hope to avoid Welland taking all our trade.

Col. McLeus thought the requirements of the west will shortly tax every energy Canada possesses to furnish transportation facilities. Hence the T.V.C. is assured of a prosperous future. There is no doubt as to where the outlet should be. It is sixty miles from Rice Lake to Trenton and but twelve to Port Hope; all earth cutting excepting a mile of rock at Port Hope. Then should a ten or eleven foot canal be made between Peterboro and Port Hope, line and American vessels would sail right up to Peterboro, and tourists from the other side would also take advantage of this deep waterway to visit Ontario's youngest city. Peterboro citizens will make the greatest mistake of their lives if they do not advocate a deep water cut between their city and Port Hope, which would make Peterboro a port of calling for the big lake schooners and excursion boats.

Mr. J. F. Clarke contended that Port Hope route would be as near to Montreal as that via Trenton. To his mind the local trade would be of as much importance as that to the seaboard. The local trade, with its thousand miles of shore line and tributaries, will, like that of Erie, be tremendous, and find its way to the west. This must not be lost sight of in advocating an outlet for the canal. The return cargoes from the west and south for years would be coal, one which he estimated the Port Hope route would net a saving to Peterboro of at least $5,000 a year. The Port Hope route had never been properly surveyed but is being done so now. At first they estimated on an eight foot cut to Port Hope and a six foot waterway to Trenton.

Capt. Braund said that barges of six feet draught are now navigating from Oswego across the lake to various parts with perfect safety.

The deputation left for home last night.

The City Council did not commit themselves one way or the other.

A STARTLING RUMOR

It Was Said Yesterday That Two Young Ladies Were Shot at

A very sensational rumor was current yesterday to the effect that on Wednesday night about eight o'clock two young ladies were deliberately stopped on Park street, near the corner of Gilmour, and a revolver discharged in their faces, by two men, one of whom is described as an elderly man dressed in a dark suit and light felt hat, and the other a young man, also dressed in dark clothes and wearing a peak cap.

It was said that the young ladies were out for a walk, at the corner of Park and Gilmour streets, met the two men, and tried to pass them, when one of them drew, and fired off a revolver close to their faces. The men are reported to have followed the ladies as they ran. Rumor also stated that the police were telephoned to, but this The times found last night to be without foundation, as none of the force heard anything of the alleged trouble that night.

Should there be any truth in this rumor, prompt and severe measures should be taken to punish such cowardly rascals in such a manner that their doom will serve as a perpetual warning against such rowdyism in this well ordered city.

OLD RESIDENT GONE

Mrs. Eliza Wells Passed Away Yesterday Morning

The many friends of Mrs. Eliza Wells, widow of the late Mr. John S. Well, will learn with regret of her death at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. D. Cameron, George street, yesterday morning, of senility.

Mrs. Wells, whose maiden name was Livingston, was born in West Port, Ireland, eighty-three years ago and came to Canada over half a century ago, residing for a time in Kingston. Here she was married to Mr. John S. Wells, formerly of London, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells came to Peterboro over fifty years ago. Mr. Wells died four years ago and since that time Mrs. Wells had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Cameron, a communicant at the George street Methodist church, with which she was always associated.

Seven children survive; John L. and Williams Winnipeg; Mrs. A. McFarlane, Mrs. D. Cameron, of this city; Mrs. Meak and Mrs. Emmerson, Port Arthur, and Mrs. Connor, of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Byfield, of Toronto, is a sister, and there is one brother, William, residing in Aylmer Ont. Many grandchildren also are left to mourn her demise.

A BEAUTIFUL DISFLAY

Peterboro's Ladies Admired Messrs. Richard Hall & Son's Show Windows

That window dressing is an important feature of progressive merchandizing is shown by the beautiful fall season window displays at Messrs. Richard Hall & Son's establishment. Hundreds of citizens lingered in front of the brass railings before their windows yesterday, discussing the new fall styles. Without attempting to describe their displays in detail, the color scheme in white and gold, associated with the popular mauves that this season suggests, skill on the part of the decorator, who has spent several years in the United States studying his art. The south window includes most recent specimens of the milliners' genius, in the latest dress fabrics for autumn and winter wear.

The middle window to left of entrance, contains novelties in ladies' costumes and mantles, which are a direct importation from the most noted makers in Paris, London and Berlin, and draw many expressions of admiration from the ladies who lingered long before this tempting display.

Peterboro dry goods men have nothing to fear in competition with firms engaged in the same lines in either Toronto and Montreal.

BOUNDARY OF UNGAVA

Governor of Newfoundland Will Shortly Confer With Dominion Government

Montreal, September 21. — Word has reached Montreal that Sir William McGregor, Governor of Newfoundland, may visit Canada shortly to try to effect an arrangement with the Dominion Government delimiting the boundary of Newfoundland in Labrador and Ungava.

Up to a few years ago the opinion was generally held that the boundary was the watershed between Hudson Bay and the Atlantic, the Newfoundland territory including all rivers running into the Atlantic, and the Canadian portion all rivers running into Hudson Bay and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

LITHOGRAPHERS' STRIKE

PRESIDENT STONE PUTS THE CASE TO BRITISH PEOPLE

Unfair Action of the Union in Regard to British Workmen

Toronto, September 21.—Mr. William Stone, President of the Canadian Lithographers' Association, writes as follows from Hotel Cecil, in a recent issue of The London Daily Chronicle:

"Will you permit a few lines in your columns to warn British lithographic workmen, who is advised to keep away from Canada on account of a strike among the transferrers and machine minders. They omit, however, to give the reason of the strike, which is that the employers refused to sign an agreement that they would employ only men belonging to the United States Union. The employers do not object to society men, but they do object to being deprived of the right to employ their own countrymen. The union prohibits the British (or foreigner, as they call him) by charging him a fee of £10 (£50) to join their union, but an American coming to England to compete with the British workman would come in on equal terms. I quote from the constitution of the union, section 10: 'Any candidate coming from outside the jurisdiction of the United States and Canada shall pay an initiation fee of $50.' I also quote from the agreement we were asked to sign: 'The party of the first part hereby agrees that from the date of the execution of this agreement the concerns it represents will engage and continue to employ only members in good standing of the L. L. and P. B. A. of United States.' A good number of British workmen have gone out, and a number of others are on their way, and the positions are being filled by men of our own nationality. In fighting for our rights as Britishers and for the British working man, we ought certainly to have their support."

PEDAGOGUE ON TRIAL

Head Master of Norwood School on Trial for Assault

Norwood was in a great state of excitement yesterday over a case for trial in their local police court. It seems that a charge of aggravated assault was laid against Mr. John Davidson, principal of the Norwood High School. It is to the effect that on September 4th, he assaulted B. B. Baker, a resident of that village, by striking him over the head with a gail.

The key to the situation lies somewhat in the old saw, "Love me, love my dog," and its opposite conditions. It seems that Mr. Davidson's dog got into an argument with one belonging to Mr. Baker, with the usual results in canine disputes, they fought. Mr. Baker, playing the part of peace maker by trying to seperate the animals, as is usual with those who play such a part, got into trouble with the owner of the other dog, by hitting Davidson's barker with a piece of wood, instead of judiciously preceding as he was criminal, and laying low the other fellow's dog later on. The pedagogue, waxed wrathy at having the owner of his dog's opponent strike the animal he was backing (metaphorically speaking), and, it is alleged, sailed into Baker with a pail, hitting him over the head.

The case was for trial yesterday evening.

The Midland League season comes to an end on Saturday when Peterboro and Cobourg meet in the final game at Port Hope. The teams have been so evenly matched that it was hard to pick a winner. The only weak aggregation on the circuit was Lindsay.

The Peterboro Baseball Club concluded arrangements with the G.T.R. yesterday afternoon for an excursion to Port Hope to-morrow, where the local nine will play the Cobourg team for the Midland League championship. The special will leave here at 1.30 p.m., and return at 7.30 p.m. The fare will be 80 cents. A large number of rooters will doubtless accompany the team and do their share towards winning the cup.

RUGBY.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in the T.A.S. rooms on Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing a rugby team. Prospects are bright for placing a strong bunch on the field, and the Alsatians promise to sustain the records they have made in other lines of sport.

A large number of rugby men were present to help along the new team. Among them was Mr. Eugene Burtubise, who showed that he still is ready to do anything to boom rugby, and was elected coach of the team. He will no doubt do all in his power and successfully, to arouse enthusiasm and make good players.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Robert Begley.
Vice-President—Eugene Burtubise.
Sec.-Treasurer—J. E. Sullivan.
Executive Committee—Wm. Maher, Wallie Parnell and R. Begley.

A meeting will be held to-night to arrange for practising, and all members should be present.

THE CANAL OUTLET

Comparative Depths of Harbours of Port Hope and Trenton

The Port Hope Times says: The last report of the Minister of Public Works, which is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, gives some details of dredging in the harbors of Port Hope and Trenton which are significant, and which are especially interesting in relation to the outlets proposed for the Trent Valley Canal. That the Port Hope harbor has a depth of fourteen feet is shown from the report of the dredging at Port Hope. "Work was performed at this place by the dredge Nipissing," says the report, "making two cuts outside the east pier and three cuts inside of the west pier, approaching the entrance to the new harbor. One cut was along side the dock opposite the sanitary works. All this dredging was done to depth of 14 feet at low water." And while the report shows that Port Hope harbor has a depth of fourteen feet it also shows that the Trenton harbor, with its tortuous channel, has only a depth of ten feet. At Trenton, the report says, 'One cut was made through a mud and stone shoal to give the channel a straighter course, 2,000 feet long, 30 feet wide, and to a depth of ten feet at low water. 13,600 cubic yards of stone and mud were removed."

The official report thus indicates the great advantage possessed by the Port Hope harbor in respect to depth and also in respect to the entrance, which in the case of Trenton is by way of a tortuous channel. It gives other equally significant comparisons: Of the 26,599 yards dredged at Port Hope, 25,099 yards were sand and mud; whereas of the 13,600 yards removed at Trenton, all were stone and mud. This would appear to indicate that the Trenton harbor is in rock, while the Port Hope harbor is of sand and other soft and easily removed material.

In all three respects — in depth, in the nature of the geological formation and in the entrance, the Port Hope harbor has evidently great advantages over Trenton, and is in each respect more suitable as the terminus of the canal.

250 LAMBS

Large Purchase Made by Mr. Mervin Arrives in the City

Yesterday afternoon, at five o'clock what is perhaps the largest single purchase of lambs arrived at the city weigh scales. The flock was purchased by Mr. J. Mervin, the enterprising local butcher and cattle buyer, and consisted of 250, of which about 90 per cent. were lambs. This large flock was purchased from many different farmers, and after being collected together, brought to the city. There was considerable trouble in getting so large a body of these timid animals to enter the lane leading to the scales, with boys and men armed with whips and sticks, and all shouting at the frightened lambs, they went round and round, making a circle, ever trying to move together towards a common center. At last a few of the drivers picked up some of the leaders, rams and older sheep, and lifting them bodily, by the wool, got a bunch started towards the desired location; in a moment, when the rest of the sheep saw their leaders separated from the throng, at once followed "like sheep," to the scales. The flock was too large to weigh them all at once, so some delay was caused by driving them in batches on to the scale's platform.

HOW THE POACHERS ELUDE VIGILANT

$12,000 Worth of Fish Stolen from Canadian Waters Daily

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—The Canadian fisheries cruiser Vigilant stopped here for minor repairs. Before leaving last evening Capt. Dunn, said the American poaching fish tugs keep thoroughly posted as to the whereabouts of the Vigilant, and have a fine system of warning each other of her approach. Erie alone has a fleet of about 70 fishing tugs. The speediest of the tugs are placed at the head of the column in the direction in which the Vigilant is known to be. When she is sighted, the leader starts off, full speed for American waters, the second tug follows suit, and so on, all along the line. It is believed that at least twelve thousand dollars worth of fish are taken into Lake Erie ports by poachers every day from Canadian waters.

Chemong Park Survey

Messrs. W. C. T. Heathcote and Arthur Woode are engaged in making a new survey of the property at Chemong Park and several new lots at this popular resort are being laid out. New avenues are being opened up as well as old ones extended. The future prospects of this charming summer resort are very bright as Mr. Elliott expects quite a number of new and modern style cottages will be added next season. Arrangements have been completed for thoroughly clearing out all dead underbrushes and branches. A prominent citizen of Pittsburg remarked a few days ago that Chemong Park is "one of the places made specially by Nature for just such a purpose."

A Serious Accident

Montreal, Sept. 20.—A terrible accident took place shortly before three o'clock this afternoon, at the new Roman Catholic Church, in Ste. Cunegonde, by which three men lost their lives and two sustained probably fatal injuries.

The accident was caused by the collapse of a scaffolding on which the five men were working.

FRANCE AND GERMANY MAY COME TO BLOWS

Strained Relations Existing Between the Two Great Powers

THE MOROCCAN QUESTION CAUSING TROUBLE

Both Nations are Said to be Preparing for War—Anxiety Felt in London.

London, September 22. — Alarming rumors respecting the imminence of war between France and Germany are now beginning to disturb the public mind. Several weeks have elapsed since the European correspondents have had a war to write about, and the distances to South Africa and Manchuria were so great that trouble nearer home with better facilities for describing battles is an urgent need. A number of serious factors in the war situation are mentioned. German forts are no longer thrown open to tourists, but are being used for military purposes. Frontier roads, injured by recent rains, are being repaired with red earth. German staff officers are frequently seen in German territory. Empty freight cars no longer remain on sidings, but are being taken away and loaded. Three days have elapsed since the Franco-German diplomatists have discussed Morocco affairs. In view of this menacing condition, France, it is announced, is taking prudent measures to ensure safety. The boulevards are swept daily, the sale of Prussian blue has been stopped, and one Paris paper has issued an extra. The civilized world awaits further details with anxiety.

FRANCE GROWING IMPATIENT.

Paris, September 22.—Dr. Rosen, appointed by the German Emperor to adjust the difficulties arising out of the Moroccan situation, has issued an indigent denial that Germany is aiming to obtain the port of Mogador, or herself.

Any other Moroccan port during the prolonged negotiations now in progress.

French students of the question ask, "What then is Germany's object in this endless multiplication of obstacles preventing an agreement?"

The only matters that during the last few weeks have remained for settlement previous to the international conference were the understanding regarding the manner of French policing the Algerian frontier of Morocco, and the method of loans made necessary by projected reforms.

"There has been plenty of time to arrange all this," said one of the international law experts engaged on the case, to your correspondent. "The moment Dr. Rosen and M. Revoil, the French representative in the matter, talk behind closed doors, it becomes impossible to disclose the subject of their conversation. But there exist indications that Premier Rouvier is growing extremely impatient. Mark my words, two more weeks of Germany chess playing will force France to make a movement which will easily upset the edifice so carefully built up, on the Kaiser's bad faith."

The delay of the international conference is still declared by several public men who are versed in the situation, to be due to the fact that the German Emperor is inciting the Sultan to show opposition to the idea until Germany shall have been able to arrange certain guarantees in her own favor.

LABOUR UNION ARROGANCE

Funeral Stopped Because Drivers did not Display Buttons

Chicago, September 21. — As Mayor Dunne, City Clerk Anson and twenty-six aldermen were leaving the city hall yesterday to attend the funeral of Ald. James C. Patterson, their carriages were halted by W. T. Gibbons, business agent of the Cab Drivers' Union, because the drivers were not wearing union buttons. They were compelled to purchase the buttons and display them on their hats, before the carriages were allowed to move away.

Wanted to Find His Daddy

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—George Prudhomme, the four year old lad who found his way to Montreal, and was turned over to the police of that city, is at home again. The lad's father works at Cobalt, and he started out to find him. He had an idea that any train would take him to his father.

BUSINESS CHANGE

Mr. Harry W. Stock, Buys the Tailoring Business of Mr. McClung

An old Peterboro boy, well known by many hundreds of our citizens, who for years was employed in local tailoring establishments, but who for the last three years has been engaged in New York as designer and in charge of manufacturing for the American Semi-Ready Mfg. Co., has purchased the tailoring business on Hunter street carried on by Mr. McClung. Mr. Stock will take hold early next week, having arrived in the city yesterday morning from Montreal, where he has been selecting a stock of cloths and trimmings.

With the wide experience in every branch of tailoring, and especially in the matter of recent fashions, gained in his recent position in New York, Mr. Stock will probably command a fair share of his old house's trade.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

One of the striking facts brought out before the Parliamentary Special Committee, was the unparalleled spread of telephone service in the rural districts of Ohio and Indiana referred to in our last "talk." How this has been brought about, was very clearly described by a witness who has been in close touch with the business throughout. This is a point of great interest, and to afford a fair understanding of this matter, we cannot do better than quote extracts from this evidence. He said:—

"In Ohio and Indiana, and all through the west, there has "been a tremendous increase in the telephone business" • • • "The farmers built their own lines, furnished their own "telephones, and keep them in order." • • • "It has been "the enormous number of farmers' stations constructed "with their own money, that has created this tremendous "expansion that has occurred, especially in the thickly "settled sections." • • • "The farmers made their arrange-"ments with the telephone company for connecting their "line with the local exchange, or with the toll system." • • • "The charge by the company for such connection is from "25 cents to 50 cents per month for each subscriber, which "gives free service with all subscribers to the exchange."

The same witness said:—

"In case of competition, we do not connect with such lines. The arrangement covers a defined territory."

This statement outlines the plan upon which the great rural telephone service of Ohio and Indiana has been developed. It has been a work of the farmers themselves, not in opposition to, or in competition with, the general telephone systems, but in co-operation with the large operating companies.

This plan, which has met with such success in the States mentioned, is a part of the policy of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, and material inducements are offered to every rural section which may require telephone service. We have many such connecting systems now, and we are ready to encourage and assist any group of farmers who wish to avail themselves of the plan which has been so successful in some parts of the United States. We do not wish it to be understood, however, that the above is the only plan upon which we are prepared to furnish service to farmers.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton, N B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctors couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me a splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

JAPAN'S PEACE PLANS

Now that the war is over in the Orient, Japan is planning an extensive commercial campaign. Japan wants the bulk of the Orient trade herself, and already a commission is traveling through the country, and will visit [illegible] The ostensible purpose of this commission is to look after the purchase of railroad supplies, but its other purpose seems to be to study the best iron plants in the world.

The first step to be taken by the islanders in their new campaign of economic development will be to foster iron industry. There are railroads and bridges to be built in Manchuria before that country will be properly opened up to commerce, and Japan would rather build these herself. The Japanese government is moving as speedily as possible toward the establishment of mills for the manufacture of steel rails, for the making of Bessemer steel, for the construction of cars and locomotives and for the manufacture of all structural iron work; all of which things Japan now purchases from other countries. Therefore, Japan sends her commissioners about the world to find out just how these plants should be established.

Before the war the Japanese found it next to impossible to foster this sort of industrial expansion. The Island Empire produces very little coal and iron, and the Russian domination of Manchuria closed the Asiatic sources to the Japanese. Now Japan's idea is to develop the mining resources of the Chinese province herself and profit accordingly. She evidently intends to make herself the Oriental center for iron and steel manufacture of all sorts. She has sent her commission abroad, thus putting the nations of the world on notice that a lively trade war has opened.

MARCH OF THE PLAGUE

The outbreak of cholera in Eastern Prussia marks one more step in the gradual advance the disease has made since it entered Western Europe. The The present movement began in 1899, when advancing from India it made its way to China and Japan, and crossed to the Philippines, causing much loss of life. It proceeded westward through Arabia and Persia into Russia, and has there been reported from various points. In 1903 it appeared at that sanctuary of filth, Mecca, and spread through Egypt, Asia Minor and Persia, and was by caravans carried to Anatolia, the Trans-Caucasus and Trans-Caspia, and for over a year it appears to have halted on the Volga. Now it descends on Prussia, whence lines of communication may easily carry it to all parts of the world. The Medical Record marvels much that it should have taken so long to spread from the Volga to the Prussian coast, seeing that the Russian health officials paid it much attention. It reasons: "That there is some influence which affects [illegible] of the common bacillus, or [illegible] a greater or lesser [illegible] of virulence in the human subject, must be admitted, but whether this influence is atmospheric or telluric or neither, it still remains a mystery."

Certain it is that the dread disease is within a few days of our shores, on a well travelled route. Our health authorities cannot be too alert to the danger that threatens. The fact that its mode of travel and infection is so little understood makes the duty of vigilance the more imperative. Canada has suffered from cholera plague before today, and does not desire another experience of the sort.

Keene

The Sons of Rest met on Saturday night last as usual. After the roll was called, the president ordered all the officers to take their respective seats. The president then sounded the gavel, rose to his feet, knocked a mosquito off his nose, and addressed the brethren as follows: "Brethren, I want you all to pay strict attention to what I say tonight, for I am determined to fetch a few of you to your senses. You all aware, no doubt, that the members of this society are supposed to be respectable. Now, I have heard rather too much noise around our streets during the past few nights. This must be put a stop to at once. Remember, if it is repeated, I will fine the guilty parties heavily. So now, I have given you timely warning and, if you do not comply with my advice, you certainly will suffer the consequence. With these few remarks I will now take my seat and leave the meeting open for business. Rinker Jack rose and informed the president that he had two serious charges to bring before the meeting. He first charged Merchant Campbell with taking his little dog, "Spart," to town on the train with him. He next charged Sexton McIntyre with locking his dog in the Methodist church after service on Sunday night last. The president then rose and asked Campbell if he was guilty. He said he was. He fined him two hundred dollars, to be paid in two days or on month in jail. The president then asked the sexton why he locked the dog in the church. Well, it was a wet night and I thought he might swear if I turned him out, so I thought it was better to make a good Methodist of him. The president scratched his head and smiled, and informed the sexton that, since it was a Christian act, he would let him go free. Yankee Mack had a charge against Wolf Howson for driving a horse and buggy across the park. The president fined Wolf seven hundred dollars and fifteen cents, to be spot cash. Wolf paid the fine, and did not wait for the closing service. Howden Doris rose to his feet and said that as the cold season was approaching, he thought it would be advisable to hold their meetings in the hall of wisdom after tonight. Fatty Drummond rose in a great hurry to second Howden's motion, and, by accident, stepped on Positive Legget's foot. Positive gave Fatty a smash on the face and knocked out one of his wisdom teeth. The president called them to order and said, as the hour for closing had arrived, he would ask Waxy McFarlane and Tom Deerackey to sing the closing ode. They commenced the ode, but Deerackey made a discord and Waxy took him by the ear and shook him till he saw stars. He than sang first class. The president then declared the meeting closed until Saturday night in the hall of wisdom. "God Save The King."

BROKER SUES ENDORSER

A Quebec Case Which Gives Promise of Some Interesting Details

Quebec, Sept. 21.—An action issued recently in the Superior Court of this district promises to offer some interesting details before it is disposed of. In May, 1904, a resident of this city discounted a note with an upper town broker for $100. The note was naturally endorsed, and was made payable in one months. The broker handed over $97.50 to the borrower, thereby charging $12.50 per month for $100. Later on, the same party, with the same endorsement, discounted a note for $250 for fifteen days with the same broker, who charged him $25 for the fifteen days, and only gave him $225. Since then the notes have been renewed, the signer of the note paying the same rate of interest monthly. The defendant has left the town, and action has been taken again the endorser for $250, the amount of the original notes, but the latter pleads that since thirteen and one-half months the money lender has received $250 interest on the $225 and that as he only endorsed notes for $250 and legal interest, his responsibility has been wiped out.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 21.—Henry Jennings, of Port Dalhousie, Ont., fell from a fourth floor window of the Brezel House at Seneca and Wells streets last evening. He was terribly hurt, but the doctors at the Emergency Hospital, where he was taken, reported this morning that he had an even chance for recovery. Jennings was washing a window, and did not use a safety belt. He made a misstep, and fell to an open court, a distance of about 60 feet.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

Now open for the summer. Interesting because it demonstrates the progress made by that wonderful country—the Pacific Northwest. Interesting, too, because it affords a chance to see, cheaply and satisfactorily, the many places of interest in our Western States.

Go via Rock Island System and stop off in Colorado—visit Salt Lake City—Yellowstone National Park—and California. Round-trip rate from Chicago $56.50; from St. Louis $52.50, going and returning direct; slightly more to go via California in one direction. Cheap rates for side rides to every nearby point of attraction. Very low to Alaska also.

The Rock Island has three routes—through New Mexico, through Colorado or via St. Paul and Minneapolis.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than robbers. One day my uncle asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for two months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only call it a walk in a machine shop before treatment, now I am really fit and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares at Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

[illegible] the property, the deepest location [illegible] however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

you an ice there." Drawing her hand through his arm, Marsden led her out into the cool conservatory.

Mrs. Ruthven was unusually disturbed. Her prominent thought was: He has made this opportunity to propose for me. To-morrow I shall be the mistress-elect of Eversleigh Manor," so, leaning slightly toward her host, as if needing his support, she willingly accepted his guidance.

The dance finished, Nora, escorted by her partner, an officer of the regiment quartered at Oldbridge, mingled with the stream of guests thronging to the buffet, and while talking together over their ices and lemon squash with Mrs. L'Estrange and Winton, she noticed Marsden breaking away from a proxy master of fox-hounds, who had button-holed him.

"I really can not stay," he said, loudly and impatiently. "I want to take an ice to Mrs. Ruthven, who is feeling faint."

He went on to the buffet, and spoke to one of the waiters.

"No, I will take it myself," he replied to something the man said.

Nora thought he looked really anxious and disturbed.

"Is Mrs. Ruthven feeling unwell?" she asked, as Marsden passed.

He shook his head, with a smiling glance toward the bore from whom he had just escaped, as if to intimate it was an excuse for leaving his guest, and went on quickly into the next room.

Winton looked after him.

"The rooms are not hot enough for fainting," he said. "You have not seen the tent yet, Mrs. L'Estrange; come and inspect it."

He offered her his arm, Nora and Lord Alfred Harcourt followed. As soon as they entered the morning-room, they saw a group of men round the door leading into the conservatory.

Next to it stood Marsden, a look of puzzled surprise on his face.

"The lock must have shut of itself," Captain Lethbridge was saying, as Mrs. L'Estrange and Winton drew near, "It is unaccountable."

"What is the matter?" asked the latter.

"The door is mysteriously locked, though I passed through it only now," said Marsden, shaking it violently.

"It looks as if the fair widow did not want you back," cried Lord Alfred with a foolish laugh.

Marsden gave him an angry look. "See if the key is in the door."

"Break it open."

"Cut out a pane," were some of the suggestions rapidly offered.

"Is there not some other way into the conservatory?" asked Winton.

"Yes, of course, through the east corridor," cried Marsden. He rushed away.

In another moment they saw him pass the door and disappear, only to return more rapidly, and burst into the room, exclaiming: "Where is Lady Dorrington? Mrs. L'Estrange, come for God's sake! The key is gone, and Mrs. Ruthven is lying insensible! Call her maid! Look for Lady Dorrington," he cried to the servants who were about. "Bring some water. Come, Mrs. L'Estrange," and in evident agitation he led the way, through a part of the house not thrown open to the general company, through the conservatory to the tent.

Winton, Nora, and one or two of the others followed to see if they could be of any use.

Mrs. Ruthven lay apparently lifeless, stretched on the divan, one arm hanging down inertly, her deadly pallor contrasting with her splendid dress and gay surroundings.

"Is she dead? Oh, is she dead?" whispered Nora, in awe and terror.

"No, no," returned Mrs. L'Estrange, taking the hand which hung so helplessly, "she is not cold— she breathes—give me your fan—she must have air—do not come too close—send for Doctor Weldon, I saw him just now."

"I will go for him," said Winton, "but look, Marsden, her jewels are gone."

"What can have happened?" cried Marsden. "Has she been robbed? Good God! and perhaps injured? Call Weldon."

Turning toward the door, he met Lady Dorrington coming in, and with her the chief doctor of Oldbridge, one of the guests.

"Well, well, what's the matter? Hot rooms; too much dancing?" exclaimed Dr. Weldon, a short, stout, authoritative man. "Pooh, pooh! don't look so frightened," to Nora, as he took Mrs. L'Estrange's place. "That's right; all she wants is air." he laid his hand on her side. "Heart beats; it's just a swoon; keep fanning, please—can you get her clothes loosened?—all fastes at the back?—um—irrational! You had better get out, gentlemen. Are you her maid?" to a smart little Frenchwoman, who came in, followed by the butler carrying a carafe of water and a goblet.

"Oh, mon Dieu! I never saw madame so bad before," cried the maid.

"Then is she subject to these attacks?"

"Yes, sare—a leetle—not often."

"Try and loosen her dress. Here, give me the water! Stand back, Mr. Marsden."

"I can not leave till I see her revive," cried Marsden. "There is something mysterious in this seizure. She may be hurt. As her host, I feel responsible for her."

"Ha! she is coming to," said the doctor as a deep sigh parted the lips they watched so anxiously. "Get some brandy—don't let any one come in here, there are too many already."

"Let us go, then," whispered Mrs. L'Estrange to Nora, adding to Lady Dorrington, "I shall be in the conservatory should you want me."

Another long shivering sigh broke from Mrs. Ruthven, she slowly opened her eyes, which met those of Lady Dorrington, who was bending over her.

For a minute or two she did not seem to recognize any one, then an expression of intense alarm came to her face, as she feebly stretched out her arms and exclaimed in gasps:

"Save me! don't leave me!"

"Dear Mrs. Ruthven, you are perfectly safe, no harm shall come to you," said Marsden, coming forward.

"There—there; don't agitate her. You drink this, my dear madame," cried the doctor, offering her some brandy and water. "You are all right now."

"Oh! no, no," cried Mrs. Ruthven, raising herself with an effort and throwing herself into Lady Dorrington's arms; "that dreadful man will kill me."

She burst into a violent fit of crying.

"That's right," said the doctor, complacently, "that will do her good."

"I wish we could get her to her own room," exclaimed Lady Dorrington. "But what has become of her necklace—her jewels? Did Mrs. L'Estrange take it off to relieve her?"

"No, it was gone when we came in," returned Marsden. Hearing the words Mrs. Ruthven left her neck and arms.

"They are all taken," she said. "No matter, he spared my life!"

"Who spared your life, dear?" asked Lady Dorrington.

"Now don't ask any questions. Get her to bed," urged the doctor.

"Look here, Marsden," said Mark Winton, who had been examining the floor and sides of the tent. "Here is a long rent in the hangings, and the canvas," putting his head through, "is cut away on the outside also."

"Some one must have got through here," said Marsden, going over to examine the opening.

"Yes," faltered Mrs. Ruthven, who was now fast recovering, though her

Advertising Pays

In these days of strenuous competition in all lines of life, the man who has a business worked up may worry along, in a hand to mouth way, without spending much of his profits on newspaper advertising, but the successful business man, the wide-awake hustler, who is not content with the slip-shod, non-progressive style of thinking a mere living is sufficient, but who wants his business and means of livelihood to expand, wisely puts part of his money into printers' ink for the daily papers. He is aware of the advantages of advertising; a week ago Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, 35 Louis street, inserted in The Times an advertisement for music pupils. Since the adv. was first inserted, Mrs. Greenslade has had many words for pupils, of whom six directly assured her they had been actuated by the adv. in The Times. It is only fair to add that two of the pupils, personally known to The Times, are already progressing favorably in their music.

Large Crop of Wild Rice

As noted in a former issue of The Times, some weeks ago the Indians of Scugog, Hiawatha and Mud Lake reserves, claiming that under an old treaty they have the sole right to gather rice in Rice Lake, got out notice warning others from gathering the rice. It seems that the Alnwick reserve Indians, who have in former years gathered the greater portion of this rice, are now debarred from doing so on their action of former years being illegal. In view of this fact that this fall, the rice crop is a record one, and greater than all the Indians of the county could possibly gather, it seems a hardship that the men of Alderville should be debarred from making a few honest dollars. The latter Indians, have taken the bull by the horns, however, and are now on the spot gathering the Rice Lake crop, which they will probably have garnered and sold before legal proceedings can be instituted. There are now some 25 to 30 tents on the islands of Rice Lake occupied by these aquatic farmers.

Fair Street Car Service

Mr. Larmonth, manager of the Peterboro Radial Railway Co., with his usual regard for the public's convenience, has arranged for a practically perfect street car service during the Fair next week. Fenders have been placed on the trailers, so there will be no delays in carrying the thousands of visitors to our great annual exhibition; this will obviate all necessity for loss of time by taking the cars down to terminus of the road. Trains of cars will run to the exhibition grounds and return at once, the trailer with fender in front, returning up town backwards.

An Old Roll.

Mr. S. J. Campbell, who was some ten years ago employed by Mr. W. Croft, yesterday discovered among some old paper a rather interesting document. It was an abstract of merchandise issued by the Cobourg and Peterboro Railway, and dated 1854. Among the consignees of goods mentioned were names of some almost forgotten and some still living in the city. Among the names mentioned are R. D. Rogers, 4 boxes hardware; R. Thompson, 2 cases; J. A. Harty, 4 cases, weight 1,285 lbs.; 2 bales; J. Hall, 2 boxes; W. Croft, 2 half bbls., 2 kegs; J. N. Benson, 1 package; Dr. Lovell, 1 truss; J. Harty, 7 boxes soap; J. DANNY'S SUCCESS

Mr. Dan. Simons, of Peterboro, is Chief Comedian of Strong Company

A leading daily paper of the United States, referring to an old Peterboro boy, who has a host of warm friends in the city, Mr. Danny Simons, speaks very highly of his histrionic abilities. Mr. Smions, a son of Mr. Peter Simons, the well-known George street tailor, is now leading comedian with the Adam Good Repertoire Company, which is playing to crowded houses in the leading American cities.

In speaking of the company that Danny is an important factor in, the paper in question not only refers with unqualified praise to his abilities, but gives a life-like portrait of his well-known features. It says of Mr. Simons:

"The company in itself is made up of clever people, headed by Miss Hoodie Overton, the most magnetic and charming soubrette in repertoire, and Mr. Danny Simons, considered the most versatile comedian in this particular class of attractions and who is well-known through the country.

—There is no truth in the report that a guard of armed men and an iron fence have been placed around the Lift Lock to prevent its being carried away as was a locomotive a few days ago.

—All the Collegiate Institute, Public and Separate school scholars and teachers will have a half holiday on Wednesday afternoon next in order that they may attend the Peterboro Industrial exhibition.

—County Magistrate Geo. Edmanson, has reserved judgment in the case tried before him, in which the local golf club, charged Peter Moffatt, who resides near The Links, with keeping a vicious dog.

—A "For Sale" card appeared yesterday on the lot and premises now occupied by the English Canoe Co., Charlotte street. Should a purchaser secure the property the company will move to other quarters and continue the business.

—Membership cards to the Peterboro Industrial Fair Association are being sold at one dollar. The holder is entitled to an admission ticket good for all the days that the fair is in progress. A large number of the membership cards have been sold.

—Mayor Beal advocates putting a new boiler in the old fire engine. He argues that the engine now lying in the fire hall is of no use in its present condition and might, at comparatively small cost, be made serviceable.

Favorably Impressed

Mr. Eddie Tucker, who has been visiting his cousin, Mr. P. Alexander, 277 Reid street, left for his home in Cincinnati yesterday. Mr. Tucker was very favorably impressed with Canada, and with our beautiful Kawartha Lakes, as well as this city, and will return next summer, possibly to locate permanently. Mr. Tucker's father is cashier of the Big Four Railway, with headquarters in Cincinnati.

Mr. Metheral Better

Mr. Will Metheral is receiving the condolences of his numerous friends, as he hobbles along at the business end of a heavy waiting stick. Mr. Metheral had the misfortune, a few days ago, to fall with a platform on which he was working on a waggon, and a heavy plank fell on his foot, crushing it severely. He is, we are pleased to state, somewhat improved.

Local Water to be Analyzed

Yesterday Dr. Bingham, city health officer, sent a sample of our local drinking water to the health department, Toronto, for analysis and report as to its purity and healthfulness. GIRL'S SECRET.

"Aunt Cassie came to visit us and she saw I was nervous, had the fidgets all the time, and she asked me many questions, and finally said, 'Why, you dear, sweet girl, it's not your temper that's bad, it's your constitution that's out of kilter. You sit right down now and write a letter to Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., tell him all your symptoms'—and so I did. It wasn't long before I had a long reply, Aunt's going over my case and telling me just what to do. I date my present happiness and little Cupid's return to the very day I sat down to write that letter to Dr. Pierce, for he advised me to good and the 'Favorite Prescription' worked such a complete change in me that now my former cheerfulness and good health—not to say anything of good looks—are restored to me. I have summoned Tom back to my side and we are to be married in June."

The proprietors and makers of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

It is natural that a woman who has been cured of womanly disease by "Favorite Prescription" should believe that it will cure others. It is natural too that she should recommend to other women the medicine which has cured her. It is such commendation which has made the name of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a household word for the past thirty-eight years.

SMITH BRIDE

Mr. Jas. Wilson, Lakehurst and Miss Mary Telford Wed

A very pretty house wedding was celebrated Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Telford, Smith township, when their daughter, Mary, was united in marriage to Mr. James Wilson, of Lakehurst. Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., beneath a tastefully decorated arch officiated in the presence of a large number of invited guests, officiated, and duly pronounced them man and wife. As the bride's father was unfortunately debarred from acting, through a regrettable illness, Mr. W. Hawes, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her away.

The bride looked charming in her cream silk gown trimmed with chiffon and lace, and bore a shower bouquet of white asters. Her travelling dress was of navy blue Panama cloth, with silk waist to match, and her black picture hat was trimmed with cream plumes. The bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Dick, of Douro, wore a gown of cream colienne over silk, with lace trimmings. The maid of honor was the bride's niece, May Howie, of Cameron.

The groom, who was attended by Mr. John Tedford, presented his bride with a gold watch, and gave a bracelet to the bridesmaid. The happy couple will reside in Harvey.

Death of Mr. Walter G. Wood

The many friends in the city and Millbrook, of Mr. Walter G. Wood, manager of the Bank of Toronto, at Oakville, will regret to hear of his death, which occurred in that town on Wednesday. The late Mr. Wood was a son of the late Archibald Wood, of Millbrook, and for many years senior member of the private banking firm of Messrs. Wood & Wells, of that village. He was thirty-one years of age and entered the Port Hope branch of the Bank of Toronto some years ago. About two years ago he was made manager of the Oakville branch of the bank, and shortly afterwards was married to Miss Larkin, of St. Catharines, who is left to mourn his early demise. Interment will take place at St. Catharines to-day.

Roosevelt Will Return Insurance Co. Funds

Regrets Acceptance of Money in Last Presidental Campaign and Will Make Restitution if His Advisers Approve it.

Oyster Bay, L.I., Sept. 23.—The conference between President Roosevelt, George B. Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee; Secretary Root, who knows intimately this machinery of the big insurance companies; Senator Lodge, his personal representative in the Senate, and Joseph H. Choate, former American Ambassador to Great Britain, upon whose legal judgment he relies implicitly, has been ended.

The conference was secret, but it is well-known that the principal subject of discussion was the attitude the administration would take toward the illegal contributions of corporations in political campaigns. It is known that the President will ask Congress to frame a law after the English model, requiring the chairman of political committees to publish not only the amounts expended, but the names of the contributors and the amounts given.

WILL RETURN FUNDS.

But if his advisers approve it is believed he will go a step further and pay back to the treasuries of life insurance companies all money contributed by them to the last campaign. It is known that Mr. Cortelyou has a considerable balance on hand and it is thought it will not be difficult to make up the difference should there be one.

President Roosevelt feels that nothing but radical measures can effect a scandal which he feels more keenly than any that has come to his administration. He urged this view upon his visitors moreover as a wise party measure that may forestall future disaster. It is felt that some important administration move is going to follow the announcement.

If the President has his way the $48,000 contributed by the New York Life and any other life insurance contribution to the last campaign will be returned. The President wants this incident to be a milestone of progress in his administration instead of a scandal that would forever becloud his personal triumph of 1904.

The President is preparing his annual message to Congress, and he proposes to discuss the insurance question in that message, with special reference to Federal legislation for the regulation of insurance.

Under the law as it now stands the Bureau of Corporations of the Department of Commerce and Labor has no control over life insurance corporations. Practically it can only make an inquiry into their business for the purpose of gaining information. It cannot supervise them in any way. The President has been strongly urged to recommend to Congress the enactment of such legislation as will give the Federal Government supervisory control of insurance companies.

BRYAN'S NEW 16 TO 1.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 23.—William J. Bryan, when informed of the testimony of John A. McCall, declined to discuss any of the points involved except in part relating to contributions for the defeat of free silver.

"If Mr. McCall had paid money out of his own pocket instead of taking it from widows and orphans," said Mr. Bryan, "he might have more reason to boast. If his judgment on the silver question is no better than his judgment on the use of trust funds I would dispute his authority.

"The attitude of free silver is probably founded upon the opinion of some financier and not upon any actual knowledge of the subject. His understanding of sixteen to one seems to be that the directors get sixteen dollars to one dollar given to the policyholders."

A FAIR ATTRACTION

Local Kindergarten Will Exhibit Work of Little Ones

One exhibit at next week's Fair that will appeal to those interested in educational matters and to mothers of small children, will be that of the Peterboro kindergarten schools. This is a new idea with our local Fair and will meet with general approval.

It was at first proposed to have a class or classes of the little ones actually at work in the several departments, but it was found that there was too much risk in taking the children, and to give them the proper protection would make quite an expense, so it was abandoned.

There will be an exhibit of all branches of the kindergarten work in all its various stages. The work will be the weaving, folding, cutting and pasting, drawing, sewing, and modelling in plasticine (the newest pliable material, which has taken the place of clay.)

Forms and charts will be so arranged that visitors can see the whole principle of the construction. Miss Warner, will have charge of the exhibit.

The kindergarten exhibit will be at the Fair two days and one evening.

TO PAY POSTAGE

Order Respecting Some Cheap American Papers

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—After much effort to that end Canada is to be freed from an abuse of mail privileges in having to carry a large quantity of United States mail which yields no return to the Canadian Treasury. Assistant Postmaster-General Schultenberger has just issued a circular from Washington to the effect that a number of cheap publications complained of by the Canadian postal authorities now pay the rate for miscellaneous printed matter.

GILBERT PARKER ON ANNEXATION

Declares It to Be Utterly Dead in Canada

POLITICS IN ENGLAND

Preference to be Given to Canadian Wheat—International Reciprocity Near at Hand

New York, Sept. 23.—Sir Gilbert Parker declared that annexation was a dead letter in Canada.

In discussing the political conditions prevalent in Great Britain, he said that the most important question is Joseph Chamberlain's policy of preferential tariff.

"We have taken a small leaf out of a large American book," he went on. "I hardly think the question will be settled at the next election. Just as it would be impossible to convert the United States to free trade in three years, it will be impossible to convert Great Britain to the policy of imperial reciprocity and of tariff reform in the same space of time. The most important part of the policy of the Conservative party, to which I belong, is tariff reform and the most important part of tariff reform is Colonial preference. That is, in effect, what my party will urge when it goes to the country again, and afterward.

"Preference especially must be given to Canadian wheat. Twenty years from now I believe that the United States will export no wheat. In the meantime we must build up a trade with Canada by artificial means.

"This will not affect the relations between the United States and England. Any preference we may give to Canada will be represented by all good Americans, people of the United States, as perfectly legitimate. They have a great respect for people, who, like themselves, are able to do good business for themselves.

"In actual fact, the moment that England adopts a defensive tariff the beginning of international reciprocity will be at hand, and not until then. Business is a bloodless war, if you will, but it is a war, and peace can only be attained when one nation is strong enough to compete with another by the use of equivalent weapons.

"There never was a time in the history of the two countries when the pro-American feeling was so strong as it is at present in England. It is a great and absolute admiration for this energy, power and intellect of the people. The day of jealousy on this part of England has [illegible]

Police Court OFFICIALS Chief of Police, G.I. Reed Magistrate, D.W. Dunsford

Hester Baker pleaded guilty to taking a horse belonging to Charles Scriebur, but said he was drunk when he did the deed. Pleaded that he was never in the court before. His Worship said Baker had promised before to drop the drink and whilst he might not have taken the horse if sober, but this thing of taking horses was getting too common. Baker was sentenced to three months in the common jail at hard labor.

John Liddell was charged with using profane language and paid $5 for aforesaid cuss words. When he heard the amount of his penalty, Liddell remarked, "That's easy," and proceeded to give his opinion of Chief Reesel, which was not strictly complimentary.

Monday Night's Treat

Miss Hazel Davenport's performance of Katisha in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" is, according to Charles A. Wheeler, dramatic critic of the Winnipeg Tribune, "worth coming miles to see." She is said to invest the character with the true Gilbertian flavor and hide her natural beauty under a grotesque make-up which would please the immortal writer of the best comic opera ever conceived. Miss Davenport will be seen in the opera house on Monday evening.

A GOOD MOVE

Rumors That the G. T. R. Will Move Their Freight Sheds

It was generally reported on the streets and in business houses yesterday that the raison d'etre of Mr. W. R. Tiffin's visit to the city last week, was in connection with a contemplated change of location of the G.T.R. freight sheds. Mr. Tiffin is superintendent of the G.T.R. northern division, and his movements whilst here indicated a close connection with some prominent change of the freight sheds. Should this proposed change be made, the site will be on the south-east corner of the company's property and facing Aylmer street, just opposite the Montreal House. In that case the site of the present sheds would be used for extending the yards and to give the company more room to handle the rapidly increasing business of their freight department.

Such a change would be greatly to convenience of both company as their patrons, as their Charlotte street location is decidedly less fitted for the purpose intended. The local G.T.R. officials have no direct intimation of this proposed change as yet, but it is safe to consider the move as likely. During his visit Mr. Tiffin also investigated the diversion of the creek at Harnardo avenue, as the city requested his company to help in the cost of this undertaking.

NORWOOD POLICE COURT

Principal of Norwood High School Stands Trial

As noted in yesterday's issue of The Times, a trial was held yesterday afternoon in Norwood that caused much excitement in that lively little village. The particulars were given yesterday, how a row started between Mr. Davidson and Mr. B. H. Baker of the same place over a fight between their respective dogs and that Mr. Davidson, resenting Baker's hitting his dog, jumped Baker over the head inflicting serious wounds.

Davidson said that he did not swing the rail but admitted that he shoved Baker over with the rail.

The case was not completed when it was time to adjourn and it was enlarged to Peterboro until Wednesday morning, when it will be finished in the court house at 10 o'clock.

At the same court two d. and d's were fined $5 and costs, amounting to $10.50 each drunk. It comes higher to get full in Norwood than in Peterboro, and that too, after drinking Norwood tangle leg. To them that have shall be given.

SCALES OF GOLD

Mr. Sager Brings Wonderful Samples of Gold Ore to the City

Mr. S. Sager, President of the Big Dipper Mining Co., whose property is located in Frontenac County, with official headquarters on Water street, returned yesterday from a tour of inspection of the mine. On his arrival at the mine he found the employees were tamping the Yellow Jacket shaft, which is now down 44 feet, and there is plenty of free gold in the quartz at the bottom of the shaft. The iron and quartz are going down together. Mr. Sager brought with him some wonderfully rich samples of quartz, which shows scales of pure yellow gold through it in rich quantities. He would be pleased to have citizens who would like to see the really extraordinary sample of gold ore, call at the Water street office at any time.

Snow Plowing Contract

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—As a taxpayer, who was caused much inconvenience last winter through the four way in which snow was shovelled off my street, I was much interested at Thursday night's discussion over the snow contracts by members of the town council. I agree entirely with the suggestions made by Alderman Mason and consider his plan, by all means, the best way of having our pavements kept clean of snow. Every one in town knows that last year, when the snow plowing contracts were let by wards, and possibly sublet into divisions of wards, that the work was shirked in many cases; there being no financial penalty attached for not doing the work right, in many cases the snowplow would not be out after a heavy fall of snow until long after most of the citizens had gone to work.

By acting on Alderman Mason's suggestion, and giving the contract to one man, and holding him personally responsible the town would have their sidewalks kept clean, and have the work done early enough to let people who go to their stores or work early in the morning, get there with dry feet, and women with their dresses in fit shape to wear all day without risk of catching cold. By all means let the Council give the contract to one man and hold him responsible.

Yours truly,
Clerk.

COULD SWAMP BRITAIN WITH CANADIAN WHEAT

Three North-West Provinces Alone Could Produce Enough for Canadian Consumption and Have Three Times What England Requires Left Over.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Dr. Saunders, Director of Experimental Farms, when the Agriculture Department from Brandon that after seeing the large area of the North-West he must say the crops are immense and the possibilities of wheat-growing in Canada are very great. He adds that the figures given in his pamphlet on wheat-growing are well within the mark. That is to say that one-fourth of the land in Manitoba and the two new Provinces is suitable for cultivation, and that with a production equal to the average of Manitoba during the last ten seasons the total crop of the three Provinces would be over $12,000,000. This would be ample to supply the home demand for thirty millions of inhabitants and to satisfy the present need of Great Britain three times over. In this estimate no account is taken of Eastern Canada.

Dr. Saunders' conviction, therefore, based upon a sound judgment of the country's possibilities, is that in the early future we will produce grain enough to meet the home consumption, to provide Britain with all the wheat and flour she requires, leaving a surplus also for export to foreign countries.

COMMISSION RETURNS.

The Transcontinental Railway Commissioners returned at noon from Quebec. They say that satisfactory progress is being made in the negotiations for a union station in Winnipeg between the new road and the Canadian Northern.

A GREAT FUTURE AHEAD FOR CANADA

King Leopold Has High Opinion of This Country

GROWING BELGIAN TRADE

With Canada—Canadian Honored By the Belgian Monarch

London, Sept. 23.—Canada is accustomed to tributes from her own King. Mr. Sidney Humphries, president of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, reports a handsome recognition from the King of the Belgians. Mr. Humphries was recently presented to King Leopold. "Ah," said His Majesty, "that is a great dock you are building at Bristol. You have an eye upon Canada. You are very wise. The development of that country is bound to be a feature of the century."

Bristol is making great efforts to develop Canadian trade in connection with the new King Edward dock. Yesterday the Bristol Chamber of merchants and importers honored Canada by entertaining Mr. Ruddick, the Canadian dairy commissioner, at a luncheon. It was an important function likely to materially develop Anglo-Canadian relations. Speeches were made by Mr. Ruddick and Mr. Griffith, secretary of the Canadian Government here, who explained the momentous consequences to Canada and the Empire of the bonanza wheat crop in the west, ensuring progress comparable to the phenomenal growth of the Western States. These speeches form the best answer to Professor Mavor's recent British bluebook which is interpreted here as tending to belittle the Northwest's prospects.

GIRLS AS STRIKE BREAKERS

The Chicago Typotheta Want Women to Fight the Printers

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 23.—The experiments in the shops of the Chicago Typotetae since the printer's strike began promise a new field of industry for girl stenographers. From the typewriter key board to that of a big typesetting machine, the employers say, is only a short remove. So successful have the young women proved as "operators" in the large printing shops, that the proprietors are seeking for more of them.

The Typotheae yesterday decided to advertise for a hundred girls for machine work to take the places of the striking printers. At present 25 girls are acting as strike breakers.

SEND YOUR DELEGATES

To Ontario Christian Endeavor Convention in Belleville

Rev. J. G. Potter is anxious that Endeavor Societies, Epworth Leagues, Baptist Young Peoples' Unions, and Young Peoples' Guilds, should send delegates from each society to the Ontario convention, which is to be held on the 10th, 11th and 12th of October in Bridge street Methodist church, Belleville.

If 300 delegates attend the convention all the railways will provide single fare for return trip.

A good program has been arranged.

All delegates should be appointed by next Monday evening.

Peterboro Man in Port Hope Y. M. C. A

The Port Hope Guide says: Members of the Y.M.C.A. will learn with much pleasure that the Association has been successful in securing the services of Mr. W. S. Maguire, of Peterboro as physical instructor for this season. Mr. Maguire was in charge of this department here two years ago and in addition to being a clever instructor he was a general favorite with the boys. He has since that time completed a year's special work under Mr. Crocker of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, and his work this year will prove of great benefit to all taking part.

FRIENDSHIP FOR UNITED STATES

Attitude of American People Has Greatly Impressed the Czar and Country

THE NEW RUSSIAN POLICY

Reform Scheme Continually Being Enlarged and Causes of Revolution Removed

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—The American attitude towards Russia has deeply impressed the Czar and the people. Hereafter the prominent feature of Russia's foreign policy will be friendship for the United States. A subsidized steamship company is soon to establish direct service between Libau and New York. While not abandoning its far eastern interests Russia will continue its traditional attitude of supporter of the Southern Slavs and will resume its active policy in the Balkans and Asia Minor, where, during the Manchurian adventure Germany has annihilated [illegible] now in Manchuria will be sent to await eventualities on the Austro-Hungarian frontier.

The chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, of the Council of the Empire, said to-day to your correspondent;

"The outbreaks in the border provinces of the Caucasus, Finland and Kurland, are the last outbursts of a passing thunderstorm. The treaty of Portsmouth has stopped the bloodshed in the Far East, and brought peace at home. The causes of revolution are removed. Religious freedom, academic autonomy, and national representation have already been granted, and other benefits are in progress of elaboration. The reform scheme is continually being enlarged and perfected. Eventually it will crumb the attempts of separatists and anarchists which are fomented by foreigners."

SCHOOL BOYS' STRIKE

Unclean State of School Lavatories is Resented

The Central School boys yesterday morning organized a strike and throwing down their books and scribblers, walked out shortly before 9 o'clock. Their grievance was neither recreation or pay or a demand for shorter hours, but simply that their olfactory senses could not stand the stench arising from the school lavatories. The walk out, not being endorsed, or likely to be joined, by a sympathetic strike, unless by sundry shinglers and slippers, of their parental relatives, the boys will be considered and dealt with as truants, should the strike not be called off at once.

A meeting of the Supervision Committee of the School Board was held yesterday afternoon. The Board is indignant and will not stand for the boys resorting to mob rule. Such action was uncalled for and the boys' grievance has lost considerable weight. The Board will simply put its foot down and if the boys do not want to attend school, well and good, but conduct such as they displayed yesterday morning will not be tolerated.

This matter of the loud smelling and filthy conditions existing in the lavatories is largely the fruit of some boys without any sense of decency or common sense. The lavatories will be cleaned and strict justice will be meted out to any boy thereafter who gives any cause for complaint in this connection.

FORMAL OPENING

Peterboro's Great Fair Will Open at One O'clock Tuesday

It is now beyond possibility that Hon. N. Monteith, Ontario Minister of Agricultural, will open our Fair on Tuesday, as suggested, and requested at the Conservative Club's great picnic last summer, as he has important [illegible] that will prevent his coming. It is also unlikely that Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, will combine his proposed inspection of the Trent Valley Canal, with opening the Fair, as he will be delayed by business in the Maritime Provinces.

President D. Hughes-Charles of the exhibition stated yesterday that he had decided that the usual opening exercises would take place on Tuesday afternoon next. Addresses will be delivered by R. B. Hall, M.P., Mr. T.K. Bradburn, M.P.P., and others. The official program will be ready for distribution to-day.

Death of Mr. Jas. Fanning, Smith

Mr. Jas. Fanning who resided near Selwyn, township of Smith, died this week at the venerable age of 84 years. A devout member of the Roman Catholic faith, he was respected far and near by all who knew him during the 48 years of his residence in that locality. The funeral took place on Wednesday. Rev. Father Phalan, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick preached the funeral sermon.

A jolly lot of d—— may care employes of Uncle Sam's Government, from Rochester, who are spending a week or two at Corker's Hotel, Harwood, came to the city Thursday, and showed the Pirates how to play ball. The local team, which to do them justice was not complete, played a losing game with the visitors at Riverside Park, and lost by a score of 5 to 1. The Rochester civil servants, speak very highly of Rice Lake, having had excellent fishing

MORE PROTECTIONIST THAN STATES

So Canada is Described by a Special English Correspondent Here

London, Sept. 22.—In Colonial Secretary Lyttelton's reply to the Canadian Senate's resolution on the cattle embargo he referred to the enormous losses the British agriculturist had suffered, mainly by reason of the increased pressure of colonial and foreign competition. The [illegible] ing, says the spirit animating this clumsy paragraph is unmistakable. Canadian store cattle are severe competitors, so they are kept out of our markets by being assumed to be diseased. We fear we can rather plausibly ask Mr. Lyttelton why he should show them the steep and thorny path to the consolidation of the Empire, while those are the ways of the agricultural preferentialist in England.

STATEMENT IS UNCHALLENGED.

In summarizing a series of special articles from its special correspondent in Canada, the Commercial Intelligence says: "Our correspondent's statement that Canada is more protectionist to-day than the United States has passed without question, and we are inclined to think that unless this is clearly recognized by our importers it will be absolutely impossible to turn to advantage the very important opportunity of improving our trade relations with the Dominion, represented by the newly opened tariff enquiry."

MILLIONS FOR NEW CARS

C.P.R. Order 90 Passenger Coaches' 3,000 Freight Cars and 25 Parlor and Dining Cars

Montreal, Sept. 23.—The C.P.R. just issued this morning one of the largest orders for rolling stock ever given by any railway. It is for cars only, and calls for an expenditure of three million dollars. The order is for twenty-five parlor, sleeping and dining cars, ninety passenger coaches of different classes, and three thousand freight cars of all descriptions. Every one of these cars will be built at the company's Angus shops here.

This order does not include the order for twenty-five locomotives now being built also at the Angus shops. Fifty locomotives were delivered to the company from various sources a short time ago, so that the C.P.R. would be in a position to handle without trouble the fall rush of traffic.

A NEW LANDSLIDE

Steam Shovel Carried Down a Forty-foot Embankment

Goderich, Ont., Sept. 23.—A landslide on the Guelph and Goderich construction work occurred at four o'clock this morning, and a steam shovel, weighing sixty tons, was carried down the bank and partly into the river. The shovel had been operating alongside an almost perpendicular clay bank some forty feet high. This is the second slide this week, one having occurred on Monday.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Emma Daigle of Moncton N B., Sends an Open Letter to All Sufferers.

Most women are tired when they wake up. Housework drags along with great difficulty. Nervousness is always present, headaches seldom depart, tears are ever ready to flow.

But there is a cure, a true specific for women's ills that restored a prominent lady in Moncton, Mrs. Daigle, who tells the following experience:

"About a year ago I had a serious sickness, sort of a general breakdown. My digestion failed entirely and I was able to eat but very little. I took violent stomach pains and suffered terribly from headaches. My doctor said it was "nerve exhaustion" and I might never be well. My troubles increased, for as I grew weaker I became subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. Sleep finally forsook me and I almost lost heart. Different medicines didn't help. Doctor couldn't do me any good. I was desperate when I heard of Ferrozone. The first box convinced me it was just what I needed. It toned up my stomach, gave me an splendid appetite and then my recovery seemed easier. Ferrozone increased my weight several pounds, has restored my nerves, given me a good color and strength such as I never had before. For the weak and sickly I can truthfully recommend Ferrozone." (Signed) Emma Daigle.

REMEMBER: No mere stimulant or alcoholic concoction can take the place of the nerve and blood nourishment contained in Ferrozone. This true tonic always does what is claimed for it. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

THE COUNTY COUNCILS.

The Ontario Government proposes to re-establish the county council in pretty much its old form. Under the old plan, the man who was ambitious to be warden of his county had to begin by serving as a councillor in his township. If he possessed ability his township secured the benefit of his services, and gradually he worked his way upward until, perhaps, he reached the warden's chair. By that time, and having reached that post by traversing a long path, he was familiar with municipal business from top to bottom, and all his capacities for usefulness were fully developed.

Under the plan of specially electing the county councillors, a short experience showed that ere long these men would be entirely chosen from the ranks of those who had had no experience in the smaller municipal fields. The quality of the township councils would deteriorate, because leading men would look higher; nor would county councils improve; for their members would not be intimate with the affairs of the municipalities they were elected to represent.

Hon. Nelson Monteith hopes that the old form of county council will be restored, but with a reduced membership. The Star thinks he will find this a difficult matter to arrange. Townships vary in extent, population, and value of assessable property. Under the old plan one township would be represented in the County Council by a reeve, while another would be represented by a reeve and three or four deputy reeves. This was a just arrangement, because the representation was proportioned to the tax-paying for county purposes of the two municipalities. In re-establishing the system, it will still be necessary to give the back township one representative, however small its total assessment will be, and the township with four times as much liability for county expenditures will demand four times as much voice in directing the outlay.

Perhaps the old county councils were never too large, if they had not called attention to themselves by the folly of spending two, three and four days sometimes in the preliminary task of electing a warden. It was this absurdity, more than anything else, that created the demand for reform. Some method of avoiding any such deadlock may be devised.

Entertaining Newspaper Features.

Probably no other newspaper in the United States can show so brilliant an array of special features as is found in the columns of the Chicago Record-Herald.

The daily and Sunday news and special features of the Chicago Record-Herald include the letters of William E. Curtis and Walter Wellman. The Record-Herald's special New York dispatches, its unparalleled foreign news service, embracing its own special cables with those of the New York World and the Associated Press; its pages devoted to the markets and financial and commercial intelligence—relatively to the most satisfactory degree—its popular sporting page, its extended editorial department, Kleer's humorous "Alternating Currents," "Stories of the Day," the departments of railroad and insurance news, music and drama, society and clubs, the column of book reviews, the continued story, the "Woman Beautiful" department, the daily fashion article, "Meals for a Day," news of the great lakes, etc.—all uniting to furnish to the people of Chicago and the Northwest a newspaper which commends itself to discriminating readers as only a newspaper which combines the world-wide facilities of the greatest metropolitan newspapers of modern times.

NO CONCESSION FOR CANADIANS

British Government Will not Relax Cattle Embargo

London, Sept. 22.—Replying to a copy of the Senate resolution sent by the Governor-General regarding the cattle embargo, the Home Government, through the Board of Agriculture, refuse to take steps towards removing it.

In a long memorandum they state that the slaughter of cattle at the port of debarkation is no obstacle to the development and maintenance of a large and valuable trade. Existing regulations do not slur Canadian cattle, as it is enforced against all the British colonies, together with the United States.

The memorandum emphasizes the disastrous effect the introduction of disease would have on the consumers and producers of Great Britain, past experiences with Argentina and the United States showing how quickly foot and mouth disease may make it appearance despite efficient sanitary organization.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

The Birmingham Post says, "The decision will be unpalatable to the Dominion, but there is compensation in the relief it will afford the stock owners at home. It is doubtful whether Canada has anything more than a sentimental grievance. Prohibition is a well-advised precautionary measure against the introduction of cattle disease into this country."

Referring to a paragraph in the memorandum of the Board of Agriculture in which stress is laid on the losses of British agriculturists in the last thirty years mainly by reason of the increasing pressure of colonial and foreign competition the Westminster Gazette says, "If we say to Canada 'we dare not take the risk of admitting your cattle, well and good; but if we add 'especially as you are such formidable agricultural competitors' the protectionist motive is at once clear though not definitely avowed as such."

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

Portland
Exposition

Now open for the summer. Interesting because it demonstrates the progress made by that wonderful country—the Pacific Northwest. Interesting, too, because it affords a chance to see, cheaply and satisfactorily, the many places of interest in our Western States.

Go via Rock Island System and stop off in Colorado—visit Salt Lake City—Yellowstone National Park—and California. Round-trip rate from Chicago $56.50; from St. Louis $52.50, going and returning direct; slightly more to go via California in one direction. Cheap rates for side rides to every nearby point of attraction. Very low to Alaska also.

The Rock Island has three routes—through New Mexico, through Colorado or via St. Paul and Minneapolis.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. He wrote them and got the New Method Treatment for me. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares at Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable

Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their aim to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications on all three of location work at the present time, however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

voice was broken by hysterical sobs. "He came from that side. I was putting my hair right when I thought I heard a rustle; I turned and found a dreadful figure in a cloak, a large hat and a mask close to me. Before I could draw a breath or scream, he seized me and smothered my face with something. I tried to push him away, for I felt I was losing my senses, as if I should die; then I knew no more till I saw dear Lady Dorrington. Oh! I shall never feel safe again."

"Great heavens! while we were hesitating about that locked door, the scoundrel made his escape! Why, I could scarcely have been ten minutes away. Can you ever forgive me for leaving you?" cried Marsden with emotion.

"Can you walk, or shall we carry you upstairs?" asked the doctor.

"I would rather walk," replied Mrs. Ruthven, who was still shivering and trembling.

"Get a shawl or something to wrap round her, Clifford," said his sister. Marsden went quickly to the cloak-room and returned with a wrap. Mrs. Ruthven gave him a look of tender recognition, and Lady Dorrington passing her arm round her, the doctor assisting at the other side, she managed to reach her own room, murmuring entreaties that she should not be left alone as she went.

CHAPTER IV.

During this disturbance, of which few were aware, Captain Shirley was neither in the dancing or the refreshment-rooms; but soon after, strolling through the hall, he encountered Lord Dorrington.

"Well," said that genial peer, "I hope Mrs. Ruthven is all right again." He took it for granted that Shirley, her particular friend, knew of her indisposition, and had no idea himself that it had been anything more than an attack of faintness, due to heat and, possibly, tight-lacing.

"Has Mrs. Ruthven been ill?" exclaimed Shirley. "I was not aware. Where is she?"

"Oh, very likely in the ball-room by this time. Lady Dorrington was sent for, and I was told to say nothing about it."

"This is most extraordinary," said Shirley, who was apparently much, even painfully, surprised. His small, black eyes glittered eagerly, and he pressed his white teeth on his lower lip. "I have been outside at the door smoking a cigarette; the rooms are overpoweringly hot. I must ascertain how she is. I never saw her look better than this evening."

"Here is Marsden," returned Lord Dorrington. "He will tell us all about her. How is Mrs. Ruthven? Here is Captain Shirley anxious for tidings."

"A little better, calmer, I hope," said Marsden who looked pale and anxious himself. "Lady Dorrington and the doctor are with her," then, lowering his voice, he added, "It has been a fearful affair altogether. Come into the library. I don't want a row made about it now."

As soon as they had closed the door of the library, where Winton awaited them, Marsden rapidly related the extraordinary robbery which had taken place, to the surprise and dismay of the listeners.

"By George!" cried Lord Dorrington, "I never heard of such daring villainy! What's to be done?"

"Her jewels all gone!" cried Shirley. "Why, they must be worth sixty or seventy thousand, at least. This is a deep-laid scheme, she has been dogged by some of the swell-mob."

"But how did they know of her jewels?" asked Winton.

"She had them looked at or valued for some reason when she was in Paris on her way home," said Shirley; "very foolish of her, but she told me so."

"Ha! I thought you might give us some hint from your more intimate acquaintance with Mrs Ruthven, any assistance you can give."

"Is entirely at your service," returned Shirley, drawing a long breath.

Here Dr. Weldon entered, and without speaking sat down to the writing-table, and proceeded to write rapidly. Winton, in a low tone, described the position of the opening cut in the side of the tent.

"Will you dispatch one of your grooms with this prescription to my assistant, Mr. Marsden?" said the doctor, without looking up. "Mrs. Ruthven will hardly get any sleep without a composing draught."

"Certainly, doctor. I have already ordered a horse to be saddled, as I shall send a report of this extraordinary occurrence to the head of the police at Oldbridge. The local men must have the mangling of the matter in the first instance. I will write a brief message, and then we will examine the terrace and grounds."

"Where, I fear, we'll find but little," said Winton.

"Given a quarter of an hour's start, and it will be almost impossible to catch the ruffian," observed Shirley.

"The only chance is that some accomplice may split. A thundering big reward is the thing," said Lord Dorrington.

"On such a night, with numbers of people going about, any stranger would pass unnoticed," returned Shirley.

The entrance of the butler interrupted.

"The man and horse are ready, sir."

"Wait," said Marsden.

"There is my note," added Dr. Weldon. "Tell your messenger to keep ringing the night-bell till some one comes. He knows my house?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

Then Marsden rose and gave full directions as to giving his missive into the hands of the inspector at Oldbridge.

"Who are you sending?"

"Tom Harris, sir, on Brown Robin."

"Good. Tell him to ride like the devil; then bring me a lantern in the conservatory. Quick. We will see if there are any tracks."

"It is almost incredible that in such a place, with crowds of people at hand, such an outrage could have been committed," said Shirley, who seemed dazed by his astonishment and concern.

"It is done, however, and very effectually. I am utterly confounded! It seems a sort of personal disgrace that such an outrage should have been perpetrated on a guest at Eversleigh."

"Come on," said Winton impatiently.

"Dorrington," said his host, pausing, "I wish you would take Lady Blankford into supper and keep the people going if the truth is known there

A Practical Argument

In another part of this issue appears a letter over the title "Clerk" which seems to us to contain good sound sense. We agree entirely with our correspondent's complaint of the inefficiency with which the snow was handled last winter. The contracts as let last year, held no one really accountable for skimping the work or not performing the duties in short at a proper time. By taking Ald. Mason's advice, and letting contracts for the whole city to one man, who should be placed under bonds for the proper carrying out of the agreement, our pavements would be kept in proper condition.

The motor car which was in the service of Mr. Justice Falconbridge, Mr. Justice Anglin and Mr. R. S. Cassels of Toronto, en route to Hastings from Cobourg for a fishing trip. The car which had been smashed by a series of accidents, was on a trial trip to see if in proper condition, in charge of the chauffeur, when it met Miss Breckenridge in her buggy. The car was not quite manageable and the excitement made Miss Breckenridge's horse run away. The unfortunate lady's injuries consist of a broken collar bone, several deep cuts in the face, hair and to be severe and a general bruising, coupled with a bad nervous shock. She was given immediate medical attention, and last night was reported as doing fairly well, but suffering much from the nervous strain.

Night School at the Business College every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7:30 to 9:30.

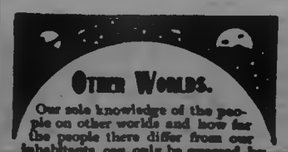
KASHABOGAMOG ORE

Dr. J. Holdcroft Discovers Valuable Deposit of Molybdenite

The Lakefield News is authority for saying;

"During a recent visit at his cottage at Kashabogamog Lake, Dr. Joseph Holdcroft, discovered a deposit of molybdenite, a valuable mineral used mainly for hardening steel and very scarce. Dr. Holdcroft has applied for mineral rights on the lots and surrounding the scene of the find, and when he has secured them, development will at once proceed in order to obtain an estimate of the value and probable quantity of the metal. The samples the doctor has on exhibition are very pure indeed. They were obtained on the surface out-cropping, being picked out of the vein with a jack-knife. They occur as aggregates of minute scales, about the size of fish scales, metallic in lustre, and lead-grey in color, leaving a grey trace on paper. Molybdenite is composed of sulphur, 41.0, and molybdenite 59.0.



OTHER WORLDS.

Our sole knowledge of the people on other worlds and how far the people there differ from our inhabitants, can only be guessed by comparison with animal nature on this small sphere of ours. More important to us is a knowledge of ourselves. "KNOW THYSELF" was an old Greek thought. How to take care of one's own body is not so simple as some think; the human mechanism is a wonderful thing and requires watching.

One man who has done more to teach the American people how to care for their bodies than almost any other, is Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., the Author of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser." He says: It is not the quantity of the food taken which produces strength and health (for some people can keep strong on a very meagre diet), but it is how much food is absorbed and assimilated by the blood and carried to nourish every organ of the body. It is, therefore, vitally necessary for the body that the stomach be in a healthy state. If disease of the stomach, or what is called "stomach trouble," prevents proper nutrition then the heart, liver, lungs, and kidneys do not get proper food—they are not fed on rich red blood, and in consequence, begin to show signs of disease. Outwardly these signs may be pimples and eruptions on skin, pale face, sleepless nights, tired, languid feelings, or, by reason of the nerves not being fed on pure blood, they become starved, and we receive a shock owing to the pain we call neuralgia. Rheumatism, too, is a blood disease. After years of practice and study Dr. Pierce found that an Alterative Extract, which he named "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," made from the extracts of several plants, invariably produced a tonic effect upon the system. It helped the process of absorption of the healthy elements in the food and increased the red corpuscles of the blood, as well as eliminated the poisons from the system.

Business is business. No time for humbug. Explanation comes there. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure sick headache by curing the cause. Little sugar coated granules.

Married Many and Swindled Them

English Bluebeard Skillfully Deceived Women Deserted Them After Taking Their Money.

London, Sept. 25.—Great Britain like the United States, has its Geo. Witzkoff, the man charged with marrying, robbing, and deserting many wives, and who is said to have formed a syndicate for the purpose of carrying out his matrimonial plans. Witzkoff appears to have been only imitating a famous English criminal now serving a long sentense for his heartless crimes. Having numerous aliases, this English man is known to the police merely by his Christian name "Joseph" or "Joe."

CORPS OF ASSISTANTS.

"Joseph," said the detective sergeant who last arrested him, "had his own syndicate or corps of assistants with whom he divided his plunder. One always acted as introducer, inserting matrimonial advertisements and posing as a legitimate matrimonial agent. The second was the best man, who told confidential stories of Joseph's wonderful prospects and arranged, if necessary, all the details of a secret marriage, and the third, perhaps the cleverest of the lot, played the part of Joseph's angry father.

"It was the business of the angry wealthy girls and obtaining possession of thousands of dollars."

"father" to appear on the scene as passion of thousands of dollars."

SERVED SEVERAL TERMS.

"While they were waiting for the income 'Joe' nearly always managed to realize upon his wife's property and abandon her. How many women he really deceived and married we really cannot say. We do know that he has served several terms for his crimes, and that his convictions have been based on investigations into dozens of cases. In some cases he succeeded in marrying wealthy girls and obtaining possession soon as the marriage was completed and the pair were leaving the church surrounded by their friends. Catching sight of 'Joe' and his bride the old man would hobble up—he was always on the point of dying—and shaking his fist would say, 'you villian!' So this is where you are, eh! Getting married! Not one single penny of my money shall you ever have.'

"To prevent further scene the best man at this point would drag the old man away to a hotel. Returning later to the wedding party the best man would picture the rage of the elderly father and his efforts to pacify him, winding up with the assurance that in a little while the old man would come around all right with the parental blessing and a handsome income for 'Joe.'

SAYS HOME RULE STILL AN ISSUE

W. H. K. Redmond to Address Mass Meeting of Irishmen in New York

FEAR THE UNITED STATES

Britain Will Give Ireland up For Sake of Peace with Uncle Sam

New York, Sept. 25. — Arrangements are being perfected for the mass meeting of Irishmen at Carnegie Hall on Sunday night, at which Mr. W. H. K. Redmond will speak. When seen to-day at the Hoffman House, Mr. Redmond said;

"It is a mistake for Americans to believe that there is no Irish question. There is an Irish question, and there will be, one as long as the Irish people maintain the right to make their own laws. The Land Act and other concessions, while acceptable in their way, only make the Irish people more determined in their fight for Home Rule.

"Ireland should have full charge of her internal affairs, and the ability of the people to legislate for themselves, is amply shown in their management of county affairs in councils. It is only a short time, I am confident, until a full measure of home rule is granted. Meanwhile any attempt to reduce Irish representation in the Imperial Parliament will be stubbornly resisted, but I do not think there is any likelihood of an issue being forced.

"England is so anxious to secure the good will of the United States that I think she will be very glad to grant Home Rule, as a means of conciliating those of the Irish race in this country."

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CROPS

Mr. F. W. Thompson Sends Good News From the West Thereon.

Montreal, Sept. 25. — Mr. F. W. Thompson, vice-president of the Ogilvie Milling Company, who is now in the Canadian West, waxes enthusiastic over the present wheat crop.

Mr. Thompson, who is now in Winnipeg, in a telegram to James Carruthers and Company, of Montreal, says: "Have just returned from covering several hundred miles of the crop district. I never saw anything like it in this country before. The average yield and quality far exceeds our earlier expectations. It is an immense crop. The weather extremely favorable."

Up to three weeks ago it was Mr. Thompson's opinion that the crop would not reach general expectations, which opinion has been reversed through his present tour through the west.

Both Legs Taken off.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 25. — William Robertson, an employe of the Dominion Steel Company, was run over by a locomotive at the steel plant at Sydney, and had both his legs severed at the thigh, and his skull fractured. It is not probable that he will recover.

AN IMMENSE CROP OF FINE QUALITY

Western Harvest Yield Surprises a Grain Pessimist.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—Mr. F. W. Thomson, vice-president of the Ogilvie Milling Co., who is now making a tour through the Western wheat belt, has apparently altered his former opinion regarding the wheat crop. Up to some three weeks ago Mr. Thomson gave it as his opinion that the crop would not reach the published estimates. Communicating with James Carruthers & Company from Winnipeg, he now says: "Have just returned from covering several hundred miles of the crop district. I never saw anything like it in this country before. The average yield and quality far exceeds our earlier expectations. It is an immense crop. The weather is extremely favorable."

CURE OF POKER HABIT

HOW A PETERBORO CITIZEN WAS OUTGENERALLED.

A Rubidge Street Lady Gives Her Husband a Bad Scare which will End His Late Hours Around The Poker Table.

A young married lady living on Rubidge street, whose name we will call Smith, because that is incorrect, has established a modus operandi that may be of use to her sisters in the matrimonial world of Peterboro, whose husbands are fond of the seductive and expensive game of draw poker with its incidental late hours.

When the husband no longer spends his evenings at home and in other ways fails short of the marital ideal, Mrs. Smith's plan is for the wife to hide in the garret until he thinks she has left him or is drowned, and then, at the psychological moment, when he is filled with remorse, appear and exact promises for the future.

UNABLE TO FIND HIS WIFE.

Mrs. Smith's husband, last Friday morning, in the wee sma' hours, rung up the telephone, or banged at the doors of his numerous friends and acquaintances throughout the city, saying he had reached home a little late—12.45 a.m.—and had found that his wife had left her residence early in the evening and could not be found. She had gone part way home with a friend, he said, and had not returned.

One lady friend of both husband and wife, when called out of bed by the alarmed Smith, told him, his wife had spent an hour or two with her Thursday evening, but had left her home about 10.30 p.m., saying she was going to Hunter street on business. Several of Smith's friends helped him in his search, but without result. Not wanting to create a scandal, Smith refrained, until, as a last resort to apply to the police.

About seven in the morning Smith, accompanied by two friends, who had helped him in his long search, went to the Rubidge street residence, and found the lost wife preparing breakfast, but she kept her husband at arm's length with a toasting fork when he rushed toward her to embrace her. She said he had been staying out late, and that she, in desperation, had resorted to hiding all night in the attic. She had fixed up a cot there and had slept as well as her perturbed feelings would allow.

"Maybe you know what it is to have your husband spend his evenings away from home," she said. "Maybe you know what it is to sit and the night waiting and watching all alone."

Mr. Smith allowed that he did not know all this, but his wife was still cool.

"You don't come near me," she said, "until you promise to stay home in the evenings in the future."

He promised.

MURDER MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Dismembered Trunk of Girl in Dress Suit Case Found Floating in Harbor.

NO CLUE TO INDENTITY

Head Severed From Body and Has Not Yet Been Found By Searchers.

Boston, Sept. 25.—The most extraordinary some murder mystery with which the Boston police have ever had to deal with was revealed on finding, floating in the waters of the harbor, just off the club house of the fashionable Winthrop Yacht Club, a dress suit case containing the dismembered body of a young woman, apparently about twenty years old. The head, arms and limbs have been severed and the head was missing.

The body was found at a point where steamboats and sailing craft from New York and other points pass while entering Boston harbor.

There is not the slightest clue to the identity of the girl, but a prominent merchant of this city, when hearing of the case, told the police that his daughter, who is the age of the murdered girl, has been missing from her home two days. The police are searching for other parts of the body along the shore of Winthrop, Shirly Point and the islands of the harbor.

Wrapped about the young woman's body was a piece of ordinary table oilcloth. There is no marks on the body whereby it can be identified.

The crime was less than twenty-four hours old when it was discovered. That is the opinion of Dr. Frank Harris, medical examiner, who saw it a few hours after it was taken from the water. The autopsy was held today. In a brief examination, Dr. Harris saw enough to convince him that it was not the work of medical students. The head had been severed by repeated hacks with a knife, and the arms and legs had been removed in the same manner. Extending from the centre of the breast straight down through the body, was a ragged cut, that showed an effort had been made to further destroy the body.

Four officers went to-day to the office of a physician on Howard street, in the west end, where nearly half an hour was spent in a search of the premises. The person whom the police desired to interview, was, it is understood, absent from the house.

A UNIQUE EXHIBIT

1,000 Badges, Ranging From Liquor Dealers to Prohibition.

Mr. M. C. Tooley will exhibit, at our great fall Fair, a collection of badges that have taken him many years to collect. These badges range from beautiful and artistic silken and gold affairs to paper race cards, and will doubtless attract much attention from thousands of visitors. Mr. Tooley has had a show case manufactured, specially, for showing his curios and beautiful collection at the fair. It is of quartered oak 8x4 feet. The case is divided into four compartments, each covered with a plate glass lid, having a bronze catch and lock to secure his valued badges. The badges will be attached to a black velvet back, by pins or other means of securing them. The collection, numbering from 800 to 1,000, represent all kinds of societies, from a Total Abstinence, Masonic, clubs of all kinds, to those of a National Democratic Convention, and cover the outings, fairs, excursions, and all kinds of events during many years. The collection includes also some rare tickets, among the latter being an orchestra chair coupon of the Iroquois Theatre, issued and dated on the day of that most disastrous fire when hundreds of people were killed; this ticket was found on the remains of one of the victims. This collection, when displayed in the case mentioned, will attract much attention. Mr. Tooley, on Saturday, had two girls engaged at the Queen's Hotel, ironing and pinning the badges to the velvet back.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Death of Mr. Wm. Jacobs for 25 Years Constant Visitor Here.

The Montreal Star, of September 21st, contains a portrait and obituary notice of a gentleman who, for the past quarter of a century, has regularly, two or three times a year, registered at the Snowden House, Mr. William Jacobs. The Star says: "The death occurred last evening of Montreal's oldest Jewish citizen, in the person of Mr. William Jacobs. Mr. Jacobs was born in 1816 in Poland, and came to Canada 40 years ago." Twenty-five years ago he moved from Glengarry County to Montreal, where he carried on a very extensive business in horses. He was closely connected with Baron Hirsch in philanthropic work, both for Jewish and Christian people. Mr. Jacobs was a member of McGill College avenue synagogue. His death was due to heart trouble. The funeral took place on Friday to Shaar Hashomayim cemetery, Mount Royal.

Mr. Jacobs leaves a widow and nine children, of whom, two sons, Joseph, of London, Eng., and Jacob, of Montreal, both prominent horse dealers, often come to, and are well known in, this city.

COMMONS WILL BE DELAYED

House Won't Meet Until February Owing to Work of the Tariff Commission

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—The impression your correspondent gathers in the most reliable quarters is that it will scarcely be possible to call Parliament together earlier than February on account of the time that will be consumed in the Tariff Commission's tour of inquiry, and the subsequent deliberations of the Cabinet, before the tariff revision is ready for announcement for Parliament.

COURTNEY'S RETIREMENT.

The Ottawa Citizen (Conservative) announced Saturday morning the retirement of J. M. Courtney, the Deputy Minister of Finance, which, upon inquiry of that gentleman, turns out to be quite premature. Mr. Courtney signified some time ago his intention of going out, but will probably not do so until he has superintended the preparation and issue of the report on Canadian public accounts for the last fiscal year. Mr. Courtney has been 36 years in public service and 27 years in the responsible position he now holds. He has to serve, however, until October of 1906 in order to claim the maximum superannuation to which he is entitled by the recent increase in the Deputy Ministers' salaries. What the Government will probably do is to grant Mr. Courtney leave of absence this fall or winter and to date his superannuation from October of next year.

The Citizen announces the selection of T. C. Boiville, one of the Finance Department, as Mr. Courtney's successor, which is also, it appears, premature. Mr. Boville's however, in one of those that will undoubtedly be considered when the appointment is made.

FLOCK TO SOUTH AMERICA

Many Spanish Families Abandoning Their Homes and Farms.

Madrid, Sept. 25.—Despatches from the famine districts of Andalusia say that entire trains of emigrants are leaving to embark for South America. Many families are abandoning their homes and farms. Some villages in Galicia have been totally deserted, through despair of receiving the promised relief. The steamship companies announce that fifteen steamers loaded with emigrants will leave Andalusian ports in October. The press is urging the government to adopt energetic measures against wholesale emigration to America.

MR. A. C. McCOLLUM GONE

Well Known Here, Dies in California of Tuberculosis.

City Treasurer Brownscombe, Saturday afternoon received a telegram announcing the death in Pasadena, Cal., of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. C. McCollum. No particulars are given. Mr. McCollum, who spent a month in Peterboro last summer, left on Aug. 22, with his wife and two daughters for California, he having been troubled with a pulmonary affection. The late Mr. McCollum was about forty years of age, and, for some 20 years was in the employ of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company. Recently he took a position with the Canada Foundry Company, Toronto, but had to leave on account of failing health. Deceased was in affiliation with St. Paul's church, a member of the Masonic Order, Peterboro Lodge, No. 155, and also a member of Court Peterboro, Canadian Order of Foresters, and was well worthy of the high respect he enjoyed in Peterboro.

No intimation has yet been received as to funeral arrangements.

GENERAL SPORTING GOSSIP

THE TURF—BASEBALL—LACROSSE—FOOTBALL

LACROSSE.

Barber and Maundrell of the Beaverton team, on Friday night, were expelled for life from the C.L.A. by the Judiciary Committee. That seems like stiff punishment, but it will have a healthy effect in purifying the atmosphere of the lacrosse world. There have been too many instances of rough play on lacrosse fields during the present season, and the expulsion for life of two such rowdy players shows that the Judicial Committee knows just the dose that's needed.

• • • •

At Montreal the Shamrocks defeated the St. Catharines team by a score of 9 to 1, thereby winning the Minto Cup.

• • • •

• • • •

The Toronto Star in an article on available material for senior lacrosse teams, expresses an opinion that the senior management need not go outside the C.L.A. for material for first-class players. Among a long list of noted players of the various towns and cities from which good players could be procured, are Messrs. W. Cavanagh, H. Morgan and E. Dillon, Peterboro.

BASEBALL.

The Toronto Star says: One of the best pipe baseball stories of the season comes from Peterboro. The Peterboro team, by the way, is tied with Cobourg for the championship of the Midland League, and the teams play off at Port Hope to-day. But to get to the story. All of Peterboro's home games are played at a point adjacent to the Otonabee River. A heavy hitter once in a while knocks the ball over the fence into the drink, and one would naturally suppose that that was the end of the globule. But such is not the case. A little spaniel has been trained to swim out after the ball and bring it back. It is reported that on more than one occasion home runs have been cut off in the bewilderment of the visiting team, which was unaware that his cantineship was the main factor in the play.

• • • •

Peterboro's hopes for the Midland League championship are dead and buried; not only dead and gone, but laid away without even a good right-to-the-end dash being waged to save them. On Saturday morning great confidence was felt by local sports as to Peterboro's wearing the laurels of victory, but in place of laurels the home team wore crape on their return.

Some 238 local rooters took the special train for Port Hope, to cheer on and afterwards congratulate the Pirates over their expected victory. It might be mentioned that several good fat rolls of Peterboro's long green travelled south on the special train, and, owing partly to approaching cold weather, failed to return.

The game, witnessed by one of the largest audiences ever gathered for such a purpose in Port Hope, was any one's game until the fatal 7th, when seven runs were scored by Cobourg and two more in the last two. Quinlan pitched to the end of the seventh innings, when Douglas went in the box, but too late to save the game.

The game resulted in favor of Cobourg by 10—9. Perhaps the result is a bad enough roast for the Pirates without venturing to give the probable whys and hows, of this disastrous wind-up of the season.

THE TURF.

Owing to the trip taken by Messrs. Arthur Rountree, R. J. Munro and other horsemen to the Lindsay Fair, in interests of our great show beginning to-day, several prominent horsemen have already entered their juniors for our races of this week. Mr. Geo. Powell will bring their horses, including "Little Johnny;" Mr. Sam Hallett will bring Joe Allen and possibly another horse; Mr. Sid Passmore will bring his mare "Minnie Kenwick" and Mr. W. Robertson is already here with "John R. Gentry." Mr. Ira Nattress will also bring one or two swift ones. Mr. Geo. Curtis and Wm. Leach, prominent horse men will assuredly take in the races.

C.P.R. to Aid Industries In The West

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Promises to Do Everything Possible to Develop the Country

Rossland, Sept. 25—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who is here with a party of C.P.R. directors on the annual inspection, speaking of local conditions, says:

"It is a year since I was here last, but I see changes for the better in Rossland, as well as in the Kootenay generally. Never in any previous visit to this camp have I seen a more stable condition of industrial affairs. Rossland has a future of which it has good reason to be proud, provided, however, that it embraces its present opportunities. Now that the ores of the camp are about to be treated with the greatest possible economy, I see nothing but lasting prosperity for the people here."

Incidentally Sir Thomas remarked that more than seventy miles round about shipped to the Canadian smelting works at Trail last month. While the C.P.R. is nothing but a transportation company he feels that it has a duty to perform with regard to the advancement of this section of the country. It may be expected that the C.P.R. will help to a material extent any industrial enterprise, mining or otherwise, that is established, or may be established within the confines of the company's natural sphere of operations.

In conclusion Sir Thomas said that his company will do everything possible for the growth of the mineral, fruit, and all the industries of this section, the C.P.R. being imbued with but one idea—the development of the country.

FAITH IN ROSSLAND.

One of the sincerest and most faithful friends of Rossland is C.R. Hosmer, the controlling spirit of the great Ogilvie Milling Co., of the C.P.R. directorate, and a multi-millionaire. Mr. Hosmer is the dominant factor in many Rossland interests, including the Townsite Company, the Virginia and the Monte Christo mines. He is also a director in the War Eagle, Center Star Companies. He therefore occupies the distinction of being the largest individual owner of vested property interests in this section.

Mr. Hosmer said to-day that he has greater faith than ever in the Rossland camp. He has patiently waited for a revival of the interest of outside world in our mineral resources, and believes that the time of that revival is at hand. He expressed himself as thoroughly astonished at the recent growth of the West since he last visited the Pacific Coast.

NOW READY FOR ACTION

Moors Must Apologize to Spain For Attack on Citizen.

San Sebastian, Spain, September 25.—In consequence of the recent attack by Moors on a Spanish journalist, and the refusal of the chiefs to give satisfaction therefor, the Minister of war, Infanta Isabelle to proceed to Ceuta, a Spanish port and seaport on a small peninsula in the North of Morocco. A cruiser, a gunboat and a torpedo boat destroyer are being held in readiness in case the demand of the Spanish Government is not complied with.

DIVERS' WORK COMPLETED

Victorian Will Sail Early Part of Next Week for England.

Quebec, Sept. 25.—The divers have at last completed their work upon the Str. Victorian. The coverings of the outside of the openings in the ship's hull have been so well applied that it has been found possible to pump out the defective hold until it became quite dry. Mr. Davis' men are now at work on the interior of the compartment. They will cover the rents in the ship's bottom with temporary plates fastened on the side, to enable her to sail to England in the early part of next week for permanent repairs.

CANADA GAINS BY BRITISH NAVY

England's Sea Power Her Strong Arm.

WHEN DIFFICULTIES ARISE

Importance to Canada in Her Foreign Trade Exploits.

London, Sept. 25.—The Japanese seizure of a Canadian schooner taken in conjunction with the recent Uruguay seizure, and the Canadian government's appeal to the intervention of the British government are pointed to as indications of Canada's growing advantage owing to British naval supremacy. It is thought this advantage must grow enormously some of Canadian enterprises in Cuba, Mexico and the Argentine, and the programme the Canadian Pacific is outlining for the expansion of direct Canadian trade with China, Japan and the Far East generally.

Canadian Pacific Rolling Stock.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—Owing to the heavy increase in traffic on the Canadian Pacific Railway, it has been necessary to increase the rolling stock to the amount of over $3,000,000. The company has just placed orders for 25 parlor, sleeping and dining cars, 90 passenger coaches and 3,000 freight cars, all of which are to be built at the Angus shops in addition to this, orders have been given for 75 locomotives, to be turned over to the company in about a month. Some of this stock will be required for the new Toronto-Sudbury line, which will be operating in the Muskoka district by next year. Officials of the company report the transcontinental traffic much heavier this year than ever before.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC,—

We have already shown that the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada has discharged its obligations to the public during the past twenty-five years, by steadily exploiting the telephone in the field of its operations, upon a sound financial basis. Also that it has been giving the advantage of connection with its extended system to local telephone systems, where their lines and equipment were such as would give reasonable satisfaction, and where such organizations were not in competition with this company's service. It is the policy of this Company to seek the co-operation of such local systems, and to lend them any reasonable encouragement and assistance.

But there are those who demand compulsory long distance connection with competitive systems. To compel such connection would be confiscation. It would expropriate the use of an essential part of the Company's property, in order to enable competitors to destroy the success and commercial value of the whole.

We claim that compulsory connection with competitive telephone systems would not only be an injustice, but would result disastrously to the telephone service of the country.

We propose to devote two or more of these "Talks" to a presentation of reasons in support of these two points, and we bespeak the thoughtful consideration of our claims in this regard.

All Thin, Pale Women

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used up Condition

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became nervous and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well.

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

PETERBORO'S BIG FAIR

The opening of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition gives the people another opportunity to assist one of the worthiest of local enterprises.

The men who have given their time to the building of the Industrial Fair have given it almost freely. They have labored for years without any other emolument other than that of a conscientious, honest labor in a good cause. They have been often criticised and sometimes criticised too harshly.

But in a relatively restricted population and with relatively small resources they have maintained an important annual fair. The instructional value of the fair, especially in respect of the agricultural features, is unquestionable, a fact to which the large annual attendance of the farmers from the district and other parts of Canada is abundant testimony.

The history of such enterprises shows that for years it is a hard matter to finance them. The Toronto Fair, now so prosperous, has had a record of continuous struggling against deficit. But common sense taught the Toronto people that the small charge upon the city's purse which would be necessary to keep the exhibition running, could be cheerfully met in view of the immense circulation of money which the fair brought about.

And so in smaller cities, like ours, there are few people who do not benefit, more or less, directly from the brisk spending during fair days. The merchant profits from his sales. The outside buyer profits in good bargains which he could not get in his own town. The transportation companies, the hotels and lodging house keepers, traders of every class draw profit from the fair. So long as it maintains its excellent educational standard it is worthy of the (part) support of the people of Peterborough. And the men who have labored so hard to make it a success deserve nothing else.

EXCEPTIONAL CHANCE

Mr. Hall Secures Block of Glenara Gold Mining Co.'s Stock for Peterboro

The many friends and clients of Mr. W. H. Hall, our local fiscal agent and promoter, will be interested to learn that he has been fortunate enough to secure a block of the celebrated Glenara Gold Mining Company's stock for sale in the city and district.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co., which was organized in March last, under the laws of Arizona, is capitalized with $1,500,000 shares, fully paid and non-assessable, with a par value of $1 per share. The treasury stock consists of 700,000 shares.

The Glenara mine is in the now well known rich Goldfield District, the [illegible] as almost [illegible] and [illegible] of description. The company owns [illegible] 75 acres located directly within the best producing area of the Goldfield District. One most attractive feature of the Glenara Mine Company is that it is organized strictly for actual mining purposes, and not, as is too common with many of the Western mines, for stock speculation purposes.

The company having such grand prospects of success desire to raise money sum directly for development purposes, and owing to their fortunate location and surroundings adapted to economical mining, hope that not more than 50,000 shares of treasury stock will have to be disposed of to put the mine on a paying basis.

The company's properties consist of four claims, as noted above in the richest portion of the Goldfield District of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, situated on a system of ledges over a mile and a half long by half a mile wide. Surface indications indicate that the property can, at comparatively small expense, be placed on a well paying basis, as both good float and pannings are obtainable. A gang of men is now engaged in sinking a shaft on the Kentucky Bell claim; which has run through ore worth from $3 to $18 per ton.

The company invite the closest inspection and investigation by prospective investors. As a big strike of ore producing gold in unlimited quantities may be found any day, those desiring stock would be wise to invest at once, and in any case, the inevitable outcome of this soon [illegible] a future, judging by what is now in sight, means that within very few weeks the price of Glenora stock will soar upwards. Mr. Hall has been fortunate in securing the agency for this block of stock, and will be pleased to give his clients and the general public full information concerning the company.

Intending or possible investors would do well to consider, in connection with this, as with all mining propositions, who its executive is composed of. The officers and directors of the Glenora Gold Mining Co., are President, Leonard C. Jones, Western Representative of Travellers and Ocean Insurance Co.; Vice-President, J. Thomas, who is President of Federal Gold Mining Co., and Director in several other leading companies; Treasurer, Geo. A. Anderson, Ex-examiner of Gold and Silver Extraction Co. of America; Secretary, W. A. Wimbush, Real Estate and Mining Broker; Director, E. V. Palmer, Mining Engineer, all of Denver, Col., and Manager, W. F. Baker, Goldfields, Nev. With such names on its directorate, the Glenora Co. are beyond criticism.

A FAIR ATTRACTION

Local Kindergarten Will Exhibit Work of Little Ones

One exhibit at next week's Fair that will appeal to those interested in educational matters and to mothers of small children, will be that of the Peterboro kindergarten schools. This is a new idea with our local Fair and will meet with general approval.

It was at first proposed to have a class, or classes, of the little ones actually at work (!) at their school amusements, but it was found that there was too much risk in taking the children, and to give them the proper protection would make quite an expense, so it was abandoned.

There will be an exhibit of all branches of the kindergarten work in all its various stages. The work will be the weaving, folding, cutting and pasting, drawing, sewing, and modelling in plasticine (the newest pliable material, which has taken the place of clay.)

Forms and charts will be so arranged that visitors can see the whole principle of the construction. Miss Warner, will have charge of the exhibit.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST
HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of any person who is entitled to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience.

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative drains at night weakened me—my back [illegible] my head, hands and feet were cold, then in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the parts of it in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the new Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the Company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believes that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn [illegible] Victoria.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, however, good float being found upon the ground and good panmings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $15 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

will be such an infernal row. Every one will be panic-struck, and I want them to get their supper in peace. Tell the marchioness what you like. Say I am looking after Mrs. Ruthven. Tell Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora not to talk about the theft."

"Very well," said Lord Dorrington obediently, and hurried away to do his brother-in-law's bidding.

Winton's cool head and practiced intelligence made him the natural guide in such an investigation.

The gravel on the terrace was hard and dry, and gave two faint, scarcely perceptible impressions which might be foot-prints, there was no sign that the robber had lain in wait there.

Near the spot where Winton and his host stood was a short flight of steps leading to the pleasure-ground beneath, which here ended in a thick growth of evergreens, through which a walk led to a gate opening on the high-road to Oldbridge. This gate was usually locked, but was a favorite means of egress to pedestrians going to and from the town.

"Let us have a look along here," said Winton. "Hold the lantern lower."

Seeking carefully as they went, they examined every inch of ground at either side of the path, and had proceeded about a hundred yards when Winton uttered an exclamation, and snatched the lantern from the bewildered butler.

"What's this?" he cried, stooping to drag a dark bundle from under the low-growing branches of some thick laurels.

Marsden eagerly assisted, and they quickly unrolled a short, wide, foreign-looking black cloak, from which fell a mask and a long knife, something like a bowie-knife.

"The scoundrel cast his skin [illegible]," said Marsden, "making sure there would be no pursuit till the conservatory door was opened, and his victim recovered. Good God! that poor woman had a narrow escape. If fright and chloroform together had not made her insensible, he would have murdered her."

"Professional thieves in Europe seldom shed blood, I believe," returned Winton. "Let us break a couple of branches to mark the spot where we made the find."

"We had better go on to the gate, it is not more than half a mile," said Marsden.

"I will go, and perhaps Dr. Weldon will accompany me!" replied Winton, "but your prolonged absence will be remarked. You had better show yourself."

"I am with you!" cried the doctor, who had tied a large silk pocket-handkerchief over the lower part by way of measure of precaution. "And you, Captain Shirley?"

"I shall return to the house. It seems hopeless and fruitless to search further. My impression is, that the jewels are irreparably lost. They will be out of their settings by to-morrow and can never be identified."

"Still we must do our best," said Marsden. "Come. We'll get a glass of champagne, and hear how Mrs. Ruthven is."

* * * * * * *

The announcement of supper gave everyone sufficient and agreeable occupation, so the absence of the host was but little remarked. Lady Blankford, an immensely stout personage, with gossiping propensities worthy of any washer-woman in Oldbridge, was pleased to be jocose about Marsden's evident devotion to Mrs. Ruthven, and said it was altogether a very pleasant outlook for the county. "We really all suffer from the closing of Eversleigh Manor. It was always a social rallying point. Pray tell me, was not the late Mr. Ruthven a cousin of the Marsdens?" and a long, genealogical talk ensued.

Meantime Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora had gone upstairs to Lady Dorrington's room to gain news of Mrs. Ruthven's condition, and to keep out of the way, as the nerves of both had been a good deal shaken.

"She is a good deal quieter," said Lady Dorrington, coming to join them. "She had another fit of hysterical crying, which has relieved her. My maid and her own will sit by her all night in turns, so she will never find herself alone. I have just seen Clifford, who was going to wash and brush away the traces of his search in the shrubbery. They found a mask, a cloak, and a long sharp knife."

"A knife!" echoed Nora, and her step-mother with a shudder. "What an escape she has had!"

"We had better go downstairs. They have gone into supper, and I must say I feel to want something dreadfully. I am quite exhausted, and so infinitely distressed about this horrid business; do come, Mrs. L'Estrange."

In the hall they met Winton, who had just returned with Dr. Weldon. They had found the Oldbridge gate securely locked, and no traces of footsteps. The daring robber seemed to have vanished as mysteriously as he came.

"That is not to be wondered at, considering the number of persons moving about on such a night," continued Winton. "The scoundrel had only to be cool and leisurely and he might have walked through the whole array of guests and servants."

"It gives one a frightful feeling of insecurity," said Mrs. L'Estrange.

"There is no cause for fear now," said Winton. "The robber has secured his booty. He will keep his distance. You look so scared that I would advise supper and champagne."

"And I am glad to confirm Mr. Winton's advice," said Dr. Weldon. "Come, my dear madame," offering his arm to Mrs. L'Estrange.

"Permit me, Lady Dorrington," said Winton, following his example, "and Miss L'Estrange."

"I can take care of you, Nora," interrupted Marsden, who came up at that moment, and he drew her hand through his arm. "For, what with [illegible] cheeks! I thought you were a plucky girl!"

"You are pale enough yourself, squire, and no wonder! Imagine if that dreadful man had used his knife!"

"Oh, well, he did not! I suspect he only had it to cut his way into the tent. I hope there are a lot of accomplices, that is our only chance of recovering the jewels, otherwise Winton fears there is very little prospect of doing so." Here he stopped suddenly, and drew his companion behind a group of palms close to the door of the supper-room, as the Marchioness of Blankford came forth in earnest conversation with Lord Dorrington.

"I am not going to be caught," he whispered, as he again pressed on to the supper-room, "until you have given me that waltz. I have been looking forward to through all this unfortunate business. Come what may after, I am determined to snatch one bit of enjoyment. Give me some champagne," he cried to one of his own servants, who were stationed at the principal table, where the older and weightier guests were to be feasted; he held out a tumbler which he emptied at a draught, to Nora's surprise, then he insisted on her taking some, and pressed her to eat, with great solicitude.

"It seems rather heartless to go and dance, after seeing poor Mrs. Ruthven in such a state, her beautiful jewels torn away from her!"

"Nonsense," returned Marsden, abruptly, "she is rich enough to buy others. A true woman, I mean a true-hearted woman, which is another thing, would not be inconsolable for the loss of a hundred such baubles. It would not injure health or reputation or affections. You would not care if you lost all the diamonds of Golconda, provided those you love were left you, that is if you loved any one?"

"But I do love a good many people," she said, a little indignantly. "Why do you always talk to me as if I were a heartless simpleton."

Dr. Young Asst. Coroner.

There has been some talk of late regarding the appointment of an assistant coroner for the city and county. The probabilities are that another coroner will soon be appointed, and it is currently reported that a second coroner will be named. Dr. Gray, who has capably filled the position, will not be superseded, but have an associate, taken from the local medical profession. Names prominently mentioned for this position are Doctors Young, Geer and Coughlin.

Dr. Young, while all three are good men for the position, is specially qualified, and it is generally thought he will get the appointment. His nomination for this office would be universally popular, and his wide experience with cases of accidents, and general fitness for the position, would make him specially adapted for the work involved.

Mrs. Whetung's Funeral.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Whetung, an Indian woman known to many of our citizens for a long number of years past, was laid to rest in the Indian reservation cemetery, Chemong. Martha Precove, widow of the late Joseph Whetung, and one of the oldest residents on this Indian reservation, lived, of late years alone, a few yards distant from the residence of her son Joseph, and on Friday night walked across to his house to pay a visit. When only a few steps from Joseph's house, Mrs. Whetung, succumbing to a sudden attack of heart failure, dropped to the ground, and expired almost at once, at the venerable age of 81 years. The deceased was born in Penetanguishene, removing to Chemong at the age fifteen years. Two sons survive to mourn her loss, Joseph and Daniel, both of whom reside upon the reservation. The funeral was largely attended, nearly all the Reservation Indians and delegates from other Indian villages being present. Together with some of the farmers near Selwyn; Rev. Mr. Clark conducted the service.

Mark Street S. S. Rally.

The Mark street Sunday school rally yesterday afternoon was well attended and every detail of the program was a success. Mrs. Morrow, who has spent much time and work among the Chinese in British Columbia, gave a most interesting address, replete with anecdote and proof of the good work done among the Celestials. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, a most fluent and fascinating speaker, was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience, which comfortably filled the church. Shortly before the rally, teachers and scholars held a short meeting in the basement to settle the matter of attendance and other business.

THE NEW ARMORY

Plans of Ground Floor of Proposed Building Now Here.

Mr. R. R. Hall, our energetic member in the Dominion House, has received from the Public Works Department, Ottawa, plans of the ground floor space of our new armouries. This matter of having the plans sent here for inspection and suggestions, by the local military authorities, is a very wise and commendable one, and will prevent possible comment and trouble in the future.

As Peterboro, in years gone by, has always taken a practical and leading part in military matters, and her record is equally strenuous at this present today, it is considered that we must have an armory as modern and complete as can be devised. Before the contracts are let for erection of the building, local military men will have an opportunity to make such suggestions as they consider necessary and such ideas as are promulgated will receive due consideration by the department at Ottawa.

The main or drill hall, as shown by the plans, is large enough for the purposes intended, being 195x90 feet. The building will front on either Murray or McDonnel streets, and in appearance will resemble the London armory. On each side of the entrance which will be in the middle of the building are the infantry storerooms; the infantry orderly room is at the far left, while at the right are the O.M. stores.

A gun shed 40x120 feet will be built at the extreme left with ample accommodation for six guns, four gun wagons and eight ammunition wagons. In the rear will be the harness room 30x40 feet. The cavalry division will have an armory 30x40 ft., at the end of the drill hall. Their store rooms, 20x40 feet, will be in the rear of their armory, and back of that will be the infantry stores room of equal size; in the rear of that again will be a gun shed with ammunition accommodation. Two rooms 20x30 feet will be provided for the artillery small stores.

The second storey provides for an eight-foot gallery along the full length of the drill hall, a lecture room 24x45 feet and a large orderly room, behind which will be an ante-room. At the extreme left will be the officers' mess room, 25x40 feet, and to the right of the lecture room will be the Sergeant's mess room and band room.

A Philanthropic Idea.

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Dear Sir,—The Salvation Army now has a really excellent band, a band that, a little more practice, would not have to take second place in competition with many regimental organizations in this country. As a respectful suggestion, why does not the S.A. Band act on the Latin saying "Forsew scintillula latet," which in a not over careful translation, would mean, "perhaps some use might be made of them," in respect to some of the shrill mouthpieces, who nightly inflict torture on the hearing machinery of passers by, and people in near by places whose business compels them to remain and suffer? These singers(?) evidently mean well and are working strenuously in the good cause. Why not give them a chance to unburden their superfluous energy, and still do good by taking them into the band? They could be given an instrument, which, by a few minutes work each evening, prior to the public performances, could be secretly carried and rendered innocuous. These earnest workers would thus swell the ranks, consider they were pumping out tons of music in the good cause, and go home satisfied. In this way they would be pleased, and long suffering humanity would be more than delighted; the public, in their relief would possibly be more favorably disposed towards these street workers of the cause and thus give up their shekels more easily. The experiment is worthy consideration by the Army.

Yours truly,
IN PAIN.

WHAT CAME OF A LETTER.

My Dear Aunt Kate:

I must tell you the good news. Right after receiving your letter, the day before New Year's I started in with new resolutions on the first of the year. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., as you requested me to do. I gave him all my symptoms, which were that I was tired—so tired—all the time and did not care to go anywhere, depressed and sad, and all ambition gone, backache and a dragged-out feeling, could not sleep, head fearfully aching. I followed the doctor's advice, which he went to considerable pains to make plain to me—to rest every day—a nap after lunch—complete relaxation—cultivate repose of mind, try not to worry, get as much outdoor air as possible, and practice long, deep breathing, expanding the lungs. Then for a uterine tonic, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, coupled with a wash he told me of. I must say that after following his advice for four months I feel perfectly cured and like a new woman.

Yours affectionally, JEWEL.

Letters like the above are not unusual.

Mrs. Keenan, of 832 Grant Ave., Schenectady, N. Y., says: "I continued with the medicine until I had taken five bottles, also two vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and I was cured. I always recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to my friends when they are not well."

"My daughter is in quite good health, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicines. My wishes are that all who are afflicted will try them and see what good can be done for the sick," writes Mrs. Elizabeth McConnell, of Rochester, Ind.

—The Fair directors confidently count on at least 15,000 paid admissions.

—The Fair illuminations, now completed are, by all odds the most perfect and brilliant ever seen outside the grand cities.

A Newly Married Innocent.

One evening last week as the Oriental 'Bus unloaded its cargo of passengers in front of this popular hotel, a young man and woman, both in evidently brand new clothes, entering this hotel, walked to the office counter. The clerk, as usual handed a pen to the gentleman, whose, experience and the general "get up" of the pair, told him plainly was a newly made benedict. The husband, not understanding the meaning of the proffered pen asked, "What is your terms here mister." The clerk informed him that room and breakfast for the two as requested would cost a certain sum. This satisfied the groom, who started to walk away, until called back by the clerk who asked him to "register." After the meaning of this formality had been explained, the husband signed his own name simply, and being asked to register his wife's name, simply wrote the word "wife" in the line below his own. "Now I want the last room you got" insisted the groom; "do you want a bath room attached," asked the polite clerk; "No, thanks," said the groom, "I had one last week," and the happy couple retired to renew their billing and cooing.

To-night's Opera.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" which the Roscian Comic Opera Company will present at Bradburn's opera house, this evening, has always been regarded as the best joint work of those famous English writers of Comic Opera. It is full of jingling musical themes, amusing situations and laughable quips, and at this time is particularly apropos owing to the Japanese-Russian war. The company carries complete scenic outfit for the Opera, and it is said to be one of the most successful in their repertoire.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL. XXXIII, NO. 225 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 26, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

The City Gives $100 to the Banquet

Board of Trade will Entertain Minister Railways and Canals at the Oriental To-night.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last night, those present were, His Worship the Mayor, Aldermen Crowe, Lang, Scott, Johnston, Dugles, Hicks, Beck, Hall, Tovey, McIntyre and Adams.

Several communications were read, including one from the Canadian Fire Engine Co., London, Ont., asking for test of their engine by the city. Ald. Johnston explained he had wired them this would only be done at their own expense.

A communication from Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, in reference to change of the County Councils' Act was read.—Received.

A letter from the Best Street Light Company, of Canton, O., was read. This letter called attention to the "Best" street and arc vapor gas lamps, giving particulars as to towers of various makes.—Received.

A communication from the Bell Telephone Company, Peterboro, was next read. This letter asked permission to open the following streets in the city, viz.; Water between Victoria and Anson; George between Smith and Barnardo Ave.; Aylmer between Charlotte and King; Townsend between George and Park; Park between Townsend and Albert; Bethune between McDonel and Dublin; Robinson between Burnham and Mark; Crescent between Lock and Haggart, to renew lines of telephones.

The latter asked the council to direct city engineer to supervise erection of such poles.—Received.

A letter was received from Mr. R. C. Reamed calling attention to poor state of sidewalk in front of his store, and making suggestions which might remedy the trouble to best advantage—Referred to Board of Works.

A letter from the Board of Education was read in which the following committee was appointed to meet a committee of the council in reference to site of Collegiate Institute. The committee is composed of Messrs. Hill, Rogers, Kennedy, Hayes, Stevenson and the chairman—Received.

A communication from the secretary local Board of Health, was next read, stating that the board, under section 666 of the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, recommends that a sewer be built on Water street, from Smith to Hilliard streets. This would drain that locality for sanitary purposes.—Received.

A report of Committee of the Whole Council, was read and adopted.

A report of the Manufacturers' Committee as follows was read;

That the assessment of the Central Milling Company be fixed at $10,000 for ten years from Jan. 1st, 1906, for land and business assessment on terms similar to those in the fixed assessment given to the Peterboro Cereal Company, as far as they are applicable.

This report also settled a fixed assessment for P. Downer's creamery under stated conditions.

Ald. Hall asked what inducements the Central Milling Company offered the city in consideration of this reduction in taxation. Are they going to increase their capacity or number of hands? The Peterboro Cereal Company guaranteed to do certain things. We have many places employing three times as many hands, increasing nearly every slow maker and better pay in town. Did not want to be a kicker, but it is establishing a precedent, he himself employs 20 to 30 hands, whilst the C.M. Co. only has seven, eight or ten. Where is this going to stop.

Ald. Hicks explained that the Cereal Co. was exempted as being a new concern. His committee thought it wise, as the Peterboro Cereal Co. had had a fixed assessment, to give the Central Co., the same treatment.

Ald. Adams explained that the Central Co., did not ask for fixed rate until after the Cereal Company had done so.

Ald. Hall again protested against fixed assessment to factories only employing eight or ten hands. Ald. Johnston, though opposed to bonuses or exemptions, thinks this exemption is just. The Central Milling Company employ two gangs of men, one at night and one by day.

Ald. Hall moved that clause 1 of the report be referred to Committee of the Whole Council. The other clause carried.

THE BANQUET.

A deputation composed of Messrs. Meldrum and McClennan, was heard. Mr. Meldrum said he represented the Board of Trade. Spoke of entertaining the Minister of Railways and Canals, at a banquet. Asked on behalf of the Board of Trade, that the city give $100 towards the reception this evening. The city could afford to do this on account of the Trent Valley Canal interest.

Mr. McClennan spoke next, saying it was hard for a man and a public official to speak on such a subject.

Mr. W. H. Hill, thought the Minister should be well treated, and the city would lose nothing by so doing. The Board of Trade was not very flush of money.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson also spoke in favor of the grant. It would help the canal along by showing the city means business.

Mr. McClennan said he understood the county council intended giving $100.

Ald. Adams thought the money should be given, as the city saved over this every year by the Dominion Government taking over the bridges, and moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks that the $100 be given.

Ald. Crowe thought that as there are so many high salaried employes of the canal on this deputation, they might pay the expense. The banquet would be enjoyed by a few and paid for by many.

Ald. Hall spoke strongly in favor of the grant.—Carried.

Mr. McClennan, on behalf of the Board of Trade, invited all the Council to the banquet.

Report of Fire, Water and Light Committee was heard and adopted.

Mr. Ferguson, chairman of Board of Education, addressed the meeting.

Mr. Hill said he understood the Council was thinking of coming back to the ward system. Thought the Board should not be interfered with this year.

Peterboro Board differs from most school boards, in that one body manages both public schools and collegiate institute. Though eleven would be better than the number now on the Board.

Some reports are left over until to-morrow's issue.

THE EDUCATION OF WEI-HAI-WEI

Great Britain Now Said to be Considering the Matter.

THE PREVAILING FEELING

It is That China and Japan Should be Left to Work Out Their Own Destiny.

London, September 26.—It is now reported that Great Britain as the result of the definite evacuation of Port Arthur is considering the desirability of entirely evacuating Wei-Hai-Wei. No decision has been actually come to, and there is a certain divergence of opinion as to just what step should be taken, but on the whole the balance of opinion appears to be in favor of the evacuation, and there is ground for the belief that this course will ultimately be taken. The feeling is prevalent not only throughout Great Britain but throughout the whole of Europe that possession in the Orient, at least the China-Japan section do not pay in dollars and cents. It is felt that the Chinese and the Japanese should be left to work out their own destiny, and that any attempts to re-assume cities and control them by means of a chain of fortifications will result in expenses in connection with armies and navies beside which the cost of keeping up the military establishments in India must sink into significance. In other words the backward movement of the European nations in connection with the acquisition of possessions in the Orient is economic rather than military or naval.

It will be recollected that several questions on the subject were asked in the House of Commons last session, and that on March 4, 1905, Mr. Arthur Lee announced that there would be no change in policy as to the place, but that in view of Far Eastern uncertainty the Admiralty had decided not to press on expenditure.

To define the exact position of Great Britain it is necessary to state briefly the precise conditions of the tenacy of the colony. These are the conditions taken from the agreement which was signed at Pekin on July 1, 1898, and subsequently ratified in London in October.

THE AGREEMENT.

"In order to provide Great Britain with a suitable naval harbor in North China, and for the better protection of British commerce, the Government of his Majesty, the Emperor of China, agreed to lease to the government of Great Britain and Ireland, Wei-Hai-Wei, in the province of Shantung, and the adjacent waters, for so long a period as Port Arthur shall remain in the occupation of Russia."

It will also be recollected that two or three years ago the British Government decided not to use Wei-Hai-Wei as a military station but merely to retain it for commercial purposes; but now the Government is reported to be coming to the conclusion that in order to emphasize the integrity of China and maintain the demand for an open door in that country it is right and fitting step to give up territory which was acquired when Germany and Russia started the policy of "grab" in the far East by seizing respectively Port Arthur and Kiao-Chau.

With the evacuation of Port Arthur by the Russians and Wei-Hai-Wei by Great Britain, but one Western power would retain a forcibly acquired lease in Northern China, and that would be Germany at Kiao-Chau, which she holds on a ninety-nine years lease. How long would she remain there if England follows Russia and abandon Wei-Hai-Wei is the question which is everywhere being asked in diplomatic circles. German policy with regard to China has been characterized by blunders without number. Prince Bismark rightly remarked when speaking with one of his greatest friends apropos of the telegram about the acquisition of Kiao-Chau that the "staking of Kiao-Chau would be a new opportunity for new follies in German foreign policy."

Up to the present, Germany has spent many millions of dollars in fortifying Kiao-Chau, where she has about 5,000 men. This autumn she proposes to spend another $4,250,000 and to get the authority of the Reichstag afterwards. But the question that is everywhere being asked and is likely to be asked in the Reichstag is, "Does it pay?"

NEW EMPIRE IN SAHARA

BARON DE FOREST SAID TO BE PLANNING CONQUEST

Tangier, September 26.—Reports received here indicate that Baron de Forest, backed by the British Government, is planning a new empire in the Sahara. The plans are carefully guarded, the baron giving it out that his armed expedition is for the purpose of hunting and exploring.

The yacht Honor, in which the expedition is quartered, has arrived at Las Palmas. It carries a crew of thirty-eight, Baron and Baroness de Forest and several Moors are on board. No one from Las Palmas was permitted to board the yacht, and the destination of the craft is kept a secret.

RIFLES AND SUPPLIES ABOARD.

Nevertheless it is known that several thousand repeating rifles with ammunition and other stores are on board. These facts with the apparent effort to keep the plans a secret lend color to the theory of conquest.

It is not known whether the yacht will proceed further south to select another Atlantic port as a basis of communication. It may proceed to England and be back at Tangier by the end of November, when the expedition will start inland.

Baron de Forest recently has been in frequent communication with a famous French Africanist. His idea is that the execution of his project will be of political advantage to the British Government. He will endeavor to establish and maintain British preponderance.

SON OF LATE BARON HIRSCH.

Baron Arnold de Forest, who was divorced by his wife in 1903, is a natural son of the late Baron Hirsch, who, after the death of the famous Jewish philanthropist was adopted by his widow, who bequeathed to him and to his younger brother the greater portion of her vast fortune. Shortly before the demise of the Baroness Hirsch the Emperor of Austria, in recognition of her boundless charity, conferred the rank of baron upon Arnold de Forest and his younger brother, Raymond.

WHAT CANADA PRODUCES

Splendid Samples of Canadian Manufacturers' Goods at the Fair.

As a sample of what the modern manufacturers of Canada are now producing, and which bear no unfavorable comparison with the best products of Europe, we might mention one exhibit at the Fair, that must make every Canadian proud of his country's industries. Whilst there are many articles on exhibition at to-day's Fair that will command great attention and admiration, we might say that the Nordheimer Piano Company of Toronto have a very attractive booth in the main building at the Toronto Fair, the which they have on view two of their latest models of pianos. The instruments are a credit both to the county in which they are made, and to this, the oldest established piano manufactury in Canada.

We are sure they will be greatly admired during the exhibition. Mr. Addison A. Pegg, the company's travelling representative, is in charge of the exhibit, and we have no doubt that any person thinking of purchasing a new piano will find it to their advantage to see him before doing so. Mr. H. B. Edmison, is the Peterboro representative.

DOUKS PARTICULAR ABOUT THEIR DIET

Refuse to Eat Unless They are Supplied With the Choicest Fruits

OFFICIALS AT WITS END

Participators in Recent Pilgrimage Giving Trouble to Their Keepers at Regina

Winnipeg, September 26. — Advices from Regina tell of a unique situation in regard to sixteen fanatical Doukhobors, who are prisoners in gaol because of a recent pilgrimage which the undertook across the prairie to find the Redeemer. An effort was made to have them declared insane and sent to the asylum, but the Department of Justice did not feel that the evidence would warrant committal on that charge. They were therefore given six months' imprisonment for indecent exposure.

The hard labor conditions of the sentence cannot be carried out, as the prisoners absolutely refuse to work, asserting when the Canadian Government provided for bringing the colony to Canada they were to be free, and they maintain that though they may be closed and gaol and broken they will never work. They will not even eat unless supplied with the kinds of food they desire.

Some of those now in custody were at Regina two years ago as a result of the big pilgrimage. On that occasion they would eat only raw vegetables, and a number of them even browsed on grass. Now they have taken to a fruit diet, and demand most expensive kinds of fruit. Some days they want peaches, and others California plums. At first they were not indulged, but they sulked and refused other food offered till they became so weak that the medical adviser at the gaol recommended any nourishment they would accept. Milk has been tried, but they refuse it, and the gaoler is at his wits' end to discover a remedy for the fanatic notions of the troublesome prisoners.

THE GREAT FAIR IS NOW OPEN

Exhibits were Received and Placed in the Proper Location.

DIRECTORS ARE KEPT BUSY

Judges Award Prizes in the Vegetable and other Exhibits.

Yesterday was the first day of our Great Fair, and the Exhibition Grounds were a scene of activity and bustle. The first tangible proof that something was doing in the city yesterday morning, were detached groups of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, in their brilliant red coats with steel epaulets and yellow striped riding breeches, doing the grand along the principal streets. The Dragoons are in charge of Lieut. Young, and Sergt.-Major Widgery. They will give their musical ride to-day and Wednesday at the grounds in front of the grand stand.

Should the clerk of the weather only be in kindly humor, the Fair must be a success, as the attractions are above the average.

The directors wish it made known that tickets for the exhibition and for the grand stand for the evening performance may be purchased at Mudill's drug store.

NOTES AT THE GROUNDS.

The exhibits began to arrive early yesterday afternoon and will rapidly be placed in position. The chicken coops will be filled during this morning, many fanciers preferring to delay sending their valuable specimens until the last minute.

DOGS.

The dog exhibit promises to be a good one, and will be held immediately under the grand stand. A visitor yesterday asked one of the committee in charge, distinguished by a gorgeous green and gold badge where the dogs were being shown. The committeeman called him under the grand stand to where a number of dogs were securely fastened, and said, "There are the dogs," to insure belief in his statement he rapped on a door with his cane. Immediately there arose a chorus of barks, ranging from the high falsetto of the dog who barks at you behind the safety of a picket fence, to the sonorous boom of a huge mastiff, calculated to give a chicken thief delerium tremens.

BOOKS.

Messrs. Colville Bros., of Newcastle, Ont., are exhibiting a fine lot of hogs, mainly the celebrated Tamworth breed. These Tamworth hogs were exhibited at the Toronto Fair by Messrs. Colville Bros., who won the silver medal for the best Tamworth boar of any age on the grounds. This firm also won a large number of 1st and 2nd prizes for various classes of hogs at the Toronto Fair, including first and second prizes for produce under six months at the Toronto Fair. These prize hogs are now on exhibition here, where they will be offered for sale. Messrs. Colville Bros., also exhibited hogs at London, Lindsay and other fairs, taking many prizes. Much attention was attracted yesterday to their prize Tamworth hog, "Colville's Choice" which has won 1st prize and 3rd silver medals in his class for five successive years at Toronto Fair. Colville Bros. always have something in stock from two to six months old for farmers or breeders wanting such lines.

This is a grand opportunity for our local farmers to see such valuable breeding hogs, and select their purchase on the spot. The exhibit of Messrs. Colville Bros. is well worth attention by those desiring to improve the strain of their hogs, as they have a varied assortment, as the local Fair was adapted to all purposes.

J. J. TURNER.

As usual Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, the local tent and awning makers have their goods prominently to the front of the 21 odd tents, now on the Exhibition grounds, and used for all purposes, from a candy and soda water dispensary to the Fair's executive headquarters. Messrs. Turner & Sons, own eighteen. These tents alone, from their superior texture and excellence of manufacture, are not only a standing advertisement for Messrs. Turner, but are an honor to the city where they are produced. Their display of all kinds of canning goods, whether on the Exhibition grounds or at their George street factory, are unsurpassed by any in the world. This is shown by a recent large order received during Mr. Turner Sr.'s recent European trip, for canning outfits; this order was given in London, in open competition with the world's manufacturers.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

A unique feature of the indoors' exhibits is that of Mr. R. M. Roy, whose widely chosen display of the photographer's art, must ensure keen attention and great admiration from the thousands who will flock to the Fair to-day and to-morrow. As the city has recently been subjected to a series of swindles by the obliging coon photograph enlarger, who takes one's money and usually gives a very inferior article enlarged from a small picture, Mr. Roy's superb collection of enlarged photographs will suffice to show that not only charity but common sense, in photographs, belongs at home.

A very superficial survey of the Roy gallery's photographs will assure the purchasing public that they can get better enlargements of their photographs, and at better prices, at Roy's gallery, than trusting to wandering artists without any idea of art, and too often without honesty.

To enter into a detailed description of Mr. Roy's photographs would take more space than available. Suffice to say that Mr. Roy's pictures are all up to his long-time reputation and many show evidence of a close acquaintance with the most modern and artistic secrets of the photographer's art.

A USEFUL TOOL.

Mr. Chas. Lawes, whose perfect little knife, shear and can opener combined, attracted so much interest on the Market Square last night, will give the public an opportunity to-day and to-morrow, to procure these practical necessities at the Fair grounds. No householders should miss seeing these wonderfully simple little articles, which although simple in appearance, and strong in construction will sharpen skates, shears, knives and other tools or open a can more quickly than any other opener in the market. They can be procured at 25 cents each to-day and to-morrow on the grounds, from Mr. Lawes. This little combination tool does its sharpening work far more quickly and cleaner than the old-fashioned grindstone.

VEGETABLES.

Among the exhibits in the main building, that particularly draw attention are the vegetables. This year, whilst the show of vegetables was not as large in quantity perhaps, as Peterboro has seen before, there are many samples of roots that must attract much attention. The mangle wursels are particularly fine, including some grand samples of the long red mangles, which are fully four feet long and will measure quite 30 inches in circumference; there are also some splendid specimens of both globe, yellow and sugar beet mangels. The sugar beet mangels, one of the judges, a man well qualified to know, told The Times, were the best he had ever seen.

Mr. Larmouth, with Mr. Fluk and a gang of men was busy superintending placing of the electric lights to illuminate the platform on which the shows, both afternoon and evening, will be given, as well as the band stand. This platform, to the rear of which are placed lofty flying trapeses and other attachments, is commodious and substantial. Visitors seated on the grand stand will also be able to see the performances as well as though as a theater.

CLEANING UP.

Gangs of men were yesterday engaged in clearing up the grounds. A huge bonfire was made of stacks of dead weeds and grass gathered from the grounds; this not only improves the appearance of this place, but makes walking much easier. The ponies, along with the dogs, on exhibition are located beneath the grand stand, and a man sleeps right with them to prevent

The party will arrive in the city from Hastings about four o'clock and will register at the Oriental Hotel.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS BRUTALLY USED

Horrible Condition of the Sick and Wounded

A TERRIBLE INDICTMENT

Cheaper to Bury a Wounded Soldier Than Send Him Home and Pension Him.

London, September 26. — Already the most distressing reports are coming from Russia regarding the treatment of sick and wounded soldiers who are being returned from the far East. Even with liberal discount for exaggeration, some of the stories of neglect, brutality and the graft of the so-called pension system are revolting, especially to the people of a nation that has ever been grateful and liberal with its veteran soldiery.

A recent account from St. Petersburg says that in almost every street one sees crippled soldiers with an arm or a leg or both limbs missing, making pitiful pleas for alms. These soldiers [illegible] to them in the battlefields, where the officers often left men to die, under the Russian military maxim that it is cheaper to bury a wounded soldier than send him home and pension him. After months of suffering in miserable hospitals those unfortunates who survived were shipped home, enduring the agony of transportation over the long Trans-Siberian railroad and loaded like cattle in rude box cars. At their homes they have applied for the paltry pensions promised them, only to be told that there is nothing for them. The grafting officials have stolen the funds. In their poverty and misery thousands of these crippled and wounded men have gone to St. Petersburg in the hope that the "Little Father" would take pity on them and see that the money set aside for pensions was honestly expended.

This story from Russia tallies well with the whole course of the government toward the men who were torn from their homes and sent to far-away Manchuria to fight in a war with whose objects they had no sympathy. It seems incredible that the same Czar who advocated international disarmament "in the interest of humanity and civilization," should now countenance this wholesale barbarity and inhumanity toward his own people. The world will refuse to believe that he is ignorant of the true conditions. Truly the house of the Romanoff dynasty stands under a terrible indictment. To make the matter worse there have been bad crops in nearly all parts of Russia, taxes have been upon a war basis and the families of the survivors of the war can only welcome back their crippled loved ones with pitifully empty hands. Ivan the Terrible could have been no more heartless than Nicholas II. is toward his people—the submerged millions who suffer with brutish resignation an oppression that shocks the entire world.

R. C. Dragoons Arrested.

Yesterday evening as some of our visiting soldiery, the Royal Canadian Dragoons, were walking about taking in the city, some boys annoyed one of the red coats. The Dragoon struck out with his riding whip, striking as he supposed one of his tormentors on the face. It seems he struck the wrong boy, as the lad he hit had him promptly arrested. After being taken to the station, the Dragoon was released on his own recognizance to appear this morning for trial.

Obituary.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, Sophia street, will extend to them their sincere sympathy in the loss by the hand of death of their young son William John, who passed away yesterday, aged two years and two months. The funeral will take place this afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

Detectives Have a Fierce Struggle

Sensational Arrest of Fred Watson and Thomas Morse Early Yesterday Morning in a Wilton Avenue Boarding House.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The most striking faces in a long string of prisoners in the police court yesterday morning were those of Frederick Watson and Thomas Morse, the story of whose arrest by Detectives Forrest and Mackie is one of the most interesting in the history of the local detective department.

The two young men are fair, good-looking, apparently quick-witted, and part their hair in the middle. Each was well-dressed, and wore a well-fitting neat fall overcoat.

An expression of assurance amounting almost to bravado was assumed by each prisoner, but a careful observer could notice a restlessness and chafing at confinement.

SMILED AND CHATTED.

The two smiled as they chatted with their counsel, Mr. Godfrey, and with each other, but while other prisoners were tried, they were evidently finding the police court dock somewhat uninteresting and depressing.

Through their counsel, the two young men reserved their pleading on a charge of having in their possession two revolvers, a dark lantern, a bottle of chloroform, masks and burglars' tools, but pleaded not guilty of vagrancy. Mr. Curry stated that he would not be ready to go on with the case before Friday, but he asked to have the men appear on Wednesday, in order that they may be seen by people who may be able to identify them.

READY TO DEPART.

To-morrow, it is said, Watson and Morse would travel off for Pittsburg, but their plans were upset when Detectives Mackie and Forrest entered their room on Wilton avenue yesterday morning and overpowered them before either suddenly-wakened man could use his ready revolver.

The arrest is the result of detective work which has extended over several weeks. Two months ago, while in Sarnia, looking up a prisoner, Detective Forrest was asked to go to Port Huron and obtained considerable information about a man named Watson, who was said to be in Toronto or Rochester. The detective also obtained a photograph of a young woman who was said to be with Watson.

Forrest came back to Toronto, and kept his eyes open for the original of the photograph. Ten days ago he saw on George street a woman who closely resembled the photograph. He shadowed the young woman and decided that the man he wanted was rooming in a house on Wilton Ave. Forrest and Mackie watched the movements of two men who entered the Wilton avenue house late each night, and the detectives decided that eight o'clock yesterday morning was a good time to attempt a quiet capture.

GRABBED THE REVOLVER.

The occupant of the house, who had become suspicious and received a promise that the two men would leave the house on Tuesday, pointed out the room, and the detectives quietly made preparations to enter. They discovered that the man they wanted had been refused a key for their room, and had stood a chair to the door, the back of the chair being under the door knob. The detectives drew the door towards them and the chair slid down a fraction of an inch until the four legs rested on the floor. The chair slid on the floor as the door was forced in, but the two suspected had awakened. Mackie rushed at Morse, the nearer man, and beat him out in grabbing the revolver under the pillow. Forrest rushed past the bed to where Watson lay on the floor. A sheet had covered a revolver. Watson and the detective each grabbed for the revolver, but the detective was first. The prisoners were allowed to dress, and were taken to the station. Two Toronto girls were with them. One was permitted to go home with her father, and the other was held for inquiries. One of the girls stated that the men came in about two o'clock each morning, the first arrival waiting for the other.

WOMEN TRAINED AS TYPESETTERS

Chicago Typothetae Starts a School for this Purpose.

TO SUPPLANT UNION MEN

Boys After a Course of Three Years Will be Full-fledged Printers.

Chicago, Ill., September 26.—A school for instruction in the art of printing and typesetting has been started here. Young women typewriters are taking the course. The school has been established by the members of the Chicago Typothetae, as the result of the fight against the Typographical Union, which is seeking to bring about an eight-hour day and the "closed shop."

Seven firms in the Chicago Typothetae put 30 young women in the school, and are paying them from $12 to $18 a week. These young women have their regular hours, and are practically on the same employment basis as stenographers and typewriters in this city. The firms have taken no steps to get men in the school. It is declared that the women show great dexterity in the use of the typesetting machines, and that their nimble fingers will make them the equal of the best men typesetting machine operators.

Included in the school of instruction is a course intended to familiarize pupils with the construction of machines, so that outsiders need not be depended upon to keep the intricate mechanism going.

One employer said he would not think of returning to the employment of men operators unless circumstances absolutely compelled him to do so. He and his associates take the position that the operation of the machines is not really highly skilled labor, and that the employers have been foolish to pay the men operators of this class more money than they gave many of their "make-up men" and their mechanists.

Mr. Hamm, secretary of the Typothetae, says much hope is placed in the women, because they will not belong to unions, and will probably not go on strike and they will not be so liable as the men to "fail to turn up for work."

"Our printers' school for boys," said Mr. Hamm, "will result in bringing into the field a supply of competent printers within a comparatively short time, who will be pledged to work for Typothetae firms on the 'open shop' basis. All branches of the business will be taught, composition, machine operation, make-up, job work, and everything that pertains to the trade. All boys will be paid during their entire three years' course."

NOT A PANACEA

Municipal ownership of public utilities may possibly not save the world. The organization of an Industrial Freedom League in Great Britain is regarded as evidence that "municipal trading" is not as satisfactory as represented by some who have no personal knowledge of the workings of municipal ownership in England. The League takes the ground that the expenditure of immense sums of money by men who are not fitted for carrying on transportation and lighting enterprises is exhausting the resources of English cities, and, in consequence, merchants and manufacturers are complaining grievously of increasing taxation. This is quite different from the statements made at municipal league conventions that in England taxation is unknown, all the expenses of government being paid out of the profits of street railroads and lighting plants. It is not contended that municipal officers are dishonest; the losses are due to poor management and unsound speculation.

If municipal ownership of public utilities can't be relied on, and if the initiative and referendum fail, or fails, what then? Something else with a sonorous name?

West Gold Hill Mining Directors Place Heavy Order for More Machinery

It will interest those of our citizens who watch and invest in mining stocks to learn that the directors of that most promising of all the western gold properties, the West Gold Hill Mine, have authorized their president, Mr. Cavnah, of Denver, to purchase a large consignment of the most modern mining machinery and appliances for use in the mine. This consignment includes a mechanical ore dryer, which is used to prepare the ore, as it contains about 12 per cent. moisture and a great deal of talc, for crushing and grinding; a new crusher of the best type, and a new set of rolls. This will bring the capacity of their mine up to fifty tons daily. The establishment is now treating some 40 tons per diem, the entire product being sent West. By use of the new machinery, now ordered, the ore will be crushed finer, thus saving a much larger percentage of silver.

The annual meeting of the West Gold Hill Mining Co. stockholders, held in Exchange Building, Denver, on September 13th, was very encouraging and the reports presented entirely satisfied all present that their investment was a sure winner, and that the intelligent management and output of the mine combine in making the West Gold Hill Mine a splendid proposition. Among the officers present were: L. Cavnah, Denver, president; Geo. E. House, Wheeling, W. Va., vice-president; C. S. Gilman, secretary, and Allan Brock, of Wheeling, treasurer; the very names of such widely known and successful business men on the directorate are a guarantee of conservative yet progressive management.

The West Gold Hill Mine is located in the Tin Cup district of Gunnison County, and will, judging by its present output of the precious metals on a paying basis, when the new machinery is added, make its stockholders wealthy in a very few years. The management have completed an aerial tramway which proves to be a complete success, saving a vast amount of time and labor, as it delivers a bucket of ore every three minutes. The lower tunnel driven from the mill to reach all mines on their property will penetrate through the sedimentary formation of the granite, as was done in the Jimmy Mack vein on the same hill. This latter tunnel cut through two unknown veins which contain a great mass of fine concentrating ore. The West Gold Hill tunnel will be 2,000 feet long. Mr. Chas. Gates, consulting engineer of the mine, has taken charge, and in supervision of purchasing the new machinery, and his great knowledge from a long experience, will ensure the mine getting only the best and most appropriate for the class of work required.

Mr. House, vice-president of the mine, one of the most wealthy men, and most successful merchants of Wheeling, W. Va., spent six weeks familiarizing himself with every detail of the mine, and expresses every confidence in its future.

Messrs. Thos. Patterson & Co., the local fiscal agents, who have within the past year or two, placed thousands of dollars worth of mining stocks among the Peterboro investing public, have great confidence in this proposition, and expect, now that the summer season is over, and our men of money have once more gotten to business again, to place a great deal of this stock with their clients. For particulars, see adv. in another column.

AN IMMENSE CROP OF FINE QUALITY

Western Harvest Yield Surprises a Grain Pessimist.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—Mr. F. W. Thomson, vice-president of the Ogilvie Milling Co., who is now making a tour through the Western wheat belt, has apparently altered his former opinion regarding the wheat crop. Up to some three weeks ago Mr. Thomson gave it as his opinion that the crop would not reach the published estimates. Communicating with James Carruthers & Company from Winnipeg, he now says: "Have just returned from covering several hundred miles of the crop district. I never saw anything like it in this country before. The average yield and quality far exceeds our earlier expectations. It is an immense crop. The weather is extremely favorable."

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking

VARICOCELE & STRICTURE

No other disease is so prevalent among men as Varicocele. As it interferes with the nutrition of the sexual organs it produces weakness, loss of semen through the urine, decay of the organs, pains in the loins, aching in the back, nervousness, despondency, bashfulness, palpitation of the heart, constipation, and a combination of these results in complete LOSS OF MANHOOD. Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with STRICTURE. If you have reason to believe you are afflicted with it, don't neglect it. It will ruin you. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing it. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT dissolves the stricture tissue, hence it disappears and can never return. We cure Varicocele and Stricture without operation or loss of time. The treatment may be taken at home privately. Send for our Free Illustrated Book on VARICOCELE and STRICTURE. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR NO PAY.

Kidneys & Bladder

All sexual complaints affect these organs, hence the kidneys are a great source of disease. Have you aching or weakness over the small of the back, tendency to urinate frequently, deposit in urine, coldness of hands or feet, a drowsy feeling in the evening? Then beware, for kidney and bladder trouble is imminent. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure any disease of these organs or no pay.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.

O. W. Rowe, of Jackson, Mich., says: I had varicocele in the extreme form, and two strictures of 8 years' standing. I was operated on twice, undergoing great suffering, but only got temporary relief. I was finally advised to try the NEW METHOD TREATMENT of Drs. K. & K. The enlarged veins disappeared in six weeks, the stricture tissue was removed in eight weeks and my sexual energy and vitality returned so I was a man in every respect. I recommend you doctors with my whole heart."

CURES GUARANTEED. NO CURE NO PAY.

We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood Diseases, Kidney and Urinary Complaints. Consultation Free. Books Free. Write for Question List for Home Treatment.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares ar Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

The surface indications at the time of location were of the very best, [illegible] obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $8 to $18 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

"You are no simpleton, sweet cousin, but you have not the faintest idea what love is," said Marsden, looking down into her eyes with a dark, peculiar expression in his own. "I wonder who will teach you! You must learn the lesson some day."

The words struck a hidden electric chain of thought, that brought Winton's grave strong face before her, and a vivid blush overspread her own, from her throat to the little curls that clustered on her brow. She turned aside to avoid his glance, and affected to steal a deep red geranium from a vase near her. "Theft is the order of the night," she said, laughing. "Is this permitted, squire?"

He did not reply at once. Then, with a quick, deep sigh, he roused himself.

"Take what you like!—take everything!" he said; and again calling for wine, drank a third large tumblerful.

"They are dancing," he exclaimed, "don't let us lose time! By the way, why don't you call me Clifford? Squire is ridiculous. It sounds as if I were a gouty, gray-haired, superannuated bovine Methusaleh."

"But I am used to call you 'squire,' all my life," she returned. "And I think of you as the 'squire.' Clifford sounds too familiar."

"Familiar! Imagine your being too familiar! And, as to thinking of the squire! I fancy he seldom troubles your thoughts."

"Oh, yes! I do think of you sometimes. Even before we came back, before I had met you in London, I used to see you with my father—riding, or out shooting—in my mind-pictures."

"And since?"

"Yes—very often—especially since this ball was talked of," she said, with a frank laugh.

"I believe you are a finished coquette!" exclaimed Marsden, trying to assume his usual light tone. "Come, let us start. I feel that I must have this waltz, if the smash-up of all things were at the end of it!"

Nora looked at him with a vague feeling of alarm. His white face and flashing eyes struck her as unusual. She had been accustomed to look upon him as a near kinsman, a contemporary of her father's, the friendly head of her house. Now, a sudden revelation flashed upon her that, although considerably her senior in years, he was as young, as full to the lips with life, as herself—that he was something to be guarded against—why, she did not know, nay, she would have indignantly denied the existence of such an instinct had she been accused of it. So she put her hand on his arm, and glided away with him, to the undulating music of the Viennese waltz.

Presently she said, "Stop—stop!" and Marsden brought her up, skillfully, near the recess of a window.

"What is the matter? Are you tired?"

"No, but I do not want to dance any more! I was sure you were taking too much champagne, squire!" looking straight at him. "Do you know you held me so tight it was quite uncomfortable?"

"Did I?" exclaimed Marsden, laughing. "I am sure I beg you a thousand pardons! It was, of course, quite unconsciously."

"I dare say, but I am sure you ought not to dance any more!"

"Why? My dear cousin, do you think I can not stand a few tumblers of champagne? Do you suppose I would take more than I could manage? You are positively insulting! Come, I shall never forgive you, if you don't finish the waltz with me."

"I really would rather not—I am not in the humor for dancing. I should prefer going home—and you are not quite as—as steady as you ought to be. You are not a bit like yourself. Don't be angry with me, I should be so sorry to vex you, particularly to-night."

"Then take another round. No, I will not let you off!"

"Well, squire, I see Helen at the other side of the room. I will go so far with you, then I will go home."

"Say 'Clifford,' or—I shall do something dreadful."

"Very well! Please, Clifford, be very steady."

Marsden tried to pass Mrs. L'Estrange, but Nora made a stout resistance, and they presently bade Lady Dorrington good-night.

"Shall I see you home?" asked Winton. "I do not think either of you look particularly brave or comfortable."

"Yes, do come!" ejaculated Mrs. L'Estrange. "I shall see to all our bars and bolts before I sleep to-night."

"I will just tell Marsden I shall return to hear if there is any message from the inspector, and will be with you directly."

"So Winton is going to escort you home?" said Marsden, coming out with Nora to the carriage. "Are you sure he is sober enough for such a task?"

"Mr. Winton? Oh, yes—he is never anything else but sober!"

Marsden laughed, not pleasantly.

By this time the story of the robbery had got afloat, and great was the excitement and hubbub. A thousand fantastic additions were made to a history strange enough in itself, and Marsden was almost mobbed by his guests, eager for information.

But the idea of continuing the festivity was quite given up; the company gathered in groups to discuss the extraordinary outrage committed almost in their midst, and gradually dispersed to their homes at a much earlier hour than was anticipated.

And so the grand Eveleigh ball, which was remembered for many a year, came to an end.

CHAPTER V.

The day succeeding the ball was one of intense excitement to Marsden's somewhat scratch household. For although, during a short visit to his old home in the early summer, his establishment had been put on such a footing as would enable him to come down for occasional visits with a few friends, in the shooting season, all descriptions of auxiliaries had to be hastily engaged to carry on the extensive service required for such a party as he had invited for his sudden outbreak of hospitality.

It was many a day since the Oldbridge police had risen to such importance, and they made the most of it.

Eveleigh House was pervaded by stalwart guardians of the public peace. They rummaged the rooms, sent the high-minded housemaids into hysterics by examining their boxes; they tramped to and fro in the grounds, every now and then carefully following foot-prints which had been made by their fellows. They nearly took the Italian confectioner, sent down by the great London house which furnished the more sublime portions of the supper, into custody; they examined the men, and were "sauced" by the women; but they discovered—nothing, and they impressed Marsden with a conviction of their incompetence. He therefore despatched a telegram to his solicitor, requesting him to obtain the assistance of a detective from Scotland Yard.

When Nora walked over to inquire for Mrs. Ruthven on the afternoon following the search she was a little surprised by being admitted to the presence of that lady, who rose from her writing-table to greet her with a smile.

She looked pale, and the shadows beneath her eyes were dark, as if she were exhausted by the excitement she had gone through.

"Thank you, my dear Miss L'Estrange, for coming. Is she ill? Captain Shirley tells me you were so good as to be very frightened about me last night. I assure you, I am grateful; I fancy few care much for me!"

"Oh, every one likes you! every

The Contract Started.

Work started yesterday morning on the Ashburnham outfall sewer and will be rushed ahead as fast as possible. The start was made on Peck street, near the locks, and will proceed towards Hunter street. There are only about 4,000 feet in all and it is expected that this will be done this fall. As yet only a few men are on the job, but Contractor Bogue will bring down a big gang from Arnprior the first of next week. Foreman O'Brien is at the Maple Leaf hotel and will receive applications at either the hotel or on the works. The septic tank will be built on Maria street and will be ready by the time the sewer is finished.

The Opera Last Night.

A fair audience greeted the Rosican Opera Company last night in the "Mikado." It was splendidly staged, and the costumes were very rich. Indeed, we doubt if there has been in years such a company of artists before a Peterboro audience. The singing was particularly fine. To-night the "Telephone Girl" will be presented.

An Ennismore Man Dead.

John Linn, a well known resident of Ennismore township, died at Nicholls' hospital on Sunday. He had been in the hospital a couple of weeks but had been ailing for some time previous. He was sixty-one years of age and leaves a wife and one daughter.

Kindness Appreciated.

The Rev. W. Major, rector of All Saints' church, wishes to express his appreciation of the kindness of those friends not members of the congregation, who so generously supplied flowers, fruit, etc., for the decoration of the church at the harvest festival.

Grand Evening Performance at Exhibition Grounds Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Reserved seat plan of grand stand at Madill's Drug Store.

Dragoons are Here.

The detachment of the Royal Canadian Dragoons arrived from Toronto yesterday, and will appear at the exhibition grounds this afternoon and to-morrow. The detachment consists of 19 non-commissioned officers and men under the command of Capt. D. Douglas Young. W. Widgery is warrant officer. The R.C.D. have with them seventeen horses and are quartered at the National. The men have this year appeared in Toronto and Ottawa. They will give their famous musical ride, military tournament, tent pegging, mounted combat, lying down horse, and cavalry melee.

Died in the Hospital.

The death occurred in Nicholls hospital on Sunday of Andrew McKay, a resident of Havelock. The deceased, who was 57 years of age, had been very ill for some time with a complication of diseases. He had been at the hospital for two weeks. The late Mr. McKay was unmarried and leaves a brother and sister in Havelock to mourn his death. The remains were taken to Havelock yesterday morning.

THE LATE JAMES N. DUFF

Particularly Sad Death at Nicholls Hospital.

The Times extends its sympathy to Mr. John Duff and family of Indian River Station, in the death of his only son, James N., who passed away at the Nicholls hospital on Sunday last, at the age of 27 years. The young man was a valued assistant to his father in conducting the general business and was very widely known and esteemed by all in the neighborhood. He was afflicted with an abscess in the right side, and came up on Tuesday for consultation with the doctor. It was decided to undertake the operation which was made on Thursday night. While all was fairly serene convalescence and in apparent good health, the operation was not successful and he never rallied, passing away on Sunday night. The funeral will take place from the family residence at Indian River station this afternoon.

Saved in Time For the Fair.

What would have been a bad blunder was stopped in time yesterday morning by the prompt action of Ald. Adams, chairman of the Board of Works. A gang of men had commenced tearing up, and consequently blocking the crossing on the east side of George, where crossed by Simcoe street. Had work been allowed to proceed, this important corner would have been rendered unfit for traffic during the three days of our fall Fair. Ald. Adams noticed this in time to save one half the crossing for public use.

MILLIONS FOR A NEW STOMACH

One of the greatest American millionaires once said to his physician, "A million dollars, Doctor, for a new stomach," and then the sick man groaned and turned away. One of a man's greatest pleasures is that born of a keen appetite, vigorous digestion and a good dinner, and this belongs to many a good fellow who is living on small wages, but the rich man without a stomach has to forego the good things of the table because his stomach rebels. Without a healthy stomach and a good digestion, our blood is thin, watery and poor, our heart action is weak, our liver does not do its duty, and man is miserable and unhappy. In this condition man is prey to the germs of influenza, consumption, malaria and all the ills that he is heir to. Consumption can be treated by natural methods which are as close to nature as possible.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., years ago understood this disease, and after a long period of experiment discovered certain roots and herbs which were nature's remedies, and succeeded in putting them up in a form that would be easily procured and ready to use. This he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It gives no false stimulation because it contains no alcohol and no narcotic. It helps digestion and the assimilation of such elements in the food as are required for the blood. Instead of a cod liver oil, against which the already sensitive stomach will declare open rebellion, this tonic has a pacifying action upon the sensitive stomach and gives to the blood the food elements the tissues require. It maintains the patient's nutrition by enabling him to eat, retain, digest and assimilate nutritious food. It overcomes gastric irritability and symptoms of indigestion, and in this way fever, night-sweats, headaches, etc., are done away with. It fortifies the body against the germs of consumption, grip and malaria, and it builds up the tissues and puts on healthy flesh.

When the druggist says he has something that is "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, he says so because he hopes to make a better profit, but his own mixtures have not stood the test of long experience nor had the success that Dr. Pierce's medicines have had.

Immense Crowds At The Opening

Local Fall Fair, Better Than Ever; Opened By R. R. Hall M.P. and T. E. Bradburn M.P.P. In The Presence of Cheering Citizens.

"Old Probs" was kind yesterday in send different products of both human and natural production, is well worth an hour's visit. On the gallery, upstairs, in a display of apples and other fruit well worthy of close attention.

The ladies' portion of the building upstairs, under management of Mrs. A. P. Poussette is main. devoted to samples of work done by the fair fingers of the gentler sex. The judges of this department, Misses Hall and Holliday, required all their large store of knowledge, taste and tact to determine which of the hundreds of samples of fancy work, deserved the coveted blue, red or white tickets.

The display of ladies' work, whilst not quite as large in quantity this year, in quality far exceeds that of many years past. Among the specimens exhibited, were some beautiful hand carved tables and other articles, which; under the skilful art of Mrs. R. Hall, showed that sculpture is not a dead art in this city. Mrs. Tooley obtained a prize for her woolen sofa cover. The bandinger work of a young lady was also greatly admired and obtained several prizes.

MR. WILHELMY'S DISPLAY.

One attraction, in the main building, that drew the attention and complimentary remarks of hundreds of visitors, yesterday, was that of Mr. C. Wilhelmy of 452 George street.

Whilst Mr. Wilhelmy had a most comprehensive collection of various kinds of hardware, and especially of aluminum goods of all kinds, his most interesting display was, perhaps that of the "Star" stove. This stove is veritably a "Little Wonder," and was patented in 1894 by Geo. Brousseau.

The Star is the only grateless stove on the world's markets made with a pipe at the back for the escape of gas.

Mr. Wilhelmy gave away thousands of circulars yesterday that contained recommendations of the Star stove; these circulars must of necessity attract earnest attention from people in this and near by counties; as those persons recommending its many good points, are not fictitious people living in places hundreds of miles away, and consequently inaccessible for purposes of verification, but all people who reside either in this city or in the County of Peterboro, they can easily be interviewed, by persons interested in or contemplating purchasing stoves.

This stove surpasses all others in that it burns hard or soft coal; it has no grate; there is no possibility of explosion; its interior is lined with best quality of fire linnig and consequently does not require fire brick. It has a large swing feed door, mica front, which renders it superior to the drop door; you are sure of your fire for 48 hours, without further attention; it is fully 45 per cent. more economical than other grateless stoves, and more, perhaps, than all, the 15,000 users of the Star, are daily being augmented by hundreds of new users of it. This Star is made in many different sizes, adapted to all requirements.

It would not do to pass Mr. Wilhelmy's display by without a passing notice to his splendid stock of aluminum goods of all kinds. It was interesting yesterday to see the close and careful attention paid to these goods by experienced housewives. Aluminum, the kitchen utensil of the future, has now come into such general use by good housekeepers, that every good house in the city has, or should have all kitchen and stove utensils made of it. Mr. Wilhelmy's aluminum goods, kettles, saucepans, frying pans and hundreds of others, are light, clean, durable; and, in a thousand ways, superior to the old fashioned iron or tin goods. Such a display as Mr. Wilhelmy's is well worth attention, or going to his store, 452 George street, to see and purchase.

THE CORDAGE CO.

Perhaps, without making invidious comparisons, of all the displays attracting attention at yesterday's Fair, the most complete and unique, was that of the Peterboro Cordage Company. This local industry, although comparitively speaking, only in its earliest youth, has already placed its products in the hands of nearly every farmer in the Dominion of Canada, and is already a household word, among those using rope or binder twine, for superiority of its goods and honesty of material.

Their display is particularly interesting, in that the materials introduced in the goods they make are shown from the raw hemp imported direct from the Philippine Islands and other countries, as well as the cane, rope, twine and cord, not only in its perfected state of completion but in the various stages of manufacture.

The Cordage Company have in entire section of the Exhibition building reserved for their exhibit, and this section, more than all others, shows taste in arrangement and unique placing so as to show a large display within a limited space.

Huge coils of the heaviest ship cables, are used as a foundation for piles of all kinds of rope of varying thickness and strength. These columns of rope and cordage, are gracefully festooned with strands of twine and raw material.

As every farmer, who has used binder twine made by the Peterboro Cordage Company, knows, the local made binder twine surpasses in quality, strength, and number of feet to the package all other makes. It was interesting, yesterday to hear the audible comments made by farmers surrounding this exhibit; a large majority of the farmers attending the Fair had used the Peterboro Cordage Company's Goods, and to a man, they all had a good word to say of it. Their cable and rope are fully equal, if not superior, to those made by the older American or European factories, and must prove, by their universal adoption, a great advertisement for Peterboro.

WHITE & GILLESPIE.

The tent erected for, and occupied by, Messrs. White & Gillespie, the George street grocers, was a scene of bustle all day long. Our county, being so largely devoted to dairy interests, naturally sends to the Peterboro Fair, farmers who take an interest in the most modern appliance for the dairy business, and hence White & Gillespie's tent, where was shown the Simplex Cream Separator, drew a great many visitors.

The Simplex Separator is undoubtedly in a class by itself, having all the points necessary for a first-class machine.

The Link Blade device is the most complete because it increases the capacity from 30 to 50 per cent. over other competitors. The bowl must be as small as possible and run at as high a speed as is consistent with doing this work perfectly. The gearings and bearings must be as simple and few as possible. These points in the Simplex give users the benefit of easy running, easy operation, thorough skimming and durability.

Another line of interest to dairymen this firm has added to their stock, is Wyandotte Dairymen's Cleaner and Cleanser, the finest powder on the market for washing dairy utensils and household articles. Once used always used.

It will pay any former interested in dairy matters who did not see White & Gillespie's display at the Fair, to call at their store, 236 George street, Peterboro. That Mr. Gillespie thoroughly understands and appreciates dairy matters is proven by his action in Toronto, where, as a delegate to the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association he was successful in getting the convention for Peterboro next January.

COLWILL BROS' HOGS.

In our report of yesterday's issue concerning exhibits at the Fair, by a misunderstanding we credited Colville Bros., with the display of Tamworth hogs, that should have been given to Colwill Bros., of Newcastle, Ont. Messrs. Colwill Bros. breed only the celebrated Tamworth hogs. Their widely known boar, "Colwill's Choice" has in the past few years won many first prizes and silver medals, and this year, a son of this boar won 1st prize and three silver medals at the Toronto Exhibition for the best boar in any class.

MR. TOOLEY'S BADGES.

A unique exhibition that attracted much attention was that of Mr. M. C. Tooley. This was an oak case, eight by three feet, fitted with handsome plate glass doors, containing what is perhaps the largest and most complete collection of badges that exists anywhere in the Dominion.

Mr. Tooley has been years collecting these many hundreds of badges, which include emblems of various societies, parties and lodges; in short Mr. Tooley's collection contains a sample of nearly every badge of cloth or metal that has been issued for any purpose in the Dominion. The case is lined with many colored silks, silver and polished brass badges, in contrast with the black velvet lining, makes a most beautiful and curious piece of furniture, well worthy of attention. Mr. Tooley, when his case returns from the fair, will give it a prominent place in his popular hotel, the Queen's, Cor. of Charlotte and Aylmer streets.

THE ATTRACTIONS.

To give any account of yesterday's Fair without mentioning the many attractions, would be to play Hamlet, without the ghost. The races were well contested and attracted much attention. In class A, the entries and results were as follows;

Miss Paisley	1	1	1
Minnie Bell	2	2	2
Joe Allen	3	3	3
J. R. Gentry	4	4	4

The 2.30 class races resulted as follows;

White Blaze	1	1
Little Will	2	2
Jay	3	3

The second heat of this race was a closely contested one, and drew great applause from the grand stand.

THE DRAGOONS.

Of all the attractions presented yesterday, the Royal Canadian Dragoons drew the heartiest cheers, and were of greatest interest. The Dragoons gave two performances, first, The Musical ride; this display was worth travelling hundreds of miles to witness. The perfect control over their horses, the workmanlike manner in which these well trained soldiers performed the intricate evolutions, drew scarlet, and yellow uniforms, made a spectacle that fairly caught the crowd's admiration. In the second part of their show, the Dragoons divided into two sections, and, this time, dressed in khaki, with helmets fronted by wire masks, and adorned with plumes of red and white paper, respectively, the sections met in mimic warfare; each section trying with sturdy blows of their stout sticks (for swords) to knock the plumes from their opponents' helmets. They next gave a good exhibition of tent pegging; at full gallop, four abreast, with their 10,000 long lances, each man tried, and generally succeeded, in striking with the lance point, a wooden peg driven firmly into the ground.

THE STAGE.

The trained ponies and dogs, shown on a stage in front of the grand stand, were simply marvellous in their training. Very seldom has such perfect docility and sagacity been seen in dumb animals before.

The Jay gave a good exhibition of barrel twirling and similar tricks.

The aerial trapeze performance by Lady, Madame Daye was as good as the best seen in any circus.

The best four-wheel turnout prize between R. H. Leary, R. H. Gibbs, and Dr. Archer, of Port Perry, was won by Mr. Leary.

Capt. Young in command of the Dragoons won 1st prize for saddle horses. It was a pretty sight to see this horse and man acting, under the master mind of man, as one piece of machinery. The Captain to turn his horse, simply moved his body without touching the lines.

A BIG DISASTER IN CALIFORNIA

Poor Engineering Said To Be Responsible.

LAND WILL BE DROWNED

What Prominent Engineer Says Regarding California's Great Valley

Detroit, Mich., September 27. — Disastrous results from irrigation in the Imperial valley in Southern California are predicted by George Y. Wisner, of Detroit, an engineer of national repute, and a member of the International Waterways Commission. Mr. Wisner was speaking before the Detroit Engineering Society:

"Within twenty years thousands of people who have taken up Government lands in the Imperial valley will be driven out by water, their homes and fields forming the bottom of an immense inland sea," he said. "The cause of the coming catastrophe is poor engineering in diverting the course of the Colorado River for irrigation purposes. The river has cut into the banks of its new course to such an extent that nearly all the Colorado River flows down into the valley.

"The engineers realize the danger but after many frantic efforts have failed to change the river's course back to its old bed.

"Not for twenty years will the evaporation down there be equal to the inflow into the valley. By that time a million acres of the valley, which is from 60 to 265 feet below sea level, will be covered by an inland sea."

INSPECTING THE CANAL

Minister of Railways Visited Trent Waters Yesterday.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, Mr. M. J. Butler, deputy minister, and other engineer, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, consulting engineer of the government, and Mr. Payne, private secretary to the minister, arrived in the city this morning by the C.P.R. in the minister's private car. The car was transferred to the G.T.R. tracks and the party left shortly after eight o'clock for Hastings, accompanied by Mr. J. H. McClellan, superintendent, and Mr. R. B. Rogers, engineer. Mr. Dickson Davidson, vice-president of the Dickson Co., and Dr. Powers, Port Hope, were also of the party. At Hastings they took the steamer King Edward and proceeded to Gore's Landing, where Hon. Mr. Emmerson was presented with an address by gentlemen from Port Hope and others.

After dinner the party embarked for Peterboro where they arrived in due course.

A WHEAT BLOCADE

Great Quantities Piling Up In The West.

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 27.—With wheat arriving at Port Arthur and Fort William in great quantities, Canadian vessel owners refuse to load at present prices. They demand two cents a bushel to all Georgian Bay ports.

The former rate was one cent to one cent and a half. All Canadian vessel owners are in the combine. An American boats cannot carry grain from one Canadian port to another, it is thought in local shipping circles the vessel men will win. It is the largest crop on record, and the wheat is coming in more rapidly than ever before. A wheat blockade is inevitable.

ASTOUNDED BY HEARING TRUTH

Russia is Only Learning The Facts About The War

SIBERIAN RAILWAY ABUSE

Private Trains For Generals And Women Delayed Transport of Troops

St. Petersburg, September 26. — The educated class throughout Russia is astounded at the unlimited license that has recently been given to the press. Long articles are printed in the leading newspapers every day in which men high in position are accused of being responsible in this way or that for the misfortunes growing out of the war.

Among these articles a series headed "Truth About the War," which has been appearing for some days in Novoe Vreyma (New Times), is being reprinted from Warsaw to the Urals and is attracting much attention. These articles are written by M. Taburno, one of the war correspondents of Novoe Vreyma, and he is giving his conclusions as to some of the causes that helped to make the Manchourian campaign a signal failure. One article is devoted to transportation, and some of the facts the writer adduces will seem very astonishing to those who are not familiar with conditions in this empire.

FACILITIES NOT UTILIZED.

Everybody knows that the single track railroad was all too inadequate for the movement of supplies and troops, but Taburno says that these meager facilities were not fully utilized. Viceroy Alexieff, who was in command in Manchooria early in the war, traveled constantly in a luxurious private train and incessantly delayed the movement of troops and supplies. He could not get over his dislike to traveling in the night, and so his train was halted at any station he might select for his night's rest. As trains passing on the side tracks would disturb his excellency's slumbers, all movement was stopped, and trains moving in both directions were held up till next morning at the stations on either side of Alexieff's resting place. The trains moving east were loaded with troops and provisions, but behind the viceroy was great, they had to lose ten hours when they approached the commander's resting place.

GENERALS HAD PRIVATE CARS.

General Kuropatkin, who was then the chief of Alexieff's staff, and the Generals in command of the army divisions each demanded and obtained a private train for himself, which was fitted up with every possible luxury. These private trains were an impediment and inconvenience in two ways. They were continually getting in the way of the troop and supply trains, and sometimes blocked the track for half a day at a time; they also practically absorbed all the passenger cars on the eastern part of the line, so that ordinary officers and passengers had to travel in freight cars that were sorely needed for other purposes.

General Grippenberg was very much displeased when he found that the train prepared for him had not been fitted with electric lights. He remained at one station for two weeks until the desired apparatus had been obtained from the nearest point where it was procurable.

COULD NOT DISTURB GENERALS.

A little later General Grippenberg's train stood on a switch and that of the general in command on another switch of the main line. They were only eight miles apart, and there was a comfortable carriage road between them, but Grippenberg would go to the frequent consultations with his chief only in his private train, with his cooks and servants and every luxury from home that could possibly be supplied. The railroad officials vainly protested that by taking the train to the main track he arrested the whole movement in that neighborhood. Their protests had no effect. In fact, the necessity of shaping all movements so as not to interfere with the comforts of the higher generals or compel them to leave their private trains soon became generally recognized.

The number of women in the army was unusually large for war times. Some of them had privileges on the railroad that were detrimental to the service; and it occurred on several occasions that the wives of the higher officers had the right of way on the road when hospital cars with wounded soldiers were standing on the switches.

COW HELD UP ENTIRE TRAIN.

It was the talk among the peasant soldiers, not complainingly, but rather as a matter to be expected, that although the generals' private comforts for the generals had been well looked after, their turn came for consideration. There was considerable diversion over the fact that one cow succeeded in holding up the entire train movement at a certain station for half a day. This fine animal, selected in Russia for her yield of rich milk, had been brought [illegible] for one of the generals. An officer on his staff gave orders, when she was far south in Manchooria, that the car devoted solely to the cow's use should be attached to a certain train. As the track was blocked with cars there was much shunting to and fro until the car was finally placed as ordered. It was then discovered that the position of the car would be inconvenient for the general's servant who had charge of the cow, and the shunting had to be done all over again. Meanwhile not a train went on its way for six hours.

WILL GO NORTH

Hon. Mr. Emmerson and Party Will Go North To-day.

The Hon. Mr. Emmerson, accompanied by Mr. J. M. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and Collingwood Schreiber, chief engineer, together with a number of leading citizens, including members of City and County Councils, will leave this morning by train for Lakefield, where they will embark on the steamer Stony Lake, on a trip over the waterway to Kirkfield. They will reach Fenelon Falls this evening, where they will remain over night, completing their journey to Kirkfield to-morrow. The Peterboro section will return to-morrow evening by train for Fenelon Falls.

A BATTLE royal

Italians and Wood Yard Men Have Lively Scrimmage.

About noon yesterday a lively scrimmage took place on the corner of Aylmer and Bethune streets, by two employes of R. Hicks & Co., and a gang of Italians who are working on the sewer. It appears that the Italians had entered the wood yard for the purpose of eating their dinner, and it is alleged they were ordered out by two men, who backed up their demands by a fusillade of stones. The Italians returned the fire, and for a time the air was thick with flying missiles. When the smoke of battle had cleared away it was found that both Brown and LeRar had sustained severe injuries about the head and were bleeding quite freely. The police were notified of the affair, and Constable Adams appeared on the scene. He arrested one of the Italians and brought him to the police station. The injured men were attended to by Dr. McNulty, and it is understood that they sustained several severe scalp wounds as a result of the melee.

Banquet to Honor Minister of Railways

The banquet given last night at The Oriental Hotel to the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, was attended by about one hundred guests and leading citizens.

The chair was ably filled by Mr. Hughes Charles, President of the Board of Trade. On his left sat the guest of the evening, and Hon. Senator McHugh, Lindsay. Besides these gentlemen there were present Mr. George Grant, M.P., and Messrs. Gunn, Orillia; McLaughlin, Lindsay; Bigelow, Port Perry, and a number of others.

After the good things had been partaken of, the following toasts were proposed and responded to;

The chair, "The King." Song, The National Anthem.

The chair, "The Governor-General Lieut.-Governor, Senate, House of Commons and Ontario Legislature." Responded to by Senator McHugh, Lindsay; Mr. Geo. Grant, M.P., Orillia; and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. Song—by Mr. W. McIlroy.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Vice-Chairman, proposed the toast of "Transportation," Responded to by Messrs. D. W. Dumble, McLaughlin, Lindsay, Mr. Kennedy, President of Board of Trade, Lindsay, Gunn, Orillia; Bigelow, Port Perry; McNabb, Haliburton, and Douglass, ex-M.P., Hastings.

Song by Mr. Crane.

The chair; "Our Guest," which was drunk with enthusiasm.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson in a half hour's speech, referred to the importance of Railways and Canals to Canada. He showed that not only had dividends in cash, it paid many fold by cementing the people of the east with the people of the west. He was a believer in the Trent Canal, and said that the work was progressing and would continue to progress until the great waterway was completed. His speech was exceedingly guarded, but at the same time showed that the Government was committed to the early completion of the canal.

Space will not permit a full report of the speeches, which were eloquent and forcible. That the minister was greatly impressed with what he heard he frankly admitted. He referred particularly to the speech of Mr. R. R. Hall and Mr. Grant, as being exceedingly pointed, and full of information.

The last toast on the list was the "Mayor and Corporation," which was ably responded to by Aldermen Mason and Adam Hall.

Much credit is due Mr. Graham for the excellent bill of fare and the way it was put up.

The party separated about one o'clock.

THE BOYCOTT IS WELL PLANNED

Chinese at Yokahama Are Organized to Co-operate With Those at Home.

ORDERS RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Under Severe Peralties, Fund Provided For Boycotters Out of Work.

Yokohama, September 26.—The anti-American Chinese boycott, as telegraphically reported, has reached Yokohama. The first indication of its presence was on July 26, when local Chinese refused to give any freight to the steamer Manchuria, due to leave for Hong Kong on the 28th. The reason stated by the local Chinese was that no coolies at Hong Kong would dare to discharge such cargo.

The movement slowly continued until on Sunday, August 6, a meeting of representative Chinese was held at the Chinese hall of commerce, Yokohama, when the proposed boycott was considered under five heads. There were banking, shipping, insurance, other lines of business and employes. There was much eloquence from the organizers of the meeting, who talked of patriotism, and the necessity that the Chinese residents of Yokohama, a great port, should fall in line with their brethren elsewhere. Finally it was resolved:

First—Not to deal in American goods.

Second—Not to ship any goods on American steamers (more particularly to Chinese, as Chinese relatives would be punished).

Third—That any Chinese merchant doing such business, through another, would be dealt with as if the business had been done by him.

Fourth—Not to do business with any American banking or insurance company.

Fifth—Some indulgence to be granted on account of the goods to be shipped to ports whither none but American steamers ply.

Sixth—Any Chinese infringing these resolutions to be subject to a heavy fine.

The matter of Chinese employes leaving their posts was postponed. Some of the compradores present claimed that they were under contract to their employes, and if they were to leave it would mean their ruin. To this it was urged that a fund had been established at Shanghai to provide for such cases, but the compradores wished for some documentary assurance of this before they took action. It was agreed to obtain such assurance from Shanghai.

There are more Chinese than people of any other foreign nationality in Yokohama, the latest census giving [illegible]. The movement has excited no particular flurry here, though there is some talk among certain Americans of retaliation by withdrawing patronage from Chinese tailors who monopolize that business, and establishing an American tailor. The boycott, it is feared, may injure the shipping companies seriously, if it is long maintained.

Street Car Track Blocked By Bears

Duluth, Sept. 26.—Street car traffic in Woodland avenue was blocked last night for several minutes by six black bears, three large and three small ones. Incidentally a dozen women passengers were frightened when the motorman stopped the car and called to the conductor that there were bears on the track. The women passengers huddled together and urged the motorman to go ahead at once for fear the bears might enter the car. Recently several cows have been shot in and near Duluth.

RUSSIA LOOKS FOR AN ALLIANCE

Wishes to Form an Entente With the United States

CZAR WANTS MORE FRIENDS

And is Looking to Uncle Sam For Much Needed Help

St. Petersburg, September 26. — Russia wants an alliance with the United States. An assistant to Count Lamsdorff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, said today: "A Russo-American entente is indispensable. Americans have heretofore supposed that Russia was the chief obstacle blocking them from converting the Pacific Ocean into an American lake. Now they realize that Russia, without manufacturing industries, or a mercantile marine, is not a dangerous competitor, but rather an excellent customer, while victorious Japan, as England's ally, will render American progress impossible in the Far East. Now that we are ejected from Manchuria, we no longer fear Japanese aggression. But American interests are exposed to it.

"The War Office has announced that Gen. Linevitch is to remain in Manchuria. Fresh troops are to be sent there to take the places of the others who are to return to their homes.

REDMOND'S DISLOYAL TALK

Irish Member Speaks of Irelands Independence.

New York, Sept. 27.—In the course of the address of Wm. K. Redmond last night, he said;

"It is the duty of the Irish representatives in the Imperial Parliament to hit England in her weakest and most vulnerable part. We are at the throat of England and she has felt our clutch. There is not a single instance on record where one Irish member in Parliament betrayed his trust. The methods we have pursued will, if persisted in, result in the breaking up of the English Parliament, or in forcing Ireland's freedom. The system established by Charles Stewart Parnell and Michael Davitt, over twenty-five years ago, is vindicated to-day. Land landlism is killed in this land. To-day we hear of no wholesale evictions. People have ceased to pay rent, and are buying back the land on the installment plan."

RUSSIAN WOES INCREASE

Leprosy in the Wake of the Russian Army.

Bucharest, September 26.—Leprosy is alarming prevalent in Roumania, according to statistics published here. Since the year 1895 so many cases have come to light that the authorities became alarmed and have resolved upon the rebuilding of an ancient monastery at Arsota, on the seashore, for the interment of lepers.

It appears that the scourge, if not freshly introduced into the country, has certainly increased in those districts through which the Russian forces passed in 1877-78. It is a well-known fact that cases of leprosy are always to be found in the Russian army, and surgeons who have returned from Manchuria testify to the large number of men afflicted with this disorders.

WHY SO WEARY?

Always Restless and Weak Is Not Natural—But Its Dangerous

You have to work hard. This uses up lots of nerve force and tears down the body faster than it can build up.

The result is a half-dead feeling you can't shake off. Somehow you must get more vitality. The water in your blood must be turned into nutriment and building material.

This is just what happens in using Ferrozone, which renews the blood and nerves, and makes each organ do the work that nature expects of it.

Ferrozone quickly increases your weight, brings appetite and healthy color, instills a reserve of vigor into the system that defies weariness, exhaustion, debility, or sickness of any kind.

The enormous strengthening power of Ferrozone is proved in the case of Mrs. Edward Hill, of Orr Lake, Ont., who says:

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown. At night I tossed restlessly in bed, unable to get any rest from sleep. In the morning I suffered from over-powering weakness. My appetite was poor. I grew pale, thin and despondent. A slight backing cough also added to my burden.

"My doctor said to try Ferrozone, and it did me good in a few days. I increased in strength, the nervous sensations disappeared, and with my appetite came back my color and good spirits. I have gained over ten pounds in weight, and as my age is 56, I consider Ferrozone is a marvel." (Signed) Mrs. Edward Hill.

REMEMBER THIS: Ferrozone is a true tonic—not an alcoholic stimulant. Fifty chocolate-coated tablets in a box for fifty cents, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

CHINA IS AWAKENING

There are many evidences of a national awakening in sluggish China, where the spirit of progress has lain dormant for a score of centuries. Following the brilliant example of Japan in rehabilitation, the Celestial Empire is preparing to take its proper place in the family of nations. The most populous as well as the most densely settled country of the earth, China, has remained supinely indifferent to the call of civilization, and Oriental prejudices and superstitions have dominated in its administration and social life.

The yawning tendencies of the Pekin dynasty to exert progressive influences date from the outbreak of the Boxer rebellion. At that time it was the diplomacy of the lamented John Hay that insured the integrity of China. Previous to that incident China lay like a sleeping giant, a prey to the marauding cupidity of any nation that felt inclined to take a seaport here or a military station there. In times past, England, France, Germany, Russia and Spain pressed hard upon its frontier and ocean ports, seizing territory and trading upon Chinese land without effectual resistance upon the part of the dominating Manchus. As a result its best commercial harbors were occupied by foreigners, and even its railways were built and operated by outside capital.

Preliminary to other steps, China is proceeding to a unification of its territory and the weeding out of foreigners and foreign concessions. Japan has returned Manchuria to China, which is the most important acquisition, and only a few days ago the Chinese government bought back the concessions granted to the American China Development Company for the construction of a railway from Canton to Hankow, for $4,750,000. It will probably be built as a Chinese institution. Measures have been taken to secure Wei-Hai-Wei from England and Kiao-Chau from Germany. These are among the few good seaports along the North Chinese coast. This land-regaining campaign of China will no doubt result in establishing the unification of the empire, after which internal improvements will be inaugurated by the government and the more enterprising Chinese capitalists.

It has been known for a long time that China was remodeling its military system with a view to bringing it up to the highest standard of efficiency. Lieutenant Hobson, in his Chautauqua lectures, says that the Chinese army will soon be the most formidable fighting organization in the world. The Chinese War Department has employed the best tacticians in America and Germany to coach the Celestial army, and contracts have been made with some of the largest arsenals in the world for military equipment. Chinese exclusiveness is a thing of the past and the coming decade will probably witness a rapid development in that great nation toward progress, political and social.

JAPAN'S CASH INDEMNITY

It will not do to imagine that because Japan did not get an indemnity from Russia, that she comes out of the conflict without any financial remuneration for her immense sacrifices. Experts have been estimating the cash value of the concessions which Russia has made to her over and above the treatment of Corea and Manchuria; and they total up to a nice sum for the Mikado's Government.

First there are the fishing rights given by Russia to Japan along her Pacific coast. Mr. E. Yamaza, of Tokio, who knows a good deal about the subject, says that the Russian seaboard teems with salmon, salmon trout, cod and herring. Hitherto the Japanese have only been permitted to fish, under a yearly license, off the southern end of the Island of Sakhalin; but even this poor pittance be values at a million dollars a year, and adds that the total concession must be worth at least ten times as much. So we may put down ten millions for the fishing privileges.

Then there are the railways transferred by Russia to Japan, which Mr. H. W. Denilson, the English adviser of the Mikado's Ministers, calculates to be worth $150,000,000, while the coal mines taken over are worth from a quarter of a billion upward. These sums will not, of course, be available for the immediate payment of Japanese loans as an indemnity would have been; but they constitute wealth which will eventually fall into Japanese pockets and so benefit the people quite as much as a lightening of taxation would do. Then to this must be added what remains of the immense Russian works at Port Arthur and Dalny no small sum; and the value of the mines in Lower Sakhalin.

Another large item will be the war vessels captured from Russia. It is hard to say what these will be worth when repaired and got ready for use. Russia estimates that she has lost $112,000,000 in this way; but, of course, nothing approaching this figure could be set as the value of the battered hulks which have fallen into the hands of the Japanese. Still what they have captured will be worth many millions which must otherwise have come out of the Mikado's naval fund.

It pays to win a war even if one does not get an indemnity. The "pickings" are quite as good as those of a political victory.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. A LAST CHANCE

Buy Goldfield Concordia Mining Stock Before Railroad Arrives

As is well known to our readers, and particularly that portion interested in mining investments, the value of mining stock is largely regulated by the shipping facilities for ore and supplies. The Goldfield Concordia mine, located in the great wealth producing Goldfield district, is not a prospect but a producing mine, now getting out ore worth from $216 to $440 per ton.

The railroad now building to the Goldfield district is nearly completed; with shipping facilities rendered available, the Goldfield Concordia mining stock, now offered at 10 cents per share, will increase rapidly and enormously in value. The Concordia Company own the property they work, and have it fully paid for. A strong point to consider when investigating any mining investment, is the references given by the company whose stock it is proposed to secure. The Goldfield Concordia Mining Company's references are of the highest class, including banks and prominent local men of high municipal and business standing.

This is the last chance to secure the Goldfield Concordia stock at the low sum of 10 cents per share. Many shrewd investors are buying before the railroad taps this property so as to share in the certain raise in value. Stock will advance September 25th.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.

Many of the most enjoyable one-day trips in Colorado begin and end at Denver. The cost of these little journeys is not great.

After you have familiarized yourself with Denver and its surroundings will be soon enough to decide where to go for the rest of your visit. The question must be considered from several standpoints—altitude, hotel accommodations, accessibility, amusements, etc.

Our Colorado literature will help you in deciding where to go and what to do. Sent free for the asking.

The Glenara Gold Mining Co.

Capitalization, 1,500,000 Shares at Value, $1.00 Per Share.

Stock Fully Paid and Non-Assessable Treasury Stock, 700,000 Shares.

This Company was organized in March, 1905, under the laws of Arizona, with a capital of 1,500,000 shares. The par value of these shares is $1.00 each. They are full paid and forever non-assessable. The Company owns approximately seventy-five acres of territory in the Goldfield district. By reference to the map you will note that every acre is within the producing area, and with the systematic development this large acreage is to receive, there is no doubt that the stockholders will very shortly see the Company on a producing basis.

We desire to say right here that this Company is organized for legitimate mining, and not stock jobbing purposes, and among the directors are some of the best known mining men in the West. It is their one desire to make the GLENARA GOLD MINING COMPANY a great success at the earliest possible moment.

It is for the purpose of raising funds to vigorously develop the Company's holdings that some Treasury stock is now offered for public subscription. Out of a capitalization of 1,500,000 shares, 700,000 shares have been placed in the treasury. This treasury reserve insures the company a large working fund, if needed. It is the belief of the management, however, that it will not be necessary to dispose of over 50,000 shares of the treasury stock. The present outlook is such that the management believe that the mine will be on a paying basis before many weeks have passed.

The Property of The Glenara Gold Mining Company Consists of the Following:

The Glenara Group consists of four claims located in the Goldfield mining district of Nye County, Nevada. These claims are known as the Kentucky Bell, Mabel M., Lone Jack and June Bug, covering about seventy-five acres. This group of claims is located on a system of ledges over a mile and a half in length and about half a mile wide. These ledges are the same as those traversing the Kendall, Tonopah Club, Vernal, Quartzite, Black Butte, New York, Brooklyn, Jumbo, Vernal, Penn and Federal.

[illegible] however, good float being found upon the ground and good pannings are obtainable, all of which indicate that the property can be developed into a paying proposition. The ground has been thoroughly prospected and the sinking of the shaft begun on the Kentucky Bell claim. There is a force of men sinking a shaft as rapidly as possible. Good ore has been encountered running from $3 to $12 per ton, increasing in value with depth, and it is safe to say that a strike may be looked for any day.

Taken as a whole, the investment offered by the Glenara Gold Mining Company is equal to any prospective company in the district. The claims are exceptionally well located, covering a large area; the management is conservative and honest, and is working hard for the success of the company.

The proposition will stand the very closest investigation, and, in fact, an investigation by prospective investors WILL MEAN AN INVESTMENT. WE COURT INVESTIGATION.

The allotment of stock is very small, and if you desire to become interested with this enterprise, it will be necessary for you to communicate with us at once.

The work on the property is being pushed to the utmost, and any day may bring news of a strike which will advance the price of the stock.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

one must like you," cried Nora, touched by her caressing manner and soft voice. "I was awfully frightened you looked like death. I wonder you are as well as you seem."

"I feel very shaky, however. Was there ever so audacious a crime? and that awful long knife! I must have been near death for a moment."

"Don't think of it," said Nora, shuddering; "and they have found no clew as yet to the thief?"

"None—not the faintest. The cloak, hat, and mask, were all rolled up together, with the knife, I am told, and are none of them of English make; they are no help. Captain Shirley says, no doubt the robber had other clothes or covering to put on, and probably walked away coolly and openly, as a guest who was enjoying the freshness outside after warmth within."

"But he will be discovered? Surely he will not escape?" said Nora.

"Not if money and perseverance can trap him," said Mrs. Ruthven, in a low, resolute tone, that struck Nora as having a touch of cruelty. "What an ending to a charming ball!" she continued; "though it did not quite end—did it? I believe you had a few dances after."

"Yes," returned Nora; "all the people did not know for some time what had happened, so the band played on, but by half-past two all was ended."

Something had kept her back from saying that she and Marsden had danced.

"Oh, of course!" said Mrs. Ruthven, slowly raising her eyes, till they rested on her companion's. "There was no reason why two or three hundred strangers should 'cease their funning,' because an outsider was robbed. And who did you dance with?"

"With the squire; you know he always said I should have one dance with him, if he ever gave a ball."

"Very natural, indeed," said Mrs. Ruthven, sweetly; "you have known him, I believe, all your life."

"Oh, yes; when I was quite a baby, he was so much with my father. I used to think him a second one, so when I met him again I was quite astonished to find him so young."

"And not at all fatherly? I understand. How long was it since you had met?"

"Nine or ten years; but he was just the same as ever; so good-natured and pleasant, though he treats me like a great baby, and never speaks a reasonable word to me," said Nora smiling, and coloring at the tone in which Mrs. Ruthven had uttered her last words.

"Well, he must be a charming relative," remarked Mrs. Ruthven, with a slight sigh, and for a short while they talked pleasantly of Eveleigh and country life; the various places both had visited on the continent, and the delights of the past season in London.

"It was rather ominous, was it not, that you should express such a wish last night to see all my jewels?" said Mrs. Ruthven. "If you like I will show you what is left of them. Unfortunately I put on the best I possessed to do honor to the Eveleigh revels."

"Thank you very much. I am exceedingly fond of seeing pretty things."

"Come, then," said Mrs. Ruthven, and led the way into her bedroom, where her maid was kneeling beside a huge dress-basket which she was packing. Various garments were scattered about, and the beautiful ball-dress of the previous night lay over a sofa.

"Are you going away then?" exclaimed Nora, seeing these preparations.

"Yes; I leave to-morrow. I feel I can not shake off the nervous terror which oppresses me while I stay here; besides, I want to be in London. Give me my jewel-case, Virginie, and you need not wait."

Mrs. Ruthven walked across to the bay-window, in which a long, low, cushioned seat gave room both for herself and her visitor, and drawing a work-table near her, placed the large square case upon it.

"My poor lost rubies and diamonds had a case of their own," she said, as she unlocked the one before her with a little golden key which hung round her neck.

"These are mere whims and oddities," she continued, as she displayed a variety of costly artistic trifles on the first tray, and then proceeded to lift the others containing opals and diamonds, pearls, turquoises, quaint, richly barbaric pieces of Indian jewelry enough for two greedy women.

"If you have all these left, you are not so much to be pitied," said Nora laughing.

"My dear Miss L'Estrange, my rubies are worth more than all these put together. Besides, my poor father collected them for me, and had them set for a wedding present. I well remember Mr. Marsden (he was at my wedding, you know, my husband was a relation of his) telling me that the Queen had scarcely anything to surpass them. It is a dreadful blow losing them, I assure you."

"Yes, I can quite understand it," said Nora, "and I think you bear the loss with wonderful equanimity."

Mrs. Ruthven smiled, and looked dreamily out of the window.

Marsden's ardent sympathy, his eagerness to accompany her to London, to comfort her in every possible way, had been an immense consolation. As she did not speak for a moment or two, Nora rose and went to look at the ball-dress.

"What a lovely gown! You were like a picture as you came into the ball-room. Why, Mrs. Ruthven," stooping and gently moving the lace drapery on the body with her fingers, "you drop your abundant jewels about like the possessor of a fairy mine! Here is a diamond among your lace."

She held it out as she spoke.

Mrs. Ruthven came forward with an air of surprise, and stood gazing at it as if fascinated.

"How could it have come there?" she exclaimed, and stopped short.

"It is a stud! Is it not like one Captain Shirley, or some one, wore last night?" asked Nora.

"Shirley!" repeated Mrs. Ruthven slowly. "He never had a stone like that." She paused again, then, taking and placing it in her jewel-case, she added: "It is mine. It is the centre of one of my ear-rings, which takes out to form a stud. It belongs to some I seldom wear. Virginie is really too careless. She must have dropped it. By the way," shutting her jewel-case sharply, "the only part of my parure that wretch spared were the butterflies on my sleeves. I suspect he had not time to tear them off." She shivered. "Is it not a horrible thought? That wretch stooping over me, touching me while I was insensible! Pray ring the bell, dear Miss L'Estrange. I do so want a cup of tea. You will stay and have one with me, will you not? You cheer me."

"I shall be very glad."

"Come into the next room then," said Mrs. Ruthven, adding, "I shall not scold Virginie before you, it might hurt her feelings, and she is a clever maid, but she must have been handling my things carelessly to let that diamond drop."

"I am glad I am not your maid, to have the care of such precious gems," said Nora smiling.

"My dear Miss L'Estrange! What an idea! When you marry and have jewels of your own, you will know how to take care of them. Bring tea, Virginie; bring it quickly."

And Mrs. Ruthven applied herself to put the papers and letters lying on the table together with considerable method.

"What a charming view!" said Nora, strolling to the window. "Do you know I never was in these rooms before. They were Mrs. Mure-

The power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills over the complexion is marvellous. As if by magic all blemishes, humors and impiles disappear. A clear, ruddy glow is quickly manifest on the cheeks, and looks that delight the eye come to stay. It is by purifying and enriching the blood, and thereby building up the constitution, that Dr. Hamilton's Pills accomplish so much in a short time.

"I can highly recommend Dr Hamilton's Pills for the complexion, writes Miss E. M. Porter, of Clear View, Ia. Before using this medicine I had a very pallid, murky complexion, and there was no redness or color in my cheeks. But Dr. Hamilton's Pills changed this and my looks have been much improved."

In every case of dull, sallow complexion, wherever, the skin is blotchy and rough, Dr. Hamilton Pills quickly prove their merit. You'll look better, feel gaetly improved, by relying on this great medicine, which is for sale in every drug store 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail, from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Impressions of Canada's Great West.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—A prominent American newspaper man, Mr. Wm. E. Curtis of Washington, was in the city yesterday returning from a protracted visit to the Canadian West. Mr. Curtis has been writing a series of letters to the Chicago Record-Herald, and other journals on his impressions of the resources, progress, and conditions of the West. He expressed himself as impressed by the vastness of the country. Referring to the inrush of Americans to the West, he said that Canada was getting the best class of settlers, among whom, fortunately for her, there were no politicians.

Obituary.

The Marion, Ind., Daily Chronicle of recent date, contains a long obituary of a young man who has relatives in this city. Mr. Henry Fry Armstrong, died at Marion, Ind., on Sept. 11th at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Armstrong, 216 West Fifth street, after a long illness with lung trouble. Mr. Armstrong was 25 years of age and had lived in Marion many years. For some time previous to his illness he was employed by the National Supply Company. About one year ago, his health failing, he went to New Mexico and other Western States, but instead of receiving benefit lingered for his condition gradually became weaker and he was forced to return to his home. He is survived by a father, mother, and one sister, Mrs. E. J. Johnston 21 years ago, the deceased, with his sister, now Mrs. (Dr.) E. Johnston, were children, were here on a visit with his grandmother, the late Mrs. Catherine Fry, 204 Park St.

Endorsed By Belleville.

The Belleville Intelligencer, in discussing the proposed reduction of the Board of Education, says: The Peterboro City Council is about to take action in regard to changing the constitution of the Board of Education in that city. It is proposed that the size of the Board be reduced, and that the members be elected by the people. One of the Peterboro aldermen, discussing the matter, said he thought the time had come when the Board of Education should be wholly responsible to the people. The enormous amount of money they handled, and the power they had, were such that, in his opinion, they should be elected by the people, and answerable to them. The same conditions which prevail in Peterboro prevail in Belleville; therefore the same argument would apply.

Police Court.

Yesterday morning Mr. H. Rush occupied the magisterial rostrum at the police court. Only one case was brought up, that of young Primeau charged with an unnatural offence. The case was enlarged until Thursday.

—All school children will have a half holiday this afternoon.

AT THE PARSONAGE

Coffee Runs Riot No Longer.

"Wife and I had a serious time of it while we were coffee drinkers.

"She had gastritis, headaches, belching and would have periods of sickness while I secured a daily headache that became chronic.

"We naturally sought relief by drugs and without avail, for it is now plain enough that no drug will cure the diseases another drug, coffee sets up particularly, so long as the drug which causes the trouble is continued.

"Finally we thought we would try leaving off coffee and using Postum. I noticed that my headaches disappeared like magic and my old "trembly" nervousness left. One day wife said, 'Do you know my gastritis has gone?'

"One can hardly realize what Postum has done for us.

"Then we began to talk to others. Wife's father and mother were both coffee drinkers and sufferers. Their headaches left entirely a short time after they changed the old coffee for Postum. I began to enquire among my parishioners and found to my astonishment that numbers of them use Postum in place of coffee. Many of the ministers who have visited our parsonage have become enthusiastic champions of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

LOVE DIES.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox says there comes a time in the course of married love when "the thrill goes out of the handclasp and the kiss at times, and it is then that husband and wife may be susceptible to other magnetic personalities." The reason for this condition of affairs is often the fault of the husband, but how often is it not due to the wife's nervousness and irritability due to some trouble with the organs peculiarly feminine—the wife under such circumstances feels languid and spiritless—she suffers perhaps from headache and sleeplessness.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women can exhibit, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhœa, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

A great deal of sickness may be saved by keeping on hand a copy of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." Sent free, paper-bound, for thirty-one one-cent stamps, to pay cost of customs and mailing only; or cloth-bound for fifty stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constipation and a bilious attack go hand-in-hand. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure and speedy cure for both. Tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Nothing else is "just as good."

THE LATE MRS. MYERS

Death of a Well Known and Esteemed Lady.

There passed away in Nicholls hospital on Monday morning Margaret McWilliams, wife of Reynold Francis Myers, 36 Ware street. A few weeks ago the deceased contracted typhoid fever and was just recovering from the effects, when Bright's disease set in and after suffering from convulsions, death came as a relief this morning about five o'clock.

The deceased lady was only 35 years of age. She was married about thirteen years ago to Mr. Myers, who survives her, there being a family of seven children, six girls and one boy. The eldest, Ida, is in her twelfth year, and the youngest, Clara Catharine, is only a few months old.

The late Mrs. Myers was Miss Margaret McWilliams and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McWilliams, 90 Lansdowne street. Her father died only about three weeks ago. Her mother, two sisters living at home, and three brothers survive. One brother John, also lives at home, and two others, Thomas and James, who are married, life in the city.

The late Mrs. Myers was a member of All Saints' church and a large number of friends will learn with sorrow of her untimely death. The funeral will take place at three o'clock from her mother's residence, 90 Lansdowne avenue, this afternoon at three o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. Wm. Major will conduct the services.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

VOL. XXXIII, NO. 227 PETERBORO, ONTARIO, THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 28, 1905. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Yesterday's Fair Better Than Ever

To a few gentlemen in this city belongs the credit not only of getting up an exhibition that would do credit to many a city larger than Peterboro, by their intelligent work and indefatigable efforts but of laying down a precedent in the matter of Peterboro's fall fairs, that must, in future years, ensure a grand attendance and consequent advertisement of this city.

Yesterday, Mr. H. C. Winch, the hustling superintendant of the Fair showed that the days of miracles are not yet completely gone with scores of jealously competing exhibitors, he managed not only to prevent any serious cause for complaint, but had the many exhibits so placed that each and every firm or individual had good room and position to display their goods. Mr. Winch, as superintendent of the Fair is the right man in the place, his knowledge of human nature, and skill in management was appreciated by all.

It might perhaps seem fulsome to give personal notice to each member of the executive; suffice to say that from Mr. Hughes Charles, president, who seemed everywhere at the right time; Mr. Hall the secretary, whose long suffering patience never seemed to give out or allow him to get rattled, to the directors whose hard work, in the good cause, created Peterboro's best Fair on record, and the judges whose opinions except in isolated cases of dissatisfied competitors whose goods took a lower place than the exhibitors of such thought they should, perfectly satisfactory and just.

Yesterday the grounds were better policed than on Tuesday; this enabled the races and various events on the track to proceed without any delay. The side shows, if such a term might be used, such as the "Ring a cane and it is yours, "throw a hoop over the knife and take it home," "see the wonderful two-headed lamb," "get your photograph on a button for 10 cents," all did a good business yesterday, and, although such is contrary to general custom at fairs, all seemed satisfied with the chance they had paid for in these privileges. The photograph man, who [illegible] in a neat brass [illegible] frame, and did a land office business in [illegible] Ottawa, and a cousin of Mr. Wilt Metheral of this city. The poultry display, as noted in yesterday's issue was the finest ever seen in any fall fair outside the Toronto exhibition, and required some 500 coops. The cattle, dogs and sheep display exceeded all previous records in this city.

T. J. COLE'S EXHIBIT.

Among the hog pens, it was interesting to follow farmers who were posted on various lines of porkers and to watch the instantaneous way in which a good exhibit arrested their attention. One lot of pens containing the world wide known strain of pure Yorkshires, shown by Mr. T. J. Cole of Bowmanville, owner of the celebrated Maple Grove Herd seemed to attract particular attention from all farmers and others who are experts on raising hogs. Mr. Cole had his prize tickets, bearing practical evidence of the judges' decisions, strung along the pens containing his hogs. These Yorkshires are too well known by fanciers to require special notice of their good points. It might, however be said that Mr. Cole's Yorkshire hogs, are the finest lot of that strain ever shown in Peterboro, and that farmers desirous of keeping up with the times and raising only the best grade of hogs, would do well to communicate with Mr. Cole and get his prices and description of the hogs he needs.

As is well known by our local farmers, the Yorkshire strain of hogs, have many points of excellence unknown in other breeds, and of Yorkshires on the Canadian market, Mr. Cole's are equal, if not superior to any, as shown by the prizes he has won both here and at other fairs.

HAMILTON INCUBATOR CO.

Among the many exhibits displayed under specially erected canvas, was one that drew the attention, not only of dwellers in this and other towns and cities, but of thousands of wide-awake progressive farmers in these days of strenuous competition and aggressive efforts to have only the best and most modern article on the world's markets, the chicken raiser, who is content to rely on the old time way of trusting valuable eggs to the fickle care of untrustworthy hens, to be hatched out in unclean, and too often lousy nests, must soon take a back seat among his competitors. The only sanitary and up-to-date way to rear broods of young chickens, particularly of valuable strains is to use an incubator. As is well known, there are many incubators now on the market, some poor, some better; and a few really effective. Of the latter class, the leading incubator, better in most fundamental parts than all others, is that shown at yesterday's Fair. This incubator, which even a brief inspection shows to be the best on the American or Canadian markets, is made by the Hamilton Incubator Co., of Hamilton, Ont.

One strong argument in favor of the Hamilton incubator is that each and every one is sold under a positive guarantee. This guarantee certifies that it is made of best material, is warranted perfected in operation, and, above all that this incubator will hatch any egg that is fertile, provided that printed instructions be followed. This guarantee is good for one year from date of purchase, so this gives any purchaser full time to discover its demerits if any exist. It might be added that seldom, if ever, has any fault been found with the Hamilton incubator, unless through carelessness of the user.

The main points of this incubator are its hatching qualities, its perfect construction and its durability. There are other points in which the Hamilton incubator excels and rivals, but they would take too much space for this article. For prices and particulars, address either the company in Hamilton, or our well known fellow citizen, Mr. W. E. Murphy, 388 Water street, their agent for Peterboro county, who having purchased this incubator, are constantly recommending its use.

G. FITZGERALD & COMPANY.

The largest single exhibit under canvas, shown at the Fair yesterday and Tuesday, and which brought perhaps, the largest crowd of well-to-do sight seers and purchasers, was that of Messrs. Geo. Fitzgerald & Co., the veteran carriage and waggon manufacturers of this city. For the information of our out of town readers, we might say, that for many years, Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald has carried on the largest wagon and carriage manufactory, not only in this city, but in this portion of Ontario, at the corner of George and Brock streets, Peterboro.

Mr. Fitzgerald, under whose eye and personal supervision every part of their goods are made, from the tip of the shafts to the tire of the wheels, is one of the oldest and most thoroughly posted carriage builders in the Dominion of Canada. He who buys carriages from Fitzgerald & Co., does not take the chances that an incumbent on purchasing from one of the largest American or Canadian carriage works, where the goods are made in far distant departments and then assembled irrespective of adaptability to each other, and too frequently passed by, by inspectors with little or no responsibility, and whose main thought dwells on their own wages and hours of work on account of having no tangible connection with results. Mr. Fitzgerald personally sees every part, however small of every vehicle his firm turns out; he personally choose and inspects every gallon of turpa, paint or varnish, every stick of timber, every pound of steel that enters into his company's wagons or carriages. The result of this personal supervision is that when a man buys from this firm, the vehicle is its own guarantee.

Mr. Fitzgerald's display yesterday contained 14 rigs of different makes buggies, surreys, runabouts, and other kinds. Every vehicle sold by the Geo. Fitzgerald Co., carries a personal guarantee of excellence of manufacture and durability. Yesterday, within one hour, Mr. Fitzgerald sold one rubber tire buggy to Mr. Wm. Irwin of this city and a beautiful trimmed to Mr. Marmon Gunstock. The very fact of such well qualified judges of carriages buying just on sight of the goods is a sufficient guarantee of their excellence.

The G. Fitzgerald Co. had a magnatty tricoated, rubber tired surrey which was a perfect picture. They also had a beautiful buggy, which attracted so much attention at the Toronto Fair, upholstered in [illegible] leather in tan color, diversified by leather [illegible] in a darker color that was a work of art. Any one contemplating the purchase of a carriage or wagon, before buying a highly colored and cheaply materialed article made in one of the larger factories would do well to get one of home make, superior in appearance and reliable in material and construction.

MR. REDMONDS CATTLE.

As noted before, the cattle shown at this year's Peterboro Fall Fair, were better in quality than ever before. The cattle display was a sight well worth travelling many miles to witness yesterday. Every strain and breed of any consequence was on exhibition at this year's fair. Of the well known breeds, it is unnecessary to say, that the old reliable Durham attracted much attention from experts. Mr. S. F. Redmond, out of nine head shown had five of registered stock, and for his Shorthorn Durham cattle carried off many of the coveted blue and red prize cards.

Mr. Redmond's cattle are raised on his extensive and valuable farm, situated on lot 21, con. 12, township of Otonabee, and his P.O. address is Peterboro. Mr. Redmond captured first prize for his grand aged shorthorn Durham bull. He also carried off a coveted prize for aged cow of the shorthorn Durham strain. His short horn Durham bull calf and heifer calf, of the same breed, got second prize.

In the dairy grade, Mr. Redmond took 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prizes for cows in the Durham grades.

In the Holstein grade, his cow took first prize as a dairy cow. This alone is one of the strongest points of excellence in any herd, and Mr. Redmond's friends and the public in general cannot but remember this fact, when contemplating the purchase of cattle for improving their own herds. The dairying interests have now assumed such vast proportions in the Canadian farmers future that everything appertaining to increased supply of milk must hold attention. Intending purchasers of stock would do well, previous to buying to take the Keene road to Mr. Redmond's farm and look over his extensive herd of [illegible] and other breeds.

MR. S. SNOWDEN'S HOGS.

Breeders and fanciers of swine do not require much telling that the Berkshire strain, the old and reliable hog that attracts such close attention from both English, Irish and Scotch raisers, leads all others in most points of excellence. Mr. S. Snowden, whose P.O. address is Box 39, Bowmanville, Ont., had on of the choicest collections of Berkshires at this year's Fair here, that has ever been seen in Canada, not excepting the Toronto Exhibition.

Out of twelve Berkshires shown yesterday and Tuesday, Mr. Snowden carried off a prize for every animal shown. This alone tells the tale of a wonderfully complete display. To his aged boar, not only the prize, but the attention of all fanciers were drawn; it was a wonderful beast and would cause any breeder to look with covetous eyes. Mr. Snowden won 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes on sows under a year in age.

He got 2nd prize on a boar under a year, and 1st and 2nd prizes a boar under six months of age. It might be of great interest to all hog raisers to learn that Mr. Snowden's hogs and all of the long bacon type, which won the prizes for such types and quality, against all comers at this year's Fair, With Canada's ever increasing demand for hogs adapted to the production of bacon for export, it would be well for breeders, to write to Mr. Snowden, at the above address at once. He has lots of young bacon sows and boars for sale, with the prices right. In boars under a year, he got 1st and 2nd prizes, also under six months. In aged sows he got 1st, 2nd and 3rd, in sows under a year 1st, 2nd and 3rd, in sows under six months, Mr. Snowden also captured 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes. For best boar and two sows, he captured 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes; he also got the prize for best pen of four bacon hogs. With such a record as this breeders might well write Mr. Snowden, before buying.

LANG & MAHER.

Every visitor to the Fair could not but be struck forcibly with the modern and strenuous advertising of Peterboro's leading clothiers, Messrs. Lang & Maher. Whilst this firm is a comparitively young competitor in local clothing business, their up-to-date methods of intelligent advertising, together with the [illegible] that in all branches equals and in many cases all others, impels the purchasing public to take their trade to this modern company. The firm is composed of young, active and intelligent men that have a careful

FROM CANADA'S WHEAT BELT

An Expert's Opinion as to Conditions and Possibilities of the Western Heritage.

MOST MAGNIFICIENT YIELD

Present Crop Will Run to About One Hundred Million Bushels of Grain

Montreal, September 28.—Mr. F. W. Thomson, vice-president and general manager of the Ogilvie Milling Company, who has been making a journey through a goodly portion of the wheat belt of Western Canada, comes back more than ever impressed with the extent of the present harvest.

In an interview he gave it as his opinion that the present crop would run from ninety to one hundred million bushels, and that it will be largely of high grade, owing to the exceptional weather which has been the portion this year of the western grain growers.

In speaking of general conditions, Mr. Thompson stated that there was some danger of over speculation in land, but that he was of the opinion that this would straighten itself. The demand for additional help at harvest time was a matter which would require much careful management in the future.

It had weather had prevailed during harvest time this year, which fortunately was not the case, it would have been a very serious undertaking to handle the crop without having [illegible] aged. He was of the opinion that it would not be possible to pick up 50,000 or so additional hands each year to harvest the crops, and therefore it might become a question of each grower cultivating only such holdings as he could manage with permanent help, that is, hands employed for the greater portion of the year.

SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE IS GROWING FAST

Since Year 1902 Exports Rose From $1,500,000 to $15,000,000.

Ottawa, September 28.—Mr. C. M. Kittson, Canadian agent at Cape Town, in a report to the Department of Trade, says that since the institution of the direct steamship line from Canada in 1902, the exports of the Dominion to the South African Colonies have wonderfully increased.

In 1896 the total of the Canadian sales in South Africa amounted to £67,983. In 1903 the value of Canadian exports had increased to £299,674. Last year the total had reached £1,-097,962.

Mr. Kittson says the Cape Colonists are not yet able to produce enough cereals to supply the wants of the population, and this year flour, meal, etc., will be imported to value of three or four million dollars. Australia is endeavoring to capture this trade from the United States, and Mr. Kittson thinks the Canadian producer should also be a little more active.

WANT OUR COBALT-SILVER.

The department has also received a report from Mr. F. B. MacNamara, commercial agent at Manchester, in which he says that commercial companies wishes to obtain an analysis of Canadian cobalt-silver ore with a view to purchasing it in the crude state in the freight rates are not prohibitive.

BRITAIN'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

Quoting from the recently published British trade returns he mentions that Great Britain last year only produced thirty-eight million bushels of wheat. To meet the food supply of the population 193,736,656 bushels were imported, of which British Colonies produced 79,000,000 bushels. He points out that Denmark has nearly doubled her supply of eggs to Great Britain in seven years, the importation of Danish eggs in 1904 amounting to thirty-eight millions dozen, valued at $7,875,000.

LOCAL POLICE ACT

Provincial Detective Waits Whilst Peterboro Officer Acts.

As has been reported, in several issues of The Times, the Government at Toronto issued stringent instructions to executives of all Provincial fairs, to arrest any persons trying to introduce games of chance or gambling devices at the various fairs.

Yesterday, P.C. Stewart, on work at the Fair grounds, noticed a hack containing several men, ostensibly selling packages of medicine. The local officer, in plain clothes, waited and watched. The fakers in this cab, were selling packages of medicine at $1 each. This would have been all right, but the officer saw that the medical men, proceeding to enclose a $1 with each or every package, failed to put the $1 in many of their packages, or seemingly so. P. C. Stewart, watched carefully; the "Doctors" had an employee apparently placing the $1 bill in each package and then, after putting it into an envelope, place a band around the whole for security. The officer looked carefully whilst some 60 of these seemingly valuable packages were deposited in the "Doctor's" satchel, and offered them for sale.

He, at once, told the "Doctors" they would have to quit their game or get off the grounds. As Stewart was in civilian's clothes, the "doctors" waxed facetious and jollied the policeman. "Well," said Stewart, "you either quit this business or I shall arrest you." "Go to ——," said the doctor. Whereupon P.C. Stewart jumped into the rig and pulled two of the men.

As Stewart could not, on account of other work on the grounds, go up town with his prisoners, he called to special Constable John Dundas and another constable, and giving the prisoners into their charge, sent them up town. Just before Dundas took them to the station, Provincial Detective Orlando Jarvis, who had been on duty both yesterday and Tuesday when the "doctors" were working at the Fair, at the same business presumably without let or hinderance, came to the rig and accompanied P. C. Dundas and his prisoners to the station. Magistrate D. W. Dumble was at once notified, and he, at a specially summoned court, found the chief "doctor," by name Gonce, of Ottawa, $60 with $3.60 costs, in all $63.60, with the alternation of sixty days in jail. The doctor dug up the $63.60 and, at once, went back to the Fair grounds to work.

It is a great feather in the cap of our local police, that men openly working a line of swindle should be arrested by them, when a specially sent Provincial detective, during a day and a half present on the grounds, failed to notice or take action. One thing this city should insist on; and that is; that the $60 fine, being the result of a city official's vigilance, should go to the city's treasury. Had the Provincial detective made the arrest, the fine might go to the Ontario Government. P. C. Stewart deserves great credit for his vigilance. When the city gets this $63.60 to its credit, the council might not only remember what one of its officers did for the fair name of Peterboro's great exhibition, but next year, in its grant to the Fair, keep in mind the amount collected at the Fair grounds.

Brant County Degenerate Found Guilty

Jury Say That Felix Doyle Killed His Mother---Prisoner's Nerve Broke Down, and He had to be Led from the Court Room.

Brantford, Sept. 28.—The jury in connection with the Felix Doyle case, returned a verdict of Guilty at 12.15 yesterday. With the finding there was no recommendation to mercy. The prisoner showed great nervousness, when the verdict was announced, and had to be led from the court. The judge deferred the pronouncement of the sentence until the afternoon. It took the jury a little more than an hour to reach their decision.

The evidence in the cases was concluded early last evening, and the addresses of counsel were then delivered. Only the charge of Justice Anglin remained for the session this morning. His Lordship opened his address at 9.30, continuing until 11 o'clock, when the case went to the jury.

The judge used plain language in his charge, declaring that a murder had been established and on it the jury must pronounce. Without consideration of any plea of insanity which might be advanced, it was the duty of the jury first to pronounce on the guilt or innocence of the prisoner.

CHARGED AGAINST PRISONER.

If there was any insanity it would be for the Crown to decide what course should be taken after a verdict had been rendered. The fact that Doyle was alone with his mother at the time of the crime placed the [illegible] stances, which he had done by telling [illegible] stories. The judge cited these and asked what purpose there could be in telling them. His Lordship held that the fact that Doyle had stated that he expected to find his mother dead at any time might have been a mere coincidence, but it had every evidence of being a most extraordinary circumstances. In closing the judge urged the jury to try the case first, as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, and, second, as to his sanity in the event of a conviction. In this instance there could be a recommendation for mercy.

BENNETT CASE OPENED.

Immediately on the conclusion of the Doyle case the Bennett murder trial was opened. The prisoner was put in the dock, and Mr. Heyd took up his case. The evidence of the Crown was commenced. The first line of Crown work will be to show that Bennett visited the home of Betsy Jacobs, the victim, on the night of the crime, and that while there dropped a letter, which he got at the post-office only an hour or two before, and which was next morning found beside the body of the woman. The envelope was smeared with blood. A conclusion in the Bennett case will not be reached until Thursday night, in all probability.

SITUATION DANGEROUS

England Watching Events in Austria-Hungary with keen Anxiety.

London, September 28.—Englishmen are watching the course of events in Austria-Hungary with keen anxiety. They believe that the situation contains the seeds of immediate danger to the peace of Central Europe. The news reaching London indicates that Hungary is seething with anger and that the revolutionary sentiment is of an unprecedented strength.

Emperor Franz Josef's own treatment of the Hungarian delegation has rallied even the elements heretofore ranked as moderates around the banner of the Independence party. The Hapsburg dynasty appears now to be [illegible] Hungary. Warring [illegible] outbursts of nationalistic wrath and patriotic demonstrations, no fresh developments are expected before October 3, when the coalition party's executive committee will meet to consider the situation provoked by the Crown's ultimatum.

There are rumors that King Edward, on the occasion of his recent visit to Emperor Franz Josef, gave the latter assurances of British support, should certain eventualities develop, but it is almost certain that the attitude of this government will remain one of entire aloofness, so long as the situation retains its present character of a purely internal crisis. This determination is born, first, of esteem for the person of the venerable King-Emperor, and secondly of England's traditional sympathy for Hungarian national aspirations.

Anti-Irish organs have seized upon the narrowly averted war in Scandinavia and the "impending catastrophe" in Austria-Hungary as an occasion to point out anew the fallacy of home rule. Both situations are said to contain the moral that "there is no permanent half way house between complete union and total separation."

Chinese Stabbing Affray.

Ottawa, September 28.—A stabbing affray which may prove fatal occurred at a Chinese joint run by Tom Woh, on Bank street early today. The affray occurred during a game of fan tan, when Hun Chun, who said he had been robbed of $20, drew a knife and stabbed a fellow-countryman named Charley Marks. Hun Chun has been placed under arrest and Dr. Robinson, who is attending the wounded man, says that he may not recover.

The Chinese colony is greatly excited over the affair.

WITTE'S TOUR OF THE CAPITALS

May Result in New Alliances With Czar

NEW GROUPING OF POWERS

The Great Russian Does Not Travel as the Emissary of a Beaten Country.

Berlin, September 28. — Mixed astonishment and satisfaction dominate [illegible] Witte's present role in European politics, which, it is believed, will further the Kaiser's large plans in regard to the Fatherland's international relations.

It is argued by observers there that M. Witte does not travel as the emissary of a beaten country, but as a mediator between nations which are planning a new grouping of powers. It is certain that the eminent Russian in the course of his audience with the Kaiser today will give fervent assurances of Russia's good will and gratitude for Germany's more than correct attitude during the late war. It is expected that he will promise also a Russo-German understanding in the nature of a reward for the Kaiser's friendship thoughout the eastern conflict.

Public opinion expects that M. Witte's work in Paris for a settlement between France and German of the Moroccan difficulty will pave the way for lasting co-operation by the three continent world powers. This was first attempted in connection with the peace of Shimonaseki. Lately its possibilities were paraded during the clash between Norway and Sweden. The establishment of such co-operation being the corner-stone of the Fatherland's foreign policy, M. Witte is sure to find open ears at Hohmintzen, where the Kaiser receives him today.

RUSSIA SEEKS LOAN.

The soft words which the Russian emissary has used both in Paris and Berlin are believed to indicate that Russia needs to raise loans in the money markets of both, but public opinion is none the less highly pleased to see fresh guarantees of peace in Russia's ostentatious disclosure of its desire to preserve the close friendship of both France and Germany.

Yesterday's Fair Better Than Ever

To a few gentlemen in this city belongs the credit not only of getting up an exhibition that would do credit to many a far larger city than Peterboro, by their intelligent work and indefatigable efforts but of laying down a precedent in the matter of Peterboro's fall fairs, that must, in future years, ensure a grand attendance and consequent advertisement of this city.

Yesterday, Mr. H. C. Winch, the hustling superintendent of the Fair showed that the days of miracles are not yet completely gone; with scores of jealously competing exhibitors, he managed not only to prevent any serious cause for complaint, but had the many exhibits so placed that each and every firm or individual had good room and position to display their goods. Mr. Winch, as superintendent of the Fair is the right man in the place, his knowledge of human nature, and skill in management was appreciated by all.

It might perhaps seem fulsome to give personal notice to each member of the executive; suffice to say that from Mr. Hughes Charles, president, who seemed everywhere at the right time; Mr. Hall the secretary, whose long suffering patience never seemed to give out or allow him to get rattled, to the directors whose hard work, in the good cause, created Peterboro's best Fair on record, and the judges whose opinions except in isolated cases of dissatisfied competitors, whose goods took a lower place than the exhibitors of such thought they should, perfectly satisfactory and just.

Yesterday the grounds were better policed than on Tuesday; this enabled the races and various events on the track to proceed without any delay. The side shows, if such a term might be used, such as the "Ring a cane and it is yours, "throw a hoop over the knife and take it home," "see the wonderful two-headed lamb," "get your photograph on a button for 10 cents," all did a good business yesterday, and, although such is contrary to general custom at fairs, all seemed satisfied with the chance they had paid for in these privileges. The photograph man, who placed a very fair photograph of each customer in a neat brass button frame, and did a land office business, is from Ottawa, and a cousin of Mr. Wilt Methural of this city. The poultry display, as noted in yesterday's issue was the finest ever seen in any fall fair outside the Toronto exhibition, and required some 500 coops. The cattle, dogs and sheep display exceeded all previous records in this city.

T. J. COLE'S EXHIBIT.

Among the hog pens, it was interesting to fellow farmers who were rested on various lines of porkers and to watch the instantaneous way in which a good exhibit arrested their attention. One lot of pens containing the world wide known strain of pure Yorkshires, shown by Mr. T. J. Cole of Bowmanville, owner of the celebrated Maple Grove Herd seemed to attract particular attention from all farmers and others who are experts on raising hogs. Mr. Cole had his prize tickets, bearing practical evidence of the judges' decisions, strung along the pens containing his hogs. These Yorkshires are too well known by fanciers to require special notice of their good points. It might, however be said that Mr. Cole's Yorkshire hogs, are the finest lot of that strain ever shown in Peterboro, and that farmers desirous of keeping up with the times and raising only the best grade of hogs, would do well to communicate with Mr. Cole and get his prices and description of the hogs he needs.

As is well known by our local farmers, the Yorkshire strain of hogs, have many points of excellence unknown in other breeds and Yorkshires on the Canadian market, Mr. Cole's can equal, if not superior to any, as shown by the prizes he has won both here and at other cities.

—HAMILTON INCUBATOR CO.

Among the many exhibits displayed under specially erected canvas, was one that drew the attention, not only of dwellers in this and other towns and cities, but of thousands of wide-awake progressive farmers. In these days of strenuous competition and aggressive efforts to have only the best and most modern article on the world's markets, the chicken raiser, who is content to rely on the old time way of trusting valuable eggs to the fickle care of untrustworthy hens, to be hatched out in unclean, and too often lousy nests, must soon take a back seat among his competitors. The only sanitary and up-to-date way to rear broods of young chickens, particularly of value and stamina, is to use an incubator. As is well known, there are many incubators now on the market, some poor, some better, and a few really effective. Of the latter class, the leading incubator, better in most fundamental parts than all others is that shown at yesterday's Fair. This incubator, which even a brief inspection shows to be the best on the American or Canadian markets, is made by the Hamilton Incubator Co., of Hamilton, Ont.

One strong argument in favor of this Hamilton incubator is that each and every one is sold under a positive guarantee. This guarantee certifies that it is made of best material, is warranted perfected in operator, and, above all that this incubator will hatch any egg that is fertile, provided that printed instructions be followed. This guarantee is good for one year from date of purchase, so this gives any purchaser full time to discover its demerits if any exist. It might be added that seldom, if ever, has any fault been found with the Hamilton incubator, unless through carelessness of the user.

The main points of this incubator are its hatching qualities, its perfect construction and its durability. There are other points in which the Hamilton incubator excels and rivals, but they would take too much space for this article. For prices and particulars, address either the company in Hamilton, or our well known fellow citizen, Mr. W. E. Murphy, 388 Water street, their agent for Peterboro and surrounding districts. Mr. Murphy has a host of friends in this county, who having purchased this incubator, are constantly recommending its use.

G. FITZGERALD & COMPANY.

The largest single exhibit under canvas, shown at the Fair yesterday and Tuesday, and which brought perhaps, the largest crowd of well-to-do sight seers and purchasers, was that of Messrs. Geo. Fitzgerald & Co., the veteran carriage and wagon manufacturers of this city. For the information of our out of town readers, we might say, that for many years, Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald has carried on the largest wagon and carriage manufactury, not only in this city, but in this portion of Ontario, at the corner of George and Brock streets, Peterboro.

Mr. Fitzgerald, under whose eye and personal supervision every part of their goods are made, from the tip of the shafts to the tire of the wheels, is one of the oldest and most thoroughly posted carriage builders in the Dominion of aCnada. He who buys carriages from Fitzgerald & Co., does not take the chances that an incumbent on purchasing from one of the largest American or Canadian carriage works, where the goods are made in far distant departments and then assembled irrespective of adaptability to each other, and too frequently passed by, by inspectors with little or no responsibility, and whose main thought dwells on their own wages and hours of work on account of having no tangible connection with results. Mr. Fitzgerald personally sees every part, however small of every vehicle his firm turns out; he personally chooses and inspects every gallon of turps, paint or varnish, every stick of timber, every pound of steel that enters into his company's wagons or carriages. The result of this personal supervision is that when a man buys from this firm, the vehicle is its own guarantee.

Mr. Fitzgerald's display yesterday contained 14 rigs of different makes buggies, surreys, runabouts, and other kinds. Every vehicle sold by the Geo. Fitzgerald Co., carries a personal guarantee of excellence of manufacture and durability. Yesterday, within one hour, Mr. Fitzgerald sold one rubber tire buggy to Mr. Wm. Irwin of this city and a beautiful stanhope to Mr. Manson Comstock. The very fact of such well qualified judges of carriages coming just on sight of the goods, is a sufficient guarantee of their excellence.

The G. Fitzgerald Co. had a most natty two-seated, rubber tired surrey which was a perfect picture. They also had a beautiful buggy, which attracted so much attention at the Toronto Fair, upholstered in Jantasoli leather in tan colors, diversified by leather putting in a darker color that was a work of art. Any one contemplating the purchase of a carriage or wagon, before buying a highly colored and cheaply materialled article made in one of the larger factories would do well to get one of home make, superior in appearance and reliable in material and construction.

MR. REDMOND'S CATTLE.

As noted before, the cattle shown at this year's Peterboro Fall Fair, were better in quality than ever before. The cattle display was a sight well worth travelling many miles to witness yesterday. Every strain and breed of any consequence was on exhibition at this year's fair. Of the well known breeds, it is unnecessary to say, that the old reliable Durham attracted much attention from experts. Mr. S. F. Mr. Redmond's cattle are raised on his extensive and valuable farm, situated on lot 21, con. 12, township of Otonabee, and his P.O. address is Peterboro. Mr. Redmond captured first prize for his grand aged shorthorn Durham bull. He also carried off a coveted prize for aged cow of the shorthorn Durham strain. His short horn Durham bull calf and heifer calf, of the same breed, got second prize.

In the dairy grade, Mr. Redmond took 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prize for cows in the Durham grades.

In the Holstein grade, his cow took first prize as a dairy cow. This alone is one of the strongest points of excellence in any herd, and Mr. Redmond's friends and the public in general cannot but remember this fact, when contemplating the purchase of cattle for improving their own herds. The dairying interests have now assumed such vast proportions in the Canadian farmers future that everything appertaining to increased supply of milk must hold attention. Intending purchasers of stock would do well, previous to buying to take the Keene road to Mr. Redmond's farm and look over his extensive herd of [illegible] and other breeds.

MR. S. SNOWDEN'S HOGS.

Breeders and fanciers of swine do not require much telling that the Berkshire strain, the old and reliable long that attracts such close attention from both English, Irish and Scotch raisers, leads all others in most points of excellence. Mr. S. Snowden, whose P.O. address is Box 20, Bowmanville, Ont., had one of the choicest collections of Berkshires at this year's Fair here, that has ever been seen in Canada, not excepting the Toronto Exhibition.

Out of twelve Berkshires shown yesterday and Tuesday, Mr. Snowden carried off a prize for every animal shown. This alone tells the tale of a wonderfully complete display. To his aged boar, not only the prize, but the attention of all fanciers were drawn; it was a wonderful beast and would cause any breeder to look with covetous eyes. Mr. Snowden won 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes on sows under a year in age.

He got 2nd prize on a boar under a year, and 1st and 2nd prizes a boar under six months of age. It might be of great interest to all hog raisers to learn that Mr. Snowden's hogs and all of the long bacon type, which won the prizes for such types and quality, against all comers at this year's Fair. With Canada's ever increasing demand for hogs adapted to the production of bacon for export, it would be well for breeders, to write to Mr. Snowden, at the above address at once. He has lots of young bacon sows and boars for sale, with the prices right. In boars under a year, he got 1st and 2nd prizes, also under six months. In aged sows he got 1st, 2nd and 3rd, in sows under a year 1st, 2nd and 3rd, in sows under six months. Mr. Snowden also captured 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes. For best boar and two sows, he captured 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes; he also got the prize for best pen of four bacon hogs. With such a record as this breeders might well write Mr. Snowden, before buying.

LANG & MAHER.

Every visitor to the Fair could not but be struck forcibly with the modern and strenuous advertising of Peterboro's leading clothiers, Messrs. Lang & Maher. Whilst this firm is a comparatively young competitor in local clothing business, their up-to-date methods of intelligent advertising, backed up by a stock of goods first in all branches equals and in many excels all others, impels the purchasing public to take their trade to this modern company. Present Crop Will Run to About One Hundred Million Bushels of Grain

Montreal, September 28.—Mr. F. W. Thomson, vice-president and general manager of the Ogilvie Milling Company, who has been making a journey through a goodly portion of the wheat belt of Western Canada, comes back more than ever impressed with the extent of the present harvest.

In an interview he gave it as his opinion that the present crop would run from ninety to one hundred million bushels, and that it will be largely of high grade, owing to the exceptional weather which has been the portion this year of the western grain growers.

In speaking of general conditions, Mr. Thompson stated that there was some danger of over speculation in land, but that he was of the opinion that this would straighten itself. The demand for additional help at harvest time was a matter which would require much careful management in the future.

If bad weather had prevailed during harvest time this year, which fortunately was not the case, it would have been a very serious undertaking to handle the crop without having [illegible] Fair grounds to work.

It is a great feather in the cap of our local police, that men openly working a line of swindle should be arrested by them, when a specially sent Provincial detective, during a day and a half present on the grounds, failed to notice or take action. One thing this city should insist on; and that is, that the $60 fine, being the result of a city official's vigilance, should go to the city's treasury. Had the Provincial detective made the arrest, the fine might go to the Ontario Government. P. C. Stewart deserves great credit for his vigilance. When the city gets this $63.60 to its credit, the council might not only remember what one of its officers did for the fair name of Peterboro's great exhibition, but next year, in its grant to the Fair, keep in mind the amount collected at this Fair grounds.

aged. He was of the opinion that it would not be possible to pick up 30,000 or 35 additional hands each year to harvest the crops, and therefore it might become a question of each grower cultivating only such holdings as he could manage with permanent help; that is, hands employed for the greater portion of the year.

SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE IS GROWING FAST

Since Year 1902 Exports Rose From $1,500,000 to $15,000,000.

Ottawa, September 28.—Mr. C. M. Kittson, Canadian agent at Cape Town, in a report to the Department of Trade, says that since the institution of the direct steamship line from Canada in 1903, the exports of the Dominion to the South African Colonies have wonderfully increased.

In 1900 the total of the Canadian sales in South Africa amounted to £17,942. In 1902 the value of Canadian exports had increased to £300,674. Last year the total had reached £1,-907,963.

Mr. Kittson says the Cape Colonists are not yet able to produce enough cereals to supply the wants of the population, and this year flour, meal, etc., will be imported to value of three or four million dollars. Australia is endeavoring to capture this trade from the United States, and Mr. Kittson thinks the Canadian producers should also be a little more active.

WANT OUR COBALT-SILVER.

The department has also received a report from Mr. P. D. MacNamara, commercial agent at Manchester, in which he says that commercial companies wishes to obtain an analysis of Canadian cobalt-silver ore with a view to purchasing it in the crude state in the freight rates are not prohibitive.

BRITAIN'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

Quoting from the recently published British trade returns he mentions that Great Britain last year only produced thirty-eight million bushels of wheat. To meet the food supply of the population 163,796,535 bushels were imported, of which British Colonies produced 79,000,000 bushels. He points out that Denmark has nearly doubled her supply of eggs to Great Britain in seven years, the importation of Danish eggs for 1904 amounting to thirty-eight million dozen, valued at $7,775,000.

LOCAL POLICE ACT

Provincial Detective Waits Whilst Peterboro Officer Acts.

As has been reported, in several issues of The Times, the Government at Toronto issued stringent instructions to executives of all Provincial fairs, to arrest any persons trying to introduce games of chance or gambling devices at the various fairs.

Yesterday, P.C. Stewart, on work at the Fair grounds, noticed a hack containing several men, ostensibly selling packages of medicine. The local officers, in plain clothes, waited and watched. The fakers in this cab, were selling packages of medicine at $1 each. This would have been all right, but the officer saw that the medical men, proceeding to enclose a $1 with each or every package, failed to put the $1 in many of their packages, or seemingly so. P. C. Stewart, watched carefully; the "Doctors" had an employee apparently placing the $1 bill in each package and then, after putting it into an envelope, place a band around the whole for security. The officer looked carefully whilst some 60 of these seemingly valuable packages were deposited in the "Doctor's" satchel, and offered them for sale.

He, at once, told the "Doctors" they would have to quit their game or get off the grounds. As Stewart was in civilian's clothes, the "doctors" waxed facetious and jollied the policeman. "Well," said Stewart, "you either quit this business or I shall arrest you." "Go to ——," said the doctor. Whereupon P.C. Stewart jumped into the rig and collared two of the men.

As Stewart could not, on account of other work on the grounds go up town with his prisoners, he called to special Constable John Dundas and another constable, and giving the prisoners into their charge, sent them up town. Just before Dundas took them to the station, Provincial Detective Orlando Jarvis, who had been on duty both yesterday and Tuesday when the "doctors" were working at the Fair, at the same business presumably without let or hinderance, came to the rig and accompanied P. C. Dundas and his prisoners to the station. Magistrate D. W. Dumble was at once notified, and he, at a specially summoned court, found the chief "doctor," by name Gonce, of Ottawa, $60 with $3.60 costs, in all $63.60, with the alternation of sixty days in jail. The doctor dug up the $63.60 and, at once, took back to the [illegible]

Brant County Degenerate Found Guilty

Jury Say That Felix Doyle Killed His Mother---Prisoner's Nerve Broke Down, and He had to be Led from the Court Room.

Brantford, Sept. 28.—The jury in come on him to explain the circumstances which he had done by telling conflicting stories. The judge cited these and asked what purpose these could be in telling them. His Lordship held that the fact that Doyle had stated that he expected to find his mother dead at any time might have been a mere coincidence, but it had every evidence of being a most extraordinary circumstances. In closing the judge urged the jury to try the case first, as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, and, second, as to his sanity in the event of a conviction. In this instance there could be a recommendation for mercy.

BENNETT CASE OPENED.

Immediately on the conclusion of the Doyle case the Bennett murder trial was opened. This prisoner was put in the dock, and Mr. Boyd took up his case. The evidence of the Crown was commenced. The first line of Crown work will be to show that Bennett visited the home of Betsy Jacobs, the victim, on the night of the crime, and that while there dropped a letter, which he got at the post-office only an hour or two before, and which was next morning found beside the body of the woman. The envelope was smeared with blood.

A conclusion in the Bennett case will not be reached until Thursday night, in all probability.

SITUATION DANGEROUS

England Watching Events in Austria-Hungary with keen Anxiety.

London, September 28.—Englishmen are watching the course of events in Austria-Hungary with keen anxiety. They believe that the situation contains the seeds of immediate danger to the peace of Central Europe. The news reaching London indicates that Hungary is seething with anger and that the revolutionary sentiment is of an unprecedented strength.

Emperor Franz Josef's own treatment of the Hungarian delegation has rallied even the elements heretofore ranked as moderates around the banner of the Independence party. The Hapsburg dynasty appears now to be [illegible] Hungary. Barring continued outbursts of nationalistic wrath and patriotic demonstrations, no fresh developments are expected before October 8, when the coalition party's executive committee will meet to consider the situation provoked by the Crown's ultimatum.

There are rumors that King Edward, on the occasion of his recent visit to Emperor Franz Josef, gave the latter assurances of British support, should certain eventualities develop, but it is almost certain that the attitude of this government will remain one of entire aloofness, so long as the situation retains its present character of a purely internal crisis. This determination is born, first, of esteem for the person of the venerable King-Emperor, and secondly of England's traditional sympathy for Hungarian national aspirations.

Anti-Irish organs have seized upon the narrowly exacted war in Scandinavia and the "impending catastrophe" in Austria-Hungary as an occasion to point out anew the fallacy of home rule. Both situations are said to contain the moral that "there is no permanent half way house between complete union and total separation."

Chinese Stabbing Affray.

Ottawa, September 28.—A stabbing affray which may prove fatal occurred at a Chinese joint run by Tom Woh, on Bank street early today. The affray occurred during a game of fan tan, when Hun Chun, who said he had been robbed of $30, drew a knife and stabbed a fellow-countryman named Charley Marks. Hun Chun has been placed under arrest and Dr. Robinson, who is attending the wounded man, says that he may not recover.

The Chinese colony is greatly excited over the affair.

WITTE'S TOUR OF THE CAPITALS

May Result in New Alliances With Czar

NEW GROUPING OF POWERS

The Great Russian Does Not Travel as the Emissary of a Beaten Country.

Berlin, September 28. — Mixed astonishment and satisfaction dominate [illegible] Witte's present role in European politics, which, it is believed, will further the Kaiser's large plans in regard to the Fatherland's international relations.

It is argued by observers there that M. Witte does not not travel as the emissary of a beaten country, but as a mediator between nations which are planning a new grouping of powers. It is certain that the eminent Russian in the course of his audience with the Kaiser today will give fervent assurances of Russia's good will and gratitude for Germany's more than correct attitude during the late war. It is expected that he will promise also a Russo-German understanding in the nature of a reward for the Kaiser's friendship thoughout the eastern conflict.

Public opinion expects that M. Witte's work in Paris for a settlement between France and German of the Moroccan difficulty will pave the way for lasting co-operation by the three continent world powers. This was first attempted in connection with the peace of Shimonaseki. Lately its possibilities were paraded during the clash between Norway and Sweden. The establishment of such co-operation being the corner stone of the Fatherland's foreign policy, M. Witte is sure to find open ears at Rominten, where the Kaiser receives him today.

RUSSIA SEEKS LOAN.

The soft words which the Russian emissary has used both in Paris and Berlin are believed to indicate that Russia needs to raise loans in the money markets of both, but public opinion is none the less highly pleased to see fresh guarantees of peace in Russia's ostentatious disclosure of its desire to preserve the close friendship of both France and Germany.

Your Countenance Indicates the Body's Awful Struggle for Health.

Impossible to work or think clearly when there is no reserve of vigor, no nourishment in the blood, no supply of nerve energy.

The life of the half-sick man is pitiful, in fact, almost criminal, when bounding strength is so quickly derived from Ferrozone.

This nutritive tonic is guaranteed to strengthen all men, women and children. Weak organs get new force, vital energy is generated. Muscle and fat are added, healthy color is restored and the blood fairly tingles with newfound life.

Read the evidence of Jno. Carter, 44 King St. East, Toronto, who says:

"After a severe attack of Grippe my health was almost shattered. I suffered constantly from nervousness and dyspepsia. At night I would waken with terrible palpitation and heart pains. Work became a great effort. At ten in the morning I was so tired and weak I could hardly work another minute.

"Then came a bad attack of rheumatism which laid me up in bed. I could scarcely lift the weight of a pound and to stoop or bend was impossible. My druggist recommended Ferrozone, and he knew what he was talking about, for it rebuilt my strength, gave me abundant appetite, better blood, and new nerve energy. The rheumatism has disappeared. I weigh more, feel refreshed and vigorous, and am able to work ten hours a day. Ferrozone did it all."

You will be steadied, toned and strengthened for all time to come with Ferrozone. Get the genuine in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

A SILLY DEFENCE OF THE INDEMNITY "GRAB"

The few papers which undertook to defend the increase of the Parliamentary indemnity at the last session have [illegible] ed wrath of their subscribers, and are still engaged in arguing the question, says the Montreal Star. To the people as a whole, that cold-blooded agreement to lift a thousand a piece out of the public treasury, and to stifle criticism by bringing all hands into the plot, was a sordid and indefensible business. And they are saying so wherever the occasion calls for an expression of opinion; nor will their indignation be greatly dampened by the sort of apology which is usually put up for the act.

The Toronto News, for example, ventures upon the contention that the increase in the indemnity was a necessity, because the members are under expense when fighting their elections. This has the advantage of being a somewhat novel argument, for it has seldom enough been held that the sessional indemnity was intended as a Parliamentary contribution to the campaign funds of the members. The very word "indemnity" marks its purpose. It is intended to indemnify the members for absence from their own business and attention to that of the nation while they are at Ottawa.

But if Parliament is to subscribe to the campaign funds of the members, then a number of delicate questions arise which are hardly met by the present conditions. Some members have far greater legitimate expenses than others, and yet they are to get the same bonus from the public funds. A man who must look after a city constituency is much more out of pocket at the end of his term than the luckier chap who stands for a "safe" country district. Will Parliament, when it comes more in contact with the question, attempt to temper the wind to the shorn lamb and pay its members in accordance with the costliness of their campaigns?

Then what of the public-spirited man, who gets beaten? He may spend as much on his campaign as his more fortunate opponent; and, if Parliament is in the business of contributing to the campaign funds of the candidates, it should, in all fairness, vote him an amount equal to the elected member. We are not going to put so great a premium on mere success surely. If it is in the public interest that the nation should pay the election expenses of one candidate at an election, it certainly must be in the public interest that it pay the expenses of the other.

However, this whole contention that Parliament has anything to do with paying the campaign expenses of the politicians who either succeed or fail to get elected is too absurd for serious consideration, and the fact that the Toronto News raises this point shows how hard driven it is to defend its impossible position before the people. The indemnity is only proper as a payment to members for the time they give to the nation. It has and should have nothing whatever to do with their campaign expenses. Parliament cannot undertake to pay the campaign [illegible] expenses of any set of politicians. And, as an indemnity, it is now too large for the value of the services given by the majority of men who sit in Parliament. If there is any doubt on this subject, Parliament should have the courage to submit the whole issue in the form of a plebiscite to the men who must pay.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Hon. Frank Oliver is accused by a contemporary of having shown poor tact in a recent interview, and the charge seems well founded. He said: "On my way down from the Yukon I stopped at White Horse and opened an agricultural fair there, judged a baby show, and was astonished at the size of the huge pumpkins they raised in the north." This will never do. Mr. Oliver should have let somebody else praise the "punkins" of the north. It was up to him to say that the babies of White Horse were the cutest and prettiest little codgers he had ever seen. As it is, next time he goes to the Yukon it will not be well for him to dare the perils of the Edmonton route.

A GOLDEN CHANCE

Mr. W. K. Hall Has a Stock for Sale Now That is a Sure Winner.

Our enterprising fellow citizen and well known fiscal agent, Mr. W. K. Hall, has recently secured a block of the Goldfield Security Co., of Goldfield, Nev., which he has, for a limited time only, been authorized to sell at the marvelously low price of 5 cents per share.

The Goldfield, Nevada, district is too well known by mine investors and speculators to require any further notice here. We might, however, say, from plans, maps and specimens of ore submitted, that the Goldfield Security have one of the finest and most promising propositions we have yet seen in gold mines.

Their stock has been taken up largely by Canadians on account partly of the low price at which it was first offered, and those who purchased now hold their ownings at a high price. Other mine stocks of the Goldfield district have advanced one thousand per cent. since first issued. The Goldfield Securities Co. have rich ore in their Gold Crater properties, so there is wealth in sight for those interviewing Mr. Hall whilst this stock lasts at the price.

A LAST CHANCE

As is well known to our readers, and particularly that portion interested in mining investments, the value of mining stock is largely regulated by the shipping facilities for ore and supplies. The Goldfield Concordia mine, located in the great wealth producing Goldfield district, is not a prospect but a producing mine, now getting out ore worth from $216 to $440 per ton.

The railroad now building to the Goldfield district is nearly completed; with shipping facilities rendered available, the Goldfield Concordia mining stock, now offered at 10 cents per share, will increase rapidly and enormously in value. The Concordia Company own the property they work, and have it fully paid for. A strong point to consider when investigating any mining investment, is the references given by the company whose stock it is proposed to secure. The Goldfield Concordia Mining Company's references are of the highest class, including banks and prominent local men of high municipal and business standing.

This is the last chance to secure the Goldfield Concordia stock at the low sum of 10 cents per share. Many shrewd investors are buying before the railroad taps this property so as to share in the certain raise in value. Stock will advance September 25th.

How to Visit Colorado

Go first to Denver. It is the State capital, as well as the largest, wealthiest and most metropolitan city between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. The city itself is very interesting, and from it start practically all the trains over the various roads into the mountains.
